Foreword

In 1801 Thomas Jefferson published his Manual of Parliamentary Practice, the earliest known predecessor to The Pennsylvania Manual. Jefferson's publication was officially adopted by the Pennsylvania General Assembly in 1846 and was known as Smull's Legislative Handbook until 1922, when the Commonwealth purchased the copyright.

The Manual's nine sections have been updated to reflect the changes in Pennsylvania since the December 1987 edition. Graphics used to divide each of these sections have been adapted from Governor Casey's "Capital for a Day" program, which brings state government directly in touch with the people of Pennsylvania.

The editor wishes to thank the many individuals, including state, federal and local government officials, who have contributed to Volume 109.

Special recognition is extended to Karen Chandler and David Stone of the Governor's Office for preparing the section on "A New Pennsylvania" and for assisting with Section 4; Louis Waddell of the Historical and Museum Commission for editing Section 1; Mark Corrigan and Helen Huffman of the Senate and John Zubeck and Ted Mazia of the House of Representatives for providing information for Section 3; Charlotte Carson of the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts for helping with Section 5; and Robert Grant and Eleanor Kerrigan of the Department of State and the Legislative Data Processing Center for providing election results.

The editor wishes to recognize the employes of the state Department of General Services for their enormous assistance and without whom this edition would not have been completed: Employes of the Bureau of Publications & Paperwork Management, Planning Division and Executive Staff; and especially Eric Meyer, Daniel Hackenberger, Lynn McQuown, Design and Planning; Kathy Fouse, Brenda Johnson, Janice Teal, Cindy Lippert, Typesetting; Hope Jordan, Karen Silbaugh, Lisa Lyons-Ciambella, Research; Kathy Schwartz, Gwenn Trout, Yvonne Brown, Michelle Kimmel, Proofreading; and Susan Benkovic, who assisted the editor in all facets of the Manual's production.

And finally, to the Honorable David L. Jannetta, the editor expresses her appreciation for his support in this project.

THE GOVERNOR

To My Fellow Pennsylvanians:

When I took office in 1987, I promised to tackle the tough problems facing our Commonwealth; to give the people of Pennsylvania a state government which works as hard as they do.

Three years later, we have restored pride in our state and made it one of the most prosperous in the nation. Today, we're a New Pennsylvania, a Commonwealth revitalized by the spirit and hard work of our people and our state government.

We've enacted landmark legislation to clean up our environment; improve the quality of teaching and learning in our schools; attack the problems of drug abuse and drug-related crime; and increase our investment in children, older citizens, the hungry and the homeless.

Like any good family, we've balanced compassion with fiscal prudence, accomplishing all of this without increasing taxes or the number of state employees.

Today, in every region of the state, families and communities are working together to meet the challenges of the future. And what we've tried to do is make state government a more active partner in those efforts.

As part of our "Capital for a Day" program, we've brought the executive branch to communities across Pennsylvania. We came to listen to you — the people we serve. And you gave us an earful of good advice. That's important, because we can't solve our mutual problems unless we address them together.

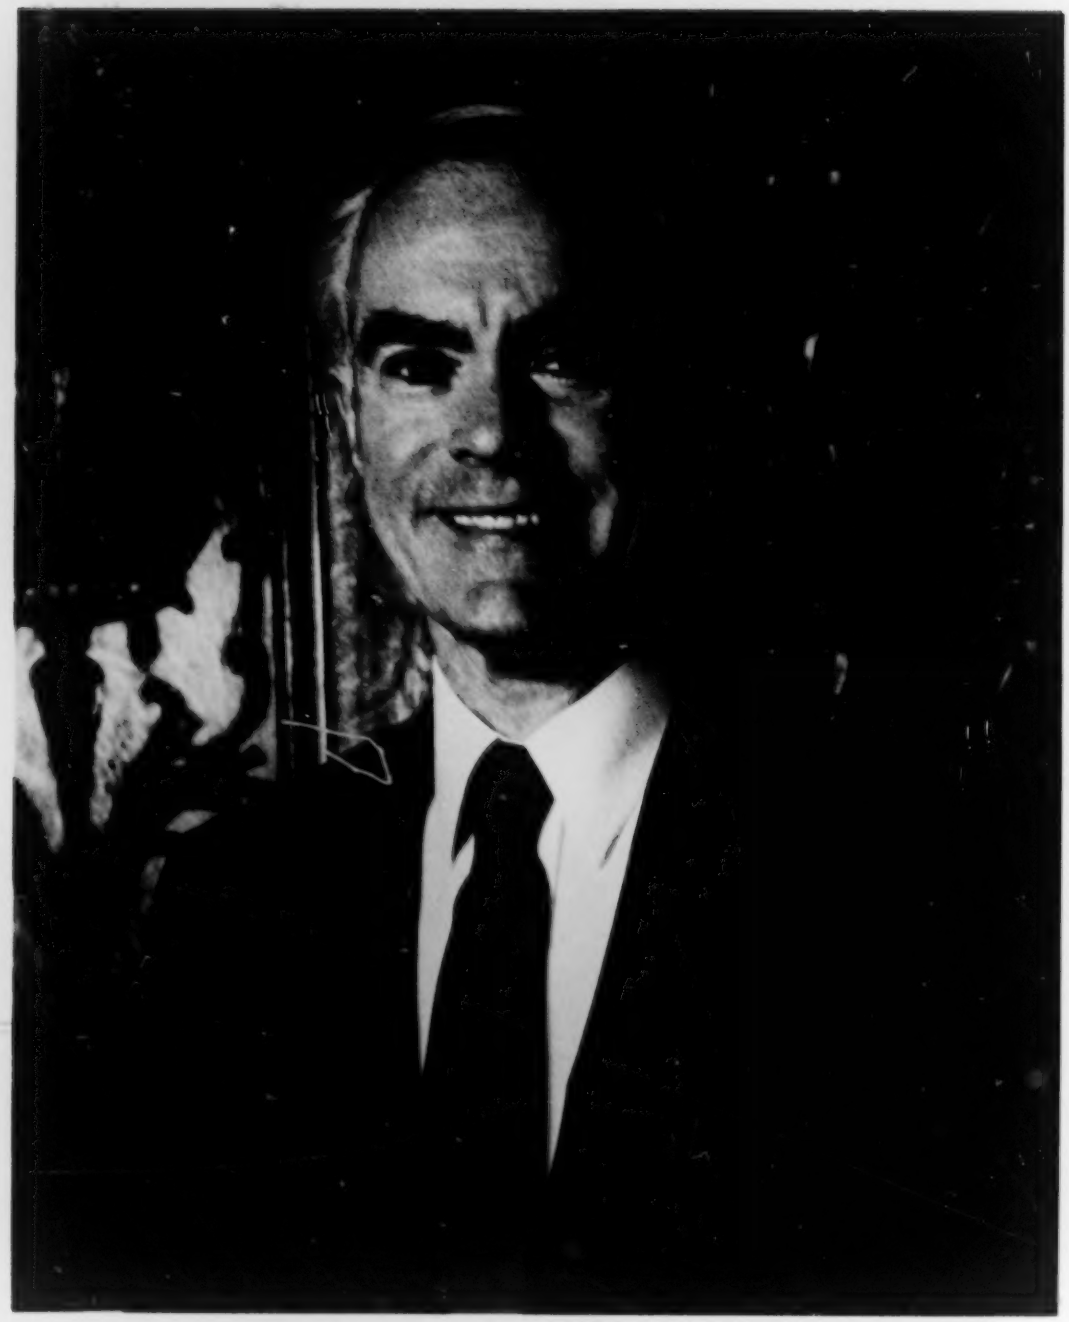
This 109th edition of The Pennsylvania Manual provides another way for citizens to get to know their state government. It describes the historic accomplishments of a proud Pennsylvania past and our renewed commitment to investing in our people — and our future.

I hope you'll be encouraged to join our partnership, to participate fully in democracy at work, and to share our pride in a New Pennsylvania.

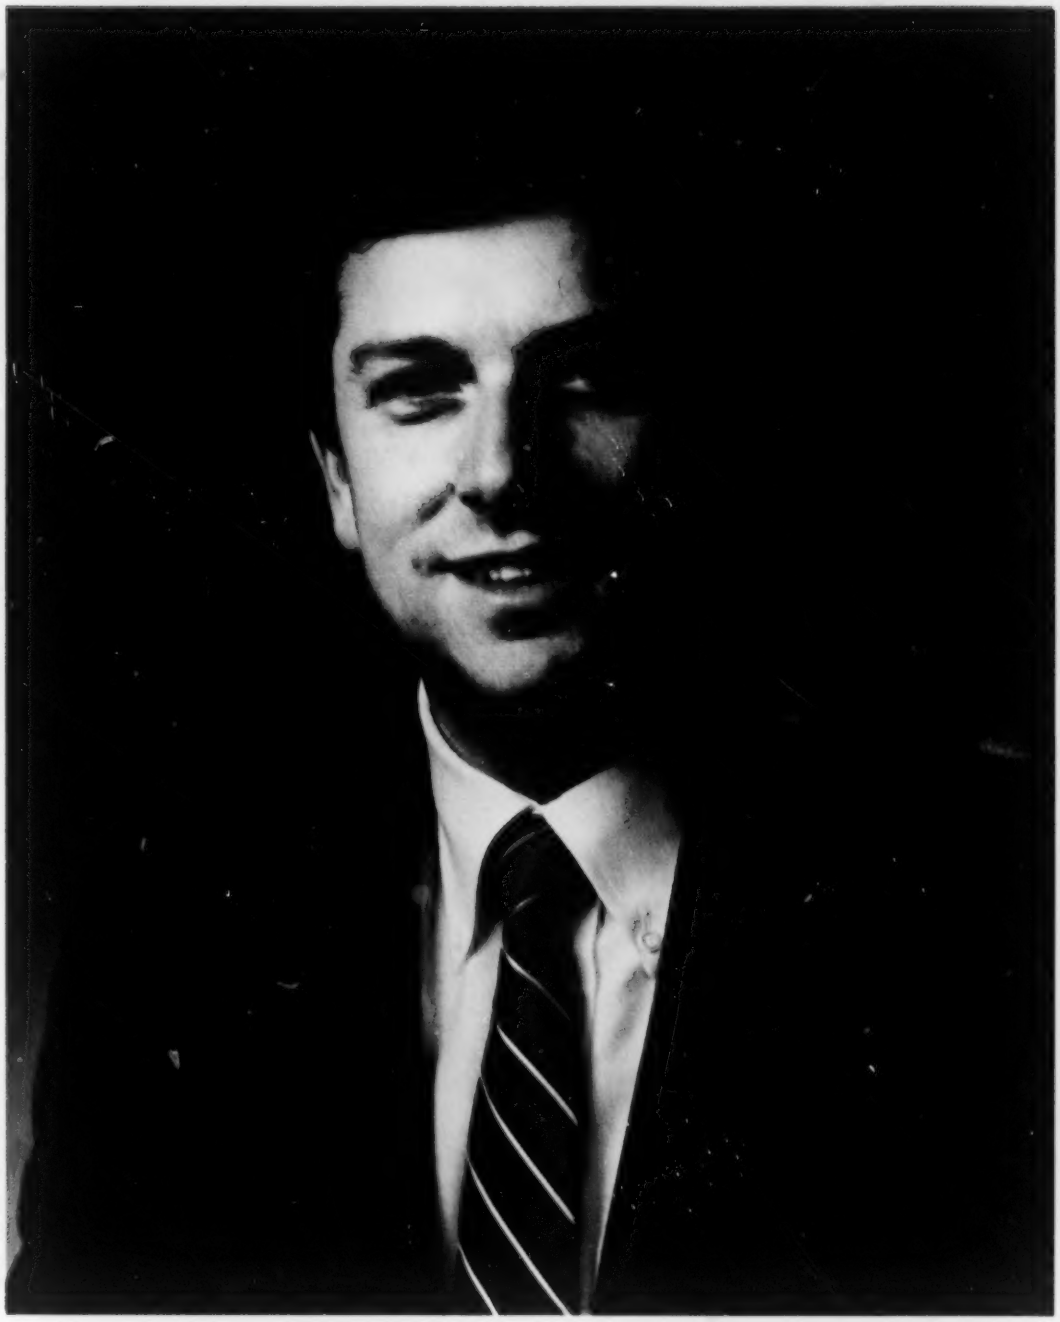
Yours truly,

Robert Casey

Robert P. Casey
Governor



GOVERNOR ROBERT P. CASEY



LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR MARK S. SINGEL

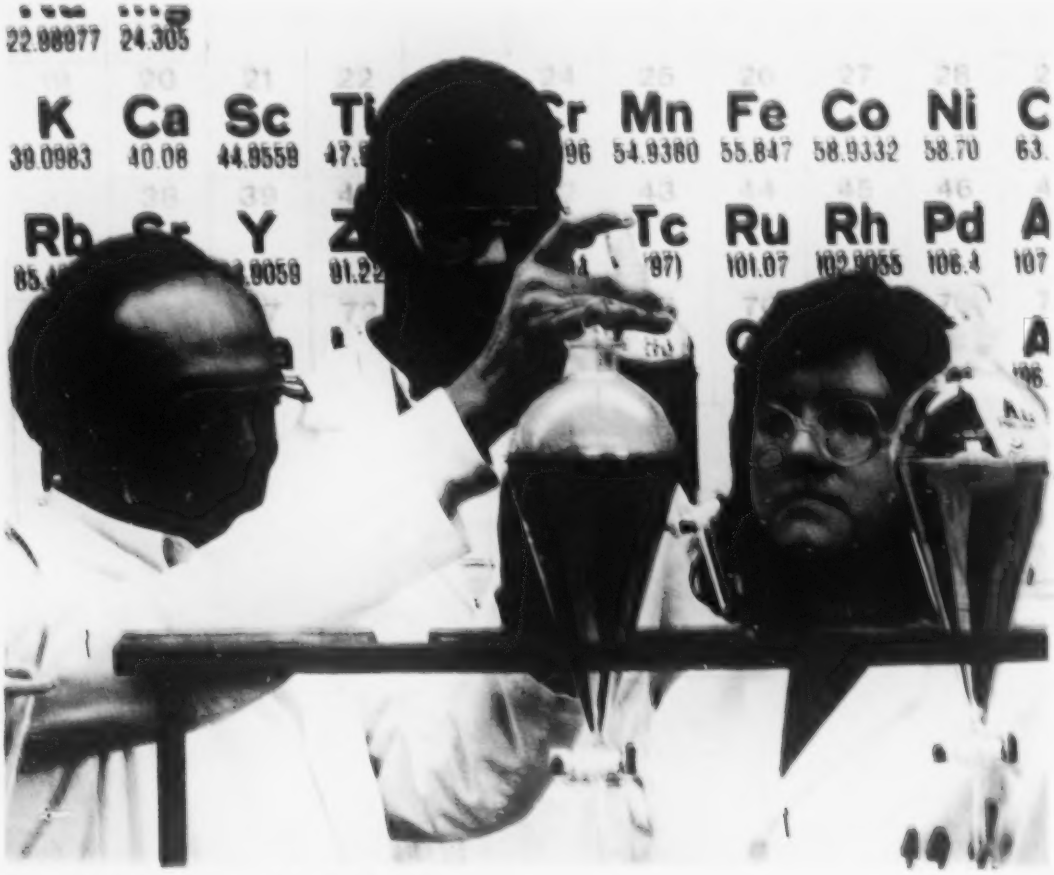
A NEW PENNSYLVANIA

Pennsylvania's families have always known how to work hard, plan prudently and invest wisely. Today, Pennsylvania's state government is applying those same basic values to building a better future in a better state for all people.

We're making historic investments in our families, while keeping our budget balanced. We're meeting the challenges we face with unprecedented new actions, but without increasing taxes.

Pennsylvania today is a New Pennsylvania, where citizens and their government are working together to prepare for a new decade and a new century.

Since 1987, the Commonwealth has put in place sweeping new programs to give our children a better education; to clean up toxic waste; to improve the quality of our drinking water and rebuild our sewer systems; to cut down the volume of garbage we heap in our landfills; to fight drug abuse and drug pushers; and to expand a wide range of human services for the young and old, the abused and addicted, the ill and the disabled.



Investing in Science and Technology

The record is one of historic accomplishment and promises fulfilled.

In 1989, our unemployment rate reached its lowest point in 15 years. Month after month it remained below the national average. More people are at work in Pennsylvania than ever before and our manufacturing is at its highest production level in a decade.

Throughout the Commonwealth, manufacturing firms are reestablishing themselves as a competitive force in the world marketplace, building inventories and meeting the growing demand for high-tech products. Today, plant output is high and exports are up, due to the cooperative efforts of labor and management and the creative programs we've developed to enhance our industrial competitiveness.

Agriculture is Pennsylvania's Number One Industry

Investing in Manufacturing Competitiveness

We've put an end to pollution as the price of prosperity, and enacted landmark legislation to clean up our long-neglected environment. We created PENNVEST, a 25-year, $2.5 billion plan to ensure safe drinking water for our people and adequate sewer systems for our industries. We became the largest state in the nation to begin a comprehensive, statewide recycling program. We passed a tough toxic waste cleanup law to protect the health and safety of our families. And we imposed stiff fines and stricter enforcement against polluters.

Clean Water for Our Children

Recycling to Preserve Our Environment

Historic Investments in Education

We've made sweeping educational reforms to improve the quality of teaching and learning in our schools. We put our money where our kids are and increased basic education funding by nearly three quarters of a billion dollars in just three years. We committed unprecedented funds to helping families afford the cost of a college education, and successfully challenged our great public universities to keep tuition increases far below the national average. And we made major new investments in school breakfast and lunch programs, special education, school libraries, and early intervention for students at risk of failing, dropping out, or becoming involved with drugs.

To combat the scourge of drugs in our society, we replaced rhetoric with weapons, and mobilized our forces on four fronts: education, treatment, rehabilitation and enforcement. In 1989, Pennsylvania quadrupled its investment in the war on drug abuse and drug dealers.

A Commitment to Community Service

The Governor's PENNFREE plan for a drug-free Pennsylvania provides critical funding for beefed up law enforcement; expanded treatment programs, including long-term residential care for addicted women with young children; and drug education in all public schools. PENNFREE also targets funds to the problems associated with drug abuse, including domestic violence, child abuse, homelessness and AIDS.

Investing in a Drug-Free Pennsylvania

Bringing State Government Directly to the People

At the core of these new efforts has been the active involvement of Pennsylvania's people. Because the work of state government doesn't take place just beneath the Capitol dome, but in communities and neighborhoods throughout a vast Commonwealth.

Governor Casey's Capital for a Day program brings state government directly to people, real people, seeking honest solutions to the challenges they face. Through meetings, visits and public forums, the Governor and his entire Cabinet learn — first hand — the needs of local communities and the concerns of their citizens. In short, they give Pennsylvanians a vital sense of connection with their elected officials.

In the first year of Capital for a Day, the Governor and his Cabinet traveled to Erie, Wilkes-Barre, Johnstown, York, Levittown, Uniontown and Greensburg.

The York Dispatch said "the excitement [of Capital for a Day] makes us feel good about our community and allows us access to people who we believe can change things." The Wilkes-Barre Times Leader said the program "has created the opportunity for the man in the street to talk, face-to-face, with the people at the top. It has put citizens and government in direct one-on-one communication."

Capital for a Day is, quite simply, democracy in action. It shows what we can accomplish when we combine our ideas, our talents and our strengths. And it exemplifies the spirit of partnership that has built a New Pennsylvania — a Commonwealth that's hard at work for all its people.

PHYSICAL AND NATURAL PROPERTIES

William Penn, as proprietor of Penn's Woods, was an aggressive and active promoter of his new land. "The country itself," he wrote, "its soil, air, water, seasons and produce, both natural and artificial, is not to be despised." Pennsylvania still contains a rich diversity of natural and geological features.

One of the original thirteen colonies, Pennsylvania is today surrounded by the states of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio. It has a land area of 45,333 square miles and 891 square miles of the area of Lake Erie. It ranks thirty-second in area among the 50 states. Pennsylvania has an average width of 285 miles, east to west, and an average north-to-south distance of 156 miles.

Only the Delaware River on the east and about 40 miles of Lake Erie in the northwest corner form natural boundaries. Elsewhere borders are based on those established in the charter granted to William Penn by King Charles II of England, although it was 1787 before land and border disputes were settled and Pennsylvania took clear title to its land. The most famous border dispute was with Maryland and was ultimately settled when the English Crown accepted the Mason-Dixon line in 1769, a border which, in subsequent years, became the symbolic demarcation in the United States between the North and the South.

A dissected plateau covers Pennsylvania's northern and western sections, ranging from about 2,000 feet above sea level in the northern tier of counties to about 1,200 feet south of Pittsburgh. A broad belt of wide valleys, alternating with narrow mountains, stretches across the state from the south-central boundary to the northeast corner. To the east of this section is the Great Valley, which is divided into southern, central and eastern sections — the Cumberland, Lebanon and Lehigh valleys, respectively. Further to the east is a line of discontinuous mountains, as well as lowlands of irregular form and a deeply dissected plateau of moderate height which gradually slopes to the Delaware River. There is also another lowland along the shores of Lake Erie. Pennsylvania's highest peak is Mt. Davis on Negro Mountain in Somerset County which has an elevation of 3,213 feet above sea level.

Pennsylvania has three major river systems — the Delaware, the Susquehanna and the Ohio. The Delaware's important tributaries are the Schuylkill and Lehigh rivers. The Susquehanna has North and West branches as does the Juniata River. In the west, the Ohio River begins at the confluence of the Allegheny and the Monongahela, and its tributaries include the Youghiogheny, Beaver and Clarion rivers. The Ohio system provides 35 percent of all the water emptying into the Gulf of Mexico.

The state has a great variety of soils, ranging from extremely rich in Lancaster County to very poor in the mountain regions. Through advanced agricultural methods, a large part of Pennsylvania soil which was only marginally fertile has been made very productive. Originally almost all of Pennsylvania, which was a transition zone between northern and southern primeval forests, was covered by dense growth of hickory, locust, black walnut, maple, beech, birch, cherry, and conifers. Because much land was cleared by settlement and by lumber operations, very little virgin timber remains, but even today half the state is wooded.

Animal and bird life, including the wild pigeon, panther, black bear and Canada lynx, was abundant in the primeval forest. The first of these is now extinct, the second has been exterminated, and the last two are no longer abundant. Raccoons, squirrels, rabbits, skunks and woodchucks are still common, as are most of the smaller birds. Today, deer, pheasants, rabbits, ducks and turkeys are popular with hunters. Pennsylvania's rivers were originally filled with sturgeon, shad, salmon, trout, perch and, surprisingly, mussels. State and federal agencies keep streams and ponds well stocked, and trout, salmon and walleyed pike are caught in large numbers.

Pennsylvania ranks second in value of mineral production among all the states. Coal, petroleum, natural gas and cement are the principal products. Others are fire clay, iron ore, lime, slate and stone.

In spite of its proximity to the ocean, Pennsylvania has a continental climate because the prevailing winds are from the west. This makes for extremes of heat and cold, but not with so marked a variation as in the central states. There are minor climatic differences within the state because of altitude and geological features. The frost-free period, for example, is longest in southeastern Pennsylvania, in the Ohio and Monongahela valleys in southwestern Pennsylvania, and in the region bordering Lake Erie. The higher lands have only three to five months free from frost. Rainfall throughout the state is usually adequate for temperate zone crops.

Pennsylvania's location and its characteristics of climate, waters, minerals, flora and fauna helped shape the growth not only of the state, but of the entire nation. Midway between the North and the South, the fledgling colony prospered and became the keystone of the young nation.

SYMBOLS

"Commonwealth"

Pennsylvania shares with Virginia, Kentucky, and Massachusetts the designation "Commonwealth." The word is of English derivation and refers to the common "weal" or well-being of the public. The State Seal of Pennsylvania does not use the term, but it is a traditional, official designation used in referring to the state, and legal processes are in the name of the Commonwealth. In 1776, our first state constitution referred to Pennsylvania as both "Commonwealth" and "State," a pattern of usage that was perpetuated in the constitutions of 1790, 1838, and 1874, and in the revisions of 1968. Today, "State" and "Commonwealth" are correctly used interchangeably. The distinction between them has been held to have no legal significance.

"Keystone State"

The word "keystone" comes from architecture and refers to the central, wedge-shaped stone in an arch which holds all the other stones in place. The application of the term "Keystone State" to Pennsylvania cannot be traced to any single source. It was commonly accepted soon after 1800.

At a Jefferson Republican victory rally in October 1802, Pennsylvania was toasted as "the keystone in the federal union," and in the newspaper Aurora the following year, the state was referred to as "the keystone in the democratic arch." The modern persistence of this designation is justified in view of the key position of Pennsylvania in the economic, social and political development of the United States.

State Seal

The State Seal is the symbol used by the Commonwealth to authenticate certain documents. It is impressed upon the document by an instrument known as a seal-press, or stamp. The State Seal has two faces: the obverse, which is the more familiar face and the one most often referred to as the "State Seal," and the reverse, or counter-seal, which is used less frequently. The State Seal is in the custody of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. When Pennsylvania was still a province of England, its seals were those of William Penn and his descendants. The transition from this provincial seal to a state seal began when the State Constitutional Convention of 1776 directed that "all commissions shall be . . . sealed with the State Seal," and appointed a committee to prepare such a seal for future use. By 1778 there was in use a seal similar to the present one. The seal received legal recognition from the General Assembly in 1791, when it was designated the official State Seal.

The obverse of the seal contains a shield, upon which are emblazoned a sailing ship, a plough, and three sheaves of wheat. To the left of the shield is a stalk of Indian corn; to the right, an olive branch. The shield's crest is an eagle, and the entire design is encircled by the inscription "Seal of the State of Pennsylvania." These three symbols — the plough, the ship, and the sheaves of wheat — have, despite minor changes through the years, remained the traditional emblems of Pennsylvania's State Seal. They were first found in the individual seals of several colonial Pennsylvania counties, which mounted their own identifying crests above the existing Penn

OBVERSE

REVERSE

Coat of Arms. Chester County's crest was a plough; Philadelphia County's crest was a ship under full sail; Sussex County, Delaware (then a part of provincial Pennsylvania) used a sheaf of wheat as its crest. The shield of the City of Philadelphia contained both a sheaf of wheat and a ship under sail. It was a combination of these sources that provided the three emblems now forming the obverse of the State Seal. The reverse of this first seal shows a woman, who represents liberty. Her left hand holds a wand topped by a liberty cap, a French symbol of liberty. In her right hand is a drawn sword. She is trampling upon Tyranny, represented by a lion. The entire design is encircled by the legend "Both Can't Survive."

Coat of Arms

Pennsylvania's Coat of Arms, while not used in the same official capacity as the State Seal (although it contains the emblems of the seal), is perhaps a more familiar symbol of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It appears on countless documents, letterheads, and publications, and forms the design on Pennsylvania's State Flag. Provincial Pennsylvania's coat of arms was that of the Penn family. A state coat of arms first appeared on state paper money issued in 1777. This first coat of arms was nearly identical to the State Seal, without the inscription. In 1778, Caleb Lownes of Philadelphia prepared a coat of arms. Heraldic in design, it consisted of: a shield, which displayed the emblems of the State Seal — the ship, plough, and sheaves of wheat; an eagle for the crest; two black horses as supporters; and the motto "Virtue, Liberty and Independence." An olive branch and cornstalk were crossed below the shield. Behind each horse was a stalk of corn but these were omitted after 1805.

Numerous modifications were made to this coat of arms between 1778 and 1873, chiefly in the position and color of the supporting horses. In 1874, the legislature noted these variations and lack of uniformity, and appointed a commission to establish an official coat of arms for the Commonwealth. In 1875, the commission reported that it had adopted, almost unchanged, the coat of arms originally designed by Caleb Lownes 96 years earlier. This is the coat of arms in use today.

State Flag

Pennsylvania's State Flag is composed of a blue field, on which is embroidered the State Coat of Arms. The flag is flown from all state buildings, and further display on any public building within the Commonwealth is provided for by law. The first State Flag bearing the State Coat of Arms was authorized by the General Assembly in 1799. During the Civil War, many Pennsylvania regiments carried flags modeled after the U.S. Flag, but substituted Pennsylvania's Coat of Arms for the field of stars. An act of the General Assembly of June 13, 1907, standardized the flag and required that the blue field match the blue of Old Glory.

The Whitetail Deer is the official state animal by an act of the General Assembly of October 2, 1959.

The Ruffed Grouse is the state game bird by an act of the General Assembly of June 22, 1931. The Pennsylvania ruffed grouse, sometimes called the partridge, is distinguished by its plump body, feathered legs, and mottled reddish-brown color. This protective coloring makes it possible for the ruffed grouse to conceal itself in the wilds.

The Great Dane is the state dog as approved by the General Assembly on August 15, 1965.

The Brook Trout is the state fish as adopted by the General Assembly on March 9, 1970.

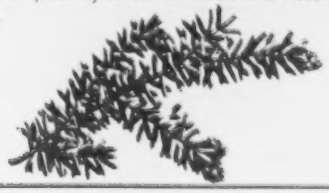
The Mountain Laurel is the state flower as approved by the General Assembly on May 5, 1933. The mountain laurel is in full bloom in mid-June, when Pennsylvania's woodlands are filled with its distinctive pink flower.

The Firefly is the state insect as enacted by the General Assembly on April 10, 1974. Act 130 of December 5, 1988, designated the particular species of firefly "Poturis pensylvanica De Geer" as the official state insect.

Milk is the official state beverage by an act of the General Assembly of April 29, 1982.

The Hemlock is the state tree by an act of the General Assembly of June 23, 1931.

The Penngift Crownvetch is the official beautification and conservation plant by an act of the General Assembly of June 17, 1982.



Phacops rana (a small water animal) is the state fossil by an act of the General Assembly on December 5, 1988.

CAPITOL

The Capitol sits in the middle of a large complex of Commonwealth buildings and represents the seat of state power. Harrisburg has been the capital of Pennsylvania since 1812, by an act approved on February 21, 1810. Philadelphia and then Lancaster were earlier capital cities. The present Capitol was dedicated in 1906, after an earlier building was destroyed by fire in 1897.

GOVERNOR'S RESIDENCE

Built in 1968, the Governor's Residence is the home of Pennsylvania's first family. Extensively damaged during a flood in 1972, the building and grounds have been restored and refurbished.

PENNSYLVANIA HISTORY

PENNSYLVANIA ON THE EVE OF COLONIZATION

Indians: The First Inhabitants

When first discovered by Europeans, Pennsylvania, like the rest of the continent, was inhabited by groups of American Indians, people of Mongoloid ancestry unaware of European culture. The life of the Indians reflected Stone Age backgrounds, especially in material arts and crafts. Tools, weapons, and household equipment were made from stone, wood, and bark. Transportation was on foot or by canoe. Houses were made of bark, clothing from the skins of animals. The rudiments of a more complex civilization were at hand in the arts of weaving, pottery, and agriculture, although hunting and food gathering prevailed. Some Indians formed confederacies such as the league of the Five Nations, which was made up of certain New York-Pennsylvania groups of Iroquoian speech. The other large linguistic group in Pennsylvania was the Algonkian, represented by the Delawares, Shawnees, and other tribes.

The Delawares, calling themselves Leni-Lenape or "real men," originally occupied the basin of the Delaware River and were the most important of several tribes that spoke an Algonkian language. Under the pressure of white settlement, they began to drift westward to the Wyoming Valley, to the Allegheny and, finally, to eastern Ohio. Many of them took the French side in the French and Indian War, joined in Pontiac's War, and fought on the British side in the Revolutionary War. Afterwards, some fled to Ontario and the rest wandered west. Their descendants now live on reservations in Oklahoma and Ontario. The Munsees were a division of the Delawares who lived on the upper Delaware River, above the Lehigh River.

The Susquehannocks were a powerful Iroquoian-speaking tribe who lived along the Susquehanna in Pennsylvania and Maryland. An energetic people living in Algonkian-speaking tribes' territory, they engaged in many wars. In the end they fell victim to new diseases brought by European settlers, and to attacks by Marylanders and by the Iroquois which destroyed them as a nation by 1675. A few descendants were among the Conestoga Indians who were massacred in 1763 in Lancaster County.

The Shawnees were an important Algonkian-speaking tribe who came to Pennsylvania from the west in the 1690s, some groups settling on the lower Susquehanna and others with the Munsees near Easton. In the course of time they moved to the Wyoming Valley and the Ohio Valley, where they joined other Shawnees who had gone there directly. They were allies of the French in the French and Indian War and of the British in the Revolution, being almost constantly at war with settlers for forty years preceding the Treaty of Greenville in 1795. After Wayne's victory at Fallen Timbers (1794), they settled near the Delawares in Indiana, and their descendants now live in Oklahoma.

The Iroquois Confederacy of Iroquoian-speaking tribes, at first known as the Five Nations, included the Mohawks, Oneidas, Onondagas, Cayugas and Senecas. After about 1723 when the Tuscaroras from the South were admitted to the confederacy, it was called the Six Nations. The five original tribes, when first known to Europeans, held much of New York State from Lake Champlain to the Genesee River. From this central position they gradually extended their power. As middlemen in the fur trade with the western Indians, as intermediaries skilled in dealing with the whites, and as the largest single group of Indians in northeastern America, they gained influence over Indian tribes from Illinois and Lake Michigan to the eastern seaboard. During the colonial wars their alliance or their neutrality was eagerly sought by both the French and the British. The Senecas, the westernmost tribe, established villages on the upper Allegheny in the 1730s. Small groups of Iroquois also scattered westward into Ohio, and became known as Mingoes. During the Revolution most of the Six Nations took the British side, but the Oneidas and many Tuscaroras were pro-American. Gen. John Sullivan's expedition up the Susquehanna River and Gen. Daniel Brodhead's expedition up the Allegheny River laid waste their villages and cornfields in 1779 and disrupted their society. Many who had fought for the British moved to Canada after the Revolution, but the rest worked out peaceful relations with the United States under the leadership of such chiefs as Cornplanter. The General Assembly recognized this noted chief by granting him a tract of land on the upper Allegheny in 1791.

Other Tribes which cannot be identified with certainty occupied western Pennsylvania before the Europeans arrived, but were eliminated by wars and diseases in the seventeenth century, long before the Delawares, Shawnees, and Senecas began to move there. The Eries, a great Iroquoian-speaking tribe, lived along the south shore of Lake Erie, but were wiped out by the Iroquois about 1654. The Mahicans, an Algonkian-speaking tribe related to the Mohegans of Connecticut, lived in the upper Hudson Valley of New York, but were driven out by pressure from the Iroquois and from the white settlers, some joining the Delawares in the Wyoming Valley about 1730 and some settling at Stockbridge, Massachusetts. Two Algonkian-speaking tribes, the Conoys and the Nanticokes, moved northward from Maryland early in the eighteenth century, settling in southern New York, and eventually moved west with the Delawares with whom they merged. The Saponis, Siouan-speaking tribes from Virginia and North Carolina, moved northward to seek Iroquois protection and were eventually absorbed into the Cayugas. In the latter part of the eighteenth century there were temporary villages of Wyandots, Chippewas, Missisaugas, and Ottawas in western Pennsylvania.

European Background and Early Settlements

The rise of nation-states in Europe coincided with the age of discovery and brought a desire for territorial gains beyond the seas, first by Spain and Portugal, and later by England, France, the Netherlands, and Sweden. Wars in southern Germany caused many Germans to migrate, eventually to Pennsylvania. The struggle in England between the Crown and Parliament also had a pronounced effect on migration to America. The Reformation led to religious ferment and division, and minorities of various faiths sought refuge in America. Such an impulse brought Quakers, Puritans, and Catholics from England, German Pietists from the Rhineland, Scotch Calvinists via Ireland, and Huguenots from France. Also, great economic changes took place in Europe in the seventeenth century. The old manorial system was breaking down, creating a large class of landless men ready to seek new homes. An increase in commerce and trade led to an accumulation of capital available for colonial ventures. The Swedish and Dutch colonies were financed in this way, and William Penn's colony was also a business enterprise.

Exploration

The English based their claims in North America on the discoveries of the Cabots (1497), while the French pointed to the voyage of Verrazano in 1524. The Spanish claim was founded on Columbus' discovery of the West Indies, but there is evidence that Spanish ships sailed up the coast of North America as early as 1520. It is uncertain, however, that any of these explorers touched land that became Pennsylvania. Captain John Smith journeyed from Virginia up the Susquehanna River in 1608, visiting the Susquehannock Indians. In 1609 Henry Hudson, an Englishman in the Dutch service, sailed the Half Moon into Delaware Bay, thus giving the Dutch a claim to the area. In 1610 Captain Samuel Argall of Virginia visited the bay and named it for Lord de la Warr, governor of Virginia. After Hudson's time, the Dutch navigators Cornelis Hendricksen (1616) and Cornelis Jacobsen (1623) explored the Delaware region more thoroughly, and trading posts were established in 1623 and in later years, though not on Pennsylvania soil until 1647.

The Colony of New Sweden, 1638-1655

The Swedes were the first to make permanent settlement, beginning with the expedition of 1637-1638 which occupied the site of Wilmington, Delaware. In 1643 Governor Johan Printz of New Sweden established his capital at Tinicum Island within the present limits of Pennsylvania, where there is now a state park bearing his name.

Dutch Dominion on the Delaware, 1655-1664, and the Duke of York's Rule, 1664-1681

Trouble broke out between the Swedes and the Dutch, who had trading posts in the region. In 1655 Governor Peter Stuyvesant of New Netherlands seized New Sweden and made it part of the Dutch colony. In 1664 the English seized the Dutch possessions in the name of the Duke of York, the king's brother. Except when it was recaptured by the Dutch in 1673-1674, the Delaware region remained under his jurisdiction until 1681. English laws and civil government were introduced by The Duke of Yorke's Laws in 1676.

THE QUAKER PROVINCE: 1681-1776

The Founding of Pennsylvania

William Penn and the Quakers

Penn was born in London on October 24, 1644, the son of Admiral Sir William Penn. With high social position and an excellent education, he shocked his upper-class associates by his conversion to the beliefs of the Society of Friends, or Quakers, then a persecuted sect. He used his inherited wealth and rank to benefit and protect his fellow believers. Despite the unpopularity of his religion, he was socially acceptable in the king's court because he was trusted by the Duke of York, later King James II. The origins of the Society of Friends lie in the intense religious ferment of seventeenth-century England. George Fox, the son of a Leicestershire weaver, is credited with founding it in 1647, though there was no definite organization before 1668. The Society's rejections of rituals and oaths, its opposition to war, and its simplicity of speech and dress soon attracted attention, usually hostile.

The Charter

King Charles II owed William Penn 16,000 pounds, money which Admiral Penn had lent him. Seeking a haven in the New World for persecuted Friends, Penn asked the King to grant him land in the territority between Lord Baltimore's province of Maryland and the Duke of York's province of New York. With the Duke's support, Penn's petition was granted. The King signed the Charter of Pennsylvania on March 4, 1681, and it was officially proclaimed on April 2. The King named the new colony in honor of William Penn's father. It was to include the land between the 39th and 42nd degrees of north latitude and from the Delaware River westward for five degrees of longitude. Other provisions assured its people the protection of English laws, and kept it subject to the government in England to a certain degree. Provincial laws could be annulled by the King. In 1682 the Duke of York deeded to Penn his claim to the three lower counties on the Delaware, which are now the State of Delaware.

The New Colony

In April 1681, Penn made his cousin William Markham deputy governor of the province and sent him to take control. In England Penn drew up the First Frame of Government, his proposed constitution for Pennsylvania. Penn's preface to First Frame of Government has become famous as the summation of his governmental ideals. Later, in October 1682, the Proprietor arrived in Pennsylvania on the ship Welcome. He visited Philadelphia, just laid out as the capital city, created the three original counties, and summoned a General Assembly to Chester on December 4. This first Assembly united the Delaware counties with Pennsylvania, adopted a naturalization act and, on December 7, adopted the Great Law, a humanitarian code which became the fundamental basis of Pennsylvania law, and which guaranteed liberty of conscience. The second Assembly in 1683 reviewed and amended Penn's First Frame with his cooperation and created the Second Frame of Government. By the time of Penn's return to England late in 1684, the foundations of the Quaker Province were well established.

In 1986 William Penn and his wife, Hannah Callowhill Penn, were made the third and fourth honorary citizens of the United States, by act of Congress.

Population and Immigration

Indians

Although William Penn was granted all the land in Pennsylvania by the King, he and his heirs chose not to grant or settle any part of it without first buying the claims of Indians who lived there. In this manner, all of Pennsylvania, except the northwestern third, was purchased by 1768. The Commonwealth bought the Six Nations' claims to the remainder of the land in 1784 and 1789, and the claims of the Delawares and Wyandots in 1785. The defeat of the French and Indian war alliance by 1760, the withdrawal of the French, the crushing of Chief Pontiac's Indian alliance in 1764, and the failure of all attempts by Indians and colonists to live side by side, led the Indians to migrate westward, gradually leaving Pennsylvania.

English

English Quakers were the dominant element, although many English settlers were Anglican. The English settled heavily in the southeastern counties, which soon lost frontier characteristics and became the center of a thriving agricultural and commercial society. Philadelphia became the metropolis of the British colonies and a center of intellectual and commercial life.

Germans

Thousands of Germans were also attracted to the colony and, by the time of the Revolution, comprised a third of the population. The volume of German immigration increased after 1727, coming largely from the Rhineland. The Pennsylvania Germans settled most heavily in the interior counties of Northampton, Berks, Lancaster, and Lehigh, and neighboring areas. Their skill and industry transformed this region into a rich farming country, contributing greatly to the expanding prosperity of the province.

Scotch-Irish

Another important immigrant group was the Scotch-Irish, who migrated from about 1717 until the Revolution in a series of waves caused by hardships in Ireland. They were primarily frontiersmen, pushing first into the Cumberland Valley region and then farther into central and western Pennsylvania. They, with immigrants from old Scotland, numbered about one-fourth of the population by 1776.

Blacks

Despite Quaker opposition to slavery, about 4,000 slaves were brought to Pennsylvania by 1730, most of them owned by English, Welsh, and Scotch-Irish colonists. The census of 1790 showed that the number of Blacks had increased to about 10,000, of whom about 6,300 had received their freedom.

Others

Many Quakers were Irish and Welsh, and they settled in the area immediately outside of Philadelphia. French Huguenot and Jewish settlers, together with Dutch, Swedes, and other groups, contributed in smaller numbers to the development of colonial Pennsylvania. The mixture of various national groups in the Quaker Province helped to create its broad-minded tolerance and cosmopolitan outlook.

Politics

Pennsylvania's political history ran a rocky course during the provincial era. There was a natural conflict between the proprietary and popular elements in the government which began under Penn and grew stronger under his successors. As a result of the English Revolution of 1688 which overthrew King James II, Penn was deprived of his province from 1692 until 1694. A popular party led by David Lloyd demanded greater powers for the Assembly, and in 1696 Markham's Frame of Government granted some of these. In December 1699, the Proprietor again visited Pennsylvania and, just before his return to England in 1701, agreed with the Assembly on a revised constitution, the Charter of Privileges, which remained in effect until 1776. This gave the Assembly full legislative powers and permitted the three Delaware counties to have a separate legislature.

Deputy or lieutenant governors (addressed as "governor") resided in Pennsylvania and represented the Penn family proprietors who remained themselves in England until 1773. After 1763 these governors were members of the Penn family. From 1773 until independence John Penn was both a proprietor and the governor.

William Penn's heirs, who eventually abandoned Quakerism, were often in conflict with the Assembly, which was usually dominated by the Quakers until 1756. One after another, governors defending the proprietors' prerogatives battered themselves against the rock of an Assembly vigilant in the defense of its own rights. The people of the frontier areas contended with the people of the older, southeastern region for more adequate representation in the Assembly and better protection in time of war. Such controversies prepared the people for their part in the Revolution.

The Colonial Wars

As part of the British Empire, Pennsylvania was involved in the wars between Great Britain and France for dominance in North America. These wars ended the long period when Pennsylvania was virtually without defense. The government built forts and furnished men and supplies to help defend the empire to which it belonged. The territory claimed for New France included western Pennsylvania. The Longueuil and Celoron expeditions of the French in 1739 and 1749 traversed this region, and French traders competed with Pennsylvanians for Indian trade. The French efforts in 1753 and 1754 to establish control over the upper Ohio Valley led to the last and conclusive colonial war, the French and Indian War (1754-1763). French forts at Erie (Fort Presque Isle), Waterford (Fort LeBoeuf), Pittsburgh (Fort Duquesne) and Franklin (Fort Machault) threatened all the middle colonies. In 1753 Washington failed to persuade the French to leave. In the ensuing war Gen. Braddock's British and colonial army was slaughtered on the Monongahela in 1755, but Gen. John Forbes recaptured the site of Pittsburgh in 1758. After the war, the Indians rose up against the British colonies in Pontiac's War, but in August 1763, Colonel Henry Bouquet defeated them at Bushy Run, ending the threat to the frontier in this region.

Economics

Agriculture

From its beginning Pennsylvania ranked as a leading agricultural area and produced surpluses for export, adding to its wealth. By the 1750s an exceptionally prosperous farming area had developed in southeastern Pennsylvania. Wheat and corn were the leading crops, though rye, hemp, and flax were also important.

Manufacturing

The abundant natural resources of the colony made for early development of industries. Arts and crafts, as well as home manufactures, grew rapidly. Sawmills and gristmills were usually the first to appear, using the power of the numerous streams. Textile products were spun and woven mainly in the homes, though factory production was not unknown. Shipbuilding became important on the Delaware. The province early gained importance in iron manufacture, producing pig iron as well as finished products. Printing, publishing and the related industry of papermaking, as well as tanning, were significant industries. The Pennsylvania long rifle was an adaptation of a German hunting rifle developed in Lancaster County. Its superiority was so recognized that by 1776 gunsmiths were duplicating it in Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina and Maryland. The Conestoga wagon was also developed in Lancaster County. Capable of carrying as much as four tons, it became the principal vehicle for American westward migration.

Commerce and Transportation

The rivers were important as early arteries of commerce, and were soon supplemented by roads in the southeastern area. The Conestoga wagon, developed in Pennsylvania for land travel, played an important part in expansion to the West. Stagecoach lines by 1776 reached from Philadelphia into the southcentral region. Trade with the Indians for furs was important in the early period. Later, the transport and sale of farm products to Philadelphia and Baltimore by water and road formed an important business. Philadelphia became one of the most important centers in the colonies for the conduct of foreign trade, and the commercial metropolis of an expanding hinterland. By 1776 the province's imports and exports were worth several million dollars.

Society and Culture

The Arts and Learning

Philadelphia was known in colonial times as the "Athens of America" because of its rich cultural life. Because of the liberality of Penn's principles and the freedom of expression that prevailed, the province was noted for the variety and strength of its intellectual and educational institutions and interests. An academy which held its first classes in 1740 became the College of Philadelphia in 1755, and ultimately grew into the University of Pennsylvania. It was the only nondenominational college of the colonial period. The arts and sciences flourished, and the public buildings of Philadelphia were the marvel of the colonies. Many fine old buildings in the Philadelphia area still bear witness to the richness of Pennsylvania's civilization in the eighteenth century. Such men of intellect as Benjamin Franklin, David Rittenhouse, John Bartram and Benjamin West achieved international renown. Newspapers and magazines flourished, as did law and medicine. Pennsylvania can claim America's first hospital, first library, and first insurance company.

Religion

Quakers held their first meeting at Upland (now Chester) in 1675, and came to Pennsylvania in great numbers after William Penn received his Charter. Most numerous in the southeastern counties, the Quakers gradually declined in number but retained considerable influence. The Pennsylvania Germans belonged largely to the Lutheran and Reformed churches, but there were also several smaller sects: Mennonites, Amish, German Baptist Brethren or "Dunkers," Schwenkfelders, and Moravians. Although the Lutheran Church was established by the Swedes on Tinicum Island in 1643, it began its growth to become the largest of the Protestant denominations in Pennsylvania upon the arrival of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg in 1742. The Reformed Church owed its expansion to Michael Schlatter, who arrived in 1746. The Moravians did notable missionary work among the Indians. The Church of England held services in Philadelphia as early as 1695. The first Catholic congregation was organized in Philadelphia in 1720 and the first chapel was erected in 1733; Pennsylvania had the second largest Catholic population among the colonies. The Scotch brought Presbyterianism; its first congregation was organized in Philadelphia in 1698. Scotch-Irish immigrants swelled its numbers. Methodism began late in the colonial period. St. George's Church built in Philadelphia in 1769, is the oldest Methodist building in America. There was a significant Jewish population in colonial Pennsylvania. Its Mikveh Israel congregation was established in Philadelphia in 1740.

Pennsylvania on the Eve of the Revolution

By 1776 the Province of Pennsylvania had become the third largest English colony in America, though next to the last to be founded. Philadelphia had become the largest English-speaking city in the world next to London. There were originally only three counties: Philadelphia, Chester, and Bucks. By 1773 there were eleven. Westmoreland, the last new county created before the Revolution, was the first county located entirely west of the Allegheny Mountains.

The American Revolution had urban origins, and Philadelphia was a center of ferment. Groups of artisans and mechanics, many loyal to Benjamin Franklin formed grassroots leadership. Philadelphia was a center of resistance to the Stamp Act (1765) and moved quickly to support Boston in opposition to the Intolerable Acts, in 1774.

INDEPENDENCE TO THE CIVIL WAR: 1776-1861

Pennsylvania in the Revolution

Pennsylvanians may well take pride in the dominant role played by their state in the early development of the national government. At the same time that Pennsylvania was molding its own statehood, it was providing leadership and a meeting place for the men concerned with building a nation.

Philadelphia was the nation's capital during the Revolution, except when the British threat caused the capital to be moved to Baltimore, Lancaster, and York. While Congress was sitting in York (October 1777 - June 1778), it approved the Articles of Confederation, the first step toward a national government. After the war the capital was moved to New York, but from 1790 until the opening of the District of Columbia in 1800, Philadelphia was again the capital. In 1787 the U.S. Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia.

The Declaration of Independence

The movement to defend American rights grew into the movement for independence in the meetings of the Continental Congress at Carpenters' Hall and the State House (Independence Hall) in Philadelphia. The spirit of independence ran high, as shown by spontaneous declarations of frontiersmen in the western areas, and by the political events which displaced the old provincial government.

The War for Independence

Pennsylvania troops took part in almost all the campaigns of the Revolution. A rifle battalion joined in the siege of Boston in August 1775. Others fought bravely in the ill-fated Canadian campaign of 1776 and in the New York and New Jersey campaigns. The British naturally considered Philadelphia of key importance and, in the summer of 1777, invaded the state and captured the capital. The battles of Brandywine, Germantown, and Whitemarsh were important engagements of this period. Following these battles, Washington went into winter quarters at Valley Forge from December 1777 to June 1778. News of the French alliance, which Benjamin Franklin had helped to negotiate, and the adoption of new strategy caused the British to leave Philadelphia in the spring of 1778. Frontier Pennsylvania suffered heavily from British and Indian raids, until they were answered in 1779 by John Sullivan's and David Brodhead's expeditions against the Six Nations Indians.

Pennsylvania soldiers formed a major portion of Washington's army, and such military leaders as Arthur St. Clair, Anthony Wayne, and Daniel Brodhead gave valuable service. Pennsylvania also aided in the creation of the Continental navy, many ships being built or purchased in Philadelphia and manned by Pennsylvania sailors. The Irish-born John Barry became first in a long list of Pennsylvania's naval heroes.

The Arsenal of Independence

The products of Pennsylvania farms, factories, and mines were essential to the success of the Revolutionary armies. At Carlisle a Continental ordnance arsenal turned out cannons, swords, pikes, and muskets. The state actively encouraged the manufacture of gunpowder. Pennsylvania's financial support, both from its government and from individuals, was of great importance. By 1780 the state had contributed more than $6 million to the Congress and, when the American states had reached financial exhaustion, 90 Philadelphians subscribed a loan of 300,000 pounds to supply the army. Later, in 1782, the Bank of North America was chartered to support government fiscal needs. Robert Morris and Haym Salomon were important financial supporters of the Revolution.

Founding a Commonwealth

A Pennsylvania Revolution

Pennsylvania's part in the American Revolution was complicated by political changes within the state, constituting a Pennsylvania revolution of which not all patriots approved. The temper of the people outran the conservatism of the Provincial Assembly. Extralegal committees gradually took over the reins of government, and in June 1776 these committees called a state convention to meet on July 15, 1776.

The Constitution of 1776

The convention superseded the old government completely, established a Council of Safety to rule in the interim, and drew up the first state constitution, adopted on September 28, 1776. This provided an assembly of one house, and a supreme executive council instead of a governor. The Declaration of Rights section has been copied in subsequent constitutions without significant change.

Many patriot leaders were bitterly opposed to the new Pennsylvania constitution. Led by such men as John Dickinson, James Wilson, Robert Morris, and Frederick Muhlenberg, they carried on a long fight with the Constitutional party, a radical group. Joseph Reed, George Bryan, William Findley, and other radicals governed Pennsylvania until 1790. Its most noteworthy accomplishments were the act for the gradual abolition of slavery (1780) and an act of 1779 which took over the public lands owned by the Penn family (but allowed them some compensation in recognition of the services of the founder). The conservatives gradually gained more strength, helped by the Constitutionalists' poor financial administration.

By 1789 the conservatives felt strong enough to rewrite the state constitution, and the Assembly called a convention to meet in November. In the convention both the conservative majority and the radical minority showed a tendency to compromise and to settle their differences along moderate lines. As a result, the new constitution embodied the best ideas of both parties and was adopted with little objection. It provided for a second legislative house, the State Senate, and for a strong governor with extensive appointing powers.

Founding a Nation

Pennsylvania and the United States Constitution

Because of a lack of central power, as well as financial difficulties, the Articles of Confederation could no longer bind together the newly independent states. As a result, the Federal Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia in 1787. The structure that evolved remains the basis of our government today.

The Pennsylvania Assembly sent eight delegates to the Federal Convention. Four of these had been signers of the Declaration of Independence. The delegation included the venerable Benjamin Franklin, whose counsels of moderation on several occasions kept the convention from dissolving; the brilliant Gouverneur Morris, who spoke more often than any other member; and the able lawyer James Wilson, who, next to Madison of Virginia, was the principal architect of the Constitution. Pennsylvania's delegation supported every move to strengthen the national government and signed the finished Constitution on September 17. The conservatives in the Pennsylvania Assembly took swift action to call a ratifying convention, which met in Philadelphia on November 21. The Federalists, favoring ratification, elected a majority of delegates and, led by Wilson, made Pennsylvania the second state to ratify, on December 12, 1787.

Population and Immigration

Large areas of the northern and western parts of the state were undistributed or undeveloped in 1790, and many other sections were thinly populated. The state adopted generous land policies, distributed free "Donation Lands" to Revolutionary veterans and offered other lands at reasonable prices to actual settlers. Conflicting methods of land distribution and the activities of land companies and of unduly optimistic speculators caused much legal confusion. By 1860, with the possible exception of the northern tier counties, population was scattered throughout the state. There was increased urbanization, although rural life remained strong and agriculture involved large numbers of people. The immigrant tide swelled because of large numbers of Irish fleeing the potato famine of the late 1840s, and Germans fleeing the political turbulence of their homeland about the same time. As a result of the Gradual Emancipation Act of 1780, the 3,737 Black slave population of 1790 dropped to 64 by 1840, and by 1850 all Pennsylvania blacks were free unless they were fugitives from the South. The Black community had 6,500 free people in 1790, rising to 57,000 in 1860. Philadelphia was their population and cultural center.

Political Developments

Reaction Against the Federalist Party

From 1790 to 1800 Philadelphia was the capital of the United States. While Washington was president, the state supported the Federalist Party, but grew gradually suspicious of its aristocratic goals. From the beginning, Senator William Maclay of Pennsylvania was an outspoken critic of the party. When Thomas Jefferson organized the Democrat-Republican Party, he had many supporters in Pennsylvania. Thomas Mifflin, Pennsylvania's first governor under the Constitution of 1790, was a moderate who avoided commitment to any party, but leaned toward the Jeffersonians. The Whiskey Rebellion in Western Pennsylvania in 1794 hastened the reaction against the Federalists and provided a test of national unity. The insurrection was suppressed by an army assembled at Carlisle and Fort Cumberland and headed by President Washington. Partly as a result, Jefferson drew more votes than Adams in Pennsylvania in the presidential election in 1796. It was a foreboding sign for the Federalists, who were defeated in the national election of 1800.

Jeffersonian and Jacksonian Democrat Dominance

In 1799 Mifflin was succeeded by Thomas McKean, a conservative Democrat-Republican, who governed until 1808. McKean's opposition to measures advocated by the liberal element in his party led to a split in its ranks and an unsuccessful attempt to impeach him. His successor, Simon Snyder of Selinsgrove, represented the liberal wing. Snyder, who served three terms until 1817, was the first governor to come from common, nonaristocratic origins. In this period, the capital was transferred from Philadelphia to Lancaster in 1799 and finally to Harrisburg in 1812. During the War of 1812 Pennsylvanians General Jacob Brown and Commodore Stephen Decatur were major military leaders. Stephen Girard, Albert Gallatin, and Alexander James Dallas helped organize national war finances, and Gallatin served as peace commissioner at Ghent. Oliver Hazard Perry's fleet, which won the Battle of Lake Erie in 1813, was built at Erie by Daniel Dobbins, a native Pennsylvanian. In 1820 a coalition of Federalists and conservative Democrats elected Joseph Hiester, whose non-partisan approach reformed government but destroyed his own coalition. The Family Party Democrats elected the two succeeding governors, J. Andrew Shultze and George Wolf (1823-1834) who launched the progressive but very costly Public Works system of state built canals. Attitudes toward President Andrew Jackson and his policies, especially that concerning the Second Bank of the United States, altered political alignments in Pennsylvania during this period. In 1834 Gov. Wolf signed the Free School Act which alienated many, including Pennsylvania Germans, so that the Democrats lost the next governorship to the Anti-Masonic Joseph Ritner who was supported by the Whig Party. But the Masonic investigations in the Assembly which followed were ludicrous and the Democrat David R. Porter received 5,000 more votes than Ritner in the 1834 election. Ritner's followers claimed fraud and violence nearly erupted in the "Buckshot War," until several of Ritner's legislative followers bolted and placed Porter in office.

The Constitution of 1838

In 1837 a convention was called to revise the state's laws and draft a new constitution. The resulting constitution reduced the governor's appointive power, increased the number of elective offices and shortened terms of office. The voters were given a greater voice in government and were better protected from abuses of power. However, free blacks were disenfranchised. The burning of Pennsylvania Hall in Philadelphia, a center for many reform activities, in the same year, showed that the new constitution coincided with an awakened hostility toward abolition and racial equality.

Shifting Tides

Following the adoption of the new constitution in 1838, six governors followed in succession prior to the Civil War, two of whom were Whigs. State debts incurred for internal improvements, such as the canal system, almost bankrupt the state until the Public Works were finally sold. The search for a sound banking and currency policy and the rising political career of James Buchanan dominated this period. It was marred by the tragic religious riots of the Native Americans at Kensington in 1844.

The annexation of Texas and the war with Mexico which ensued in 1846 were generally supported in Pennsylvania. More men enlisted than could be accepted by the armed forces, but many Pennsylvanians were opposed to any expansion of slavery into the territory taken from Mexico. David Wilmot of Bradford County became a national figure in 1846 by his presentation in Congress of the Wilmot Proviso opposing slavery extension, and his action was supported almost unanimously by the Pennsylvania Assembly.

Pennsylvania and the Antislavery Movement

The Quakers were the first group to express organized opposition to slavery. Slavery slowly disappeared in Pennsylvania under the Gradual Emancipation Act of 1780, but nationally the issue of slavery became acute after 1820. Many Pennsylvanians were averse to the return of fugitive slaves to their masters. Under an act of 1826 which was passed to restrain this, a Maryland agent was convicted of kidnapping in 1837, but the United States Supreme Court declared the act unconstitutional in 1842. The state forbade the use of its jails to detain fugitive blacks in 1847. The expression "underground railroad" may have originated in Pennsylvania where numerous citizens aided the escape of slaves to freedom in Canada. Anna Dickinson, Lucretia Mott, Ann Preston, and Jane Swisshelm were among Pennsylvania women who led the antislavery cause. Thaddeus Stevens was an uncompromising foe of slavery in Congress.

Pennsylvania abolitionist leaders were both black and white. Black leaders included those who made political appeals, James Forten and Robert Purvis; underground railroad workers, Robert Porter and William Still; publication activists, John B. Vashon and his son George; and the organizer of the Christiana Riot of 1851 against fugitive slave hunters, William Parker.

Blacks made some cultural advances during this period. William Whipper organized reading rooms in Philadelphia. In 1794 Rev. Absolam Jones founded St. Thomas African Episcopal Church, and Rev. Richard Allen opened the Mother Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, both in Philadelphia. The first Black church in Pittsburgh (A.M.E.) was founded in 1822.

Women

Courageous individual women worked not only for their own cause, but also for other reforms. But the status of the whole female population changed little during this period. Catherine Smith, for example, manufactured musket barrels for the Revolutionary Army, and the mythical battle heroine Molly Pitcher was probably also a Pennsylvanian. Sara Franklin Bache and Ester De Berdt Reed organized a group of 2,200 Pennsylvania women to collect money, buy cloth, and sew clothing for Revolutionary soldiers. Lucretia Mott, a Quaker preacher and teacher, was one of four women to participate at the formation of the American Anti-Slavery Society in Philadelphia in 1833, and became president of the Female Anti-Slavery Society. With Elizabeth Cady Stanton she launched the campaign for women's rights at Seneca Falls, New York, in 1848. Jane Grey Swisshelm, abolitionist and advocate of women's rights, used newspapers and lectures. In 1848, she launched her abolitionist paper, The Saturday Visiter, which featured antislavery propaganda and women's rights. Her essays influenced the state legislature to grant married women the right to own property, in 1848.

Disruption of the Democracy

The political winds began to shift due to the Southern domination of the Democratic Party, rising abolition sentiment and a desire to promote Pennsylvania's growing industries by raising tariffs. In 1856 Pennsylvania took the lead in the organization of the new Republican Party, with former Democratic leader Simon Cameron throwing his support to the new party. Congressmen David Wilmot and Galusha Grow typified the national statesmanship of Pennsylvania in the period. Despite the new party's emergence in 1856, the Democratic candidate James Buchanan became the only native Pennsylvanian ever to be elected President. In 1860 the Republicans emerged as the dominant party in the state and nation with the election of Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin, and of President Abraham Lincoln.

Industry

By 1861 the factory system had largely replaced the domestic system of home manufacture, and the foundation of the state's industrial greatness was established. The change was most noticeable after 1840, because of a shift to machinery and factories in the textile industry. By 1860 there were more than 200 textile mills. Leathermaking, lumbering, shipbuilding, publishing, and tobacco and paper manufacture also prospered in the 1800s.

Pennsylvania's outstanding industrial achievements were in iron and steel. Its production of iron was notable even in colonial times, and the charcoal furnaces of the state spread into the Juniata and western regions during the mid-1800s. Foundries, rolling mills, and machine shops became numerous and, by the Civil War, the state rolled about half the nation's iron, aiding the development of the railroads. The Baldwin Works were established in Philadelphia in 1842 and the Bethlehem Company was organized in 1862. The Cambria Works at Johnstown were established in 1854 and, by the end of the Civil War, were the largest mills in the country. William Kelly, a native of Pittsburgh, is regarded as the inventor of the Bessemer process of making steel.

Although much importance is given to the discovery of gold in California, the discovery and development of Pennsylvania's mineral and energy resources far overshadowed that event. Cornwall, in Lebanon County, provided iron ore from colonial times, and ore was also found in many other sections of Pennsylvania in which the charcoal iron industry flourished. The use of anthracite coal began on a large scale after 1820 with the organization of important mining companies.

Labor

After the Revolution the use of indentured servants sharply declined. The growth of industrial factories up to 1860, however, enlarged the gulf between skilled and unskilled labor, and immigrants were as much subordinated by this as they had been under indenture. Local, specialized labor unions had brief successes, especially in Philadelphia where in 1845 a city ordinance placed a ten-hour limit on the laborer's day. The state's mechanics' lien law of 1854 was another victory for the rights of labor.

Transportation

Roads

The settlement of new regions of the state was accompanied by provisions for new roads. The original Lancaster Pike connecting Philadelphia with Lancaster was completed in 1794. U.S. Route 40, which passes through Somerset, Fayette, and Washington counties, was built between 1811 and 1818. In addition, between 1790 and 1840, private companies built many turnpikes for which they collected tolls. By 1832 the state led the nation in improved roads, having more than 3,000 miles. Pennsylvania's Conestoga wagon became the typical transport of westward moving pioneers, and U.S. Route 40 — the National or Cumberland Road — was a major route for western movement before 1850.

Waterways

Most of the state's major cities were built along important river routes. In the 1790s the state made extensive studies for improving the navigation of all major streams, and canals began to supplement natural waterways. Canals extending the use of the Delaware and the Schuylkill rivers were chartered before 1815, and the Lehigh canal was completed in 1838. The vast system named the State Works of Pennsylvania soon overshadowed privately constructed canals. The system linked the east and the west by 1834, but the expense nearly made the state financially insolvent. The benefits to the economic progress of distant regions, however, provided ample justification for the high cost.

Although canals declined rapidly with the advent of the railroad, Pennsylvania's ports and waterways remained active. The steamboat originated with experiments by John Fitch of Philadelphia from 1787 to 1790, and Lancaster County native Robert Fulton established it as a practical medium of transportation on the Ohio, Allegheny, and Monongahela rivers.

Railroads

Rail transport began in 1827, operated at first by horsepower or cables. The tracks connected anthracite fields with canals or rivers. The Columbia and Philadelphia Railroad, completed in 1834 as part of the State Works, was the first ever built by a government. Pennsylvania's first railroad built as a common carrier was the Philadelphia, Germantown, and Norristown Railroad, completed in 1835.

Major railroads chartered in the state included the Philadelphia and Reading (1833) and the Lehigh Valley (1846, reincorporated 1853). However, the most important of all was the Pennsylvania Railroad, chartered April 13, 1846, and completed to Pittsburgh by 1852. It absorbed so many short railroad lines by 1860 that it had nearly a monopoly on rail traffic from Chicago through Pennsylvania. And whereas Pennsylvania had reached its maximum of 954 canal miles by 1840, total railroad trackage grew by 1860 to 2,598 miles. In miles of rail and in total capital invested in railroads, Pennsylvania led all other states on the eve of the Civil War.

Culture

Education

The Constitution of 1790 provided the basis for a public system of education, and several acts were passed for that purpose. It was not until the Free School Act of 1834, however, that a genuinely democratic system of public schools was initiated. By 1865 the number of public schools had quadrupled. In 1852 a state association of teachers was organized. Five years later the Normal School Act was passed and a separate government department was created for the supervision of schools. These were significant advances in social organization. Numerous private schools supplemented the public system. There also was a rapid development of academies, corresponding to modern high schools. Many academies received public aid.

Science

The traditions of scientific inquiry established in Pennsylvania by Benjamin Franklin, David Rittenhouse, and the Bartrams continued. The American Philosophical Society was the first of many organizations founded in Philadelphia to encourage scientific work. The Academy of Natural Sciences was founded in 1812 and the Franklin Institute in 1824. The American Association of Geologists, formed in Philadelphia in 1840, later grew into the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The scientific leadership of Pennsylvania was represented by many individuals of whom only a few can be named. James Woodhouse (1770-1809) pioneered in chemical analysis, plant chemistry, and the scientific study of industrial processes. Isaac Hayes (1796-1879) of Philadelphia pioneered in the study of astigmatism and color blindness. The Moravian clergyman Lewis David von Schweinitz (1780-1834) made great contributions to botany, discovering more than 1,200 species of fungi.

Literature and the Arts

Charles Brockden Brown of Philadelphia was the first American novelist of distinction and the first to follow a purely literary career. Hugh Henry Brackenridge of Pittsburgh gave the American West its first literary work in his satire Modern Chivalry. Philadelphia continued as an important center for printing with J. B. Lippincott taking the lead and, for magazines with the publication of the Saturday Evening Post. Barnard Taylor, who began his literary career before the Civil War, published his most notable work in 1870-71 — the famous translation of Goethe's Faust.

In architecture, the red brick construction of southeastern Pennsylvania was supplemented by buildings in the Greek Revival style. The New England influence was strong in the domestic architecture of the northern tier counties. Thomas U. Walter and William Strickland gave Pennsylvania an important place in the architectural history of the early 1800s. Walter designed the Treasury Building and the Capitol dome in Washington. The nation's first institution of art — the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts — was founded in Philadelphia in 1805, although by then such painters as Gilbert Stuart, Benjamin West, and the Peale family had already made Philadelphia famous.

Philadelphia was the theatrical center of America until 1830, a leader in music publishing and piano manufacture, and the birthplace of American opera. William Henry Fry's Lenora (1845) was probably the first publicly performed opera by an American composer. Stephen Foster became the songwriter for the nation.

Religion

In the years between independence and the Civil War, religion flourished in the Commonwealth. In addition to the growth of worship, religion led the way to enlargement of the educational system. In this period churches threw off European ties and established governing bodies in the United States. In 1789 John Carroll of Maryland became the first Catholic bishop in America. In 1820 the establishment of a national Lutheran synod was the last of the breaks from Europe by a major Protestant denomination. Some new churches were formed: Jacob Albright formed the Evangelical Association, a Pennsylvania German parallel to Methodism; Richard Allen formed the African Methodist Episcopal Church in 1816; and John Winebrenner founded the Church of God in Harrisburg in 1830. Isaac Leeser, who founded Conservative Judaism in America, did most of his important writing in Philadelphia in this period. Presbyterianism, which was the largest Protestant denomination before 1860, drifted westward and had its stronghold in western Pennsylvania. Quakers, although decreasing in number, led many humanitarian and reform movements. Although anti-Catholic riots occurred at Kensington in 1844, German and Irish immigrants enlarged the number of Catholics in the state.

THE ERA OF INDUSTRIAL ASCENDANCY: 1861-1945

After 1861 Pennsylvania's influence on national politics diminished gradually, but its industrial complex grew rapidly.

The Civil War

During the Civil War, Pennsylvania played an important role in preserving the Union. Southern forces invaded Pennsylvania three times by way of the Cumberland Valley, a natural highway from Virginia to the North. Pennsylvania shielded the other northeastern states.

Pennsylvania's industrial enterprise and natural resources were essential factors in the economic strength of the northern cause. Its railroad system, iron and steel industry, and agricultural wealth were vital to the war effort. The shipbuilders of Pennsylvania, led by the famous Cramp yards, contributed to the strength of the navy and merchant marine. Thomas Scott as assistant secretary of war directed telegraph and railway services. Engineer Herman Haupt directed railroad movement of troops and was personally commended by President Lincoln. Jay Cooke helped finance the Union cause, and Thaddeus Stevens was an important congressional leader. Simon Cameron was the Secretary of War until January 1862.

No man made a greater impression as a state governor during the Civil War than Pennsylvania's Andrew Curtin. In his first inaugural he denied the right of the South to secede, and throughout the war was active in support of the national draft. In September 1862 he was the host at Altoona to a conference of northern governors which pledged support to Lincoln's policies.

Nearly 350,000 Pennsylvanians served in the Union forces including 8,600 black volunteers. At the beginning, Lincoln's call for 14 regiments of volunteers was answered by 25 regiments. In May 1861 the Assembly, at Curtin's suggestion, created the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps of 15 regiments enlisted for three years' service. They were mustered into the Army of the Potomac after the first Battle of Bull Run, and thousands of other Pennsylvanians followed them. Camp Curtin at Harrisburg was one of the major troop concentration centers of the war. Admiral David D. Porter opened the Mississippi, and Rear Admiral John A. Dahlgren made innovations in ordnance which greatly improved naval fire power. Army leaders from Pennsylvania were numerous and able, including such outstanding officers as George B. McClellan, George G. Meade, John F. Reynolds, Winfield S. Hancock, John W. Geary, and John F. Hartranft.

After the Battle of Antietam, General J.E.B. Stewart's cavalry rode around General George McClellan's army and reached Chambersburg on October 10, 1862. There they seized supplies and horses, and burned a large storehouse and then withdrew as rapidly as they had come.

In June 1863 General Robert E. Lee turned his 75,000 men northward on a major invasion of Pennsylvania. The state called up reserves and volunteers for emergency duty. At Pittsburgh the citizens fortified the surrounding hills, and at Harrisburg fortifications were thrown up on both sides of the Susquehanna. Confederate forces captured Carlisle and advanced to within three miles of Harrisburg; the bridge at Wrightsville had to be burned to prevent their crossing. These outlying forces were recalled when the Union army under General George G. Meade met Lee's army at Gettysburg. In a bitterly fought engagement on the first three days of July, the Union army threw back the Confederate forces, a major turning point of the struggle to save the Union. Not only was the battle fought on Pennsylvania soil, but nearly a third of General Meade's army were Pennsylvania troops. Governor Curtin led the movement to establish the battlefield as a memorial park.

In 1864, in retaliation for Union raids on Virginia, a Confederate force under General John McCausland advanced to Chambersburg and threatened to burn the town unless a large ransom was paid. The citizens refused, and Chambersburg was burned on July 20, leaving two-thirds of its people homeless and causing damage of almost two million dollars.

Republican Dominance

After the Civil War the Republican Party was dominant. The war was viewed as a victory for its principles. Conflicts between conservatives and liberals took place within the party. A series of political managers or bosses—Simon and J. Donald Cameron, Matthew Quay, and Boies Penrose—assured Republican control of the state, although reformers were shocked by their methods. These bosses sat in Congress. Other Republican leaders prevailed in most cities. From 1861 to 1883 Republicans held the governorship. Then, a factional split within the Republicans led to the election of Democrat Robert E. Pattison, and his reelection in 1891. After that, Republicans held the governor's office until 1935. The death of Senator Penrose in 1921 ended the era of Republican state bosses in Congress. Joseph R. Grundy of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, and Andrew W. Mellon, U.S. Secretary of the Treasury (1921-1932), were typical of Republican leadership after Penrose. While Pennsylvania's government was closely allied to industry and big business, it also spawned progressive programs. Governor Gifford Pinchot was a remarkable reformer. On balance, the Republican system's justification was that in assisting industry it fostered prosperity for all—"the full dinner pail." The enormous adjustments necessary for dealing with the unemployment and economic chaos of the 1930s led to the revival of the Democratic Party. Democrats captured Pittsburgh in 1933, and the administration of Governor George H. Earle (1935-1939) was modeled on the New Deal of President Roosevelt. But the state returned to Republican administration in 1940 and remained so until 1954.

The Constitution of 1874

The fourth constitution of the Commonwealth was partly a result of a nationwide reform movement in the 1870s and partly a result of specific corrections to the previous constitution. It provided for the popular election of judges, the state treasurer and the auditor general. It created the office of lieutenant governor and a department of internal affairs which combined several offices under an elected secretary. The head of the public school system received the title of superintendent of public instruction. The General Assembly was required to provide efficient public education for no less than one million dollars per year. The governor's term was lengthened from three to four years, but he could no longer succeed himself. He was empowered to veto individual items within appropriations bills. The membership of the General Assembly was increased, but its powers were limited by a prohibition of special or local legislation about certain specified subjects, a constitutional debt limit, and other restrictions. Sessions of the General Assembly became biennial.

New State Agencies

Although the new constitution was detailed, it provided flexibility in the creation of new agencies. Thus in 1873, even while the new constitution was being discussed, the Insurance Department was created to supervise and regulate insurance companies. In the following years, many other agencies were created, sometimes as full fledged departments and sometimes as boards, bureaus, or commissions, while existing agencies were often changed or abolished. For example, the factory inspectorship of 1889 eventually became the Department of Labor and Industry in 1913. The Board of Public Charities (1869), the Committee on Lunacy (1883), the Mothers' Assistance Fund (1913), and the Prison Labor Commission (1915) were consolidated into the Department of Welfare in 1921. By 1922 there were 139 separate state agencies, demonstrating the need for simplification, consolidation, and reorganization. The administrative codes of 1923 and 1929 accomplished these goals. The judicial branch of government was also changed by the creation of the Superior Court in 1895 to relieve the mounting caseload of the Supreme Court.

The Spanish-American War

By 1895 the island of Cuba was in a state of revolution, its people desiring to break away from Spanish rule. News of harsh methods used to suppress Cuban outbreaks aroused anger in the United States. When the battleship Maine blew up in Havana harbor, war became inevitable in 1898. Congressman Robert Adams of Philadelphia wrote the resolutions declaring war on Spain and recognizing the independence of Cuba. President McKinley's call for volunteers was answered with enthusiasm throughout the Commonwealth. Pennsylvania military leaders included Brigadier General Abraham K. Arnold and Brigadier General James M. Bell. Major General John R. Brooks, a native of Pottsville, served as military governor in Cuba and Puerto Rico. Although no Pennsylvania troops fought in Cuba, units from the Commonwealth saw action in Puerto Rico. A Pennsylvania regiment was the first American organization to engage in land combat in the Philippine Islands. It remained there for the Filipino Insurrection.

The First World War

Pennsylvania's resources and manpower were of great value to the war effort of 1917-1918. The shipyards of Philadelphia and Chester were decisive in maintaining maritime transport. Pennsylvania's mills and factories provided a large part of the war materials for the nation. Nearly 3,000 separate firms held contracts for war supplies of various types. Pennsylvanians subscribed to nearly three billion dollars worth of Liberty and Victory Bonds, and paid well over a billion dollars in federal taxes during the war. Civilian resources were organized through a State Defense Council with local affiliates. Pennsylvania furnished more than 300,000 men for the armed forces, and the 28th Division won special distinction. The Saint Mihiel drive and the Argonne offensive were among the famous campaigns of the war in which Pennsylvania troops took part. General Tasker H. Bliss, a native of Lewisburg, was appointed chief of staff in 1917, and later was made a member of the Supreme War Council and the American Peace Commission. He was succeeded as chief of staff by another Pennsylvania West Point graduate, General Peyton C. March, originally from Easton. Admiral William S. Sims, a Pennsylvania graduate of the Naval Academy, was in charge of American naval operations.

Population

Large areas of the northern and western parts of the state were unsettled or thinly populated in 1800. By Civil War days, with the exception of the northern tier counties, population was scattered throughout the state. There was increased urbanization, although rural life remained strong and agriculture involved large numbers of people. The immigrant tide continued after the Civil War and brought about a remarkable change in the composition of the population. While most of the state's pre-1861 population was composed of ethnic groups from northern Europe such as the English, Irish, Scotch-Irish, and Germans, the later period brought increased numbers of Slavic, Italian, Finn, Scandinavian, and Jewish immigrants. At the height of this "new immigration" between 1900 and 1910, the Commonwealth witnessed the largest population increase of any decade in its history. Black migration from the South intensified after 1917, when World War I curtailed European immigration, and again during World War II. By World War II almost five percent of the state's population was Black. In 1940 the Commonwealth was the second largest state in the nation, with a population two-thirds that of New York.

Women

The status of women began to improve by the 1860s. In 1861 the first school for nurses in America opened in Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania played a prominent part in the suffrage movement. Philadelphia was a hotbed of feminist agitation. In 1868 women in Philadelphia organized a Pennsylvania Women's Suffrage Association. On July 4, 1876, Susan B. Anthony read her famous "Declaration of Rights for Women" at the Washington statue in front of Independence Hall. Well-known Pennsylvania feminists such as Lucretia Mott, Ann Davies, Florence Kelley, Ann Preston, and Emma Guffey Miller were all active in the long battle which culminated in women receiving the vote.

The General Assembly approved a suffrage amendment to the state Constitution in 1913 and again in 1915, but Pennsylvania's male voters rejected the amendment by 55,000 votes. On June 4, 1919, the Nineteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was approved by Congress. Just ten days later, Pennsylvania became the seventh state to ratify it. By August 1920, the amendment became law and women could vote.

Florence Kelley was a Philadelphia-born lawyer who championed the fight for better working conditions for women and children. For 32 years she was the leader of the National Consumer's League, which demanded consumer protection as well as improved working conditions. Isabel Darlington was the first female lawyer admitted to practice before the Pennsylvania Supreme and Superior Courts.

Sarah C. F. Hallowell was active in the work of the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition and in charge of a newspaper, the New Century, published by the Women's Executive Committee and staffed entirely by women who worked as editors, reporters, correspondents, and compositors.

When the ten greatest American painters of all time were exhibited in a special section of the Chicago Century of Progress Art Exhibition, Mary Stevenson Cassatt was the only woman represented. Born in Pittsburgh, she received her only formal training at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. This institution has always regarded her as one of its most important alumnae, granting her its gold medal of honor in 1914.

From the 1890s to 1906 Ida Tarbell from Erie worked for the publisher S.S. McClure, as a feature writer and editor of McClure's Magazine. It was during this time that she published her History of the Standard Oil Company, a muckraking account which brought her to the forefront of her profession.

Because of the Quakers' traditional high view of women's capacity, Philadelphia had long been a center for female education. The founding of Women's Medical College there in 1850 led to entrance of women into the medical profession. Hannah E. Myers Longshore was the first female M.D. to establish a successful private practice. Beaver College in Jenkintown was the first women's college of higher education in the state. Women were very successful in the teaching profession. Mollie Woods Hare pioneered in teaching the mentally retarded before World War I. In 1887 Ella M. Boyce was made school superintendent of Bradford, the first woman to hold such a position in the United States.

Labor

Pennsylvanians played an important role in the development of the labor movement, and the Commonwealth was the site of some of the largest strikes in the history of American labor. William H. Sylvis, from Indiana County, was a founder of the Iron-Molders' International Union and he later led the National Labor Union in 1868-69. Uriah Stephens of Philadelphia and Terence V. Powderly of Scranton were leaders of the Knights of Labor, the most important national union between 1871 and 1886. At their peak in the mid-1880s, the Knights had about 700,000 members. Pennsylvanians played an important role in the formation of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers in 1876. Pennsylvania's anthracite miners in Schuylkill, Carbon, and Northumberland counties organized the Workingmen's Benevolent Association in 1868.

From the Civil War until 1877 the secret group named the Molly Maguires was powerful in the anthracite region, working for miners of Irish descent and sympathetic to a miners' union. In 1877 private resources led by railroad executive Franklin B. Gowen smashed the Mollies, using a private force, the coal and iron police. But continued problems in the anthracite area gave rise to the United Mine Workers union. At first a union for skilled miners opposed to immigrant mine laborers, under the leadership of John Mitchell it grew to encompass all coal mine workers. The anthracite strike of 1902 in which President Theodore Roosevelt intervened set the pattern for non-violent arbitration in labor relations. After Mitchell, John L. Lewis led the union for many years and membership spread throughout the bituminous areas. Intervention in the anthracite strikes of the 1920s by Governor Gifford Pinchot brought the 8-hour day, but no permanent end to labor discontent; many customers began to shift to other heating sources at that time. In 1929 the coal and iron police were subjected to higher standards of conduct.

Pittsburgh was the scene of major violence and property destruction during the Great Railroad Strike of 1877. Historically significant and violent strikes in the steel industry occurred at Homestead, Pennsylvania, in 1892 and throughout the greater Pittsburgh district and Monongahela River Valley in 1919. During the later 1930s western Pennsylvania was a major center of strength in the formation of the Steel Workers Organization Committee (S.W.O.C.), which in 1942 became the United Steelworkers of America. Since the labor legislation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, unions have flourished and workers have received fairer treatment. It was a dispute over the right of S.W.O.C. to organize workers at the Aliquippa plant of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation that led, in 1936, to the U.S. Supreme Court's decision upholding the constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations Act and its agency, the National Labor Relations Board. This was a major advance for the cause of labor.

Industry

Manufacturing

The manufacture of steel and iron products was the largest single industry. The lives of Andrew Carnegie, Henry C. Frick, Charles M. Schwab, Eugene Grace, and other "iron men" of Pennsylvania are in large measure the story of modern American business. Concentrated for the most part in western Pennsylvania, but with important centers also at Bethlehem, Harrisburg, Lewistown, Carlisle, and Morrisville, Pennsylvania's steel industry furnished the rails for the nation's railway empire, the structural steel for its modern cities, and the armament for national defense.

The career of Andrew Carnegie, Scotch immigrant, coincided with the rise of Pennsylvania's steel industry. Starting as a telegrapher for the Pennsylvania Railroad, he handled messages for the Army during the Civil War and entered railroad management thereafter. In 1873 he began to build new steel mills. His success in steel went on and on. Carnegie balanced his own success and ability by pledging to pay the world back through benevolent distribution of his wealth. In 1901 he sold Carnegie Steel Corporation to J. P. Morgan's new giant corporation, U. S. Steel, and spent the rest of his life managing his enormous charitable foundation.

Charles M. Schwab was born in Williamsburg and attended St. Francis College. He taught himself metallurgy in a chemistry lab in his own basement and rose to be Carnegie's managing president. Schwab decided that he preferred to invest his own savings, so he bought Bethlehem Steel Company. He successfully advanced its interests until his death in 1939, making sure that the giant he had helped spawn, U.S. Steel, always had strong competition.

U.S. Steel Corporation was concentrated within a circle of 100-mile radius around Pittsburgh. By sheer size it set industry standards, its ownership spilling over into the coal, coke, limestone, and iron ore industries. By 1900 the steel industry had begun its inevitable migration west of Pennsylvania, but 60 percent of the nation's production still came from our state. This slipped below 50 percent by 1916, but our steel industry received new life as a result of World War I. In the 1920s the growth of the auto industry gave steel renewed vigor, and World War II revived the industry once again. By that time the aluminum industry was also growing in western Pennsylvania, where Andrew W. Mellon was the main financier of the giant Alcoa Corporation.

In the nineteenth century, textiles and clothing, especially worsteds and silk, grew from a base in Philadelphia so that the state led the nation in production by 1900. Willingness to invest in new technology and new styles was largely responsible. By the 1920s, competition from the South and overseas made inroads into textile production. In 1900 the state also led the nation in tanning leather.

Food processing grew into a major industry. 1905 was the year of the Hershey Chocolate factory and the incorporation of the H. J. Heinz Co. Henry J. Heinz, known as "The Good Provider," led a movement for model factories based on the principle that workers deserve clean, pleasant work conditions with some chance for self-improvement. Also, he fought for federal legislation outlawing commercially processed foods that had false labels and harmful chemical adulterations. This culminated in the passage of federal legislation in 1906.

During this period Pennsylvania dominated the manufacture of railroad equipment. In the twentieth century electrical equipment manufacture also became prominent. George Westinghouse was a leader in both these fields. His air brake, patented in 1869, revolutionized railroading and was followed by his numerous inventions of signals, switches, and other safety features for trains. His Union Switch and Signal Company was formed in Pittsburgh in 1882, and about that time he turned to improving natural gas transmission and control. Then he turned to improving the nation's utilization of electricity by perfecting a means for generating large amounts of power in a more practical form, alternating current. Eventually all his laboratory and manufacturing plants were moved out of Pittsburgh to nearby Turtle Creek Valley.

Representative of America's "Management Revolution" was the Philadelphia genius Frederick Winslow Taylor, who abandoned a law career because of poor eyesight and worked as a laboring mechanic. He excelled at organizing work shops. Soon he advanced to making improvements in the organization of major corporations like Bethlehem Steel, for which he worked from 1898 to 1901. While there he developed a revolutionary method for producing fine tool steel. He set up his own management consulting company in Philadelphia, becoming America's first efficiency engineer. His crowning achievement was the publication, in 1911, of Scientific Management.

Lumber, Petroleum, Natural Gas and Coal

Pennsylvania has exercised leadership in the extractive industries of lumber, petroleum, natural gas, and coal. Many of the natural stands of timber were exhausted before conservation concepts were recognized. In the 1860s the state led the nation in lumber production, but by 1900 it had dropped to fourth. During that period Williamsport's log boom on the Susquehanna had been the world's largest lumber pile. Twentieth-century timber conservation planning owes much to Gifford Pinchot, the nation's first professional forester.

Following the discovery of oil near Titusville in 1859, the production and marketing of Pennsylvania oil grew. The oil producing counties extended from Tioga west to Crawford, and south to the West Virginia line. By 1891 Warren, Venango, and McKean counties established leadership in production. Once practical methods of transmitting and burning natural gas were developed, Pennsylvania became a leading producer in that area, also. John D. Rockefeller's Standard Oil Company was always foremost in the refining and marketing of petroleum. The early lead Pennsylvania had achieved in oil made the Keystone state the natural battleground for competing investors. Rockefeller founded Standard Oil in 1868 and, as a result of a freight price rebate deal with the New York Central Railroad, it grew to be the world's largest refinery by 1870. To overwhelm Pennsylvania's small, independent refiners, he engaged in secret agreements with such powerful interests as the Pennsylvania Railroad. He allowed the independent refiners to survive—they finally merged into the Pure Oil Company just before 1900—as long as they did not undersell Standard Oil. The corporate organization of refiners in Pennsylvania before 1900 is one reason why the state has continued to be a leading refining area even though the raw petroleum is now almost entirely imported.

Anthracite coal was the main fuel used to smelt iron until the 1880s, when the manufacture of coke from bituminous was developed to a degree that it replaced anthracite. Coke was used both to smelt iron and to make steel from iron. But production of anthracite continued to increase because it was used for heating and other purposes. The bituminous and coke industries were responsible for the late nineteenth-century industrial growth of western Pennsylvania; the iron ore deposits there would not alone have merited such growth. World War I caused two years (1917-1918) of the largest production of both types of coal the state has ever seen. In the 1920s a new coke making process produced valuable by-products, making the old beehive coke ovens obsolete. The new coke plants were built, in many cases, outside of Pennsylvania. A declining market for coal in the 1920s caused business and labor problems. These increased in the 1930s during the nation's economic depression. Production demands in World War II revived the coal industry for those few years. In its heyday the industry was notorious for its dangers. Between 1902 and 1920 mine accident deaths occurred on an average of 525 per year.

Agriculture

The prosperous farms of the Pennsylvania Germans have always been a bulwark of our agricultural economy. The settlement and development of western and northern Pennsylvania initially occurred because of agriculture. Cereals and livestock continued to be the mainstays of the farmer. The rise of agricultural societies, such as the Grange, and of county fairs led to improvements in farm methods and machinery. Pennsylvania turned toward a market-oriented approach in the mid-1800s. While the number of farms has declined since 1930, farm production has increased dramatically to meet consumer demands.

In 1880 the pattern of increasing total area farmed in Pennsylvania (which began in the colonial period) ended. Total farm acreage has declined ever since, but this trend has been outweighed by improved farming methods. In 1874 a dairymen's association was formed; in 1876 a State Board of Agriculture was created which was made a department in 1895. In 1887 the federal government established an agricultural experiment station at the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, in Centre County (the predecessor of the Pennsylvania State University) and cooperation between the college's faculty and working farmers, so important for improving production, began. In 1895 a state veterinarian was appointed who eventually eliminated bouvine tuberculosis. The nature of farm products changed because of competition from expanding agriculture in the West, distances from markets, and changing patterns of the American diet. The first statewide farm products show was held in Harrisburg in January 1907. The State Farm Show became an annual event in 1917 and the Farm Show Building was completed in 1931.

Transportation

Railways

Pennsylvania pioneered in early rail development. By 1860 railroad mileage had increased to 2,598, and the Reading, Lehigh, and Pennsylvania systems were developing. The Pennsylvania Railroad, chartered in 1846, reached Pittsburgh in 1852. Alexander Cassatt, Thomas Scott, and John A. Roebling who was the surveyor of the Pennsylvania's route, were leaders in its development. After 1865 Pennsylvania extended its lines to New York, Washington, Buffalo, Chicago, and St. Louis, becoming one of the great trunk-line railroads of the nation, and developed a network of subsidiary lines within the state. The Reading and Lehigh Valley systems also expanded to become great carriers of freight and important links in the industrial economy of the Middle Atlantic region. Numerous smaller lines were built to serve districts or special purposes. For example, the Bessemer and Lake Erie carried Lake Superior ore to the steel mills of Pittsburgh. All the important trunk lines of the eastern United States passed through Pennsylvania and had subsidiary feeders within the state. At its peak, the Commonwealth had more than 10,000 miles of railroad track. By 1915 the state's railroads had ceased to expand, and after World War I both passenger and freight service were reduced.

Urban Transit

Pennsylvania has a long tradition of urban public transport, beginning with horsecars in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in the 1850s. The first of many Pittsburgh inclines — two of which operate today — opened in 1870. Philadelphia's first streetcar system began in 1892, and the Market Street Elevated train began operation in 1907. The Market Street subway, which is still in operation, was one of the first in the nation. Transit use increased steadily in Pennsylvania until the end of World War II.

Roads

Although 1,700 state-owned bridges were built before 1900, road building activity had lapsed during the canal and railroad era. It sprang anew with the advent of the automobile. Charles and Frank Duryea experimented with automobiles in Reading, and on March 24, 1898, Robert Allison of Port Carbon became the first purchaser of an automobile. Between 1903 and 1911 Pennsylvania took the lead in creating a modern road system, establishing a department of highways, requiring automobile licenses, and taking over more than 8,000 miles of highway for maintenance and improvement. Operators' license fees, fines for violation of driving regulations, and a gasoline tax swelled the Motor Fund, making the motoring public the chief funders of the system. Most highway construction consisted of improvements to existing routes, including widening, laying hard surfaces, and relocating routes to eliminate sharp curves and grades. Repair garages and filling stations became numerous. The world's first "drive-in gas station" opened in Pittsburgh in 1913. An outstanding road was the Lincoln Highway. Designated in 1913, it connected the state's two largest cities and stretched from New York City to San Francisco. In 1916 the federal government instituted grants to states for highway construction, beginning a great primary highway construction effort which peaked in the 1930s. By 1928 the transcontinental system of U.S.-numbered, through highways was in use in Pennsylvania, and at about the same time an expanded state-numbered system came into being. Governor Gifford Pinchot promised in his 1930 campaign to "get the farmers out of the mud." The following year the state took over 20,156 miles of township roads and began paving them, using light construction costing less than $7,000 a mile. As the economic depression deepened, this road-building program became an important means of providing relief work. Special federal programs also benefited the state's highways during the depression. In 1940 Pennsylvania opened the first high-speed, multi-lane highway in the country, the Pennsylvania Turnpike, which set the pattern for modern super-highways throughout the nation. The Turnpike initially connected Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, and was later expanded from the western boundary to the Delaware River, as well as northward into the anthracite region.

Aviation

In 1925 Philadelphia Congressman Clyde Kelly introduced the Airmail Act which set the American aviation industry on the road to progress. In 1927 Governor Pinchot created a State Bureau of Aeronautics. In 1939 All American Aviation, a Pennsylvania company, was licensed to carry mail to 54 communities in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Delaware and West Virginia. All American entered a period of rapid expansion and became Allegheny Airlines. By the beginning of World War II passenger service was still in its infancy, although the very reliable DC-3 plane had been developed. Hog Island was developed in the late 1930s with city and federal WPA assistance, and became the Philadelphia International Airport.

Society and Culture

Pennsylvania made rapid progress in social and cultural fields by expanding educational and cultural opportunities. Although Philadelphia lost the preeminent position it had earlier enjoyed as a center for new enterprises, the wealth and position of the state as a whole exerted a powerful influence in almost every phase of the nation's social and cultural development.

Communication, Performing Arts and the Media

Philadelphia was the birthplace of many publications and served as the center of publishing in the early national period. By 1840 Pennsylvania was the home of more newspapers than any other state. In the 1900s economic pressures forced many newspapers and magazines into bankruptcy, failure or consolidation. Today most cities have only one newspaper, although Philadelphia and Pittsburgh continue to support several dailies.

Telegraph and telephone spread rapidly after the Civil War. Following Samuel Morse's development of the telegraph in the 1840s, the state was interlaced by a network of telegraph lines. Alexander Graham Bell's telephone was first demonstrated publicly at the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition in 1876. By the end of the century, the telephone had become universal. Pennsylvanian Daniel Drawbaugh claimed to have invented a working telephone 10 years before Bell, but his claim did not hold up in patent litigation. The Commonwealth now has thousands of miles of telegraph and telephone lines and almost 10 million telephones.

Pennsylvania played a key role in the development of a major twentieth-century contribution to the dissemination of ideas and information — the radio. The first commercial broadcast station in the world was KDKA in Pittsburgh, which started daily schedule broadcasting on November 2, 1920. The first church service broadcast by radio occurred on KDKA a year later, and the first public address by radio was made by Herbert Hoover at the Duquesne Club in Pittsburgh in 1921. Radio quickly became a fixture in most homes, but lost its dominance in the broadcasting market with the advent of television in the 1950s.

Philadelphia was the theatrical capital of America before 1830, a leader in music publishing and piano manufacture and the birthplace of American opera. Edwin Forest, Joseph Jefferson, the Drews, and the Barrymores were important stage actors in the late 1800s and the early 1900s. The first all-motion-picture theater in the world was opened on Smithfield Street in Pittsburgh on June 19, 1905, by John P. Harris and Harry Davis. The term "nickelodeon" was coined there. The Warner brothers began their career in western Pennsylvania.

Education

In 1857 The Normal School Act was passed and a separate state department was created for the supervision of public schools. In 1860 there were only six public high schools in the state. Beginning in 1887 the Assembly passed general laws authorizing the establishment of high schools. They had enrolled only two percent of the public school population when the state began to appropriate money for high schools in 1895. Ten years later the system was firmly established. By 1895 every school district was authorized to establish a high school. Initially high schools offered only two-year courses. Between 1913 and 1920 the state assumed control over all the normal schools, which were given college status in 1927. Probably the most important school legislation since 1834 was the Edmonds Act in 1921, which established minimum salary standards and qualifications for teachers and county superintendents, centralized teacher certification, set up a state Council of Education, provided for consolidation of rural schools, increased state aid to education, and made other improvements.

In 1790 there were only three institutions of university or college rank. Today there are almost 200 institutions of higher education, a majority of which were founded after 1865. Most higher education before 1900 was sponsored by churches. The development of higher education for women, the broadening of the curriculum, and the decline of purely denominational control were important trends of the twentieth century.

Science and Invention

Scientific leadership in Pennsylvania was exhibited by many individuals. Isaac Hayes (1796-1879) of Philadelphia pioneered in the study of astigmatism and color blindness. The four Rogers brothers of Philadelphia were a remarkable scientific family. James (1802-1852) and Robert (1813-1884) were noted chemists; William (1804-1882) was the state geologist of Virginia and later president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Henry (1808-1866) directed the first geological survey of Pennsylvania (1836-1847). Spencer Baird (1823-1887) of Reading was a leader in the natural sciences and the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. Joseph Saxton (1799-1873) of Huntingdon was the father of photography in America.

Pennsylvanians also led in invention and the application of science in industry and daily life. John A. Roebling, who came to America in 1839 and spent most of his active life in Pennsylvania, led in the development of steel wire rope and steel bridges, and his engineering work was carried forward by his son Washington. William Kelly (1811-1888) exhibited leadership in invention. Edward G. Acheson (1856-1931), chemist and inventor, contributed to the development of carborundum as an abrasive and a graphite as a lubricant. Henry P. Armsby (1853-1921), director of the Pennsylvania State University Agricultural Experiment Station, was internationally known for his contributions to nutritional science. Edgar Fahs Smith (1854-1928) of the University of Pennsylvania was a leading American chemist and helped to found the American Chemical Society. In the field of medicine, the Hahnemann Medical College, Jefferson Medical College, and the University of Pennsylvania Medical School made Philadelphia one of the outstanding medical centers of the nation. Medical colleges were established at the University of Pittsburgh in 1885 and at Temple University in 1901. These institutions made noteworthy contributions to medical science.

John A. Brashear (1840-1920) of Pittsburgh was important in the development of astronomical precision instruments which made great contributions to knowledge. The inventor George Westinghouse (1846-1914), while not a native of the state, spent the greater portion of his life here. The earliest successful experiment of Thomas A. Edison with electric lighting was made at Sunbury. John R. Carson (1887-1940) and Dr. Harry Davis (1863-1931) of Pittsburgh were notable for contributions to the development of radio. Elihu Thomson (1853-1937), one of the founders of General Electric, continued the Franklin tradition in electrical science. The world's first computer was developed at the University of Pennsylvania. In recent times, the engineering schools of the state's universities and such institutions as the Franklin Institute and the Mellon Institute have placed Pennsylvania in the forefront of modern industrial research and invention.

The Second World War

In World War II, 1.25 million Pennsylvanians served in the armed forces, or about one-eighth of the population. Also, one out of every seven members of the armed forces in World War II was a Pennsylvanian. The chief of staff, General of the Army George C. Marshall, was a native of Uniontown, and the commander of the Army Air Forces was General of the Army Henry H. Arnold, born in Gladwyne. Pennsylvania also had three full generals: Jacob L. Devers, from York, commander of the Sixth Army

Group; Joseph T. McNarney, from Emporium, Deputy Allied Commander in the Mediterranean; and Carl Spaatz, from Boyertown, commander of the American Strategic Air Forces in Europe. Lieutenant General Lewis H. Brereton, from Pittsburgh, commanded the First Allied Airborne Army, and Lieutenant General Alexander M. Patch, from Lebanon, commanded the Seventh Army. The Chief of Naval Operations at the outbreak of hostilities was Admiral Harold R. Stark, from Wilkes-Barre, who later became commander of American naval forces in European waters. Admiral Richard S. Edwards, from Philadelphia, was deputy chief of naval operations, and an adopted Philadelphian, Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commanded the Seventh Fleet in the South Pacific.

Altogether, there were 130 generals and admirals from Pennsylvania. More Congressional Medals of Honor were awarded to Pennsylvanians than to citizens of any other state. There were 40 military and naval installations in Pennsylvania, including two large camps, Indiantown Gap and Camp Reynolds. All the Army's doctors received training at Carlisle Barracks, and the Navy's photographic reconnaissance pilots were instructed at the Harrisburg Airport. The Philadelphia Navy Yard built two of the world's largest battleships and many lesser vessels. Among a dozen military depots in the state were Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot, Middletown Air Depot, Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, Frankford Arsenal and Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot.

Pennsylvania's industrial resources made her the "Arsenal of America." Planes, tanks, armored cars, guns, and shells poured out of her factories. Ships were launched in the Delaware and Ohio rivers and on Lake Erie. Steady streams of war goods flowed over her railroads and highways. Pennsylvania oil lubricated the machines of war and her coal kept the steel mills going. Food from her fields fed war workers and soldiers. In total war production, Pennsylvania ranked sixth among the states, in shipbuilding fifth, and in ordnance fourth. It furnished almost one-third of the nation's steel. More money was spent to expand production capacity in Pennsylvania than in any other state. Three hundred Pennsylvania firms were honored with production awards.

Pennsylvanians paid over two billion dollars a year in taxes, and were second only to New Yorkers in the purchase of war bonds. Under the leadership of the State Council of Defense more than a million and a half people were organized to protect the state against enemy attack and to aid in the war effort.

MATURITY: 1945-1988

Population

In 1988 Pennsylvania's population exceeded 12 million for the first time, despite predictions that it would not do so until well into the twenty-first century. Pennsylvania had long been the second most populous state, behind New York, but in 1950 it fell to third due to the growth of California. In 1980 Texas also exceeded our population, as did Florida in 1987. Thus, the present national rank is fifth. In terms of the U.S. Census Bureau's standard of urbanization, Pennsylvania is 69.3 percent urbanized and 30.7 percent rural, having experienced an urban decline of almost one percent between 1970 and 1980. Philadelphia has the fifth largest city population in the country and Pittsburgh the thirteenth, but both rank higher under the Census Bureau's system of measuring metropolitan statistical areas. Pennsylvania is the ninth most urbanized state.

The average age in Pennsylvania is 32.1. Women outnumber men by about one-half million. The percentage of today's Pennsylvanians born within the United States is 81.5; 96.6 percent of the population was born within Pennsylvania. Of the foreign-born 3.4 percent—excluding those of U.S. and Puerto Rican parents—about two-thirds are naturalized American citizens. Ours is a relatively aged population, ranking second among the states in people over 65 years of age and 46th in population under 18. Its birth rate in 1985 ranked 48th among the states.

Health

Health is a major concern of this population. Heart disease is by far the greatest cause of death, followed by cancer. Pennsylvania had a death rate due to heart disease that was 12.4 percent higher than the national average in 1971, but dropped to 6.66 percent above the average in 1985. Deaths due to cancer are rising, however. Pennsylvania's rate of cancer deaths was 122.6 percent of the national average in 1985. In many other areas Pennsylvania's experience has been very close to the national average. This is true of the infant death rate, the suicide rate for ages 15 to 24, and the number of deaths due to drugs and alcohol. Pennsylvania's population is significantly healthier than the U.S. average in tuberculosis, veneral disease, reported cases of AIDS (7th highest among the states), drownings, deaths due to drunken driving, and accidental deaths due to firearms and vehicles. However, the state rated above the national averages in deaths due to accidental falls and residential fires.

The state has an extensive medical complex, including 298 hospitals capable of treating over 175,000 in-patients annually. Its many medical schools include some of the oldest in the country. Research at these institutions has been in the forefront of areas as artificial heart research and donor transplants.

Labor

The entire decade following World War II was a period of frequent labor strife. Fringe benefits for wage earners were points of heated dispute; they were scarcely dreamt of before 1941. The steel strikes of 1952 and 1959-1960 required the intervention of Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. The outcome in 1960 was a triumph for the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations

Act which was less favorable to labor's power to bargain than the preceding Wagner Labor Act. Although the merger of the AFL and the CIO in 1955 gave organized labor more strength, the recessions of the 1970s prevented expansion of unionization into many manufacturing areas and may have diminished membership in traditional factory forces. Unionization of office workers, however, has gone on, in line with the increasing involvement of workers in the service sector of the economy. Pennsylvania is not considered to be among the right-to-work states. In 1970 the Public Employees Relations Act established collective bargaining for teachers and other public workers. Both state and federal programs have retrained workers who were laid off due to technological change. Today Pennsylvania has the fifth largest civilian work force in the nation, 5.9 million people. From 1976 through 1985 Pennsylvania's unemployment rate ran above the national rate, but since 1986 it has been below the national average. At the end of 1988, the state unemployment rate was 4.7 percent and the national rate was 5.0 percent.

Women

After World War II Pennsylvania women continued to add to their record of achievement. Rachel Carson whose Silent Spring (1962) did much to awaken the nation to environmental dangers was born in Springdale and educated at Chatham College. The theories of anthropologist Margaret Mead continue to provoke discussion and research in that field of science. Catherine Drinker Bowen's historical and biographical works have received general acclaim. Jean Collins Kerr, dramatist and drama critic, has influenced a generation of cinema and television audiences. Actresses Lizabeth Scott and Grace Kelly were national idols in the 1950s. Hulda Magalhaes of Bucknell University has had a remarkable career in biological research and teaching. Kathryn O'Hay Granahan was the first female member of Congress from Philadelphia and the Treasurer of the United States from 1962 to 1966. Elizabeth Nath Marshall, four times mayor of York, was largely responsible for urban renewal there. The remarkable career of Genevieve Blatt includes twelve years as Secretary of Internal Affairs, and judgeship on the Commonwealth Court since 1972. In June 1964 the state's Commission for Women was created.

Industry

Diversity came to Pennsylvania as the coal, steel and railroad industries declined. Ironically, Pennsylvania's early preeminence in industrial development poses a major liability in plants and equipment. Its enormous capital investment, past and present, is in plants and equipment now less efficient than that of newer industrial areas. In steel, Pennsylvania's integrated mills are less efficient than the South's minimills and the new steel complexes abroad, especially since nature has placed western Pennsylvania at a geographic disadvantage to the Great Lakes-Midwest steel area in terms of iron ore deposits and water transportation. The proximity of steel plants to sources of ore and coal is not, however, as important a cost factor in corporate competition as it was forty years ago. Our steel industry began to contract in 1963, although we still lead the nation in specialty steel production. By 1988 the greatly reduced American steel plants have again become cost competitive within the United States.

Geographer E. Willard Miller analyzes current trends in his book Pennsylvania, Keystone to Progress. The decline of four traditional stalwarts of Pennsylvania's economy—textiles, steel, coal, and railroads—was offset by the rise in productivity and employment in other areas. The productive elements of an economy are divided into three sections. The primary section produces value by directly drawing out natural resources. It includes mining, agriculture and lumbering. The secondary section includes manufacturing and construction. The tertiary section involves many service industries as well as wholesale and retail trade, various financial businesses, transportation, and utilities. As a group, Pennsylvania's tertiary area has outgrown the other two, both in dollar values and number of employees.

The production and distribution of chemicals, food, and electrical machinery and equipment are important elements of Pennsylvania's industrial life. The state is also a leader in the cement industry, providing more than 10 percent of the nation's supply. Pennsylvania also produces quantities of clay products—brick, tile, and fire clay—as well as glass, limestone, and slate. However, by 1980 the apparels industry showed marked decline. Electronic data processing has developed tremendously, especially in the Pittsburgh area. Today Pennsylvania remains the sixth most productive state.

Energy Resources

The market for Pennsylvania's coal began to collapse at the end of World War II. Oil and natural gas were regarded as so much more convenient that they replaced anthracite coal as a heating fuel. In the 1960s the market revived because large amounts of coal were used to produce electric power. Mining methods became much more efficient during this period, but in 1969 the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act was passed, followed in 1971 by the federal Clean Air Act. Safety measures required so much additional labor that productivity per worker fell dramatically. Pennsylvania's coal was at a disadvantage in cleanliness standards because of its high sulfur content. Although the two world oil crises of the 1970s revived the market for coal again, by 1980 cheap oil was once again available. Anthracite production is now so low that it is not a significant industry. The state's enormous reserves of coal are a valuable resource, however, which future events will probably bring back into demand.

Although one of John D. Rockefeller's associates once joked that he could drink all the oil that was not produced in Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania now barely produces one-thousandth of the nation's crude oil. Natural gas, however, is still a major product. Large amounts of nuclear energy are still being produced although many object to it as a health hazard. They point to the nuclear plant accident on Three Mile Island in March 1979.

Agriculture

While the number of farms and the acreage farmed have generally declined over the past 50 years, farm production has increased dramatically due to technical improvements. The state government has fostered many agricultural developments. Pennsylvania's 55,535 farms are the backbone of the state's economy, and today the state boasts the largest rural population in the nation. By the mid-1980s the financial pressures on the family farms threaten their continued existence. Pennsylvania is an important food distribution center with farm and food products supplied for markets from New England to the Mississippi River. Pennsylvania agriculture continues to grow strong through the statewide efforts of farm and commodity organizations, agricultural extension services, strong vocational agricultural programs, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, all of which keep farmers informed of new developments and assist them in promoting and marketing farm products. Today Pennsylvania farmers sell more than $3 billion in crop and livestock products annually, and agribusiness and food-related industries account for an annual $35 billion in economic activity annually. Six million acres of land are used for crops and pasture, and another three million acres is in farm woodlands — one-third of the state's total land area. Agricultural diversity in the Commonwealth is demonstrated by the fact that Pennsylvania ranks among the top ten states in such varied products as milk, poultry and eggs, ice cream, peaches, apples, grapes, cherries, sweet corn, potatoes, mushrooms, hay, cheese, maple syrup, cabbage, snap beans, Christmas trees and floriculture crops, pretzels, potato chips, sausage, wheat flour, and bakery products. The state is nineteenth in the nation in total farm income, although in total farm acreage it is thirty-seventh. In livestock Pennsylvania is ranked fifth in milk cows, seventeenth in total cattle, fifteenth in hogs, and twenty-fourth in sheep. Before the avian flu epidemic of 1983 it was fifth in the nation in the number of chickens. It ranks seventh in non-citrus fruits.

Transportation

Highways

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, which set the pattern for modern super-highways throughout the nation, was expanded from the western boundary to the Delaware River, as well as northward into the anthracite region. A far-reaching federal highway act was passed in 1956 authorizing the federal government to pay 90 percent of the costs of new roads connecting the nation's principal urban centers. More turnpike miles would probably have been built, had it not been for the toll-free interstate highway system established by the Federal Highway Act of 1956; of the 1,567 miles of interstate road authorized for Pennsylvania, most are now completed and in use. Pennsylvania took advantage of these funds to build an interstate system that today totals more than 1,500 miles. The most outstanding example of the system is Interstate 80, known as the Keystone Shortway, which is 313 miles long and transverses fifteen northern Pennsylvania counties. The state now has more than 45,000 miles of improved roads. The state is seventh in the nation in number of registered vehicles.

Waterways

Waterways have always been of major importance to Pennsylvania, and the state's three ports — Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Erie — accommodated more than 144,000,000 tons of cargo in 1973. The nation's largest industrial port, Philadelphia, has listed more than 1,250 arrivals and departures of oceangoing vessels per year. At the confluence of the Monongahela, Allegheny, and Ohio rivers, the port of Pittsburgh has seen a growing interstate movement of goods between western Pennsylvania and ports on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Gulf intracoastal canal. The port of Erie was formerly of limited importance, but the emergence of the St. Lawrence Seaway produced a trend toward growth and development.

Aviation

Constant expansion of passenger service has been the story of aviation in Pennsylvania since World War II. Today there are sixteen major airports, five of which have been granted international status. Pittsburgh, the second largest, was built in 1951. Instrument landing systems became standard at airports in all the smaller cities following the Bradford Regional Airport accidents of 1968-1969. In the 1970s automated radar terminal systems were installed at all the major airports, to handle the increased volume of traffic with safety.

The expansion of All American Aviation to Allegheny Airlines, and then to U.S. Air, is typical of progress in the industry. The energy crises beginning in the late 1970s caused reorganization involving commuter lines, using smaller craft, operating as feeders from smaller cities to the major airports. Deregulation and the trend toward corporate mergers in the 1980s have caused further reorganization of the industry.

Two aircraft manufacturers reached their apex during this period. Piper Aircraft Corporation of Lock Haven outdistanced its competitors and produced America's most popular light airplane. Vertol Division of Boeing Corporation, successor to Piasecki Helicopter Corporation, located in Delaware County, was a major manufacturer of helicopters.

Railroads

After World War II both passenger and freight service were gradually reduced in Pennsylvania. The railroads' steepening decline was climaxed by the 1968 merger of the once mighty Pennsylvania Railroad into the Penn Central, and the bankruptcy of this new line a little over two years later. Even in 1975, however, 85 percent of raw materials, 35 percent of farm commodities, and 46 percent of manufactured products were being moved by rail. The creation of the Amtrak passenger rail system in 1970 and the consolidation in 1974 of various lines including the Penn Central into Conrail for freight service are important attempts to revitalize. Conrail brought federal administration and federal financial support to 80 percent of the freight lines within Pennsylvania. Rail lines were reduced by eliminating obsolete and unnecessary lines, typically those to now non-productive coal mines. The work force was reduced by a quarter and commuter service trains which were at first the responsibility of Conrail were gradually eliminated. In 1981 Conrail finally began to operate profitably, and eventually the federal government sold it to private stockholders. Although passenger service to smaller municipalities has been eliminated, faster travel is possible on the remaining routes. Seamless rails, cement ties, and the elimination of grade crossings have made this possible.

Culture

Literature

A major figure in the American literary scene, Pearl S. Buck (1872-1973) won both a Nobel Prize and a Pulitzer Prize. She made her home in Perkasie. Christopher Morely (1890-1957) and John O'Hara (1905-1970) were other famous twentieth-century Pennsylvania novelists.

Among living writers associated with Pennsylvania are L. Sprague deCamp, author of science fiction, and John Updike, who won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1982, for Rabbit Is Rich, and received the 1983 Governor's Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist Award. James A. Michener, recipient of the 1981 Governor's Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist Award, is the author of 27 novels including the Pulitzer Prize winner Tales of the South Pacific. Marianne Moore (1887-1972), who was educated at Bryn Mawr College and taught at the United States Indian School in Carlisle, was a famous poet and the winner of many international awards. Poet Gerald Stern, born in Pittsburgh and now living in Easton, received the prestigious Lamont Poetry Prize for Lucky Leaf, as well as a 1980 Hazlett Memorial Award for Excellence in the Arts.

Performing Arts and Media

Among the famous Pennsylvanians who have starred in the movies were W. C. Fields, Gene Kelly, Joe E. Brown, Richard Gere, Tom Mix, Jack Palance, and James Stewart, who received the first Governor's Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist Award in 1980. In 1984 Bill Cosby received this award.

In the field of dance the Pennsylvania Ballet, founded by Barbara Weisberger in 1964, has an international reputation, and the Pittsburgh Ballet is also widely known. Band leaders Fred Waring and Les Brown have distinguished themselves in the 1940s and 1950s.

The Curtis Institute in Philadelphia has a world reputation for the advanced study of music. Distinguished singers who are Pennsylvanians by birth or association include Louis Homer, Paul Athouse, Dusolina Giannini, Mario Lanza, Helen Jepson, Perry Como, Bobby Vinton, and Marian Anderson (who received the 1982 Governor's Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist Award). Leopold Stowkowski rose to fame as the conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Victor Herbert was conductor of the Pittsburgh Symphony during part of his career. Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the world-renowned Philadelphia Orchestra for 44 years, received the 1980 Hazlett Memorial Award for Excellence in the Arts in the field of music. The Pittsburgh Symphony is proud to have had Andre Previn (recipient of the 1983 Hazlett Memorial Award for Excellence in the Arts) as its conductor. Samuel Barber, Peter Mennin, and Charles Wakefield Cadman are among the better known Pennsylvania symphonic composers.

Television grew rapidly, and today Philadelphia is the fourth largest television market in the country and Pittsburgh is the eleventh. Each city has three major network stations, a public broadcasting station and smaller independent stations. WQED in Pittsburgh pioneered community-sponsored education television when it began broadcasting in 1954.

Religion

Pennsylvanians are very religious. Although standards for classification of followers differ greatly among the various religious bodies, confusing the statistics, it is estimated that 64.4 percent of the population adheres to some recognized religious faith. This places Pennsylvania among the top ten states.

The Roman Catholic church is by far the largest religious body. It has 3.88 million adherents which is about 33 percent of the population. There is a Catholic archdiocese in Philadelphia and seven dioceses in other Pennsylvania cities.

The Lutherans and United Methodists are the two largest Protestant denominations, each having more than three-quarters of a million adherents. There are slightly less than a half million Presbyterian adherents. Three other denominations have over one hundred thousand: The United Church of Christ, the Episcopal Church, and the American Baptists. The Quakers, so important in colonial times, had only 13,174 adherents in 1980. Significant smaller Protestant denominations are: Christian Scientists, Mormons, Seventh-Day Adventists, Jehovah's Witnesses, Assembly of God, Disciples of Christ, Church of the Brethren, Nazarene Church, Evangelical Congregational, and Church of God.

Philadelphia was the home of Bishop Richard Allen, who founded the African Methodist Episcopal (A.M.E.) Church in 1816; today it is a leading Protestant denomination with churches around the world. Blacks in Pennsylvania have belonged to many of the same churches (both Protestant and Catholic) as whites. Nonetheless, predominantly Black denominations include the African Methodist Episcopal and A.M.E. Zion Churches, and two National Baptist Conventions.

The Jewish religious population is divided among Orthodox, Conservative and Reform Judaism. These three bodies have about 63,000 adherents in Pennsylvania, over half of them in Philadelphia. The secular Jewish population is much larger, being estimated as 347,000.

An estimated 400,000 adhere to twenty-one Eastern Orthodox churches. The largest of these are the Greek Orthodox, Russian Orthodox, American Carpatho-Russia Orthodox, Ukraniane Orthodox, Antiochian Orthodox, Syrian Orthodox, Serbian Eastern Orthodox, and Orthodox Church. Although Pennsylvania was once the center in America for these bodies, the decline of heavy industry has led many of their worshippers to move elsewhere.

The German sects — the Mennonites and the Amish, for example — brought distinction to the Commonwealth through the appellation "Pennsylvania Dutch," but there are today more Plain People in Ohio and Indiana than there are in Pennsylvania. They are struggling to preserve their culture and religion.

Education

School consolidation became a major goal after World War II. By 1968 the number of school districts had been compressed from over 2,000 to 742. Centralization and improved spending had the desired effects. In the 1970s programs for exceptional and for disadvantaged students were becoming available, and the vocational-technical secondary school option assisted many youths in finding career areas. In 1974 Pennsylvania's Human Relations Commission ordered that racial imbalance in public schools be eliminated by the end of the year.

Today, education is one of the Commonwealth's most treasured assets. Total enrollment in its schools and learning institutions is declining, although not as much as it had in the mid-1980s. Because many adolescents drop out of school there is a crisis in school attendance in the ages 5 through 17. Enrollment in institutions of higher education within the state, which is not as closely linked to the Pennsylvania population as the primary and secondary school student bodies, is growing, and the state ranks sixth in the country in this category. Adult, post-secondary education, much of which is technical education, is also increasing, whereas the vo-tech high schools, so popular in the 1970s, are experiencing more rapid enrollment decline than the standard high schools. The state's executive administration is striving to upgrade the quality of teaching and the students' level of learning, both of which are considered to be in a state of crisis.

Based on U.S. Census data, about 88 percent of the rising generation of Pennsylvanians can expect to complete four years of high school, and 22 percent to complete four years of college. Of the total population over 24 years of age, 65 percent have completed four years of high school and 14 percent have completed four years of college.

Political Developments

Two-Party State

The New Deal, the rising influence of labor, and the growing urbanization of the state ended a long period of Republican dominance. In stride with the New Deal, the Democrats fielded a successful gubernatorial candidate in 1934, but the Republicans dominated the next four gubernatorial elections. The Democrats, however, took control of the two major cities, Pittsburgh in 1933 and Philadelphia in 1951, and achieved electoral majorities in seven of the eleven presidential elections from 1936 to 1976. In 1954 and 1958 the Democrats elected George M. Leader and David L. Lawrence successively as governors. They were followed in 1962 by Republican William W. Scranton, Jr., and in 1966 by Republican Raymond P. Shafer. In 1970 the Democrats elected Milton Shapp and regained firm control of the legislature for the first time since 1936. Shapp became the first governor eligible to succeed himself under the 1968 Constitution, and he was reelected in 1974. In 1978 Republican Dick Thornburgh was elected governor. Within two years, the Republicans became the majority party when, in addition to the governorship, they held both U.S. Senate seats, supported President Ronald Reagan's candidacy in 1980, and won majorities in both houses of the state legislature. In 1982 Thornburgh was reelected to a second term; President Ronald Reagan was reelected in 1984. In 1985 the Democrats became the majority party in the House of Representatives. In 1986 the Democrat Robert P. Casey of Scranton, a former State Auditor General, defeated Lieutenant Governor William W. Scranton III for the governorship, becoming the forty-second person to hold that office.

The Cold War, Korean Conflict and Vietnam Involvement

After the end of World War II, the United Nations was established as a parliament of governments in which disputes between nations could be settled peacefully. Nevertheless, the United States and Communist countries started an arms race that led to a "cold war," resulting in several undeclared limited wars. From 1950 to 1953, individual Pennsylvanians were among the many Americans who fought with the South Koreans against the North Koreans and their Red Chinese allies. Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division was one of four National Guard divisions called to active duty during the crisis, being deployed to Germany to help deflect any expansion of the conflict.

Pennsylvanians served their country faithfully during the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. In Korea, Pfc. Melvin L. Brown of Mahaffey, Sfc. William S. Sitman of Bellwood, and Cpl. Clifton T. Speicher of Gray gave their lives in self-sacrificing combat deeds for which they were awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. Major General John Huston Church (1892-1953) commanded the 24th Infantry Division in the first year of fighting. Lieutenant General Henry Aurand commanded the U.S. Army-Pacific (which included the Korean operation) from 1949 to 1952. General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, a native of Honesdale, was Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff during the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962 which brought the Cold War to an end. In 1964 a conflict against expanding communism developed in Vietnam. American troops fought beside the South Vietnamese against the North Vietnamese and their communist supporters until 1973, and many Pennsylvanians served and died there. Cpl. Michael J. Crescenz of Philadelphia and Sgt. Glenn H. English, Jr., a native of Altoona, were mortally wounded while performing courageous acts for which they were both awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. Major General Charles W. Eifler, a native of Altoona, directed the First Logistical command in South Vietnam until May 1967.

Today, Pennsylvania's population still includes 9,900 veterans of World War I; 633,300 veterans of World War II; 268,200 veterans of the Korean conflict; and 389,600 veterans of the Vietnam era.

Government Modernization

After the Second World War there was a renewed emphasis on reorganizing state government. In 1945 the State Museum and State Archives were placed under the Historical and Museum Commission. In 1947 the Tax Equalization Board was created to review school tax assessments so that the burden of public education would fall evenly on all districts. In 1951 the Council on Civil Defense was created, and in 1978 it became the Emergency Management Agency. In 1955, during the administration of Governor Leader, an Office of Administration was set up within the executive branch. A government reorganization act permitted any governor to transfer functions from one department to another, subject to the approval of the General Assembly. The Human Relations Commission was established in 1955 to prevent discrimination in employment. In 1966 the Department of Community Affairs was created to deal with matters concerning local governments. The termination, in 1968, of the Department of Internal Affairs resulted in four of its bureaus being placed in other agencies. In 1970 the creation of a Department of Transportation and a Department of Environmental Resources were results of an enlarged concept of the role of state government. Both had broader functions than the departments they replaced, the Highways Department and Forest and Waters. The consolidation of two agencies into the Department of General Services in 1975 was another step in the direction of efficiency. The creation of a Commission for Women by executive order in 1975, and the replacement of the Council on Aging with a Department of Aging in 1978, both followed the trend toward serving population segments that have special needs. As a result of a constitutional amendment the Attorney General became an elected official in 1980, and his office became an independent department. The designation Department of Justice was discontinued. Within the executive branch an Office of General Counsel was formed to continue the old function of an attorney appointed and subordinate to the Governor. A further result of the amendment was the eventual creation, in 1984, of a separate Department of Corrections. The establishment of an Ethics Commission in 1978 and an Independent Regulatory Review Commission in 1982 were two of the many measures dealing with particular problems that have surfaced in the governmental process. The augmentation of the Department of Commerce, in 1987, by the Economic Development Partnership, anticipates a more powerful role for state government in economic policy.

A series of important constitutional amendments culminated in the calling of a Constitutional Convention in 1967-1968, which revised the 1874 Constitution. A significant provision prohibits the denial to any person of his or her civil rights. The General Assembly now meets annually and is a continuing body. The governor and other elective state officers are eligible to succeed themselves for one additional term. A unified judicial system has been established under the Supreme Court, a Commonwealth Court has been created, and the inferior courts have been modernized. Broad extensions of county and local home rule are possible. In 1971 the voters amended the state constitution to guarantee that equal rights could not be denied because of sex.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

PREAMBLE

WE, the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of civil and religious liberty, and humbly invoking His guidance, do ordain and establish this Constitution.

Article I
DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

That the general, great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and unalterably established, WE DECLARE THAT —

Inherent Rights of Mankind

Section 1. All men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent and indefeasible rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, of acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation, and of pursuing their own happiness.

Political Powers

Section 2. All power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness. For the advancement of these ends they have at all times an inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper.

Religious Freedom

Section 3. All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences; no man can of right be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship or to maintain any ministry against his consent; no human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious establishments or modes of worship.

Religion

Section 4. No person who acknowledges the being of a God and a future state of rewards and punishments shall, on account of his religious sentiments, be disqualified to hold any office or place of trust or profit under this Commonwealth.

Elections

Section 5. Elections shall be free and equal; and no power, civil or military, shall at any time interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage.

Trial by Jury

Section 6.[1] Trial by jury shall be as heretofore, and the right thereof remain inviolate. The General Assembly may provide, however, by law, that a verdict may be rendered by not less than five-sixths of the jury in any civil case.

Freedom of Press and Speech; Libels

Section 7. The printing press shall be free to every person who may undertake to examine the proceedings of the Legislature or any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. No conviction shall be had in any prosecution for the publication of papers relating to the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, or to any other matter proper for public investigation or information, where the fact that such publication was not maliciously or negligently made shall be established to the satisfaction of the jury; and in all indictments for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other cases.

Security From Searches and Seizures

Section 8. The people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from unreasonable searches and seizures, and no warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them as nearly as may be, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation subscribed to by the affiant.

Rights of Accused in Criminal Prosecutions

Section 9.[2] In all criminal prosecutions the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and his counsel, to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, to meet the witnesses face to face, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and, in prosecutions by indictment or information, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the vicinage; he cannot be compelled to give evidence against himself, nor can he be deprived of his life, liberty or property, unless by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land. The use of a suppressed voluntary admission or voluntary confession to impeach the credibility of a person may be permitted and shall not be construed as compelling a person to give evidence against himself.

Initiation of Criminal Proceedings; Twice in Jeopardy; Eminent Domain

Section 10.[3] Except as hereinafter provided no person shall, for any indictable offense, be proceeded against criminally by information, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger, or by leave of the court for oppression or misdemeanor in office. Each of the several courts of common pleas may, with the approval of the Supreme Court, provide for the initiation of criminal proceedings therein by information filed in the manner provided by law. No person shall, for the same offense, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall private property be taken or applied to public use, without authority of law and without just compensation being first made or secured.

Courts to Be Open; Suits Against the Commonwealth

Section 11. All courts shall be open; and every man for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay. Suits may be brought against the Commonwealth in such manner, in such courts and in such cases as the Legislature may by law direct.

Power of Suspending Laws

Section 12. No power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the Legislature or by its authority.

Bail, Fines and Punishments

Section 13. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel punishments inflicted.

Prisoners to Be Bailable; Habeas Corpus

Section 14. All prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses when the proof is evident or presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Special Criminal Tribunals

Section 15. No commission shall issue creating special temporary criminal tribunals to try particular individuals or particular classes of cases.

Insolvent Debtors

Section 16. The person of a debtor, where there is not strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison after delivering up his estate for the benefit of his creditors in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

Ex Post Facto Laws; Impairment of Contracts

Section 17. No ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts, or making irrevocable any grant of special privileges or immunities, shall be passed.

Attainder

Section 18. No person shall be attainded of treason or felony by the Legislature.

Attainder Limited

Section 19. No attainder shall work corruption of blood, nor, except during the life of the offender, forfeiture of estate to the Commonwealth.

Right of Petition

Section 20. The citizens have a right in a peaceable manner to assemble together for their common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances or other proper purposes by petition, address or remonstrance.

Right to Bear Arms

Section 21. The right of the citizens to bear arms in defense of themselves and the State shall not be questioned.

Standing Army; Military Subordinate to Civil Power

Section 23. No soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Titles and Offices

Section 24. The Legislature shall not grant any title of nobility or hereditary distinction, nor create any office the appointment to which shall be for a longer term than during good behavior.

Reservation of Powers in People

Section 25. To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of government and shall forever remain inviolate.

No Discrimination by Commonwealth and Its Political Subdivisions

Section 26. Neither the Commonwealth nor any political subdivision thereof shall deny to any person the enjoyment of any civil right, nor discriminate against any person in the exercise of any civil right.

Natural Resources and the Public Estate

Section 27.[4] The people have a right to clean air, pure water, and to the preservation of the natural, scenic, historic and esthetic values of the environment. Pennsylvania's public natural resources are the common property of all the people, including generations yet to come. As trustee of these resources, the Commonwealth shall conserve and maintain them for the benefit of all the people.

Prohibition Against Denial or Abridgment of Equality of Rights Because of Sex

Section 28.[5] Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because of the sex of the individual.

Article II

THE LEGISLATURE

Legislative Power

Section 1. The legislative power of this Commonwealth shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

Election of Members; Vacancies

Section 2. Members of the General Assembly shall be chosen at the general election every second year. Their term of service shall begin on the first day of December next after their election. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in either House, the presiding officer thereof shall issue a writ of election to fill such vacancy for the remainder of the term.

Terms of Members

Section 3. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years and Representatives for the term of two years.

Sessions

Section 4. The General Assembly shall be a continuing body during the term for which its Representatives are elected. It shall meet at twelve o'clock noon on the first Tuesday of January each year. Special sessions shall be called by the Governor on petition of a majority of the members elected to each House or may be called by the Governor whenever in his opinion the public interest requires.

Qualifications of Members

Section 5. Senators shall be at least twenty-five years of age and Representatives twenty-one years of age. They shall have been citizens and inhabitants of the State four years, and inhabitants of their respective districts one year next before their election (unless absent on the public business of the United States or of this State) and shall reside in their respective districts during their terms of service.

Disqualification to Hold Other Office

Section 6. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under this Commonwealth to which a salary, fee or perquisite is attached. No member of Congress or other person holding any office (except of attorney-at-law or in the national guard or in a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States) under the United States or this Commonwealth to which a salary, fee or perquisite is attached shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office.

[4,5] Adopted May 18, 1971.

Ineligibility by Criminal Convictions

Section 7. No person hereafter convicted of embezzlement of public moneys, bribery, perjury or other infamous crime, shall be eligible to the General Assembly, or capable of holding any office of trust or profit in this Commonwealth.

Compensation

Section 8. The members of the General Assembly shall receive such salary and mileage for regular and special sessions as shall be fixed by law, and no other compensation whatever, whether for service upon committee or otherwise. No member of either House shall during the term for which he may have been elected, receive any increase of salary, or mileage, under any law passed during such term.

Election of Officers; Judge of Election and Qualifications of Members

Section 9. The Senate shall, at the beginning and close of each regular session and at such other times as may be necessary, elect one of its members President pro tempore, who shall perform the duties of the Lieutenant Governor, in any case of absence or disability of that officer, and whenever the said office of Lieutenant Governor shall be vacant. The House of Representatives shall elect one of its members as Speaker. Each House shall choose its other officers, and shall judge of the election and qualifications of its members.

Quorum

Section 10. A majority of each House shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members.

Powers of Each House; Expulsion

Section 11. Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence, to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House, and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense.

Journals; Yeas and Nays

Section 12. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings and from time to time publish the same, except such parts as require secrecy, and the yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two of them, be entered on the journal.

Open Sessions

Section 13. The sessions of each House and of committees of the whole shall be open, unless when the business is such as ought to be kept secret.

Adjournments

Section 14. Neither House shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Privileges of Members

Section 15. The members of the General Assembly shall in all cases, except treason, felony, violation of their oath of office, and breach of surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective Houses and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Legislative Districts

Section 16. The Commonwealth shall be divided into fifty senatorial and two hundred three representative districts, which shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly equal in population as practicable. Each senatorial district shall elect one Senator, and each representative district one Representative. Unless absolutely necessary no county, city, incorporated town, borough, township or ward shall be divided in forming either a senatorial or representative district.

Legislative Reapportionment Commission

Section 17.[1] (a) In each year following the year of the Federal decennial census, a Legislative Reapportionment Commission shall be constituted for the purpose of reapportioning the Commonwealth. The commission shall act by a majority of its entire membership.

(b) The commission shall consist of five members, four of whom shall be the majority and minority leaders of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, or deputies appointed by each of them, and a chairman selected as hereinafter provided. No later than 60 days following the official reporting of the Federal decennial census as required by Federal law, the four members shall be certified by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to the elections officer of the Commonwealth who under law shall have supervision over elections.

The four members within 45 days after their certification shall select the fifth member, who shall serve as chairman of the commission, and shall immediately certify his name to such elections officer. The chairman shall be a citizen of the Commonwealth other than a local, State or Federal official holding an office to which compensation is attached.

If the four members fail to select the fifth member within the time prescribed, a majority of the entire membership of the Supreme Court within thirty days thereafter shall appoint the chairman as aforesaid and certify his appointment to such elections officer.

Any vacancy in the commission shall be filled within fifteen days in the same manner in which such position was originally filled.

(c) No later than ninety days after either the commission has been duly certified or the population data for the Commonwealth as determined by the Federal decennial census are available, whichever is later in time, the commission shall file a preliminary reapportionment plan with such elections officer.

The commission shall have thirty days after filing the preliminary plan to make corrections in the plan.

Any person aggrieved by the preliminary plan shall have the same thirty-day period to file exceptions with the commission in which case the commission shall have thirty days after the date the exceptions were filed to prepare and file with such elections officer a revised reapportionment plan. If no exceptions are filed within thirty days, or if filed and acted upon, the commission's plan shall be final and have the force of law.

(d) Any aggrieved person may file an appeal from the final plan directly to the Supreme Court within thirty days after the filing thereof. If the appellant establishes that the final plan is contrary to law, the Supreme Court shall issue an order remanding the plan to the commission and directing the commission to reapportion the Commonwealth in a manner not inconsistent with such order.

(e) When the Supreme Court has finally decided an appeal or when the last day for filing an appeal has passed with no appeal taken, the reapportionment plan shall have the force of law and the districts therein provided shall be used thereafter in elections to the General Assembly until the next reapportionment as required under this section 17.

(f) The General Assembly shall appropriate sufficient funds for the compensation and expenses of members and staff appointed by the commission, and other necessary expenses. The members of the commission shall be entitled to such compensation for their services as the General Assembly from time to time shall determine, but no part thereof shall be paid until a preliminary plan is filed. If a preliminary plan is filed but the commission fails to file a revised or final plan within the time prescribed, the commission members shall forfeit all right to compensation not paid.

(g) If a preliminary, revised or final reapportionment plan is not filed by the commission within the time prescribed by this section, unless the time be extended by the Supreme Court for cause shown, the Supreme Court shall immediately proceed on its own motion to reapportion the Commonwealth.

(h) Any reapportionment plan filed by the commission, or ordered or prepared by the Supreme Court upon the failure of the commission to act, shall be published by the elections officer once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each senatorial and representative district. The publication shall contain a map of the Commonwealth showing the complete reapportionment of the General Assembly by districts, and a map showing the reapportionment districts in the area normally served by the newspaper in which the publication is made. The publication shall also state the population of the senatorial and representative districts having the smallest and largest population and the percentage variation of such districts from the average population for senatorial and representative districts.

Section 7. Any person who shall give, or promise or offer to give, to an elector, any money, reward or other valuable consideration for his vote at an election, or for withholding the same, or who shall give or promise to give such consideration to any other person or party for such elector's vote or for the withholding thereof, and any elector who shall receive or agree to receive, for himself or for another, any money, reward or other valuable consideration for his vote at an election, or for withholding the same, shall thereby forfeit the right to vote at such election, and any elector whose right to vote shall be challenged for such cause before the election officers, shall be required to swear or affirm that the matter of the challenge is untrue before his vote shall be received.

In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Disqualifications for Service as Election Officer

Section 12. No person shall be qualified to serve as an election officer who shall hold, or shall within two months have held any office, appointment or employment in or under the government of the United States, or of this State, or of any city, or county, or of any municipal board, commission or trust in any city, save only notaries public and persons in the National Guard or in a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States; nor shall any election officer be eligibile to any civil office to be filled at an election at which he shall serve, save only to such subordinate municipal or local offices, below the grade of city or county offices, as shall be designated by general law.

TAXATION AND FINANCE

Uniformity of Taxation

Section 1. All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and shall be levied and collected under general laws.

Exemptions and Special Provisions

Section 2.[1] (a) The General Assembly may by law exempt from taxation:

(i) Actual places of regularly stated religious worship;

(ii) Actual places of burial, when used or held by a person or organization deriving no private or corporate profit therefrom and no substantial part of whose activity consists of selling personal property in connection therewith;

(iii) That portion of public property which is actually and regularly used for public purposes;

(iv) That portion of the property owned and occupied by any branch, post or camp of honorably discharged servicemen or servicewomen which is actually and regularly used for benevolent, charitable or patriotic purposes; and

(v) Institutions of purely public charity, but in the case of any real property tax exemptions only that portion of real property of such institution which is actually and regularly used for the purposes of the institution.

(b) The General Assembly may, by law:

(i) Establish standards and qualifications for private forest reserves, agriculture reserves, and land actively devoted to agricultural use, and make special provision for the taxation thereof;

(ii) Establish as a class or classes of subjects of taxation the property or privileges of persons who, because of age, disability, infirmity or poverty are determined to be in need of tax exemption or of special tax provisions, and for any such class or classes, uniform standards and qualifications. The Commonwealth, or any other taxing authority, may adopt or employ such class or classes and standards and qualifications, and except as herein provided may impose taxes, grant exemptions, or make special tax provisions in accordance therewith. No exemption or special provision shall be made under this clause with respect to taxes upon the sale or use of personal property, and no exemption from any tax upon real property shall be granted by the General Assembly under this clause unless the General Assembly shall provide for the reimbursement of local taxing authorities by or through the Commonwealth for revenue losses occasioned by such exemption;

(iii) Establish standards and qualifications by which local taxing authorities may make uniform special tax provisions applicable to a taxpayer for a limited period of time to encourage improvement of deteriorating property or areas by an individual, association or corporation, or to encourage industrial development by a non-profit corporation; and

(iv) Make special tax provisions on any increase in value of real estate resulting from residential construction. Such special tax provisions shall be applicable for a period not to exceed two years.

(v) Establish standards and qualifications by which local taxing authorities in counties of the first and second class may make uniform special real property tax provisions applicable to taxpayers who are long-time owner-occupants as shall be defined by the General Assembly of residences in areas where real property values have risen markedly as a consequence of the refurbishing or renovating of other deteriorating residences or the construction of new residences.

(c) Citizens and residents of this Commonwealth, who served in any war or armed conflict in which the United States was engaged and were honorably discharged or released under honorable circumstances from active service, shall be exempt from the payment of all real property taxes upon the residence occupied by the said citizens and residents of this Commonwealth imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any of its political subdivisions if, as a result of military service, they are blind, paraplegic or double or quadruple amputees or have a service-connected disability declared by the United States Veterans' Administration or its successor to be a total or 100% permanent disability, and if the State Veterans' Commission determines that such persons are in need of the tax exemptions granted herein. This exemption shall be extended to the unmarried surviving spouse upon the death of an eligible veteran provided that the State Veterans' Commission determines that such person is in need of the exemption.

Reciprocal Exemptions

Section 3. Taxation laws may grant exemptions or rebates to residents, or estates of residents, of other States which grant similar exemptions or rebates to residents, or estates of residents, of Pennsylvania.

Public Utilities

Section 4. The real property of public utilities is subject to real estate taxes imposed by local taxing authorities. Payment to the Commonwealth of gross receipts taxes or other special taxes in replacement of gross receipts taxes by a public utility and the distribution by the Commonwealth to the local taxing authorities of the amount as herein provided shall, however, be in lieu of local taxes upon its real property which is used or useful in furnishing its public utility service. The amount raised annually by such gross receipts or other special taxes shall not be less than the gross amount of real estate taxes which the local taxing authorities could have imposed upon such real property but for the exemption herein provided. This gross amount shall be determined in the manner provided by law. An amount equivalent to such real estate taxes shall be distributed annually among all local taxing authorities in the proportion which the total tax receipts of each local taxing authority bear to the total tax receipts of all local taxing authorities, or in such other equitable proportions as may be provided by law.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, any law which presently subjects real property of public utilities to local real estate taxation by local taxing authorities shall remain in full force and effect.

(4) Debt may be incurred without the approval of the electors for capital projects specifically itemized in a capital budget, if such debt will not cause the amount of all net debt outstanding to exceed one and three-quarters times the average of the annual tax revenues deposited in the previous five fiscal years as certified by the Auditor General. For the purposes of this subsection, debt outstanding shall not include debt incurred under clauses (1) and (2) (i), or debt incurred under clause (2) (ii) if the original debt would not be so considered, or debt incurred under subsection (3) unless the General Assembly shall so provide in the law authorizing such debt.

(b) All debt incurred for capital projects shall mature within a period not to exceed the estimated useful life of the projects as stated in the authorizing law, and when so stated shall be conclusive. All debt, except indebtedness permitted by clause (2) (i), shall be amortized in substantial and regular amounts, the first of which shall be due prior to the expiration of a period equal to one-tenth the term of the debt.

(c) As used in this section, debt shall mean the issued and outstanding obligations of the Commonwealth and shall include obligations of its agencies or authorities to the extent they are to be repaid from lease rentals or other charges payable directly or indirectly from revenues of the Commonwealth. (d) If sufficient funds are not appropriated for the timely payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all debt, the State Treasurer shall set apart from the first revenues thereafter received applicable to the appropriate fund a sum sufficient to pay such interest and installments of principal, and shall so apply the money so set apart. The State Treasurer may be required to set aside and apply such revenues at the suit of any holder of Commonwealth obligations.

Municipal Debt Not to be Assumed by Commonwealth

Section 9. The Commonwealth shall not assume the debt, or any part thereof, of any county, city, borough, incorporated town, township or any similar general purpose unit of government unless such debt shall have been incurred to enable the Commonwealth to suppress insurrection or to assist the Commonwealth in the discharge of any portion of its present indebtedness.

(b) All proceeds from aviation fuel excise taxes, after providing therefrom for the cost of administration and collection, shall be appropriated by the General Assembly to agencies of the State or political subdivisions thereof and used solely for: the purchase, construction, reconstruction, operation and maintenance of airports and other air navigation facilities; aircraft accident investigation; the operation, maintenance and other costs of aircraft owned or leased by the Commonwealth; any other purpose reasonably related to air navigation including but not limited to the reimbursement of airport property owners for property tax expenditures; and costs and expenses incident thereto and for the payment of obligations incurred for such purposes, and shall not be diverted by transfer or otherwise to any other purpose.

Home Rule

Section 2. Municipalities shall have the right and power to frame and adopt home rule charters. Adoption, amendment or repeal of a home rule charter shall be by referendum. The General Assembly shall provide the procedure by which a home rule charter may be framed and its adoption, amendment or repeal presented to the electors. If the General Assembly does not so provide, a home rule charter or a procedure for framing and presenting a home rule charter may be presented to the electors by initiative or by the governing body of the municipality. A municipality which has a home rule charter may exercise any power or perform any function not denied by this Constitution, by its home rule charter or by the General Assembly at any time.

Optional Plans

Section 3. Municipalities shall have the right and power to adopt optional forms of government as provided by law. The General Assembly shall provide optional forms of government for all municipalities. An optional form of government shall be presented to the electors by initiative, by the governing body of the municipality, or by the General Assembly. Adoption or repeal of an optional form of government shall be by referendum.

County Government

Section 4. County officers shall consist of commissioners, controllers or auditors, district attorneys, public defenders, treasurers, sheriffs, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries, clerks of the courts, and such others as may from time to time be provided by law.

County officers, except for public defenders who shall be appointed as shall be provided by law, shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies shall be filled in such a manner as may be provided by law.

County officers shall be paid only by salary as provided by law for services performed for the county or any other governmental unit. Fees incidental to the conduct of any county office shall be payable directly to the county or the Commonwealth, or as otherwise provided by law.

Three county commissioners shall be elected in each county. In the election of these officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected.

Provisions for county government in this section shall apply to every county except a county which has adopted a home rule charter or an optional form of government. One of the optional forms of county government provided by law shall include the provisions of this section.

Intergovernmental Cooperation

Section 5. A municipality by act of its governing body may, or upon being required by initiative and referendum in the area affected shall, cooperate or agree in the exercise of any function, power or responsibility with, or delegate or transfer any function, power or responsibility to, one or more other governmental units including other municipalities or districts, the Federal government, any other state or its governmental units, or any newly created governmental unit.

The General Assembly may provide standards by which municipalities or school districts may give financial assistance or lease property to public service, industrial or commercial enterprises if it shall find that such assistance or leasing is necessary to the health, safety or welfare of the Commonwealth or any municipality or school district. Existing authority of any municipality or incorporated district to obtain or appropriate money for, or to loan its credit to, any corporation, association, institution or individual, is preserved.

Local Government Debt

Section 10. Subject only to the restrictions imposed by this section, the General Assembly shall prescribe the debt limits of all units of local government including municipalities and school districts. For such purposes, the debt limit base shall be a percentage of the total revenue, as defined by the General Assembly, of the unit of local government computed over a specific period immediately preceding the year of borrowing. The debt limit to be prescribed in every such case shall exclude all indebtedness (1) for any project to the extent that it is self-liquidating or self-supporting or which has heretofore been defined as self-liquidating or self-supporting, or (2) which has been approved by referendum held in such manner as shall be provided by law. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to the City or County of Philadelphia.

Any unit of local government, including municipalities and school districts, incurring any indebtedness, shall at or before the time of so doing adopt a covenant, which shall be binding upon it so long as any such indebtedness shall remain unpaid, to make payments out of its sinking fund or any other of its revenues or funds at such time and in such annual amounts specified in such covenant as shall be sufficient for the payment of the interest thereon and the principal thereof when due.

Section 11. Within the year following that in which the Federal decennial census is officially reported as required by Federal law, and at such other times as the governing body of any municipality shall deem necessary, each municipality having a governing body not entirely elected at large shall be reapportioned, by its governing body or as shall otherwise be provided by uniform law, into districts which shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly equal in population as practicable, for the purpose of describing the districts for those not elected at large.

Philadelphia Debt

Section 12. The debt of the City of Philadelphia may be increased in such amount that the total debt of said city shall not exceed thirteen and one-half percent of the average of the annual assessed valuations of the taxable realty therein, during the ten years immediately preceding the year in which such increase is made, but said city shall not increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding three percent upon such average assessed valuation of realty, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election held in such manner as shall be provided by law.

In ascertaining the debt-incurring capacity of the City of Philadelphia at any time, there shall be deducted from the debt of said city so much of such debt as shall have been incurred, or is about to be incurred, and the proceeds thereof expended, or about to be expended, upon any public improvement, or in construction, purchase or condemnation of any public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, if such public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, whether separately, or in connection with any other public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges thereon. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, shall be as now prescribed, or which may hereafter be prescribed by law.

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the City of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking fund to be in equal or graded annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said City of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works or utilities of any character, from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for, and may include the amount of the interest and sinking fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction, and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred.

No debt shall be incurred by, or on behalf of, the County of Philadelphia.

Abolition of County Offices in Philadelphia

Section 13. (a) In Philadelphia all county offices are hereby abolished, and the city shall henceforth perform all functions of county government within its area through officers selected in such manner as may be provided by law.

(b) Local and special laws, regulating the affairs of the City of Philadelphia and creating offices or prescribing the powers and duties of officers of the City of Philadelphia, shall be valid notwithstanding the provisions of section thirty-two of Article III of this Constitution.

(c) All laws applicable to the County of Philadelphia shall apply to the City of Philadelphia.

(d) The City of Philadelphia shall have, assume and take over all powers, property, obligations and indebtedness of the County of Philadelphia.

(e) The provisions of section two of this article shall apply with full force and effect to the functions of the county government hereafter to be performed by the city government.

(f) Upon adoption of this amendment all county officers shall become officers of the City of Philadelphia, and until the General Assembly shall otherwise provide, shall continue to perform their duties and be elected, appointed, compensated and organized in such manner as may be provided by the provisions of this Constitution and the laws of the Commonwealth in effect at the time this amendment becomes effective, but such officers serving when this amendment becomes effective shall be permitted to complete their terms.

Preamble

Section 1. Millions of Pennsylvanians have suffered greatly from the ravages of the most disastrous flood in the history of the Commonwealth. This flood has left devastation in its wake. Thousands of people have been left homeless and countless industrial and commercial establishments and public facilities have been damaged or destroyed.

It is imperative that the victims of this disaster immediately receive the fullest possible aid from both the public and private sectors in order to clean up and rebuild the affected areas of the Commonwealth.

In addition, many Pennsylvanians suffered greatly as a result of the Great Storm or Flood of September, 1971.

The General Assembly desires to alleviate such storm or economic deprivation caused by the flood, but is limited in its efforts by rigid restrictions in the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The safety and welfare of the Commonwealth requires prompt amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the emergency provisions contained in subsections (a) and (b) of section 1 of the eleventh article thereof.

That Article VIII of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended by adding a new section to read:

Explanatory Note. Joint Resolution No.1 added section 17 of Article VIII.

Preamble

Section 1. Many Pennsylvanians have suffered greatly from the ravages of great storms or floods in the last few years. The great storms or floods of 1974 and 1975 are additional major disasters causing loss of life and great damage and destruction to property of individuals, industrial and commercial establishments and public facilities.

It is imperative that the victims of these disasters immediately receive the fullest possible aid from both the public and private sectors in order to clean up and rebuild the affected areas of the Commonwealth and that persons in the Commonwealth be eligible for the maximum available aid from the government of the United States.

The General Assembly desires to alleviate such storm or economic deprivation caused by the floods but is limited in its efforts by rigid restrictions in the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The safety and welfare of the Commonwealth requires prompt amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the emergency provisions contained in subsections (a) and (b) of section 1 of the eleventh article thereof.

That section 17 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended to read:

1977, NOVEMBER 8, P.L. 362, J.R. 2

Preamble

Many Pennsylvanians have suffered greatly from the ravages of Great Storms and Floods in recent years. The Great Storms or Floods of 1974, 1975, 1976 and 1977 were additional major disasters causing loss of life and great damage and destruction to property of individuals, industrial and commercial establishments and public facilities.

It is imperative that the victims of these disasters receive the fullest possible aid from both the Federal Government and the Commonwealth in order to accomplish a speedy recovery.

The Congress of the United States, through enactment of the Disaster Relief Act of 1974, Public Law 93-288, has authorized the making of certain disaster relief grants. The General Assembly wishes to make such Federal disaster relief grants, or other grants made available from Federal programs hereafter enacted, available to eligible individuals and families in order to alleviate the deprivation caused by storms or floods which have occurred in the past and seeks to address those emergencies of future years. However, the General Assembly is limited by rigid restrictions in the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The safety and welfare of the Commonwealth requires the prompt amendment to the Constitution to aid those already inflicted by the Great Storms of 1976 or 1977 and any future emergency that may strike Commonwealth citizens.

Therefore, the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the emergency provisions of Article XI thereof.

That section 17 of Article VIII be amended to read:

1978, MAY 16, 1977 P.L. 365, J.R.4

Vacancy in Existing Office of Attorney General.

Upon approval of this amendment by the electors, there shall be a vacancy in the office of Attorney General which shall be filled as provided herein.

Explanatory Note. Joint Resolution No.4 added section 4.1 and amended sections 5, 6, 8 and 17 of Article IV.

LEGISLATIVE PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

TIME OF MEETING

The General Assembly convenes annually on the first Tuesday of January at 12 o'clock Noon.*

OFFICERS OF THE PRECEDING SESSION WHO ARE AUTHORIZED TO BE PRESENT AT THE ORGANIZATION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Lieutenant Governor who by the Constitution is made President of the Senate, presides at the opening of the Senate.

ORGANIZATION OF THE SENATE

Convening in odd numbered years.

At twelve o'clock N., on the day fixed for the meeting of the General Assembly, the twenty-five Senators whose terms of office have not expired and the twenty-five Senators elect, together with the returning officers of the Senate, assemble in the Senate Chamber and are called to order by the President of the Senate (the Lieutenant Governor), in the following form: "This being the day fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Senate will come to order."

The custom is to call upon the chaplain, any minister of the Gospel who may be present to open the proceedings with prayer, after which the Secretary of the Commonwealth, being introduced by the Sergeant-at-Arms, presents to the Senate the returns of the election for Senators held at the previous November election. The Clerk proceeds to open and read the returns as presented. After which the newly elected Senators present themselves in front of the Clerk's desk, where the requisite oath of office is administered to them by any person authorized to administer oaths and is signed by the Senators in a book prepared for the purpose.

The next proceeding is the election of the President pro tempore. Nominations are made from the floor by any Senator, the President announces the nominations for said office. After the nominations have been made the clerks proceed with the election by calling the roll of the Senate, the Senators voting for their choice by a viva voce vote. The President announces the result of the vote and declares who has been elected; he then appoints a committee of three Senators (usually the defeated candidate, and two of the Senators who nominated the successful candidate) to escort the President pro tempore to the chair at which time the oath of office is administered usually by the same judge who administered the oath to the Senators. The next order of business is the election of the Secretary and Chief Clerk after which the Senate is ready to proceed with any business that may be presented.

ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE

The members elected and returned together with the returning officers of the House of Representatives, meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives, on the day fixed for the meeting of the General Assembly, and at eleven-thirty A.M. of that day in odd numbered years one of the oldest members, that is, one who has been a member for previous years and returned elected to the present session, announces from the Speaker's rostrum, "that the members of the House of Representatives will meet this day at twelve o'clock N., for the purpose of organization." When that time arrives the Clerk arises and says, "This being the day appointed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, and there appearing to be present a sufficient number of ladies and gentlemen elected members to constitute a quorum they will come to order."

Following the Invocation, the Secretary of the Commonwealth presents himself at the bar of the House. The Sergeant-at-Arms immediately announces: "The Secretary of the Commonwealth." The clerk then announces to the House, "The Secretary of the Commonwealth." When this is done, the Secretary of the Commonwealth advances a few feet within the bar of the House, and says, "Mr. Chief Clerk, I have the honor to present the returns of the late election of members of the House of Representatives for the several cities and counties of this Commonwealth, agreeable to the provisions of the Constitution and laws relating to the elections of this Commonwealth."

As soon as the Secretary of the Commonwealth retires, a member rises in his place, and presents a resolution "that the returns of the elections be opened and read." This resolution being read by the Clerk, and agreed to by a majority of those present, the Clerk proceeds with reading the returns from the several counties in the Commonwealth in alphabetical order.

When the returns are all read, and the names of the members returned as such announced, the roll of the members is taken to establish the presence of a quorum. The oath of office is then administered by a Justice of the Supreme Court or a judge of another court learned in the law.

A resolution is then presented by a member, "that the members present do now, in conformity with the ninth section of the second article of the Constitution, proceed to the election of a Speaker." If any one candidate receives a majority of all the votes cast, he is declared elected Speaker. The House is then ready to proceed with the business of the Session. Committees on the part of the House are then appointed to notify the Senate and the Governor that the House is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session.

THE GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

There are certain duties pertaining to the offices of President and Speaker which are not necessary to be specified by rule, being so obviously proper and right as to be indisputable.

1. He calls the legislative body to order at the time fixed for the meeting, and ascertains the presence of a quorum.
2. He announces the business and lays it before the body, in the order in which it is to be acted upon.
3. He states and puts to a vote all questions which are regularly moved and announces the result.
4. He recognizes members entitled to the floor.

*See Article II, Section 4 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

5. He receives any propositions made by members and puts them to the legislative body and declares the determination of the body.

6. He decides all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the legislative body.

7. He preserves order and decorum in debate and at all other times.

8. He restrains members when engaged in debate within the rules of order.

9. He is representative of the body itself, in its powers, its proceedings and its dignity.

10. Under the rules he has the general direction of the hall.

11. He receives and announces to the legislative body all messages from other branches of the Government, and also any other appropriate communications.

12. He gives notices and signs in the presence of the body all acts, orders, addresses and joint resolutions.

13. When a legislative body is engaged in its judicial function, it is the duty of the presiding officers to conduct the proceedings, to put questions to parties and witnesses, and to pronounce the sentence or judgment.

14. When the legislative body is engaged in any of its high administrative functions, or in matters of state or ceremony, as for example, when a member or other person is to be reprimanded or thanked, the presiding officer is the mouth piece and organ of the body.

15. He has general charge and supervision of the legislative chamber; galleries; committees, caucus and conference rooms assigned to the House.

16. The President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House are always members, and may present petitions, memorials and remonstrances sent to them. They possess the right to vote as other members, on all questions before the body, and may leave the chair and address the body on any question. The president of the Senate is the Lieutenant Governor, and he votes only when there is a tie on any question except in those instances where the Constitution requires the vote of "a majority of the members elected" to decide a question.

BILL IN PLACE OR INTRODUCED

All bills read in place in the Senate and introduced in the House of Representatives must be presented in quintuplicate. Before presenting a bill, it is the duty of the member to sign his name to each copy and insert the date of introduction.

FORM OF INDORSEMENT ON BILL COVER:

(Senate or H.R. No.)
Title of the Bill.
Name of the member.
Date.

In the Senate when the order of business of reading bills in place is reached the Senator who desires to present a bill arises, and, addressing the Chair, says: "Mr. President, I read in place and present to the Chair a bill." The President says: "The Senator from _____ County, Mr. _____ reads in place and presents to the Chair a bill." To expedite the business of the Senate, a Member may introduce a bill by first endorsing it as described above and then depositing the original copy together with the four copies properly endorsed, with the Secretary/Parliamentarian of the Senate. The Secretary/Parliamentarian presents the bills that have been left in his custody to the Lieutenant Governor for reference by him to the appropriate committees. The next legislative day, the bills are announced to the Senate by the Lieutenant Governor, with the appropriate committee references thereon.

To expedite the business of the House of Representatives, a Member who desires to introduce a bill, first endorses the same as described above and then deposits the original copy together with the four copies properly endorsed, with the Chief Clerk. At the close of each day the Chief Clerk presents all the bills that have been left in his custody during the day to the Speaker for reference by him to appropriate committees. The next succeeding legislative day the bills are announced to the House by the Speaker, with the appropriate committee references thereon.

All bills and joint resolutions presented in either the Senate or House of Representatives must be presented in quintuplicate—one copy for the committee, one for the printer, one for the computer, one for the press and one for indexing.

RESOLUTIONS

In general, the parliamentary meaning of "resolution" is the written expression of the will of the Senate or House in regard to any subject before it, either public or private; as, for example, that the use of the hall be granted for a particular purpose; that the Senate or House will adjourn at a particular time; that certain departments of the government be required to furnish statements, et cetera. If information is desired from any of the departments, or from the Executive, the resolution assumes the form of a request, as for example: "Resolved, That the Auditor General be requested to furnish the Senate or House with a statement," et cetera.

This however, is but an expression of will; the Senate or House, by the resolution doing nothing more than declaring it to be its will that the Auditor General furnish the statement.

When a member is desirous of bringing before the Senate or House any proposition for its determination, he presents it in the form of a written resolution, and as soon as the President announces that "original resolutions are now in order in the Senate," he arises in place and says, "Mr. President, I offer the following resolution." The President then says, "The Senator from _____ County offers the following resolution. The resolution will be read by the Clerk."

As soon as it has been read by the Clerk, if it be a resolution that can be considered without reference to committee, it is voted on immediately.

In the Senate, resolutions on the following subjects, after being read, must be referred to an appropriate committee without debate (unless by unanimous consent the Senate shall otherwise direct), and, if favorably reported by the committee, shall lie over for one day for consideration, after which they may be called up under their appropriate order of business, viz: All Senate and House concurrent resolutions (excepting resolutions in reference to adjournments and those recalling bills from Governor, which are regarded as privileged); resolutions containing calls for information from the heads of departments, or to alter the rules; and resolutions giving rise to debate, (except such as relate to the disposition of matters immediately before the Senate, to the business of the day on which offered, and to adjournment or taking a recess).

In the House all resolutions (except those privileged under the Rules) are introduced by Members filing them with the Chief Clerk. They are then referred to appropriate committees by the Speaker. When a resolution is reported from committee and placed on the Calendar, it may be called up for consideration under the regular order of business for resolutions. The only resolutions which are considered privileged and receive the immediate consideration of the House are those:

Recalling from or returning bills to the Governor.

Recalling from or returning bills to the Senate.

Originated by the Committee on Rules.

Providing for a joint Session of the Senate and House and its procedure.

Placing bills negatived by committees on the calendar.

Adjournment or recess.

Concurrent resolutions are those on which the consideration of both Senate and House is required.

Joint resolutions, being in the nature of bills, cannot be submitted to the House under the head of original resolutions. They are deposited with the Chief Clerk, who presents them to the Speaker for reference to committees, after which they follow the same procedure as bills under the Rules of the House.

ACTION ON BILLS BY STANDING COMMITTEES

When a bill has been referred to a standing committee, the committee as soon as it has completed its consideration, makes a report of the result of its deliberations to the House and this report varies according to the circumstances.

Suppose, for example, a bill has been, in the usual course of business, referred to the appropriate committee. Should the committee agree to report the bill affirmatively, it would assign it to the Chairman to be reported, endorsing thereon his name, the name of the committee and the words "as committed." In case the committee made amendments, he would then endorse on the bill the words "as amended."

AMENDING BILLS IN COMMITTEE

Whenever a committee to whom a bill has been referred for their consideration makes amendments to it, they are prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau.

No part of any bill should be mutilated by writing in or striking out amendments.

ACTION ON BILLS IN THE SENATE AND HOUSE

When a bill is reported from committee in the Senate or House it is reprinted if amended. Bills are usually read for the first time in the Senate and House on the day they are reported from committee.

When the order of business "Bills on Second Consideration" is reached in the Senate, bills are called up for consideration by the President, and are considered as a whole and subject to amendment and debate.

The next step is the transcribing of the bill, and the President says, "This bill has now been considered a second time, and agreed to." The bill being thus agreed to, lies over and comes up on the calendar of bills on third consideration.

Bills on second consideration in the House must be called up by a sponsor.

When a bill is reached on third consideration, the President or Speaker says, "This bill has now been considered a third time; the question is on agreeing to the bill a third time." If agreed to, the next question is on its final passage, when the President or Speaker says, "This bill has been considered three times on three different days, and agreed to, the question is now on its final passage. Agreeable to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays will be taken on the final passage of the bill." If the bill passes, an order follows, of course, which should always be stated by the Speaker in the case of House bills, "The Clerk will present the same to the Senate for concurrence"; in the case of Senate bills without amendment, "The Clerk will return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment"; in case of Senate bills with amendments, "The Clerk will return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested."

When a bill in the House is on third consideration, it is subject to amendment in the same manner as on second consideration.

A bill on third consideration in the Senate may be amended by obtaining unanimous consent.

FORMS OF MESSAGES FROM ONE BODY TO THE OTHER

When the Clerk has but one bill to take from the House to the Senate for concurrence the form is:

"The Clerk of the House of Representatives (being introduced) presented for concurrence, Bill No. 1, entitled 'An act for the protection of laborers'."

If there be two or more bills, the form is:

"The Clerk of the House of Representatives (being introduced) presented for concurrence, bills numbered and entitled as follows:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers.'

"No. 2. 'An act relative to insurance companies'."

If there be in connection with bills for concurrence, Senate bills, without amendment, the form is:

"The Clerk of the House of Representatives (being introduced) presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers.'

"No. 2. 'An act relative to insurance companies.'

"He also returned bills from the Senate, numbered and entitled as follows:

"No. 20. 'An act relative to brokers.'

"No. 21. 'An act relative to banks.'

"With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments."

If the Senate bills have amendments, the form is:

"The Clerk of the House of Representatives (being introduced) presented for concurrence, bills numbered and entitled as follows:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers.'

"No. 2. 'An act relative to insurance companies.'

"He also returned bills from the Senate, numbered and entitled as follows:

"No. 20. 'An act relative to brokers.'

"No. 21. 'An act relative to banks.'

"With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with an amendment (or amendments) in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested."

But suppose the Senate has passed a bill from the House, No. 1, for example, with amendments, and the House has concurred in them, the following would be added to the above message:

"He also informed the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to the bill from the House of Representatives, entitled:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers'."

Should the House non-concur in the amendments made by the Senate to the bill then the information is the same, except that the word non-concurred is used instead of concurred.

If the House, however, concurs in the Senate amendments with an amendment, the information in the message is:

"He also informed the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to the bill from the House of Representatives, entitled:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers.'

"With an amendment (or amendments) in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested."

Suppose again, that the House of Representatives concur in the amendments made by the Senate to amendments made by the House of Representatives to said bill, the information would be:

"He also informed the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendment made by the Senate to the amendments made by the House of Representatives to bill from the House of Representatives, entitled:

"No. 1. 'An act for the protection of laborers.'"

And if the House should non-concur, then the message varies accordingly.

If, in these cases, the House or Senate should recede, insist or adhere to any amendments made by them, respectively, to a bill then the form used is precisely the same as those already given, except the words recede, insist or adhere, are used, as the case may be.

If the House insists, then follows the appointment of the committee of conference, and the information to be given is:

"He informed the Senate that the House of Representatives insists upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the Senate, to bill No. 1, entitled (here, state the title) and has appointed Messrs. A., B. and C. a committee of conference, to confer with a similar committee of the Senate; if the Senate should appoint such committee, on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses on said bill."

If the Senate should have already appointed a committee then the words used, instead of "if the Senate should appoint a committee," change the form to suit the circumstances.

If the House should pass a resolution, which requires the concurrence of the Senate, the form of the message is:

"The Clerk of the House of Representatives (being introduced) presented the following extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives".

(Here follows the resolution, with the date of its passage.)

The same form is used by the Clerk of the Senate using the word "Senate," instead of "House of Representatives," et cetera.

CERTIFICATES ATTACHED TO BILLS PASSED OVER VETO, AND TO BILLS HELD TEN DAYS

The following forms are used when bills become laws, in any of the modes prescribed by the Constitution, other than by the approval of the Governor.

When a bill has not been returned by the Governor within ten days after it has been presented to him for his approval, the following certificate is attached, which the clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives both sign, the clerk of the body in which the bill originated signing first, and they send the bill to the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

"We do certify that the bill (here insert title) was presented to the Governor on the _____ day of _____, one thousand nine hundred and _____, and was not returned within ten days after it has been presented to him; wherefore it has, agreeable to the Constitution of this Commonwealth, become a law in like manner as if he had signed it.

"We do certify that the bill, entitled (here insert title), which has been disapproved by the Governor, and returned with his objections to the House of Representatives (or Senate), in which it originated, was passed by two-thirds of all the members elected to the House of Representatives on the _____ day of _____, one thousand nine hundred and _____, and the foregoing is the act so passed by the House.

"Speaker of the House of Representatives.

"Clerk of the House.

"Harrisburg (date)."

"We do certify that the bill (here insert title), which has been disapproved by the Governor, and returned with his objections to the House of Representatives (or Senate), in which it originated, was passed by two-thirds of all the members elected to the Senate on the _____ day of _____, one thousand nine hundred and _____, and the foregoing is the act so passed by the Senate.

"President of the Senate.

"Secretary/Parliamentarian of the Senate.

"Harrisburg (date)."

The Speaker and Clerk of the body in which the bill originated sign the first certificate and then the President and the Clerk of the other body the second.

OATH OF PUBLIC OFFICERS

Senators, Representatives and all judicial, State and county officers shall, before entering on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation before a person authorized to administer oaths.

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth and that I will discharge the duties of my office with fidelity."

The oath or affirmation shall be administered to a member of the Senate or to a member of the House of Representatives in the hall of the House to which he shall have been elected.

Any person refusing to take the oath or affirmation shall forfeit his office.

COUNTING THE VOTE FOR STATE ELECTIVE OFFICERS

When the General Assembly meets after an election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor or Auditor General, State Treasurer and Attorney General, the two bodies, by a resolution, fix the time and place for opening and publishing the returns of the election. The time is usually the day the General Assembly organizes, and the place — the House of Representatives, in the presence of the two bodies. Each body appoints a Teller and notifies the other in advance of the meeting.

A committee from the House of Representatives awaits on the Senate a few minutes before the meeting, and escorts the President and members of the Senate to the place of meeting, when the President of the Senate, or in his absence, the President pro tempore takes the chair of the Speaker of the House, and after order is restored, says, "This being the day and hour agreed upon for opening and publishing the returns of the election for Governor (held on Tuesday next following the first Monday in November last), the clerk of the Senate will read over the returns from the several counties and the tellers take down the number of votes given for each person voted for as Governor." The clerk then proceeds to read aloud the returns, and the tellers note down the number of votes, and so on until all the returns from the several counties are read over. A computation is then made. When this is done the result is announced by the President of the Senate, and the certificate of election signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives and attested by the tellers, as follows:

FORM OF CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF STATE OFFICERS

"We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate, did on the _____ day of _____, A.D., one thousand nine hundred and _____, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and law of said Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House it appeared that _____ had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said _____ was declared to have been duly elected Governor of the Commonwealth.

"In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

"_____(Seal)

"_____(Seal)"

DISPOSITION OF CERTIFICATE

This certificate is to be deposited in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and a duplicate, signed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, and attested by the tellers, transmitted to the Governor-elect.

INAUGURATION OF GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The oath of office is administered to the Governor in the presence of the General Assembly and officers of the Commonwealth by some person authorized to administer oaths (usually the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court) on the third Tuesday of January following his election.

The Lieutenant Governor takes the oath of office on the same day in the presence of the Senate in the Senate Chamber, but prior to the induction of the Governor.

SENATE OF PENNSYLVANIA OFFICERS

PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

ROBERT C. JUBELIRER
30th District
Bedford, Blair, Fulton, and Huntingdon Counties

Senator Robert C. Jubelirer is serving his fourth term, representing residents of the 30th District, which includes Bedford, Blair, Fulton and Huntingdon counties.

From January of 1981 to November of 1984, the Blair County Legislator held the position of Senate Republican Majority Leader. In January 1985, he was unanimously elected President Pro Tempore, the highest position in the Senate and the third highest constitutional office in the state. He has been unanimously reelected to that position every year to date.

During his tenure in the State Senate, Senator Jubelirer has taken the lead on a number of major issues including open government and senior citizen legislation, economic development, education funding, transportation and judicial reform. The Senator has also spearheaded anti-drug legislation and a bill to create a Tuition Account Program (TAP), which would allow Pennsylvanians and non-residents who will attend college in the state to purchase tomorrow's tuition at today's prices.

The Central Pennsylvania Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, presented the first annual Freedom of Information Day Award to Senator Jubelirer. When any Senator desires to speak or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise at his desk and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and on being recognized, may address the Senate preferably at a microphone conveniently located on the floor, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoiding personalities.

Speaking Out of Order

2. If any Senator, in speaking or otherwise shall transgress the rules of the Senate, the President shall, or any Senator may through the Chair, call him to order.

Time of Speaking

3. No Senator shall speak more than once on one question, to the prevention of any other who has not spoken and is desirous to speak; nor more than twice without leave of the Senate.

Decorum

4. While the President is putting a question no member shall walk out or across the hall nor when a Senator is speaking pass between him and the Chair, and during the session of the Senate no Senator shall remain at the clerk's desk during the calling of the roll or the tabulating thereof.

Order and Privilege

5. No Senator speaking shall be interrupted by another except by a call to order, or by a question of privilege, or by a call for the previous question, without the consent of the Senator speaking, and no Senator shall speak on a question after it is put to a vote.

Questions of Order

6. The presiding officer shall decide all questions of order, subject to appeal by any member. No debate shall be allowed on questions of order, unless there be an appeal. A second point of order on the same general subject, but not the same point, is not in order while an appeal is pending, but when the first appeal is decided, laid on the table or otherwise disposed of, the second point of order is in order and is subject to appeal. While an appeal is pending no other business is in order. It is within the discretion of the presiding officer as to whether he will vacate the Chair on an appeal from his decision.

Question When Interrupted

7. A question regularly before the Senate can be interrupted only by a call for the previous question, for amendment, postponement, to lay on the table, commitment, or adjournment.

XIII MOTIONS

Putting a Motion

1. When a motion is made, it shall, before debate, be stated by the President. Every motion made to the Senate and entertained by the President shall be reduced to writing on the demand of any member, and shall be entered on the Journal with the name of the Senator making it unless it is withdrawn the same day. A motion may be withdrawn by the member making it before amendment, postponement, an order to lie on the table, or decision.

Precedence of Motions

2. Motions shall take precedence in the following order:

1. Adjourn.
2. Previous question.
3. Recess.
4. Privilege.
5. Orders of the day.
6. Lay on the table.
7. Limit, close or extend limit on debate.

8. Postpone.
9. Commit or recommit.
10. Amend.
11. Main motion.

Non-Debatable Motions

3. Non-debatable motions are:
1. Adjourn or recess.
2. Previous question.
3. Lay on table.
4. Orders of the day.
5. Limit, close or extend limit on debate.

Motions Which Permit Limited Debate

4. On the motion to postpone, the question of postponement is open to debate, but the main question is not.

5. The motion to commit or recommit to committee is debatable as to the propriety of the reference, but the main question is not open to debate.

6. The motion to amend is debatable on the amendments only and does not open the main question to debate.

Seconding Motions

7. All motions except for the previous questions (which shall be moved by not less than four Senators) may be made without a second.

Motion to Adjourn or Recess

8. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, excepting when on the call for the previous question, the main question shall have been ordered to be now put, or when a Member has the floor and shall be decided without debate.

A motion to adjourn, adopted and not having a reconvening time, the Senate will meet the following day at 10:00 A.M.

Motion for Previous Question

9. Pending the consideration of any question before the Senate, a Senator may call for the previous question, and if seconded by four Senators, the President shall submit the question: "Shall the main question now be put?" If a majority vote is in favor of it, the main question shall be ordered, the effect of which shall cut off all further amendments and debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote. First upon the pending amendments and motions, if there be any, then upon the main proposition. The previous question may be ordered on any pending amendment or motion before the Senate.

Motion to Lay on Table

10. The motion to lay on the table is not debatable and the effect of the adoption of this motion is to place on the table the pending question and everything adhering to it. Questions laid on the table remain there for the entire session unless taken up before the session closes.

Motion to Take from Table

11. A motion to take from the table, a bill or other subject, is in order under the same order of business in which the matter was tabled. It shall be decided without debate or amendment.

Reconsideration

12. When a question has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any two members to move the reconsideration thereof. When the Senate has been equally divided on a question, or a bill shall have failed to pass, by reason of not having a constitutional majority, it shall be in order for any two members to move the reconsideration thereof.

Provided, however, that no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, report, amendment or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate.

Provided, further, that no motion for reconsideration shall be in order unless made on the same day on which the vote was taken, or within the next five days of actual session of the Senate thereafter.

A motion to reconsider the same question cannot be reconsidered a third time. Identical bills cannot be considered at the same session.

When a bill, resolution, report, amendment, order, or message, upon which a vote has been taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the House of Representatives, or to the Governor, the motion to reconsider shall not be in order until a resolution has been passed to request the House or Governor to return the same and the same shall have been returned to the possession of the Senate.

All amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken on the bill and before the final vote is taken, upon written request addressed to the presiding officer of either House by at least twenty-five per cent of the members elected to that House, any bill shall be read at length in that House. No bill shall become a law, unless on its final passage the vote is taken by yeas and nays, the names of the persons voting for and against it are entered on the Journal, and a majority of the members elected to each House is recorded thereon as voting in its favor. (Const. of Pa., Art. 3, Sec. 4)

Local and Special Bills

5. No local or special bill shall be passed unless notice of the intention to apply therefor shall have been published in the locality where the matter or the thing to be effected may be situated, which notice shall be at least thirty days prior to the introduction into the General Assembly of such bill and in the manner to be provided by law; the evidence of such notice having been published, shall be exhibited in the General Assembly, before such act shall be passed. (Const. of Pa., Art. 3, Sec. 7)

(Const. of Pa., Art. 3, Sec. 29)

Charitable and Educational Appropriations

8. No appropriation shall be made to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth, other than normal schools established by law for the professional training of teachers for the public schools of the State, except by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House. (Const. of Pa., Art. 3, Sec. 30)

Land Transfer Legislation

8.1 No bills granting or conveying Commonwealth land or taking title thereto shall be reported by any Committee of the Senate unless there has been filed with the Secretary-Parliamentarian and the Chairman of the reporting Committee, a memorandum from the Department of General Services indicating the use to which the property is presently employed, the full consideration for the transfer, if any, a departmental appraisal of the property, including its valuation and a list of recorded liens and encumbrances, if any, the use to which the property will be employed upon its transfer, the date by which the land is needed for its new use, and the senatorial district or districts in which the land is located. All bills shall be examined by the Legislative Reference Bureau for correctness as to form and shall be imprinted with the stamp of the Bureau, before being accepted by the President for introduction.

Character of Bills in Place — Etcetera

11. No member shall read in place, nor shall any committee report any bill for the action of the Senate, proposing to legislate upon any of the subjects prohibited by the thirty-second section of the third article of the Constitution; nor shall any bill be read in place or reported from a committee, reviving, amending, or extending the provisions of any law, by reference to its title only, but the whole shall be reenacted in words by such bill.

No bill shall be declared passed unless a majority of all Senators elected to the Senate shall be recorded as voting for the same.

(b) No bill which may require an expenditure of Commonwealth funds or funds of any political subdivision shall be given third consideration reading on the Calendar until it has been referred to the Appropriations Committee, and a fiscal note has been attached thereto.

(c) In obtaining the information required by these rules, the Appropriations Committee may utilize the services of the Budget Office and any other State agency as may be necessary.

17. It shall not be in order, by suspension of this rule or otherwise, to consider a bill on final passage unless it is printed, together with amendments, if any, and placed on the desks of the Senators.

19. Senators may, on days when the Senate is not in session or in the period between sine die adjournment of a First Regular Session and the convening of a Second Regular Session, introduce bills, joint resolutions and resolutions by filing the same with the Secretary-Parliamentarian of the Senate. The Secretary-Parliamentarian of the Senate shall notify the President of the fact of such filing. XXXVII COMMITTEE ON ETHICS AND OFFICIAL CONDUCT

1. In addition to the committees created by Rule XVI, there shall be a Committee on Ethics and Official Conduct which shall be composed of six members appointed by the President Pro Tempore. Three members shall be of the Majority Party and three members shall be of the Minority Party. The Minority Party members will be appointed on the recommendation of the Minority Leader.

2. The President Pro Tempore shall appoint one of the Majority Party members as Chairman and, on the recommendation of the Minority Leader, one of the Minority Party members as Vice-Chairman. A quorum for this committee shall be four members and the committee shall have such duties, powers, procedure and jurisdiction as are prescribed and authorized in this Rule.

3. The committee shall receive complaints against members, officers and employees of the Senate alleging illegal or unethical conduct or violation of any statute, rule or regulation governing the use of moneys appropriated to the Senate. Any such complaint must be in writing, verified by the person filing the complaint and must set forth in detail the conduct in question and the section of the "Legislative Code of Ethics" or the statute, rule or regulation violated. The committee shall make a preliminary investigation of the complaint, and if it is determined by a majority of the committee that a violation may have occurred, the person against whom the complaint has been brought shall be notified in writing and given a copy of the complaint. Within ten days after receipt of the complaint, such person may file a written answer thereto with the committee. Upon receipt of the answer, by vote of a majority of the committee, the committee shall either dismiss the complaint within ten days or proceed with a formal investigation, which may include hearings, not more than twenty days after notice in writing to the persons so charged. Failure of the person charged to file an answer shall not be deemed to be an admission or create an inference or presumption that the complaint is true, and such failure to file an answer shall not prohibit a majority of the committee from either proceeding with a formal investigation or dismissing the complaint.

4. In addition to action on formal complaints as provided in section 3, a majority of the committee may initiate a preliminary investigation of a suspected violation of the "Legislative Code of Ethics" or a violation of any other statute, rule or regulation governing the use of moneys appropriated to the Senate by a member, officer or employee of the Senate. If it is determined by a majority of the committee that a violation may have occurred, the person in question shall be notified in writing of the conduct in question and the section of the "Legislative Code of Ethics" or other statute, rule or regulation violated. Within ten days, such person may file a written answer thereto. Upon receipt of the answer, by vote of a majority of the committee, the committee shall either dismiss the charges within ten days or proceed with a formal investigation which may include hearings, not more than twenty days after notice in writing to the person so charged. Failure of the person charged to file an answer shall not be deemed to be an admission or create an inference or presumption that the charge is true, and such failure to file an answer shall not prohibit a majority of the committee from either proceeding with a formal investigation or dismissing the charge.

5. The chairman shall notify all members of the committee at least twenty-four hours in advance of the date, time and place of a regular meeting. Whenever the chairman shall refuse to call a regular meeting, a majority of the committee may call a meeting by giving two days' written notice to the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Senate setting forth the time and place for such meeting. Thereafter, the meeting shall be held at the time and place specified in such notice.

The committee shall conduct its investigations, hearings and meetings relating to a specific investigation or a specific member, officer or employee of the Senate in closed session and the fact that such investigation is being conducted or is to be conducted or that hearings or such meetings are being held or are to be held shall be confidential information unless the person subject to investigation advises the committee in writing that he elects that such meetings or hearings shall be held publicly: Provided, however, That whenever the committee is conducting an investigation of an employee of the Senate the committee shall inform the Senator or officer supervising such employee of the investigation. In the event of such an election, the committee shall furnish such person a public meeting or hearing. All other meetings of the committee shall be open to the public and notice of such meetings shall be given as generally provided in these rules for the convening of committees.

In the event that the committee shall elect to proceed with a formal investigation of the conduct of any member, officer or employee of the Senate, the committee may employ independent counsel.

All constitutional rights of any person under investigation shall be preserved, and such person shall be entitled to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses, face the accuser, and be represented by counsel.

The chairman may continue any hearing for reasonable cause, and upon the vote of a majority of the committee or upon the request of the person subject to investigation, the chairman shall issue subpoenas for the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence relating to any matter under formal investigation by the committee. The committee may administer oaths or affirmations and examine and receive evidence.

6. All testimony, documents, records, data, statements or information received by the committee in the course of any investigation shall be private and confidential except in the case of public meetings or hearings or in a report to the Senate. No report shall be made to the Senate unless a majority of the committee has made a finding of unethical or illegal conduct or violation of the statutes, rules and regulations relating to Senate funds on the part of the person under investigation. No finding of unethical or illegal conduct or violation of the statutes, rules and regulations relating to Senate funds shall be valid unless signed by at least a majority of the committee. Any such report may include a minority report. No action shall be taken on any finding of illegal or unethical conduct or violation of the statutes, rules or regulations relating to Senate funds nor shall such finding or report containing such finding be made public sooner than seven days after a copy of the finding is sent by certified mail to the member, officer or employee under investigation.

7. In the event, the committee finds that a member, officer, or employee of the Senate has violated a statute, rule or regulation relating to use of Senate funds, the committee may order such member, officer, or employee to reimburse the Senate for the funds wrongly expended and to take other remedial action. If the member, officer, or employee, does reimburse the Senate or take such other remedial action as may have been required, no formal report shall be made to the Senate unless the committee is requested in writing to file a formal report by the member, officer, or employee who is the subject of the order. If the member, officer, or employee fails to reimburse the Senate or take the required remedial action within seven days of receipt of the order, the committee, unless it shall, by majority vote thereof, extend such time for good cause, shall within seven days file its formal report with the Senate along with its recommendation of action by the Senate to secure reimbursement, effect the recommended remedial action, or initiate appropriate disciplinary action.

Any member, officer, or employee of the Senate who is the subject of an order of reimbursement or remedial action, may appeal the committee's order to the Senate within seven days of receipt of the order, by filing notice thereof with the Secretary-Parliamentarian of the Senate who shall cause such notice to be distributed to the members of the Senate along with a copy of the report of the committee involving such member, officer, or employee.

Notice of the appeal shall be placed on the Senate Calendar and shall be acted on by the Senate within ten legislative days. A vote by a majority of the members elected shall be necessary to sustain an appeal or modify the committee report or order; otherwise it shall become effective and the members, officers, and employees of the Senate shall take such action as is necessary to secure compliance.

8. The committee, whether or not at the request of a member, officer or employee concerned about an ethical problem or question concerning the use of Senate funds relating to himself alone or in conjunction with others, may render advisory opinions with regard to questions pertaining to legislative ethics, decorum, or use of Senate funds. Such advisory opinions, with such deletions and changes as shall be necessary to protect the identity of the persons involved or seeking them, may be published and shall be distributed to all members, officers and employees of the Senate. No order for reimbursement or remedial action may be made when the member, officer, or employee has relied on a written advisory opinion, whether addressed to him or not, which is reasonably construed as being applicable to the complained of conduct.

9. In the event that a member of the committee shall be under investigation, said member shall be temporarily replaced on the committee in a like manner as said member's original appointment.

Any member of the committee breaching the confidentiality of materials and events as set forth in this Rule shall be removed immediately from the committee and replaced by another member of the Senate appointed in a like manner as said member's original appointment.

10. The committee may adopt rules of procedure for the orderly conduct of its affairs, investigations, hearings and meetings, which rules are not inconsistent with this Rule.

11. The committee may meet with a committee of the House of Representatives to hold investigations or hearings involving employees of the two Houses jointly, or officers or employees of the Legislative Reference Bureau, the Joint State Government Commission, the Local Government Commission, the Joint Legislative Air, Soil and Water Conservation and Control Commission, the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee and the Legislative Data Processing Committee: Provided, however, That no action may be taken at a joint meeting unless it is approved by a majority of each committee.

12. The Legislative Audit Advisory Commission shall submit copies of its reports to the committee which shall review them and proceed, where appropriate, as provided in section 7.

13. Whenever the committee shall employ independent counsel or shall incur other expenses pursuant to its duties under this rule, payment of costs of such independent counsel or other expenses incurred by the committee pursuant to this rule, shall be paid by the Chief Clerk upon submission of vouchers and necessary documentation which vouchers shall be signed by both the chairman and vice chairman of the committee. Included in such allowable expense items shall be travel and per diem for the members of the committee. The Chief Clerk shall pay such expenses out of funds appropriated to the Chief Clerk for incidental expenses.

XXXVIII STATUS OF MEMBERS INDICTED OR CONVICTED OF A CRIME

1. When an indictment is returned against a member of the Senate, and the gravamen of the indictment is directly related to the member's conduct as a committee chairman, ranking minority committee member or in a position of leadership, the member shall be relieved of such committee chairmanship, ranking minority committee member status, or leadership position until the indictment is disposed of, but the member shall otherwise continue to function as a Senator, including voting, and shall continue to be paid.

2. If, during the same legislative session, the indictment is quashed, or the court finds that the member is not guilty of the offense alleged, the member shall immediately be restored to the committee chairmanship, ranking minority committee member status, or leadership position retroactively from which he was suspended.

3. Upon a finding or verdict of guilt by a judge or jury, plea or admission of guilt or plea of nolo contendere of a member of the Senate of a crime, the gravamen of which relates to the member's conduct as a Senator, and upon imposition of sentence, the Secretary-Parliamentarian of the Senate shall prepare a resolution of expulsion under the sponsorship of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Senate Committee on Ethics and Official Conduct. The resolution shall be printed and placed on the calendar for the next day of Senate session.

XXXIX STATUS OF OFFICERS OR EMPLOYEES INDICTED OR CONVICTED OF A CRIME

1. Whenever any officer or employee of the Senate is indicted or otherwise charged before a court of record with the commission of a felony or misdemeanor the gravamen of which relates to the officer's or employee's conduct or status as an officer or employee of the Commonwealth or the disposition of public funds, such employee shall immediately be suspended without pay and benefits by the Chief Clerk. After a finding or a verdict of guilt by a judge or a jury, plea or admission of guilt, or plea of nolo contendere, and upon imposition of sentence, the employment shall be terminated.

2. If the indictment is quashed, or the court finds that the officer or employee is not guilty of the offense alleged, the suspension without pay shall be terminated, and the officer or employee shall receive compensation for the period of time during which the officer or employee was suspended which compenation shall be reduced by the amount of any compensation said officer or employee earned from other employment during the period of suspension.

3. If the officer or employee or the supervising Senator of such employee disagrees with the decision of the Chief Clerk as to whether an indictment for particular conduct shall be a crime requiring suspension or dismissal, the officer or employee in question or the supervising Senator, may appeal the suspension to the Committee on Ethics and Official Conduct which shall determine whether the conduct charged is an offense requiring suspension. Whenever an appeal of a suspension shall be taken to the committee, the suspension shall remain effective pending a decision by the committee.

DECISIONS OF THE SENATE ON POINTS OF ORDER

SECTION 1

ADJOURNMENT

"From Day to Day" by Less Than a Quorum Means from Day to Day as Fixed by the Orders

1 (a). The Senate having fixed an order for sessions, on Tuesdays and Fridays only, on a motion to adjourn, less than a quorum voting, Mr. Gordon submitted the point of order that under the Constitution it was only competent for less than quorum to adjourn from day to day. The President decided that the phrase "from day to day" signified from day to day as fixed in the regular order of the Senate. Whereupon, the President decided the resolution carried, and adjourned the Senate until Friday morning next at eleven o'clock. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 157.)

Senate May Adjourn For Three Days, Exclusive of Sunday

1 (b). The question having been raised on the change of time of the convening of the Senate, the Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) ruled that the Senate may at its pleasure adjourn for any period within three days, Sunday not being regarded as a legislative day. (Legislative Journal, March 14, 1949, pp. 1199, 1200, 1201.)

Adjournment to a Definite Time is Debatable

1 (c). The point of order was raised that the motion to adjourn is not debatable. The President ruled that a motion to adjourn to a definite time is debatable. (Legislative Journal, 1937, pp. 5389-5390.)

Two Succeeding Motions Out of Order

1 (d). Mr. Rosenfeld made a motion to adjourn immediately after a previous motion to adjourn was defeated.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled the motion out of order because of a lack of intervening business between the two motions. (Legislative Journal, December 10, 1951, p. 5963.)

Motion to Adjourn Not Debatable

1 (e). A point of order being raised that a motion to adjourn was not debatable, the Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler), upheld the motion and ruled that a motion to adjourn was not debatable. (Legislative Journal, March 10, 1949, p. 1188.) (Legislative Journal, March 14, 1949, pp. 1199, 1200, 1201.)

Adjournment, Sine Die, Needs House Concurrence

1 (g). On December 31, 1973 the Senate adopted a resolution (not concurrent) to adjourn sine die. The next Regular Session was to convene at 12:00 o'clock Noon the next day (January 1, 1974). The resolution was adopted and the Senate adjourned sine die.

After adjournment the Governor made approximately 680 appointments in accordance with Article 4, Section 8 (b) of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

In January, Senators Frame, Tilghman and Wood instituted quo warranto action in the Commonwealth Court to test the rights of certain of these appointees to hold office since the House of Representatives did not concur in the adjournment sine die. The plaintiffs also petitioned the Supreme Court to assume plenary jurisdiction of the matter. Their petition was granted by the Supreme Court on February 22, 1974. The Majority Opinion was handed down on October 25, 1974 and is as follows: (Senate Journal, 1973, page 1292)

Opinion of the Court

Roberts, J. Filed: October 25, 1974

We are presented with challenges to the validity of certain appointments made by the Governor without the consent of the Senate. We hold that, because the appointments were not made "during the recess of the Senate," they are invalid.

At 2:30 p.m. on December 31, 1973, the Pennsylvania Senate voted to adjourn its 1973 session. The adjournment resolution, adopted by a vote of 24-22, purported to adjourn the Senate sine die. The resolution did not contemplate, provide for, or receive the consent of the House of Representatives. In fact, the House met and conducted business on December 31 and the morning of January 1, 1974. At noon that day, the one hundred fifty-seventh General Assembly expired and the one hundred fifty-eighth was mandated to begin.

Several hours after the adjournment of the Senate, the Governor, pursuant to article IV, section 8 (b) of the Constitution, made approximately 680 appointments, including defendants Grace Hatch as a member of the Civil Service Commission, Robert E. Sutherland as a member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Peter Elish as a member of the Milk Marketing Board, and Egidio Cerilli as a member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

In January, 1974, plaintiffs, three members of the Senate, instituted these actions in quo warranto in the Commonwealth Court to test the rights of the named defendants to hold the offices to which they had been appointed on December 31. Plaintiffs also petitioned this Court to assume plenary jurisdiction of the matter; we granted their petition on February 6, 1974, and heard argument on April 22, 1974.

This controversy depends for its resolution on the construction of article IV, section 8 of our Constitution, which in pertinent part provides:

> "(a) The Governor shall appoint an Attorney General, a Superintendent of Public Instruction and such other officers as he shall be authorized by law to appoint. The appointment of the Attorney General, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and of such other officers as may be specified by law, shall be subject to the consent of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate.
> "(b) Except as may now or hereafter be otherwise provided in this Constitution as to appellate and other judges, he may, during the recess of the Senate, fill vacancies happening in offices to which he appoints by granting commissions expiring at the end of its session ... If the vacancy happens during the session of the Senate except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, he shall nominate to the Senate, before its final adjournment, a proper person to fill the vacancy."

The procedure established by section 8 (a) is the submission of appointments to the Senate for the consent of two-thirds of its members. Section 8 (b) creates an exception to that general rule, exempting certain appointments from the requirement of senatorial confirmation. The Governor, it is provided, may fill vacancies in offices to which he appoints without submitting the appointments to the Senate by granting temporary commissions "during the recess of the Senate." If the Senate is not in recess when the appointments are made, the general requirement of senatorial confirmation is applicable. That requirement is suspended only during "the recess of the Senate." Thus, the validity of an unconfirmed appointment depends on whether the Governor's power to issue temporary commissions was triggered by "the recess of the Senate."

The phrase "recess of the Senate" in this context does not include an interruption or break following a daily meeting. If it did, the Governor would have a choice in the appointment procedure he could utilize. Obviously, unless the Senate undertook 24-hour sittings, there would be a "recess of the Senate" for at least some period of time every day of the year when unconfirmed appointments could be made.

The relationship of the temporary appointment power and the permanent appointment power indicates, however, that the Governor is not to have that option. It is clear that the draftsmen preferred appointments be made by gubernatorial nomination-senatorial consent for traditional checks-and-balances purposes. However, public necessity might require a position be filled after the Senate had terminated its session, when the constitutionally preferred procedure could not be followed. To provide an appointment process for occasions when the preferred procedure is thus inadequate, the Constitution permits the Governor to issue temporary commissions "during the recess of the Senate." The exception was designed for use only when the preferred procedure could not be employed. It follows that "recess of the Senate" must be limited to those periods of time when the Senate is unable to consent to apppointments.

Inability to consent does not result from a break between one day's session and the next. Neither does it result from a Friday-to-Monday interruption. Indeed, we are unable to say that any interruption during a session of the Senate renders the Senate unable to consent to appointments. Therefore, we conclude that "recess of the Senate" refers only to the final sine die adjournment at the end of the session.

This conclusion is consistent with our cases dealing with recess appointments. In Stroup v. Kapleau, 455 Pa. 171, 313 A.2d 237 (1973), the majority referred to the "final adjournment of the Senate" as the trigger which activates the temporary appointment power. In Creamer v. Twelve Common Pleas Judges, 443 Pa. 484, 493, 281 A.2d 57, 61 (1971) (Opinion in Support of the Per Curiam Order), three Justices, in comparing article IV, section 8 and article V, section 13, concluded that "recess of the Senate" and "sine die adjournment of the Senate" differed editorially only and not in substance and interpreted both to mean final adjournment. Ritenour v. Peirce, 442 Pa. 1, 10, 272 A.2d 900, 905 (1971), also recognized final adjournment as the circumstance which suspended the senatorial-confirmation requirement.

Therefore, only if the Senate had finally adjourned on the afternoon of December 31, 1973, a "recess of the Senate" existed which activated the Governor's power to issue temporary commissions and the appointments of defendants are valid. If the Senate had not finally adjourned, the requirement of senatorial confirmation was not suspended by a "recess of the Senate" and the appointments are invalid. Thus, the narrow question for decision is whether the Senate's unilateral adjournment on December 31 was a final adjournment.

We hold that the Senate's attempt to adjourn sine die failed because of the absence of consent by the House of Representatives. Our holding rests on a conclusion that the Constitution prohibits either house from adjourning sine die without the consent of the other.

The entire constitutional scheme is clearly predicated on the assumption that adjournment may not be a unilateral act on the part of one of the houses of the General Assembly. Article III, section 9 provides:

> "Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of both Houses may be necessary, except on the question of adjournment, shall be presented to the Governor ...."

Article IV, section 12 states:

> "[The Governor] may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly, and in case of disagreement between the two Houses, with respect to the time of adjournment, adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper ...."

The exclusion of adjournment resolutions from article III, section 9 and the provision for adjournment by the Governor in article IV, section 12 would be utterly superfluous if the Constitution did not contemplate that adjournment of a house of the General Assembly required the consent of the other house.

The reason of policy for this requirement is not difficult to discern. Because each house is powerless to enact legislation alone, each has a strong interest in insuring that bills passed by it are considered by the other house. The greatest threat to this interest is the possibility that the other house might adjourn, thus disabling itself from the consideration of bills. Protection against this possibility is provided each house by the Constitution in the form of a power to refuse to consent to the adjournment of the other house.

An exception to the consent requirement demonstrates that protection of each house's interest in the consideration of its bills by the other is its underlying policy. Article II, section 14 states:

> "Neither House shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days. .."

The draftsmen foresaw that protection of the interest of each house in having its bills considered by the other, if unqualified, would be gained at the expense of flexibility in the administration of the legislative calendar. Accordingly, the Constitution provides an exception to the consent requirement for adjournments of less than four days. This exception clearly reflects the perception that adjournments of less than four days present a minimal threat to each house's interest in the consideration by the other of its bills.

Defendants argue that the Senate's adjournment in this case was effective despite the absence of the consent of the House of Representatives under article II, section 14 because its duration was not more than three days. We disagree. Sine die adjournments are vastly different from the short recesses envisioned by article II, section 14 in two important respects. First, article II, section 14, as pointed out above, was designed to provide flexibility in the legislative calendar. However, sine die adjournments are unrelated to flexibility in the calendar, representing as they do the end of the legislative calendar for the session. Because the purpose of the exception to the consent requirement would not be served by its application to sine die adjournments, we conclude that the Constitution does not intend its application. Hence, section 14 does not expand the power of the Governor to make unconfirmed appointments.

Second, at the time the consent exception was inserted into the Constitution, a sine die adjournment by one house posed a far more drastic threat to the interests of the other than a short recess contemplated by Article II, section 14. Recesses of less than four days pose a minimal danger that one house will so absent itself as to disable it from consideration of legislation. However, at the time the consent requirement and the three-day exception were inserted in the Constitution, a sine die adjournment represented the greatest threat to the interests of the other house. This was so because unenacted bills pending at the end of a session expired, requiring reintroduction and repassage of the bill in the originating house in order to obtain consideration by the other house. The absence of one house prevented legislation initiated by the other from ever being enacted into law. Accordingly, in contrast to a three-day intra-session recess, a sine die adjournment by one house was the ultimate threat to the interest in having the bills of the other enacted.

It is true that, since the constitutional amendment of 1967, a sine die adjournment at the end of a session does not terminate all then-pending business. Article II, section 4 now provides that "The General Assembly shall be a continuing body during the term for which its Representatives are elected." But there is no evidence that suggests that the change in article II, section 4 was intended to affect the consent requirement or the inapplicability of the three-day exception.

Nothing in our prior cases dealing with the recess appointment power of the Governor suggests that that power is triggered by a unilateral adjournment of the Senate. In fact, a conclusion that a unilateral adjournment is sufficient would be an unwarranted and constitutionally impermissible extension of our decisions. In those cases, it is clear that the respective recesses of the Senate had been consented to by the House of Representatives; see Stroup v. Kapleau, 455 Pa. 171, 173, 313 A.2d 237, 238 (1973); Creamer v. Twelve Common Pleas Judges, 443 Pa. 484, 500-501 n. *, 281 A.2d 57, 65 n.4 (1971) (Opinion Supporting in Part and Opposing in Part the Per Curiam Order); Ritenour v. Peirce, 442 Pa. 1, 4 n.5, 272 A.2d 900, 902 n.5 (1971). Our discussion in Stroup at 183, 313 A.2d at 243, assumed that House consent was in fact necessary for final adjournment of the Senate.

In summary, we hold that the consent of the House of Representatives is a prerequisite for a valid final adjournment of the Senate. Since it was not obtained in this instance, there was no "recess of the Senate" within the meaning of article IV, section 8. Therefore, the recess appointment power under section 8 (b) was not operative. Because defendants' appointments were not submitted to the Senate for its consent as required by section 8 (a), their appointments are invalid.

Judgments of quo warranto are entered, declaring the defendants are unlawfully holding the offices which they occupy and they are accordingly ousted and excluded therefrom.

Delaying Adjournment Pending Signing of Bills in Order

1 (h). The Senate agreed to a motion providing for the Senate to adjourn upon the completion of signing bills by the presiding officer which have been transmitted from the House. The motion carried by a 28-19 vote.

Senator Bell raised a point of order that this motion was out of order in that the Chair could not sign bills after the Senate has adjourned.

The Chair, Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline, ruled the motion was in order as it was a decision of the whole Senate.

Senator Bell appealed the ruling of the Chair and the Senate sustained the decision of the Chair (Senate Journal, July 24, 1975, pages 727-729.) (See also: Senate Journal, Dec. 14, 1983, p. 1539.)

Motion to Adjourn Out of Order During Executive Session Without a Motion for Executive Session to Rise

1 (i). The President, ruled that a motion to adjourn was out of order without a prior motion that executive session do now rise. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 436.)

Motion to Adjourn May Not Interrupt Speaker

1 (j). The President held that a motion to adjourn is out of order if it interrupts a speaker. A speaker may be interrupted only by a call of order, a question of privilege, or a call for the previous question. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1935.)

Revision or Amendment of Sine Die Adjournment Resolution Possible But Must Have Concurrence of the House

1 (k). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Zemprelli, the President held that under the currently adopted adjournment sine die resolution, the session terminates at the exact time indicated. The President went on to decide that any revision or amendatory resolution would require the concurrence of the House of Representatives. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 2233-4.)

Motion to Adjourn Takes Precedence Over Motion For Previous Question

1 (l). A motion for the previous question was followed by a motion to adjourn. The President pro tempore, on point of order from Senator Mellow, decided that under Rule XIII, Section 8, a motion to adjourn is always in order except when the motion for the previous question had been voted on in the affirmative. There had been no vote on the motion for the previous question; so, the motion to adjourn was in order. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2243.)

AMENDMENTS

Amendment on Third Reading by Unanimous Consent Only

2 (b). Senator Dent, having offered amendments to Senate Bill No. 23, which was on the third reading calendar, Senator Tallman objected.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, sustained the objection and ruled that under Rule 17 of the Senate Rules, the amendments could not be considered on third reading in the face of the objection of a Senator. Rule 17 provides "No amendments shall be permitted to a bill on third reading except by unanimous consent." (Legislative Journal, February 9, 1943, pp. 273 and 274.)

To Title in Order, When Concurring in House Amendments

2 (c). The Speaker decided that, in concurring in amendments made by the House of Representatives, it was in order for the Senate to amend the title to correspond with the amendments made by the House of Representatives. (Senate Journal, 1861, p. 254.) (See also Senate Journals, 1874, p. 692, and 1889, p. 364.)

Cannot be Made to Bills That Will Change Original Purpose

2 (g). The President pro tempore decided that the bill was so amended as to repeal the whole act of 1868, and then to extend it to the whole State, and was so altered in its passage as to be changed from its original purpose, and therefore is unconstitutional. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 389.) (See also Senate Journal, 1974, page 1310.) (See also Senate Journal, 1974, page 1465.)

Not Germane to Resolution, Out of Order

2 (h). The President decided it out of order to amend a resolution to print the report of the Pennsylvania State College, by adding a provision for the appointment of a committee to investigate its accounts. (Senate Journal, 1875, p. 202.)

The President pro tempore (Mr. Penrose in the Chair) was of the opinion that the original resolution of the Senator from Lebanon pertained to a question of law or jurisdiction, whilst the substitute or amendment of the Senator from Bucks raised a question of fact. He therefore decided the point of order raised by the Senator from Lebanon to be well taken and that the amendment of the Senator from Bucks was not germane and therefore not in order. (Senate Journal, Extra Session, 1891, p. 624.)

Can be Made to Resolution Regulating Senate Business

2 (i). A resolution fixing an afternoon session for certain business pending an amendment was offered fixing a session at a different time, on which the President ruled that the purpose of both the resolution and the proposed amendment being to regulate the business of the Senate, the amendment was germane, and therefore ruled the point of order to be not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1881, p. 1014.)

Senate Can Re-insert Matter Stricken Out in Committee of the Whole

2 (j). Mr. Gordon submitted the point of order "that the motion of the Senator from Delaware (Mr. Cooper) was not in order, as it proposed to insert in the bill a provision just stricken out in the Committee of the Whole." Decided not well taken. Decision sustained by the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 625.)

Bills on Concurring in House Amendments to be Noted on Senate Calendar

2 (k). Mr. Buckman raised the point of order that the Senate Rules provide bills amended in the House shall not be considered until properly noted on the Senate Calendar. The President decided the point of order well taken and ordered the amended bills noted in the Calendar. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 1993.)

To Amend Senate Bill Returned from House with Amendments, When in Order

2 (l). Mr. Gordon submitted the point of order that, as the question before the Senate was on concurring in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to said bill, and the amendment proposed by Mr. Hughes, not being an amendment to the amendments made by the House, the motion was not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken, and ruled the motion out of order. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1241.)

House Amendments to Senate Bill

2 (n). Mr. Ealy raised the point of order that in considering amendments made by the House to a Senate bill, the Senate had to consider them as a whole and could not separate them and act upon them in this manner.

The Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) declared the point of order well taken and ruled that the Senate must either concur or nonconcur in the bill as amended by the House. (Legislative Journal, May 12, 1941, p. 2083.)

Germane to Original Purpose of Bill, Defined

2 (o). Senator Weiner questioned the germaneness of amendments offered by Senator Scott. The bill (House Bill 1082, Printer's No. 1199) being amended was an amendment of the Election Code providing for the opening and closing of polls. Senator Scott's amendments proposed to include in the bill provisions relating to the resident requirement of watchers. Senator Seyler asked for a ruling by the Chair. After a conference with the Presiding Officer and the leadership, Senator Seyler withdrew his request and Senator Weiner moved the amendments be laid on the table pending an opinion from the Attorney General.

OPINION

Constitutionality of proposed Amendment to House Bill No. 1082, Printer's No. 1199

Article III, Section 1 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania reads as follows:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

In 82 C.J.S., Statutes, Section 30, it is said:

A Constitutional provision that a bill shall not be so altered or amended, in the course of its enactment, as to change its original purpose does not prevent the insertion of amendments germane to, and within the scope of, the original.

"A constitutional provision that a bill shall not be so altered or amended, in the course of its enactment, as to change its original purpose is not to be so construed as to prevent the introduction of matter merely extending the purpose or scope of operation of the bill, or limiting it, or the substitution of a measure or insertion of amendments having the same purpose as the original or germane to, and within the scope of, the original; and a bill thus limited and extended by the amendments of the two houses in its scope or purpose, or otherwise amended, but embracing no matter not germane to the original purpose or the subject of legislation as expressed in the title of the act which it purports to amend, may become a valid law. Also, such a restriction should not be so embraced as to prevent the substitution for a bill which is essentially amendatory in character in another related to the same subject and having the same general effect on existing laws, although some changes may be proposed by the substitute which would not have resulted from the passage of the original.

"The 'purpose' contemplated in such a constitutional provision is the general purpose of the bill, and not the mere details through which and by which that purpose is manifested and effectuated. Such a constitutional provision should be given a reasonable construction so as not unnecessarily to embarrass proper legislation. . . ."

In 158 A.L.R., in the annotation appearing at page 421, in discussing constitutional provisions against changing the purpose of the bill during passage, it is said:

"III Types of alterations or amendments which do not change original purpose.

"a. Immaterial changes, 424.

"b. Extension of scope, 426.

"c. Limitation of scope, 428.

"d. Changes in time, 428.

"e. Substitution of other measures having the same purpose as original measures, 429.

"f. Additions of matters germane to original purpose, 429."

In the case of Black Hawk Consol. Mines Co. v. Gallegos, 191 P.2d 996 (1948), the Court at page 1005 said:

"The purpose of Article 4, Section 15 of the New Mexico Constitution prohibiting the altering or amending a bill on its passage so as to change its purpose is, solely to prohibit amendments not germane to subject of legislation expressed in the title of act purported to be amended.

"See Stein v. Leeper, 78 Ala. 517; Hall v. Steel, 82 Ala. 562, 2 So. 650; Alabama State Bridge Corp. v. Smith, 217 Ala. 311, 116 So. 695." (Emphasis supplied.)

In Cone v. Garner, 3 S.W.2d 1 (1927), the Constitution of the State of Arkansas reads:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its purpose."

At page 4 the Court said:

"It is said that the object of this section of the Constitution was that the Senate and House of Representatives of the state might not be hampered or embarrassed in amending and perfecting their bills and thus be driven to accomplish by a number of bills that which might well be accomplished by one bill, but the purpose of the section was to forbid amendments which should not be germane to the subject of legislation expressed in the title of the act which it purports to amend. Hickey v. State, 114 Ark. 526, 170 S.W. 562."

In a later case, the Supreme Court of Arkansas, in Pope v. Oliver, 117 S.W.2d 1072 (1938), said, in speaking of an alleged violation of Section 21 of Article V of the State Constitution, that:

". . . The purpose of this provision in our Constitution is to prevent amendments to a bill which would not be germane to the subject of the legislation expressed in the title of the Act, which it purports to amend. Loftin v. Watson, 32 Ark. 414; Hickey v. State, 114 Ark. 526, 170 S.W. 562; Cone v. Garner, 175 Ark. 860, 3 S.W.2d 1; Matthews v. Byrd, 187 Ark. 458, 60 S.W.2d 909." (Emphasis supplied.)

It may well be argued that since the purpose of House Bill No. 1082 was to amend the Election Code that any other amendment included in the bill concerning elections was but an extension of the scope of the original amendment.

The initial amendment in the bill regulated the time for opening and closing polls. The Election Code provides for the appointment of watchers and also provides they may, with certain exceptions, be present during the time when the polls are open as well as closed. The second amendment was well within the subject of the original amendment and was certainly germane to the general subject of elections in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is, therefore, the opinion of the writer that the proposed amendment to House Bill No. 1082, Printer's No. 1199, as proposed by Senator Scott is not in violation of Article III, Section 1 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

House Amendments to Senate Bill — Procedure of House Not to be Questioned — Germaneness

2 (p). The Senate had under consideration the amendments placed in Senate Bill 1400 by the House. The Senate passed the bill which amended the Administrative Code by providing for the Commissioner of Corrections to deputize certain individuals. The House amended the bill by adding the provision which restricted powers of certain departments, boards and commissions.

Senator Coppersmith raised the point of order that the amendments were not germane to the original subject in that it had nothing to do with school children.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the point of order not well taken and gave his reasons as follows:

"...the Chair would like to quote for the record the Rule, which is Rule XV, covering amendments, when in order.

" 'Amendments shall be in order when a bill is reported or re-reported from committee, on second consideration and by unanimous consent on third consideration. No amendment shall be received by the presiding officer or considered by the Senate which destroys the general sense of the original bill, or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill. Any member upon request . . .' and so on.

"It would be the ruling of the Chair that the gentleman's point of order is not well taken and the bill is in order for two reasons:

"First, it is an amendment to the Administrative Code, and it has been the history of this Chair to broadly rule that so long as the amendments are in their proper context within the statutory structure of the Commonwealth, they will be accepted and considered; and secondly, the fact of the matter is that this Senate is not now considering an amendment, we are considering a bill on concurrence in House amendments, and it would be improper for me, as the presiding officer of this Chamber, to rule the amendment out of order.

"The gentleman's point is not well taken and it is the ruling of the Chair that from that point of order the bill is, indeed, in proper form."

Senator Coppersmith then raised a second point of order that the House Journal showed that the bill was passed by the House without, as the Constitution requires that, all amendments made to a bill must be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken on the bill. The bill was passed by the House without the amendments being printed in the bill but rather copies of the amendments were made available to the Members. He also referred to a letter from the Speaker regarding the Constitutional duties of the Senate regarding the passage of bills.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the point of order not well taken and gave his reasons as follows:

"First, as it relates to his suggestion that I consider the letter sent to me earlier by the Speaker of the House, I can understand the position of the Speaker of the House and, frankly, although the issue has never been drawn in this House, I share his concern about the propriety of accepting a bill on final passage that may not have met what I would consider to be the constitutional requirements. However, when a piece of legislation reaches this Chamber in proper, final constitutional order from the House of Representatives, it should be accepted and acted upon without regard to any action that may have taken place in the House prior to final passage. To have this Senate look behind the final action of the House of Representatives would set, I think, a dangerous precedent which could disrupt the long established and, I believe, desperately needed independence of each House of this Legislature.

"I would like to quote to you from Jefferson's Manual which warns in part: 'It is a breach of order in debate to notice what has been said on the same subject in the other House, or the particular votes or majorities on it there; because the opinion of each House should be left to its own independency, not to be influenced by the proceedings of the other; and the quoting them might beget reflections leading to a misunderstanding between the two Houses.'

"The United States Congress invokes that concept so vigorously that it prohibits the insertion of quotes from the record and specific votes from the other Chamber. We have not been that rigid in our interpretation of the debate that goes on on this floor, but I do believe that we should maintain the independence of each House. Our duty is to judge the merits of each issue, not the parliamentary conduct of the other House. For that reason it would be the ruling of this Chair that the bill is in order as it came from the House and, further, that the Senate cannot take exception nor stand in judgment of actions taken by the House prior to final passage of a bill."

The decision of the Chair was appealed during which the question arose as to what Constitutional responsibility the Senate had in regards to any House procedure.

The following occurred:

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to point out to the Members that the ruling was very carefully explained and did say that when a piece of legislation reaches this Chamber in final, proper constitutional order, which presumes a great deal of things, the ruling goes to the question of, essentially, whether or not this Chamber should go behind the final action of the House which, when we get it, we presume is constitutional and decide whether their actions were indeed proper.

Senator REIBMAN. Mr. President, you indicated that this Body would presume that the other Body passed the bill in constitutional form. Is not that a rebuttable presumption if the House Journal indicates that it was not in proper form? Would that not be proper evidence?

The PRESIDENT. My response to that, Senator, would be that, first of all, I do not think this Body should stand in judgment of the actions of the House in that regard. That is the thin line that I do not think this Senate should transgress, as to whether or not they should decide whether the actions of the House are constitutional or not on those kinds of issues as they relate particularly to the House Rules.

In my ruling I have tried to avoid discussing the actual question, satisfied that when the bill reached here, it reached here in proper constitutional form. I do not think this is the time nor the place in which to stand in judgment of the House action which got it here.

Senator REIBMAN. Mr. President, I am a little puzzled. You said that we would not stand in judgment of the House Rules, but this is not a question of the House Rules, this is a question of constitutionality. The Constitution very plainly says that the amendments must be in print. The House Journal, which is the best evidence, says that it is not. I think that we cannot be a party to an unconstitutional action. If the House does it, I do not think we have to concur in an unconstitutional action.

The PRESIDENT. Senator, in an effort to be responsive to what you are saying, I will get into some of the questions involved here.

The House Rules do require, as does the Constitution, that the "... amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members ..."

It has been, as is my understanding, the ruling of the House that the printing of the amendments, in the same form that we take it from the Legislative Reference Bureau in the seven copies, meets that constitutional requirement. That has been the traditional decision of the House and, frankly, the decision of this Senate from time to time, and I do not think we should be deciding whether or not the House is correct in making that kind of interpretation of their own Rules.

The decision of the Chair was sustained by the Senate (43-5) (Senate Journal 1974, p. 2525.)

Appropriation to Harrisburg for Fire Protection of State Buildings — Amendments to Extend to Other Municipalities In Order

2 (q). The Senate had under consideration House Bill 191 which appropriated money to the City of Harrisburg for fire protection to the State buildings in Harrisburg. Senator Murphy offered an amendment to extend coverage to all communities requesting an appropriation for protection of State buildings in their areas.

A point of order was raised by Senator Bell that the amendments were not germane to the subject matter in the bill.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, stated:

"The gentleman raises a point of order as to whether or not the amendments are germane, and it is the ruling of the Chair that the amendments are in order and are germane.

"Our Rules state that: 'No amendments shall be received by the presiding officer or considered by the Senate which destroys the general sense of the original bill, or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill.'

"The original intent of the bill is to provide funds for the City of Harrisburg for the purpose of fire protection and, as the Chair interprets the amendments, the intent is closely allied to that because they extend that protection to all other cities, boroughs and townships, limiting it to fire protection, and thereby follows generally the intent of the original bill." (Senate Journal, 1974, p. 1838.)

To Amend House Amendments to Senate Bill Not in Order

2 (r). The Senate had under consideration the concurrence in House amendments to Senate Bill 737. Senator Coppersmith offered amendments to the House amendments. Senator Bell asked the Chair to rule whether or not the amendments were in order. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, stated:

"From the standpoint of presenting amendments on the question of their precedence over a motion to concur in the amendments, they are in order, Senator, and that is why Senator Coppersmith was proper in presenting the amendment at that time.

"The question you raise is one that, as long as I have been in the Senate and in all of my research, has never really been decided by this Body, and that is the question of whether or not this Body wants to begin now the practice of amending House amendments to a Senate bill, and I take it that is the point you raise. . . In line with a long-standing practice in legislative bodies and in line with a practice that has been used in this Senate before, it would be the position of the Chair that this matter should not be decided by the Chair, but, rather, submitted to the Body for its advice on this issue. I would like to take just a moment as the Presiding Officer to explain to you precisely what is at issue and what is involved.

"Senator Bell calls to the attention of the Members Senate Rule XV which covers amendments and reads:

'Amendments shall be in order when a bill is reported or re-reported from committee, on second consideration and by unanimous consent on third consideration.'

"The question which the Chair intends to submit, without ruling, to the Members is whether or not Senator Coppersmith's amendment to House amendments is in order at this time. This question is fully debatable."

After considerable debate Senator Stauffer raised a parliamentary inquiry asking if the Senate Rules were silent on this situation, would Mason's Manual prevail.

The president, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, replied:

"It would be my position that where the Rules are totally silent Mason's and/or Jefferson's would prevail. The point which is at issue here, as I understand it, is that the Rules are not silent. The Rule clearly states when an amendment is in order, and the Body could determine that to be the exclusive time at which an amendment could be received. Technically, the Rules are not totally silent, but as a direct answer to your question, where the Rules are silent we refer to Mason's and/or Jefferson's.

"Senator, it is the Chair's position that our Rule is not specifically clear to cover you, and that is the reason for the Chair's action. Under a procedure in Mason's Legislative Manual which reads, 'A point of order is decided by the presiding officer without debate unless in doubtful cases he submits the question to the body for advice or decision.'

"It is my judgment that that Rule is not so clear as to permit the Chair to make a ruling that can be challenged, and for that reason I chose the course of submitting it to the full Body."

Senator Frame raised objection to have the Senate decide this question. He stated that he thought it was the Chair's responsibility to make a ruling.

In answer to Senator Frame the President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, replied:

"Senator Frame, the Chair would like to point out to you that I would much prefer to do things in a democratic manner, rather than in a dictatorial, heavyhanded manner. When these issues come up that are so closely divided, it is my preference to submit the matter to the full Body and let you Senators decide how you wish to rule your Chamber, rather than my trying to superimpose my own personal judgment on you.

"I am surprised that anyone would question that — my decision to ask the Senate for advice in this matter seems like a very orderly, sensible, democratic thing to do. It surprises me that anyone would be concerned about my choosing that course. The Rules are made by the Senators collectively. It is my job to interpret them and, when they are clear, I do my best to interpret them subject to appeal. In an issue such as this, which is of such profound importance to this Senate, I have chosen the course of submitting them to the Senate and asking for its advice on the matter."

The Senate decided the amendments were out of order (1-45) (Senate Journal, 1974, p. 1496.) (Senate Journal, July 18, 1977, p. 670.) The Senate reversed this decision on October 19, 1977 (Senate Journal, October 19, 1977, p. 981.)

Appropriation Bills, Additional Subject, Prohibited

2 (s). The Senate had under consideration Senate Bill 394 which appropriated moneys to the Land and Water Development Fund when Senator Ewing offered an amendment that provided that a finding by the Department of Community Affairs that exclusionary zoning or development policies exist in a political subdivision shall not serve as a basis for denial of requests for grants-in-aid made pursuant to this act.

Senator Lamb raised the point of order that the amendment was in violation of Senate Rule XV which provides that:

> "No amendment shall be received by the presiding officer or considered by the Senate which destroys the general sense of the original bill, or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill" and the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Art. III, Sec. 11 which provides that:

> "The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, for the public debt and for public schools. All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject."

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the amendments out of order.

Senator Ewing appealed the ruling of the Chair and the following debate took place on the appeal:

Senator STROUP. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the interpretation being placed upon Rule XV.1 by the Chair is, in my considered opinion, extremely restrictive and certainly in derogation of the intent of the Rule as adopted by this Body. The major purpose of the Rule was to implement Article III, Section 1, of our Constitution, which reads as follows:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended, on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

That portion of the Rule itself, relative to that which we are now considering the interpretation, reads as follows:

"No amendments shall be received by the presiding officer or considered by the Senate which" — and notice the word — "destroys the general sense of the original bill, or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill."

In considering the interpretation of the Rule in the light of the Constitution which was the guide in the adoption of the Rule by this Body, one must consider the language, and I quote, "which destroys the general sense of the original bill." So, one must ask one's self this question, and the query is: Does the amendment offered by Senator Ewing in any way destroy the original purpose of the bill? The answer to that query must in all logic be that the amendment offered in no way destroys the appropriation or the amount of the appropriation. That section of the bill remains untouched and the appropriation remains the same. It is not taken out, it is not destroyed.

Mr. President, the second portion of the Rule which one must consider is the language, and I am quoting, "or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill." The query then is: Is it not appropriate to prescribe the procedure by which funds in appropriation bills shall be expended? To limit this Body in its effort to further direct expenditure of appropriation moneys is entirely contrary to the purpose of Article III, Section 1, and the intention of the Rule as it was adopted. The intention of the rule was to make it impossible to destroy a bill that came out on the floor, or was in committee, in which you took the whole portion of the bill out, gutted it and left only the frame of the original bill and portions of the title, perhaps. That was the intention of this Rule. That is what we are trying to do to follow the Constitution.

Now, Mr. President, a further query might be asked and I am quoting: "Is the method of expenditure of the funds closely allied to the original purpose of the bill?" Again, I submit to you in all logic, and I think in common sense, too, the method of procedure by which funds may be expended is not only appropriate and closely allied, but is entirely germane to the appropriation of funds.

The Chair has further called our attention to Article III, Section 11, and the forepart of the first sentence of that particular part of the Constitution deals with general appropriation bills. We do not have a general appropriation bill before us, but I read with pertinency the relevant portion which the Chair interprets as follows: "All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject."

So we rest, I believe the Chair rests, the entire decision upon this particular item, one subject.

Here we get into a semantic situation of reference and modification and language, and I maintain that the words "one subject" refer to one subject of appropriations, and nothing more. Therefore, I maintain that the appeal from the Chair should be sustained by this Body and I further say to you that to continue this type of restrictive and very limited interpretation is placing a halter around the neck of the Members of this Body. Such was not the intent of the adoption of the Rule.

Senator LAMB. Mr. President, I believe and feel that the Chair has correctly interpreted Rule XV and the Constitution and I would ask the Members on this side to sustain the ruling of the Chair.

Senator BELL. Mr. President, it is a well-known interpretation of the constitutional law processes that we may interpret the Constitution as an entire piece of cloth, you do not piecemeal it; and to interpret the Constitution as an entire piece of cloth, let me refer to Article VIII, Section 16, which deals with the $500 million for a Land and Water Conservation and Reclamation Fund. I understand this pertains to this bill.

The Constitution reads that this money and I will now go into Section 16: "....The provision of State financial assistance to political subdivisions and municipal authorities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the construction" — and then it goes through a series of things and it ends, — "subject to such conditions and liabilities as the General Assembly may prescribe."

Mr. President, this clearly is a condition that is being sought to be inserted into this bill.

Senator ROVNER. Mr. President, I rise to agree with my colleagues, Senator Ewing, Senator Stroup and Senator Bell, and feel that what we are doing here today is going to frustrate the legislative processes of Pennsylvania, because it is certainly unfair that just because the majority disagrees with something it will not be considered.

I know last year, for instance, many people in this room wanted no-fault insurance. They knew they could not pass no-fault insurance through the committee system, but yet it was the proper thing to do because the people of Pennsylvania wanted to hear a debate on no-fault insurance at that time. Mr. President, even though you should not have the Rule, it is certainly germane for the Majority to begin consideration and have discussions and, whenever the Majority disagrees with something the Minority wants to do, not to accept that amendment, I say that is a sorry day for the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I hope the Members today will appeal the ruling of the Chair so that we can at least consider Senator Ewing's amendment.

Appropriation Bill — Stop Gap to General Appropriation Bill — Constitutional

2 (t). The Senate had under consideration HB 1147 which the Senate had amended. The House of Representatives passed the bill providing for the paying of the general costs of government from June 30, 1973 to August 1, 1973. This was due to the failure of the General Assembly enacting a General Appropriation Bill for the 1973-74 fiscal period. The Senate Appropriations Committee amended the bill making it a General Appropriation Bill.

A point of order was raised by Senator Stroup that the amendments changed the original purpose of the bill and were unconstitutional and in violation of Senate Rules.

Senator STROUP. Mr. President, my point of order is, first, the question of the violation of the Rules of this Senate that is now before us in consideration of House Bill No. 1147, and, secondly, the question of the constitutionality of the consideration by this Senate of House Bill No. 1147 as it has been altered by the Appropriations Committee at Printer's No. 1488.

May I submit to you, first of all, Mr. President, and to you my colleagues, that the Rules of this Senate are very specifically set forth as we adopted them in this Body only several months ago. The Rules to which I refer are based on the Constitution of Pennsylvania and that is the reason they were inserted in our Rules in this Body.

The first Rule is Section 1, subsection (b) of Article XIV of the Rules of this Body, which reads specifically as follows:

"No alteration or amendment shall be considered which is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill."

Then if I may, I refer you to Rule No. XV, which reads as follows, and I quote the pertinent part of that Rule:

"No amendments shall be received by the presiding officer or considered by the Senate which destroys the general sense of the original bill, or is not appropriate and closely allied to the original purpose of the bill."

Now such, beyond any question of effective contravention, are the Rules of this Body...Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution of 1968 — and some of you in this Body were members of that Constitutional Convention — states as follows:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended, on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

It cannot be more clearly stated in the Constitution and the Rules that we adopted are based on the Constitution, that particular segment of the Constitution which we inserted in our Rules.

Mr. President, the subject and the purpose of House Bill No. 1147, Printer's No. 1391, which I now consider with you as it passed the House was clearly expressed in the title of the bill as follows — that title is now stricken from the bill which is before us right now read as follows:

"Making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries and wages of State officers and employees and other ordinary and general expenses in the interim between June 30, 1973 and August 1, 1973, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1973."

That was for a period of one month. That is House Bill No. 1147 and its title as it came to us from the other Body.

However, mind you, the Senate Appropriations Committee has totally altered House Bill No. 1147 as it passed the other Body. It has entirely deleted the title of that bill and in its stead has rewritten the title of a new bill and you can see it in front of you as follows:

"To provide for the expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, the public debt and for public schools for the fiscal year July 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974 ..."

This is a complete alteration and change. Making House Bill No. 1147 a General Appropriations bill is the effect of the complete change of the bill which came from the House, contrary to our Rules and contrary to our Constitution.

Now, very clearly, the purpose of House Bill No. 1147 as it was passed by the House was to appropriate — we all know this — $100 million to the State Treasurer for the purpose of salaries and wages of employees and other ordinary expenses just for a thirty-day period. Moreover, no legislative purpose is expressed by the original bill, House Bill No. 1147, to appropriate funds for either the public debt or for public schools, or for the expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth for the entire fiscal year.

I submit to you, Mr. President and my colleagues, the altered purpose expressed in its substituted title is to provide for the public debt, for the public schools and the expenses of the three branches of government for an entire year.

Further, the bill as it has been amended by the Appropriations Committee contains an appropriation in excess of $630 million for public assistance and medical assistance programs, a purpose which was expressly prohibited in House Bill No. 1147 as it came from the other Body. I ask you to look at the bill and you will see it there. It is impossible, I submit, in all considered opinion to conceive a more flagrant alteration of a bill in its passage through either House in the General Assembly or one that more obviously contravenes Article III, Section 1, of our Constitution, or of the Rules of this Body based on that Constitution. Now, any contention that this bill in its altered form does not change its original purpose is just beyond the bounds of common reason and utterly at variance with all the facts which are before us. Palpably, my colleagues, the Committee has altered this bill in violation of both the Constitution and the Rules of the Senate, there is no question about that that one can raise effectively whatsoever. It has increased the original appropriation of the bill from $100 million to more than $3.5 billion. It has appropriated money for other purposes. Patently, the bill now before us is not either appropriate to or closely allied to the original purpose of the bill as required by the Rules of the Senate and by our Constitution.

Now may I submit to you in case you are of the opinion, some of you, that we in this Body when we take our oath of office should not consider constitutionality. May I consider with you the Supreme Court decision in 85 Pa. 401 at page 412 in 1877, which upon being Shepherdized, has never been changed. This is the law of this Commonwealth, Mr. President. It is the law of the Commonwealth, my colleagues. This is what the Court said and it still stands unchanged:

"In regard to the passage of the law and the alleged disregard of the forms of legislation required by the constitution, we think the subject is not within the pale of judicial inquiry. So far as the duty and the conscience of the members of the legislature are involved the law is mandatory. They are bound by their oaths to obey the constitutional mode of proceedings, and any intentional disregard is a breach of duty and a violation of their oaths."

Mr. President, I feel very strongly about this situation here tonight, and I feel if we have rules and regulations and if we have a Constitution, it is our duty and our obligation to adhere to it. We must rise up and consider it, or else we are in utter disregard of the Rules we write and adopt based upon the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

There is no question that House Bill No. 1147 has been changed and completely altered and gutted, which is in violation of Article XIV, Section 1 (b), of the Rules of the Senate and Article XV.

Now, may I express the considered opinion, Mr. President, that the Chair might be consistent in its rulings with similar points of order on this identical question as submitted to the Chair previously in this Session.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the amendments were in order and in doing so stated:

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands Senator Stroup's presentation to be made in the form of asking for a ruling on the propriety of considering House Bill No. 1147 as it relates to the constitutional points raised by Senator Stroup and to the points connected with our Rules.

The constitutional points the Senator stated are clear and the Rules are clear. The Chair wishes to point out that in the opinion of this Presiding Officer the original purpose of House Bill No. 1147 was to fund on an interim basis the ordinary and general expenses of government for a thirty-one day period, and it is a reasonable exercise of legislative authority for the Senate to so amend this bill to include the funding of general government for the full year. It deals specifically with government expenses.

The gentleman referred to Senate Bill No. 765, which brings up an entirely different question where a Senate bill, which was intended to replace checks for the State Treasurer, was changed considerably to cover two subjects, which is specifically prohibited in any kind of bill except a General Appropriations bill, and transmitted to this Senate.

The question before us is the propriety of House Bill No. 1147, and it is the ruling of this Chair that the action taken by the Appropriations Committee was in order and the bill is properly before the Senate on constitutional grounds and is within the Rules of the Senate because it deals specifically with funding the general and ordinary expenses of the government.

Senator Ewing appealed the ruling of the Chair and the Senate sustained the decision. (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 753).

Not Germane — Changing Resolution of Censure to Expulsion

2 (u). The Senate was considering a resolution of censure when Senator Andrews presented amendments changing it to a resolution of expulsion.

The Chair, Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline, ruled the amendments out of order because they were not germane in that they changed the original purpose of the resolution.

Senator Andrews appealed the ruling of the Chair and the Senate sustained the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, April 22, 1975, pages 274-275.)

Germane — Changing Amendment to Constitution

2 (v). The Senate was considering Senate Bill 982 amending the Constitution relating to confirmation proceedings and the president judge of the Superior Court. Senator Nolan offered amendments striking out the title and text of said bill and inserting provisions to amend the Constitution to provide for the election of an Attorney General. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the amendments destroyed the original purpose of the bill and were, therefore, out of order, being in violation of the Constitution and Senate Rules. The decision was appealed and after much debate, the Senate reversed the decision. (Senate Journal, October 11, 1977, p. 905.)

Amendments to Amended Bill Not Yet Reprinted Which Gut Bill and Insert New Language Not in Order

2 (w). The President, in response to a parliamentary inquiry from Senator Gekas, held that after amendments have been adopted to any particular bill, another amendment which purports to gut the entire bill or insert totally new language is out of order until the bill is printed and the amendment could be drawn to that new printer's number. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1377.)

Secondary Amendments Not Germane To Main Amendment Are Out of Order

2 (x). On point of order, Senator Kelley objected to amendments made to an amendment. He stated that they were not germane to the main amendment and operated to change the main amendment. The President decided the amendments were germane and in order. On appeal, the Senate (22-28) did not sustain the decision of the Chair, and the amendments were found not germane and out of order. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 1397-9.)

Members Entitled to Copies of Amendments When Being Discussed

2 (y). The President, on a point of order raised by Senator Holl, decided that the members are entitled to copies of the amendments which are being discussed. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1635.)

Land Transfer Legislation Rules Not Applicable to Amendments on the Senate Floor

2 (z). Amendments were offered to a bill on the floor of the Senate. These amendments authorized the transfer of Commonwealth land. Senator Mellow raised a point of order that the amendments were out of order under Senate Rule XIV Section 8.1. The President held that the amendments were in order because the rule does not speak to amendments offered on the floor — it only applied to bills being reported from committee. On appeal, the Senate (26-24) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1982, pp. 1784-5.)

Amendments to House Amendments In Order If: Senate Rule XV is Suspended; They Amend the Amendments; and they are Germane to the Bill

2 (bb). There was a motion to suspend Senate Rule XV for the purpose of amending House amendments to a bill which was before the Senate on concurrence in those amendments. The President, responding to parliamentary inquiries, held: Any amendment subsequent to the suspension of Rule XV would be in order as long as it amends the amendments and not the original bill, and as long as the amendments are germane to the bill. (Senate Journal, 1983, pp. 280-1.)

Amendment of Senate Resolution Must Be Germane to the Resolution

2 (cc). A Member offered an amendment altering Senate Rule XXIV to a Senate Resolution providing for a special judicial study committee. Senator Jubelirer rose to a point of order to object to the amendment as not being germane. The President ruled the amendment was not in order because it was not germane to the resolution, and the rules require that any amendment to any proposition before the body be germane. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 780.)

Amendment Can Be Withdrawn by Maker Before Action is Taken

2 (dd). An amendment to a bill was offered by Senator Street. During debate on the amendment, Senator Street withdrew his amendment. On point of order from Senator Williams, the Presiding Officer (Robert J. Kusse) decided that an amendment may be withdrawn at any time prior to action on the amendment; therefore, Senator Street's withdrawal was permitted. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2235.)

Amendment Which Adds a Bill Calling For a Non-Binding Referendum to a Joint Resolution Providing For a Constitutional Amendment Is Out of Order

2 (ee). The President pro tempore decided that an amendment which would add a bill calling for a non-binding referendum to a joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment was incompatible, not germane, and out of order. On appeal, the Senate (26-22) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1984, pp. 2648-50.)

SECTION 3

APPEALS

Chairman May Vacate Chair on an Appeal From a Decision

3 (a). Mr. Walker raised the question that on an appeal from a decision of the Chair, the Presiding Officer must vacate the Chair and permit a Member of the Senate to preside.

The Presiding Officer ruled that he may vacate the Chair and that it is within the discretion of the Chair to decide whether he shall step down. (Legislative Journal, December 13, 1951, p. 6188.)

SECTION 4

BILLS

Consideration of, in Numerical Order

4 (a). The Senate decided that when bills on first reading are the pending order, it was not in order to proceed to the consideration of a bill not first in numerical order, without dispensing with the orders of the day. (Senate Journal, 1845, pp. 160-70.)

Negatived by the Senate, Not in Order to Introduce and Consider Similar Ones During the Same Session

4 (c). The President decided that it was not in order to consider a certain bill, as one containing similar provisions had been voted down at the present session of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1878, p. 855.)

Negatived by the Senate, Not in Order to Consider Bill of Similar Character from the House During the Same Session

4 (d). The President decided that it is not in order to introduce into the Senate from the House of Representatives, or consider a bill which is in substance, in nature, or intent and purpose the same as a Senate Bill which has been defeated in the Senate during the present session. An appeal was taken. The Senate sustained the decision. (Senate Journal, 1878, p. 834.)

House Bill Negatived by Senate — Not in Order for Senate to Consider Bill of Similar Import from House at Same Session

4 (e). The Senate decided that it was not in order to consider a House bill similar in character to a House bill which has been negatived by the Senate at same session. (Senate Journal, 1907, pp. 2116, 2636.)

Unanimous Consent Required to Have Bill Go Over in Order

4 (g). Mr. Harris submitted the point of order that a request for a bill to go over in its order required unanimous consent. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, 1933, p. 4695.)

Showing No Evidence of Consideration by Committee, Can be Considered by Senate If According to the Records Regularly Reported

4 (h). Mr. Govin submitted the point of order that there was no evidence of marks on the bill to indicate that it had been regularly considered and reported from committee, and therefore should not have been placed upon the calendar for consideration by the Senate. Whereupon, the President decided that as the absence of marks and date of reporting the bill on the back thereof did not vitiate the fact that, according to the record, the bill had been regularly reported, therefore, the point of order was not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1893, p. 1066.)

When Amendments Can Be Made to — What in Order on Final Passage of

4 (i). The Speaker decided that a bill having been reported, it can be amended only when upon its second or third reading, and that, upon the final passage of a bill, nothing is in order but discussion upon it, and the final vote upon it by yeas and nays, as required by the Constitution, except privileged questions, such as motion to reconsider. (Senate Journal, 1874, p. 192.)

Regularly Before the Senate, Can Be Disposed of by a Simple Majority

4 (j). The Speaker decided that when a bill was regularly before the Senate, a simple majority could make such a disposition of it as they saw proper. (Senate Journal, 1874, p. 722.)

Passed Both Houses, but Not Sent to the Governor Cannot Be Taken Up

4 (k). Mr. White submitted the point of order that a bill having passed the Senate, been sent to the House and returned from that body as having been therein passed without amendment, it is not in order for the Senate to take up the bill and amend it further. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. Bills which have passed both Houses and have not been sent to the Governor cannot be taken up again and acted on. (Senate Journal, 1874, p. 908.)

Sent to Printer, Cannot Be Considered Until Returned to the Senate — Error by Printer in Not Properly Showing Amendments, Prevents Consideration of

4 (l). The President pro tempore decided that a bill having been sent to the printer to be printed, it was not in possession of the Senate, and therefore it was not in order to consider it under the rules. (Senate Journal, 1875, p. 477.)

In order to consider bill amended by the Senate which amendments were stricken out by the House and are not shown in bill when returned to Senate by error of printer in omitting brackets. Appeals from decisions of the Chair that the bill cannot be considered in a committee of conference because it was not the bill that was sent to the House, through error made by the printer. A vote on appeal was decision of Chair sustained that decision. (Legislative Journal, June 7, 1923, pp. 4294, 4295.)

Motion to Recommit, for Amending to Change Character of, Not in Order

4 (m). The President decided that a motion to recommit a bill to a committee, with instruction to the committee to amend the said bill so as to change its character was not in order. (Senate Journal, 1875, p. 357.)

Merits of, Not Debatable on Motion to Recommit, Postpone or Reconsider

4 (n). The President decided that the merits of a bill were not debatable on a motion to recommit (Legislative Journal, 1933, pp. 5644, 3036, 3572, 4123, 6275) nor on a motion to postpone (Legislative Journal, 1933, p. 2133) nor on a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill passed second reading. (Legislative Journal, 1935, p. 4128.) (Legislative Journal, pp. 1843, 3190, 5714.) (Legislative Journal, February 28, 1949, pp. 756, 757, 758.) (Legislative Journal, April 13, 1949, p. 3123.)

Negatived by Committee Similar One Can Be Acted on by Senate

4 (o). The President decided that it was competent for the Senate to consider a bill similar to one which had previously been reported with a negative recommendation, if the said bill had not been acted upon by the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1876, p. 906.)

General, Local and Special — Class Legislation

4 (p). The Senate having under consideration "An act to secure the operatives and laborers engaged in and about coal mines and manufactories of iron and steel the payment of their wages at regular intervals and in lawful money of the United States," the President pro tempore decided that the Constitution prohibits legislation of a local or special character regulating labor, trade, mining or manufacturing. A general law is one that applies to all persons. A local law is one that operates within a limited territory. A special law is one that is not confined in its operation by territory, but is limited to a particular class, sect, trade or interest. Under the Constitution, the Legislature has not the power to make arbitrary distinctions in order to escape the prohibition of the fundamental law, but the subject must have some natural or necessary quality to constitute a class. This view is sustained by Sedgwick on statutes, and a decision by Judge Folgar, in 4 Heard, New York Report. The bill before us proposes to legislate for a particular and special body to operate in particular localities. Overruled by the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1879, pp. 667, 695.)

After Reconsideration of Vote on, Can Be Acted on Only When Reached in their Regular Order, Unless Regular Order is Dispensed With

4 (q). The vote negativing a bill on final passage having been reconsidered, the President pro tempore decided that the bill could not be considered until the order of "bills on final passage" was reached, except by two-thirds vote. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 599.)

A bill being on third reading, and the vote by which it passed second reading having been reconsidered, the President pro tempore decided that the bill could not be considered on second reading until that was reached, except by suspending the orders. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 613.)

Objection to Consideration of, Reconsidered Must Be Made at the Proper Time

4 (r). The order of business being bills on third reading, the President pro tempore (Mr. Reyburn in the chair), was of the opinion that the objection of the Senator from Elk (Mr. Hall) was raised too late, and the ruling of 1879, cited by him, did not apply, the Senate having already reconsidered the several votes by which the bill had passed second reading, and the bill being already under consideration, worked a suspension of the orders. He therefore decided the point of order to that effect submitted by the Senator from Venango (Mr. Lee) to be well taken. (Senate Journal 1883, p. 554.)

Amending Laws, Must Recite in Full the Part to Be Amended

4 (s). The Senate decided that a bill proposing to amend an act, failing to recite the section in full intended to be amended conflicted with Section 6, Article III of the Constitution, and was therefore, not in order. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 620.)

Raising Revenue, Must Originate in the House

4 (t). A point of order was submitted by Mr. Lee that the amendment of the Senator from Delaware is not in order, because it adds a proviso to the bill which virtually makes it a bill for raising revenue, and all bills for raising revenue, by the Constitution, must originate in the House of Representatives, and the amendment is not germane and changes the purpose of the bill. Decided well taken by Senate. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 711.)

Appropriating Money for the Erection of Monuments Does Not Require a Two-thirds Vote

4 (v). Mr. Stober raised the point of order that the bill under consideration appropriated money for the erection of a monument and required a two-thirds vote. The President decided the point of order not well taken, as this was an appropriation for the erection of a monument and not to a charitable institution of the State. (Senate Journal, 1903, p. 825.)

Objections to Consideration of, Must Be Raised at the Proper Time

4 (w). A bill being under consideration, Mr. Lee submitted the point of order that the bill, as amended, was not properly on the calendar, as contemplated by the rules, it having been imperfectly printed, and the bill could, therefore, not be considered at this time. Decided not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 635.)

Merits of, Not Debatable on Motion to Suspend Rule for Purpose of Discharging Committee

4 (x). A point of order was raised that a motion to suspend the rules for the purpose of discharging a committee from a particular bill, is not debatable, and if debatable the particular reason for the consideration of a particular bill is not debatable. The debate can be only upon the reason for the suspension of the rule and not upon the merits of a bill. The chair ruled that the question to suspend the rules is debatable, but that the question can be debated only insofar as the reason for the discharge of the committee may be essential. Therefore, the merits of the bill cannot be discussed on a motion to suspend the rules. (Senate Journal, 1919, pp. 2763-64.)

Merits of, Debatable on Motion to Postpone Consideration of, to a Fixed Time

4 (y). Mr. McNeil submitted the point of order that it was not in order to discuss the merits of the main question on a motion to postpone the consideration of the same until a definite time. The President pro tempore decided that the merits of the main question could be incidentally discussed on a motion to postpone to a day fixed, and the point of order was, therefore, not well taken (Senate Journal, 1885, p. 664.)

Merits of Other Bill Not Debatable

4 (z). The President decided that the merits of another bill not under consideration were not debatable, but that the remarks had to be limited to the bill under discussion and related subjects. (Legislative Journal, 1935, p. 5859.)

Constitutionality of, to Be Determined by the Senate.

4 (aa). Mr. McDonald submitted the point of order "that the bill was not in order for the reason that it was contrary to Article III, section 6, of the Constitution." The President pro tempore decided that as the question of the constitutionality of the bill is a matter which will be decided by the Senate in the consideration and final disposition of the bill, it is not in the province of the Chair; by decision, as to the constitutionality of the bill, to assume the duty and power properly vested in the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1893, p. 209.)

Postponed Cannot Be Called Up the Same Day It Was Proposed

4 (bb). Mr. Freed asked if he could call up a bill just placed on the Postponed Calendar.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled a bill placed on the Postponed Calendar could not be called up until it properly appeared on the Calendar. (Legislative Journal, June 26, 1951, p. 348.)

Carrying Appropriations Need Not Be Referred to Appropriations Committee

4 (cc). Mr. Seyler raised the question of parliamentary inquiry as to whether it was customary that any bill which carried an appropriation is referred to the Appropriations Committee before final passage.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, ruled that this was done in some instances but not in all. Therefore it might be termed customary rather than mandatory. (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 451.)

Over in Order — Reason for Motion Debatable

4 (dd). Mr. Seyler raised the point of information if it was in order to debate a motion to put a bill over in order.

The Presiding Officer ruled the reason for the motion is debatable. (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 1251.) (See also Mason's Manual, sec. 494, p. 332.) (Senate Journal, 1971, p. 372.)

Re-reported From Committee As Amended — Must Appear on Calendar Two Days

4 (ee). Senate Bill 851 was re-reported from committee as amended and was called up for consideration the next day.

Senator Coppersmith raised the point of order that since it had not appeared on the Calendar for two days it could not be considered.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the point of order well taken and quoted Senate Rule 13, Section 13 as follows:

> "Any bill or resolution re-reported from committee as amended shall not be finally considered until it has appeared on the Senate Calendar for two legislative days." (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 1128.)

Over in Order — Precedence over Reverting to Prior Printer's No.

4 (ff). Senator Hager moved to have House Bill 406 reverted to a prior printer's no. Senator Smith, after some debate, moved that the bill go over in its order. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the motion to have the bill go over in its order took precedence over the motion to revert. (Senate Journal, November 14, 1978, p. 1097.)

Appropriation — Preferred and Nonpreferred — What Determines

4 (gg). The Senate was considering several appropriation bills under the headings of "Preferred" and "Nonpreferred." Senator Kelley raised a point of parliamentary inquiry as to what or who determines whether a bill is preferred or nonpreferred. The Presiding Officer, Senator Scanlon, stated that the Constitution of Pennsylvania by providing any appropriation to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth would need a two-thirds vote of the Senate and as such would be under the category of nonpreferred appropriation. All others, such as State department, boards and commissions and the like would need only a majority vote of the elected Senators and would, therefore, be under the category of preferred. The Secretary of the Senate when preparing the calendar decides, under these provisions, which are preferred and nonpreferred. (Senate Journal, November 15, 1978, p. 1146.)

Bills Transferring Existing Appropriations Need Not Be Referred to Appropriations Committee Before Third Consideration

4 (hh). Senator Stauffer inquired whether a bill needed to be referred to the Appropriations Committee for a fiscal note under Senate Rule XIV, Section 16(b). The President held that it did not require such a note because the funds were being transferred from an existing appropriation and the bill merely added the authority to act. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 756.)

Bills Other Than General Appropriation Bill Shall Embrace But One Subject

4 (ii). An amendment was offered adding appropriations for higher education assistance to a bill which called for appropriations for a special election. Senator Jubelirer raised a point of order that the amendment violated the Senate Rules. The President held that this bill was clearly not a general appropriations bill (which can contain more than one subject), and that under Rule XIV, Section 7(a), the bill could contain only one subject. Thus the amendment was out of order. The decision of the Chair was upheld on appeal (25-20). (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 258-9.)

If Tabled, Bill Will Not Appear on Calendar

4 (jj). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Kelley, the President held that if a bill was tabled it would not appear on the calendar, but that a motion to bring it from the table can be entertained at any time. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 661-2.)

Land Transfer Legislation Rules Not Applicable to Bill Where Title to Lands Rested With Borough

4 (kk). Senator Kelley, by point of order, objected to the consideration of a bill, stating that it violated the land transfer legislation provisions of the Senate Rules (Rule XIV, Section 8.1). The President held that the Senator's point was not well-taken because the title to the land in the bill was held by the Borough, not the Commonwealth, notwithstanding the fact that

Commonwealth bond money was used in the acquisition of the land. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2068.)

Appropriation Bill is Preferred if Made to State Owned Entity — Non-preferred if Made to Entity Not State Owned

4 (ll). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Lincoln regarding the status of a bill appropriating money for Cheyney State Hospital, the President held the bill became a "Preferred" appropriations bill rather than a "non-preferred" because the appropriation was to a state-owned entity. The President continued to state that if the appropriation is to some entity which is not owned by the state, then it must be non-preferred. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2748.)

Bills Requiring Expenditure of Funds May Not be Given Third Consideration Until Referred to Appropriations Committee

4 (mm). In answering a series of parliamentary inquiries, the President held that no bill which may require an expenditure of Commonwealth funds or funds of any political subdivision shall be given Third Consideration reading on the calendar until it has been referred to the Appropriations Committee, and a fiscal note attached. The President noted that a motion to suspend this rule would be in order, however. (Senate Journal. 1983, pp. 42-5.)

Bills Requiring Expenditure of Commonwealth Funds Must Be Referred to Committee on Appropriations

4 (nn). On point of order raised by Senator Lewis questioning whether a certain bill requiring an expense of state or municipal funds should be referred to the Appropriations Committee, the Presiding Officer (William J. Moore) decided that the Senate Rules provide that where an expenditure of Commonwealth funds is required, the bill must be rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 1429.)

SECTION 5

CALL OF THE HOUSE

Is the Order When a Motion to Adjourn Fails, and Less Than a Quorum Vote

5 (a). Mr. Gordon submitted the following point of order, viz.: "I raised the point of order that upon the motion to adjourn, fourteen Senators having voted 'no' and eleven Senators having voted 'aye'; the motion to adjourn is therefore lost, and the question disposed of, and that, therefore, the Senate may proceed to consider other business, as under the ruling of the Chair, it is not necessary that quorum vote upon the motion to adjourn, and that a call of the Senate, as directed in the thirty-sixth rule, is not necessary, as that rule clearly only contemplates subjects before the Senate upon which it was necessary that a quorum vote, in order that the subject might be disposed of, as that rule directs that when a call of the Senate is made and a quorum disclosed to be present, the yeas and nays should be again taken upon the question on which the absence of a quorum was directed. In this case that rule would not apply as if the call showed a quorum present, the yeas and nays could not be again taken, for the original question — the motion to adjourn — is disposed of." The President decided that the motion to adjourn was lost, a majority having voted "no"; but less than a quorum having voted, nothing was in order but a call of the House. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 162.)

Chair May Take Judicial Notice a Quorum Is Not Present

5 (b). Mr. Law raised the point of order the Chair should not rule he took judicial notice a quorum was not present as no member from the floor had suggested the absence of a quorum. The President ruled he can take judicial notice to the fact a quorum was not present. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 5389.)

Senate Has No Power to Enforce Presence of Senators if There is a Quorum Present

5 (c). Twenty Senators walked out of the chamber at the beginning of a roll call vote to protest the ruling of the President (upheld on appeal) that a constitutional majority consisted of Senators elected, living, sworn, and seated. On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Gekas, the President held there were no provisions in the rules to enforce the presence of Senators if there is a quorum present. The President noted such powers did exist if a quorum would not be present. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 113.)

SECTION 6

CHANGE OF TIME FOR CONVENING

Senate May Change by Majority Vote

6 (a). The question having been raised, it was ruled by the presiding officer that the Senate may by a majority vote change the time for convening after the weekly adjournment from that set forth in concurrent adjournment resolution previously adopted by both Houses. (Legislative Journal, March 4, 1919, pp. 1199, 1200.)

SECTION 7

COMMITTEES

Powers of, Over Bills

7 (a). The Speaker decided that the committee to whom a bill had been referred had full power over the same, except that it could not change the title or subject thereof. (Senate Journal, 1857, p. 842.)

Mr. Flinn submitted the point of order, that after a bill has been reported by a standing committee and passed any reading in the Senate and recommitted to a standing committee that such committee has not the power to report such bill with a negative recommendation, because the Senate as a body had acted favorably upon the bill by passing it on a reading, and a part of the Senate, as represented by a standing committee, cannot negative that which the whole Senate has approved by passing through a reading, and that any such bill so reported negatively by any standing committee should be placed upon the calendar for the consideration of the Senate in regular order. The President decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1899, p. 1933.)

Report of a Bill by a Minority of a Standing Committee in Order Only by Consent of Majority

7 (b). Mr. Greer submitted the point of order that a minority of a standing committee cannot make a report from such committee (of a bill) without the consent of a majority thereof. The President decided that the point of order, as a general proposition was well taken; but the bill having been reported, and ordered to be printed and placed upon the calendar, the point of order is submitted too late. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1030.)

Motion to Recommit, Only, Debatable

7 (c). Mr. Henry I. Wilson raised the point of order that the merits of a bill which a Senator had moved to recommit could not be discussed.

The Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) ruled that the point of order was well taken, and that, upon a motion to recommit, the subject matter of the bill may not be discussed. (Legislative Journal, April 8, 1941, p. 1223.)

Reference Cannot Bind Committee

7 (d). Mr. Thomas B. Wilson raised the point of order that a motion referring a bill to a committee could not carry with it binding instructions to the committee to report the bill out. The Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) declared the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, February 24, 1941, p. 413.)

Report Objected to Not in Order

7 (e). Mr. Holland objected to the reporting of a bill from Committee.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H.Wood, ruled the gentleman out of order. (Legislative Journal, December 5, 1951, p. 5872.)

Meeting During Session — Not Announced at Beginning — Suspension of Rule

7 (f). Senator Lamb asked for a recess of the Senate to hold an immediate meeting of the Finance Committee.

Senator raised the point of order that since Senate Rule 16, Section 7, required that "A committee meeting may be held during a session only if approval is granted by the Majority and Minority Leaders and if notice of the bills to be considered is given at the beginning of session," and since no notice was given the meeting could not be held.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the point of order well taken.

Senator Lamb then made a motion to suspend Rule 16, Section 7. The motion carried. (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 1158.)

Committee on Executive Nominations Not Subject to Senate Rule Regarding Notice of Meetings

7 (g). Senator Ross reported several Executive Nominations from the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations. Senator Romanelli rose to a point of order that since the meeting was not held in compliance with the Senate Rule regarding "Notice of Meetings," the report was, therefore, not in order.

The Presiding Officer, Senator Zemprelli, ruled the point of order not well taken in as much as the rule referred to by Senator Romanelli, dealt with the consideration of bills only. During debate mention was made that the report may also violate the Sunshine Law (1974, P.L. 486, No. 175). The Chair ruled that the Sunshine Law did not apply to the consideration of Executive Nominations.

Senator Romanelli appealed the decision of the Chair. The Senate sustained the decision (33.3). (Senate Journal, April 19, 1978, p. 455).

(Compilers note: The Pennsylvania Supreme Court and the Commonwealth Court handed down decisions stating that "Committee of State Senate which was meeting to consider executive nominations was not conducting a meeting 'where bills are considered' nor was it conducting a hearing 'where testimony was taken,' so that the meeting did not come within notice requirements of the Sunshine Law, even though the committee was an 'agency' and was, when it decided to refer the nomination to the Senate floor, taking 'formal action.'" Consumers Ed. and Protective Assn. Intern. Inc. v. Nolan, 346 A2d 871, 21 Pa. Cmwlth. 566, 1975, affirmed 368 A2d 675, 470 Pa. 372.)

After Committee Action, No Time Limit Compels Chairman to Report Bill to Floor

7 (h). Senator Zemprelli inquired how long a committee chairman had to report a bill back to the floor of the Senate after the committee had authorized the report. The President pro tempore found that the Rules of the Senate are silent on the subject and that there is no secondary authority which states any such time limit; thus, the chair would not speculate on any time limit. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1663.)

SECTION 8

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE (RESERVED)

SECTION 9

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE — REPORTS

Conference Committee Reports to Be Noted on Calendar

9 (a). Mr. Buckman raised the point of order that under Rule 21 of the Senate the Conference Committee report cannot be voted upon unless it is noted on the calendar. The President ruled Conference Committee reports would be noted on the calendar in the future. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 3435.)

Senate Can Instruct

9 (b). The Speaker decided that it was not in order for the Senate to instruct a committee of conference. The Senate reversed the decision. (Senate Journal, 1868, pp. 430-431.)

Power of, Over Whole Bill

9 (d). The Speaker decided that, in a committee of conference, on the appropriation bill, the difference between the two Houses on said bill extended to the whole bill, and not to any particular parts of it, although both may have separately voted for some parts of it. The Senate sustained the decision. (Senate Journal, 1873, p. 1056.)

Mr. McCracken submitted the point of order that the committee of conference in amending the bill in certain particulars concerning which no difference existed between the two Houses, exceeded the authority conferred upon it, in violation of joint rule three, which says that a committee of conference "shall not have power or control over any part of a bill, resolution or order, except such parts upon which a difference exists between the two Houses." The Senate decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 75.)

Report of Disagreement of, Discharges

9 (e). The question being propounded to the Chair, viz.: Does the report of a committee of conference on its final disagreement operate as a discharge of the committee without further action of the Senate? Decided in the affirmative by the Senate. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 48.)

Being Dissolved, Not Subject to Instruction

9 (f). Mr. Cooper submitted the point of order that as the committee of conference on the part of the Senate had been dissolved, the resolution was not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken, and ruled the resolution out of order. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 55.)

Motion to Appoint, Once Negatived, Not Again in Order Without Reconsideration

9 (g). And the question being, Will the Senate agree to the first division, viz.: "That a committee of conference on Congressional apportionment be appointed?" Mr. McCracken submitted the point of order that the Senate has refused to appoint a committee of conference; and that it is proposed by this resolution to do something that the Senate has already refused to do without reconsidering the previous action of the Senate, and is, therefore, not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 56.)

Power of Senate Over — Motion to Return Bill to House While Considering Conference Report, Out of Order, Reports of, Not Amendable

9 (h). Mr. Hughes submitted the point of order that the resolution contains a proposition in violation of the established method of legislation, in that it authorizes a conference committee to consider a bill which has not been presented or considered at this session (extraordinary), in violation of the joint rule three, which expressly says that a committee of conference shall not have power or control over any part of a bill, except such parts upon which a difference exists between the two Houses, and therefore it is not in order. The President decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 61.)

The conference committee having amended the bill in part, a motion was made to return the bill to the House of Representatives. The point of order was raised that the motion is out of order as there is nothing before the Senate but the adoption or rejection of conference report, and the Senate in consideration of such report cannot go beyond an inquiry into the regularity of the proceedings of either House during the passage of the bill, and that when a bill is in committee of conference, it is not in the custody of either House and neither House has the right or authority to transmit the bill back to the other House for any purpose. The President of the Senate ruled the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, June 12, 1923, p. 4678.)

Mr. Shapiro submitted the point of order that the report of a conference committee was not amendable. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, extra session, 1933, p. 997.)

Discharge of Committee

9 (i). Senate members of a conference committee of the House and Senate appointed to consider a Congressional Reapportionment Bill, having stated to the Senate, in reply to questions that the committee had not been able to agree, Senator Coleman raised the point of order that "the conferees appointed by the President pro tempore on the part of the Senate to consider Senate Bill No. 507, having made their report to the Senate Body that they are hopelessly dead-locked, that the committee is automatically discharged and that the bill is in the physical possession of the Senate and the question recurs on the adoption of the amendments inserted by the House." The Chair (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) ruled that the point of order was not well taken. (Legislative Journal, July 12, 1941, p. 5500.)

Conference Report Rejected by Senate — Status

9 (j). A parliamentary inquiry was raised by Senator R. D. Fleming as to whether a rejection of the Conference Report on Senate Bill 30 by the Senate would constitute the killing of the bill. The Chair, Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline, stated that if the report was rejected, the question would immediately recur on the concurrence in the amendments placed in the bill by the House. (Senate Journal, June 20, 1971, p. 1501.) also (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 847.)

Committee of Conference Did Not Exceed Authority Under Senate Rule XXI

9 (k). On a point of order raised by Senator Bell, the President, being in doubt, put the question before the Senate as to whether a Report of the Committee of Conference violated Senate Rule XXI, Section 2 (Conference Committee exceeding its authority). The Senate (30-19) decided the report did not violate the Rule. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 2245-6.)

SECTION 10

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS

Constitutionality of Bills to be Determined by the Senate

10 (a). Mr. McDonald submitted the point of order "that the bill was not in order for the reason that it was contrary to Article III, section 6, of the Constitution." The President Pro Tempore decided that as the question of the constitutionality of the bill is a matter which will be decided by the Senate in the consideration and final disposition of the bill, it is not in the province of the Chair, by decision, as to the constitutionality of the bill, to assume the duty and power properly vested in the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1893, p. 209.)

10 (b). Mr. Weiner submitted the point of order that "the bill was not in order for the reason that it was in violation of Article III, Section 14 of the Constitution." The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, decided the point of order not well taken and quoted from Mason's Manual, page 242.

> "It is not the duty of the Presiding Officer to rule upon any question which is not presented in the course of proceedings. It is not his right to rule upon the constitutionality or legal effect or expediency of a proposed bill, as that authority belongs to the House."

Declaring a Seat Vacant on Constitutional Point of Order — Not in Order

10 (c). Upon the completion of a roll call, Senator Ewing raised a Constitutional Point of Order that Senator Frank Mazzei, having been convicted of an infamous crime, is no longer a Member of the Senate pursuant to Art. 2, Sec. 7 and Art. 6, Sec. 7 of the Constitution and should not be recorded as voting.

After much debate the Chair, Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline, ruled the point of order not well taken because it would in effect expel Senator Mazzei by a simple majority vote instead of the two-thirds required by the Constitution.

Senator appealed the decision of the Chair and after much debate the Senate sustained the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, April 21, 1975, pages 252-258.)

Points of Order to be Determined by Senate

10 (d). The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, voted in the affirmative on motion for the previous question (see TIE VOTE, 36(e)). Senator Nolan raised a Constitutional Point of Order that he, the President, could not vote, and asked for a ruling by the Chair. The President ruled that on a Constitutional Point of Order the Chair must submit the question to the Senate for decision. Senator Nolan, after much debate, withdrew his point of order. (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 822.) (Compilers note: See Senate Rule 3, Sec. 1h.)

Senate May Act on Nominations Submitted by Former Governor When Those Nominations Have Been Recalled by the Current Governor

10 (e). A constitutional point of order was raised by Senator Hager that consideration of nominations submitted by Governor Shapp before he left office, but recalled by Governor Thornburgh, violated Article IV, Section 8 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The Senate (23-26) held that the point of order was not well-taken, and consideration of the nominees was thus constitutional. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 153.)

Bill Dealing With Three Separate Areas of Appropriation Was Constitutional

10 (f). A constitutional point of order was raised by Senator Kelley, that a bill which dealt with: one, general appropriation; two, the Motor License Fund; and three, federal augumentation monies; violated Article III, Section 11 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania (providing what general appropriations bills shall embrace). The Senate (5-44) held the point of order not well-taken, and thus the bill was constitutional. (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 195-6.)

Senate Amendment Which Would Raise Revenue Not Unconstitutional

10 (g). A constitutional point of order was raised by Senator Early that proposed amendments to a Senate bill to charge fees on the purchase and use of studded snow tires were unconstitutional under Article III, Section 10 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which provides that all bills raising revenue shall originate in the House. The Senate (3-46) decided that the point of order was not well-taken, thereby declaring the amendments constitutional. (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 200-1.)

Bill Not Violative of Impairment of Contracts Provision

10 (h). Senator Hager raised a constitutional point of order stating that the bill under consideration was unconstitutional because it violated Article I, Section 17 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania by impairing the obligations of contracts already existing. The Senate (23-25) decided the point was not well-taken and that the bill did not violate the Constitution. (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 432-3.)

Partial Passage Meets Requirement That Proposed Constitutional Amendment Be Passed by Two Consecutive General Assemblies

10 (i). Senator Lewis inquired whether if the next session of the General Assembly were to pass only part of a proposed constitutional amendment, that part would then meet the "approval of two consecutive sessions" requirement. The President decided that passage of a portion the second time would meet this requirement of passage by two consecutive assemblies as to that portion. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 1911-2.)

Bills Shall Not Be so Altered or Amended as to Change Their Original Purpose

10 (j). Senator Hager raised a constitutional point of order stating that certain amendments, which reinstate the function that the bill's original purpose was to eliminate, alter the original intention of the bill thus violating Article III, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The Senate (25-23) held that the amendment altered the original purpose and was thus unconstitutional. However, the vote on the constitutional point of order was later reconsidered (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 605) and the point was withdrawn. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 559-61.)

Constitutional Point of Order Shall Be Submitted to the Senate for Decision

10 (k). On a point of order, Senator Zemprelli asked whether the chair can rule on constitutionality. The President held that the Rules of the Senate state that the President shall submit points of order involving the constitutionality of any matter to the Senate for decision, thus the proper place for decision is with the members of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 1397.)

No Bill Shall be Altered so as to Change Its Original Purpose

10 (l). Senator Stauffer raised a constitutional point of order stating that amendments providing a salary increase for the District Attorney in Philadelphia, when made to a bill dealing with the depth of graves under the Vital Statistics Law, is violative of Article III, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which states no bill shall be altered to change its original purpose. The Senate (25-22) sustained the point of order and decided the amendments unconstitutional. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 1397-8.)

Not Unconstitutional for Senator to Vote on Executive Nomination When Corporation He Was Associated With is Undergoing Federal Investigation

10 (m). Senator Fumo raised a constitutional point of order stating that Article III, Section 13 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, providing that members shall not vote on matters which a member has a personal or private interest in, makes it unconstitutional for a particular Senator to vote on the executive nomination of a Secretary of Labor and Industry. At the time, a corporation which a Senator had been associated with was undergoing federal investigation for misuse of federal grant funds. The Senate (21-27) did not sustain the point of order, so the member could vote on the matter. (Senate Journal, 1982, pp. 1648-55.)

Bill Not Unconstitutional Based on Equal Protection and Equal Application of Law

10 (n). Senator Williams raised a constitutional point of order that a bill (S.B. 661) was unconstitutional based on equal protection and unequal application of a law because of provisions requiring suspensions of Liquor Control Board agents who plead the Fifth Amendment after having been given immunity to testify. The Senate (23-26) decided that the Senator's point was not well-taken and that the bill was constitutional. (Senate Journal, 1983, pp. 799-801.)

Not In Order to Raise Possible Constitutional Violation of the House

10 (o). The President pro tempore, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Kelley, decided that each house of the General Assembly determines constitutionality for itself, and the Senate must accept a bill as it comes from the House. Therefore, a constitutional point of order in the Senate would not be allowed if it raised a violation by the House of the constitutional prohibition that no bill be amended to change its original purpose. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2661.)

DEBATE

Inflammatory and Derogatory Remarks May Be Expunged

11 (a). The point of order having been raised on a motion to expunge remarks from the record, the President ruled that the motion was in order, and that it was the prerogative of the Senate to expunge inflammatory and derogatory remarks from the record. (Legislative Journal, 1935, p. 1417.)

Speaking More Than Twice on a Bill

11 (b). The President decided that a point of order that a Senator might not speak more than twice on the same subject was well taken, but recognized the Senator to allow an interrogation. (Legislative Journal, 1935, p. 5639.)

Discussion on Motion Limited — Appeal from Ruling Can be Withdrawn

11 (c). Senator Watkins raised the point of order that Senator Holland could not, during consideration of a request that a bill go over in order, discuss other matters on a question of personal privilege.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, sustained the point of order.

Senator Holland and three other Senators joined in an appeal from the decision of the Chair and then requested permission to withdraw the appeal.

The Chair, President pro tempore Ely, decided, when objection was raised to the withdrawal, that the appeal could be withdrawn. (Legislative Journal, April 13, 1943, pp. 1766 and 1767.)

Order of Debate on Bills

11 (d). On a question of order raised by Senator Watkins, the Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, ruled that a Senator could not under a question of personal privilege debate a bill that had already gone over in order, unless by consent of the Senate. (Legislative Journal, April 6, 1943, pp. 1940, 1941 and 1942.)

Bill on Second Reading

11 (e). On a question of order raised by Senator Seyler as to whether a bill was debatable on second reading, the Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Roy Furman, ruled, in effect, that on second reading the matter of consideration of amendments was the principal subject of discussion. However, in this discussion, it would be only natural and proper to digress at times, and discuss the entire section of the bill. This same procedure could continue until all sections of the bill were amended and approved.

Finally, when the question is put, "Will the Senate agree to and pass the bill on second reading" or "second reading as amended," it is proper then to discuss the entire bill. This can be done by any Senator or Senators who are given recognition by the Chair.

A roll call vote may also be demanded as to each section and/or the entire bill. (Legislative Journal, 1957, p. 321.) also (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 932.)

Not In Order After Bill Has Passed Second Reading

11 (f). Senate Bills 1, 2 and 3 had just passed second reading when Senators Weiner and Sesler rose to debate and interrogate certain Senators regarding the bills. Senator Berger raised the point of order that since the bills had passed second reading and were being prepared for third reading, that they were not properly before the Senate for debate. The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Raymond P. Shafer, ruled the point of order well taken stating that the bills were not subject to debate, the bills having passed second reading. Senator Weiner then asked the Chair whether asking a Member of the Senate what a particular measure means to him as a sponsor is debating the bill. The Chair then quoted from Mason's Manual "Questions addressed to Members must relate only to a question before the body." As the gentleman is aware, there is no question before the body at this time. (Senate Journal Special Session of 1964, pages 50-51.)

Breach of Order to Discuss Actions by House or Its Members

11 (g). During debate on House Bill 1447, the Chair, Lt. Gov. Ernest P. Kline, ruled that Senator Duffield could discuss the bill as he pleased, but could not include in his remarks personal references nor intemperate remarks about what happened in the House. It is not in the dignity of the Senate for a Senator to berate what happened in the House on any measure. (Senate Journal, August 12, 1972, p. 758.)

Debate Proper on Motion — Not About Individuals

11 (h). The President, ruling on a point of order raised by Senator Kelley, held that the Rules of the Senate require that Senators debate the motion, not individuals. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1152.)

Motives of Senator Not Subject to Debate

11 (i). The President decided Senator Bell's point of order, that a Senator's motives are not subject to debate, was well-taken. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1685.)

No Provisions in the Rules for Yielding the Floor

11 (j). The President, after an attempt to yield the floor to another Senator was made by Senator Mellow, recognized another member and stated that there are no provisions in the Rules allowing for yielding. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1927.)

Motion to Limit Debate to a Definite Time May Later Be Extended by Motion or Unanimous Consent

11 (k). After a motion to limit debate to a definite hour had been made, the President, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Smith, held that if the motion to limit debate should carry, the time set forth may be extended either by unanimous consent or by the adoption of a motion to that effect, and that it would be in order for a Senator to offer a motion for extension of that time. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1928.)

Member May Yield, But He May Not Yield to Other Members

11 (l). Senator Fumo raised a point of order that a motion made by Senator Hager was out of order because Senator Mellow still retained the floor ~~even though~~ his attempt to yield the floor to another Senator was not allowed. The President reiterated that it was not in order for a Senator to yield specifically to another Senator. He also stated that he judged Senator Mellow was yielding the floor, and therefore recognition of Senator Hager and the making of a new motion was in order. The decision of the Chair was upheld on appeal (31-9). (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 1928-31.)

No Senator Shall Speak More Than Once on a Question if it Prevents Another Who Has Not Yet Spoken

11 (m). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Mellow, the President decided that under Senate Rule VII: No Senator shall speak more than once on one question to the prevention of another who has not yet spoken and is desirous to speak, nor more than twice without the leave of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 67.)

Senator May Speak More Than Twice on Same Question With Leave of The Senate

11 (n). Senator Street raised a point of order asking that a Senator who has already spoken twice on an issue be refrained from further debate (Rule 12, Section 3). The President decided that if the member has the leave of the Senate, he may speak more than twice. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 587.)

Not in Order to Play Audio Tape

11 (o). Senator Jubelirer objected, by point of order, to an attempt by a member to play an audio tape during the debate on the adoption of a conference committee report. The President decided that the point of order was well-taken, and the use of the tape-recorded voice was out of order. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 1662.)

No Member May Speak More Than Twice on an Issue

11 (p). Senator Street rose to a point of order to object to a member who had spoken more than twice on an issue. The President pro tempore ruled the member out of order for having spoken more than twice without the consent of the Senate. On appeal, the Senate (26-24) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 1752.)

Comments About Qualifications, Personal Attributes, Motives, Actions or Characters of Members Are Always Out of Order

11 (q). A Member continued to speak after he had been called out of order, and the Chair then turned off the Member's microphone. Under Petitions and Remonstrances, the Member, expressing his dissatisfaction with the Chair, was repeatedly called out of order by the Chair and by other members on the grounds that comments about the qualifications, personal attributes, motives, actions, or characters of members are always out of order. (Senate Journal, 1982, pp. 2415-20.)

Quotations of Leaders of the House Out of Order

11 (r). During debate on a motion to revert to a prior printer's number, Senator Zemprelli rose and inquired about the Chair's decision that certain conversations that took place with the leadership of the House were outside the scope of proper debate. The President pro tempore held that based on the Senate Rules and the rules of debate, quotations of leaders of another body are not germane to the debate and are out of order. (Senate Journal, 1983, pp. 308-9.)

SECTION 12

DILATORY MOTIONS

Rule Against Dilatory Motions

12 (a). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Lincoln, regarding frivolous motions, the President held that any regular parliamentary motion when improperly used for the purpose of delaying or obstructing business is a dilatory motion, but the Chair noted that he felt the rereferral motion in question was not dilatory. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1920.)

SECTION 13

DISCHARGE OF COMMITTEE

Request for Discharge by a Member of the Committee is Not A Prerequisite for Motion to Discharge

13 (a). In response to a parliamentary inquiry from Senator Coppersmith, the President held that Rule XVI, § 6(c), pertains only to the request for discharge by a member of the committee, and Rule XVI, § 17, the rule of discharge of a committee does not imply Rule XVI, § 6(c), as a prerequisite to a discharge motion on the floor of the Senate. Thus the discharge motion on the floor of the Senate was in order. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1357.)

SECTION 14

DIVISION OF THE QUESTION

When Not Divisible

14 (a). Mr. Hall submitted the point of order that the question was not divisible, for the reason that if the first proposition was defeated the remaining proposition would be incomplete. Decided well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 696.)

Mr. Wallace called for a division of the question, so that a vote could be had upon each of the several sections offered as an amendment to the bill. The President decided that the question was not divisible, because the amendment would be incomplete unless adopted as a whole. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1225.)

When Divisible

14 (b). Mr. Gordon called for a division of the question (on a resolution to appoint a conference committee, and instruct the same), so that a separate vote could be had upon each of the two propositions contained there. Mr. Adams submitted the point of order, that the resolution could not be divided without destroying the sense, and the call for a division of the question was, therefore, not in order. The President decided the resolution could be divided without destroying the sense, and the point of order, therefore, not well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 56.)

When a Part of a Divisible Question Cannot Be Considered

14 (c). And the question being: "Will the Senate agree to the second division?" Mr. McCracken submitted the point of order that the first division of the question having been ruled out of order, the second division is incomplete and unintelligible, and, therefore, not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 56.)

Final Passage — Not Divisible

14 (d). The Senate was considering House Bill No. 247 on final passage when Senator Nolan rose to divide the question. The Presiding Officer, Senator Kelley, ruled that the question could not be divided on the basis of the constitutional requirement that bills contain only one subject. To be divisible a question must have more than one subject and include points so distinct and separate that, one of them being taken away, the other will stand as a complete proposition.

The decision was appealed and the Senate sustained the Presiding Officer. (Senate Journal, November 14, 1977, p. 1071.) also (Senate Journal, April 18, 1977, p. 223.)

Division Matter of Right as to Multiple Executive Nominations

Unanimous Consent Not Required for Division of the Question

14 (f). Senator Zemprelli inquired whether there is a requirement of unanimous consent in order to divide the question. The President decided that the Rules of the Senate (Rule XXXIV) state that any Senator may call for division of the question in certain cases, so it does not require unanimous consent in such instances. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 1107.)

Question of Concurrence in House Amendments Divisible

14 (g). The President pro tempore, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Fisher, held that the question of concurrence in House Amendments is divisible. Thus, the Senate could divide the amendments, concur in part and nonconcur in part, then return the bill to the House with the amendments concurred in part and nonconcurred in part. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2662.)

SECTION 15

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS AND NOMINATIONS

Committee on Executive Nominations Not Subject to Senate Rule Regarding Notice of Meetings

15 (b). Senator Ross reported several Executive nominations from the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations. Senator Romanelli rose to a point of order that since the meeting was not held in compliance with the Senate Rule regarding "Notice of Meetings," the report was, therefore, not in order.

The Presiding Officer, Senator Zemprelli, ruled the point of order not well taken in as much as the rule referred to by Senator Romanelli dealt with the consideration of bills only. During debate mention was made that the report may also violate the Sunshine Law (1974, P.L. 486, No. 175). The Chair ruled that the Sunshine Law did not apply to the consideration of Executive Nominations.

Senator Romanelli appealed the decision of the Chair. The Senate sustained the decision (33-3). (Senate Journal, April 19, 1978, p. 455) (Compilers note: The Pennsylvania Supreme Court handed down decisions stating the "Committee of State Senate which was meeting to consider executive nominations was not conducting a meeting 'where bills are considered' nor was it conducting a hearing 'where testimony was taken,' so that the meeting did not come within notice requirements of the Sunshine Law, even though the committee was an 'agency' and was, when it decided to refer the nomination to the Senate floor, taking 'formal action.' " Consumers Ed. and Protective Ass'n. Intern. Inc. v. Nolan, 346 A2d 871, 21 Pa. Cmwlth. 566, 1975, affirmed 368 A2d 675, 470 Pa. 372.

Unanimous Consent for Consideration Not Needed on Day After Reported from Committee

15 (c). Senator Ross called up for consideration several nominations which were reported from committee the day before. A Senator raised the point of order that under Senate Rules, these nominations needed the unanimous consent of the Senate in order to be considered. The Presiding Officer, Senator Scanlon, ruled the point not well taken. He quoted Senate Rule 30, Sec. 3: "When the consideration of executive nominations is reached in the order of business, a Senator may make a motion to go into executive session for the purpose of confirming the nominations which have been reported from committee at a previous session and, if unanimous consent be given, also those which may be reported on the same day the motion is made." Since these nominations were reported on a previous Session day, they do not need unanimous consent. (Senate Journal, November 15, 1978, p. 1116.)

Motion to Return Nominations to the Governor Debatable

15 (d). On a point of order raised by Senator Zemprelli, the President held that a motion to return nominations to the Governor per his recall request was debatable. (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 128-9.)

Debate on Executive Nominations Must Be Confined to Nominee in Question

15 (e). The President, on repeated responses to points of order, decided that comments about persons other than the nominee during debate of executive nominations were out of order, and held that remarks must be confined to the nominee in question and relevant to his nomination. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 1573-81.)

Recall Messages Need Not Lie on the Table Before Action on Them

15 (f). Senator Zemprelli rose to a point of order to object to the immediate action being taken on recall messages reported from the Committee on Rules and Executive Nominations. The President pro tempore held there is nothing in the rules or practice of the Senate which requires that the recalls must lie on the table before action on them is taken. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 335.)

Unanimous Consent Required For Consideration of Executive Nominations Only If Considered on the Same Day They Are Reported From Committee

15 (g). The President pro tempore, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Zemprelli, held that unanimous consent is required for consideration of executive nominations only if the nominees are considered the same day they are reported from committee. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2240.)

SECTION 16

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Five Day Rule Not Applicable in Executive Session

16 (c). The Senate being in executive session, Mr. Humes submitted the point of order that as more than five days had elapsed since the vote was had, under Rule 16 of the Senate, a motion to reconsider is not now in order. The President pro tempore (Mr. Reyburn in the Chair) decided the point of order not well taken, as the sixteenth rule, governing the Senate in regular session has not been applied to the Senate in executive session. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1056.)

Unanimous Consent For Consideration Must Be Made at Proper Time

16 (d). Mr. Fleming asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported from committee and read by the clerk. The motion to go into Executive Session was made and carried.

When the first nominee was called up for consideration, Mr. Weiner rose to a point of order and quoted a part of Senate Rule 38 which states, "..... Which question (Shall the Senate advise and consent to this nomination) shall not be put on the day on which the nomination or nominations are reported from committee, unless by unanimous consent...." Mr. Weiner stated that Mr. Fleming should have asked unanimous consent for the immediate consideration just prior to the time when the first nominee was called up for consideration.

Mr. Berger then rose and stated that just prior to going into Executive Session Mr. Fleming had asked and obtained unanimous consent to consider the names reported from committee at today's session, and the unanimous consent was given and not objected to.

The Presiding Officer decided the point of order well taken and ruled that at the time when Senator Fleming asked for unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of nominations made by the Governor and reported from committee at today's session, there was a general consent given. Later on after we did go into Executive Session, and the nominees were brought up in individual order, the first one being Mr. McGlinchey, the Chair is of the opinion that unanimous consent again must be granted under the rules. The rules specifically say that the Chair ask that unanimous consent be given for the consideration of this nomination. Because there has been no unanimous consent given at this time for the consideration of this nomination, the Chair feels the point of order taken by Senator Weiner to be well taken. (Legislative Journal, 1959, pp. 5162-5164.)

Executive Session Not Required for Motion to Return Nominations to the Governor Per Recall Request

16 (e). The President, on a point of order raised by Senator Fumo ruled that past precedence has been established whereby the Senate does not have to be in executive session to return nominations to the Governor. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 128.)

Motion to Rise From Executive Session Out of Order When Combined With Another Motion

16 (f). The President, on a point of order, held that it is not in order to have a motion for the executive session to rise together with a motion allowing for a nomination to come before the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 439.)

SECTION 17

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION
(RESERVED)

SECTION 18

INDEFINITE POSTPONEMENT

Motion for, not Capable of Amendment

18 (b). The President decided that a motion to postpone, indefinitely, being already in its simplest form, is not capable of amendment. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 868.)

Does Not Preclude Debate Upon the Original Subject

18 (c). The President ruled that the motion to postpone indefinitely does not preclude debate upon the original subject. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 788.)

Motion for, of Motion to Reconsider Limitation of Debate in Rule 16 Does Not Apply to 18 (d). Mr. Hall submitted the point of order that the spirit of the rule prohibiting a Senator from speaking longer than five minutes on a motion to reconsider, requires the rule to be applied likewise to a motion to postpone indefinitely such motion to reconsider. The President decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 172.)

INTERROGATION

Question Out of Order as it Questions Motives of Member

19 (a). Senator Kelley rose to a point of order objecting to a query asked of a member in interrogation because the question went to the motives of the member. The President pro tempore held that the point of order was well-taken and asked that the question be restated. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 41.)

SECTION 20

LAY ON THE TABLE

Not Debatable

20 (a). The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, decided that it was not in order to debate the motion to lay on the table. The Chair quoted from Mason's Manual, Sec. 335, p. 235, the following:

> "It is a matter of importance to a body that consideration of a question may be put over to a later date without debate or delay. To permit debate on the motion to lay on the table would defeat this purpose. This motion is not debatable." (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 5162.)

Motion in Order on Final Day of Five-Day Provision of Discharge Petition

20 (b). An executive nomination was before the Senate on the fifth and final day of the five-day period of a discharge petition, and a motion to lay the nomination on the table was made. On a point of order, the President decided that the discharge petition was still in force and ruled that the motion was out of order. The decision of the Chair was appealed and the Senate (22-26) voted not to sustain the decision of the Chair; thus the motion was in order and the nomination was laid on the table. (Two legislative days later, the nomination was taken from the table and returned to the Governor per his recall request (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 465). (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 434-8.)

Motion to Lay on the Table Out of Order Once Bill Has Gone Over in Its Order

20 (c). Senator Kelley objected by point of order to a motion to lay a bill on the table after a motion for the bill to go over in its order had passed. The Presiding Officer (William J. Moore) held that the point of order was well-taken — the bill had been put over in order and was no longer before the Senate for consideration. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 1359.)

SECTION 21

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Leaves of Absence Granted Last For Entire Legislative Day

21 (a). Senator Zemprelli raised a point of order that under Rule 22, Section 4, debate of legislative leaves already granted was not permitted. The President decided that a return to the order of business of Leaves of Absence was in order, but that those legislative leaves granted on that legislative day were still in effect for the entire day. (Senate Journal, 1980, pp. 1781-2.)

Senator on Legislative Leave Eligible to Be Voted on Resolution

21 (b). Senator Kelley rose to a point of order, stating that the name of a Senator on legislative leave should not be called during the roll call on a resolution because Rule XXXI, Section 7 says "all members present" vote on a resolution. The Presiding Officer (D. Michael Fisher) decided that the use of the word "present" in Rule XXXI, Section 7, is consistent with the provisions for legislative leave in Rule XXVII, Section 1(a), and the Senator on legislative leave is eligible to be voted on the resolution. (Senate Journal, 1984, pp. 1870-1.)

SECTION 22

LEGISLATIVE DAY

Ends When Senate Adjourns

22 (a). Mr. Dent raised the question that since the official time was after midnight the Senate could not act on the calendar for the previous day.

The Presiding Officer ruled that a legislative day ends when the Senate adjourns for that day. (Legislative Journal, December 13, 1951, p. 6187.) (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 5225.)

SECTION 23

MAJORITY IS PREVAILING SIDE

Motion to Reconsider Made by Prevailing Side

23 (a). The following point of order made by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante:

"That under Rule 38 of the Senate which requires two members who voted with majority to make the motion to reconsider a vote on confirmation of executive nominations, the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, and the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, having voted in the negative could not make the motion."

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis, President of the Senate, ruled the point of order not well taken; and stated:

"In this case there were 26 votes for confirmation and 20 votes against confirmation which was 8 votes less than the constitutional majority required.

"The question to be determined is:

'What construction is to be given to the word "majority" as used in rule 38?'

"Jefferson's Manual, edition of the 76th Congress, page 374, Section 813, says:

'The provision of the rule that the motion may be made "by any member of the majority"; is construed to mean any member of the prevailing side either in the case of a tie vote or in the case of a two-thirds vote.'

"In Hind's Precedents; Vol. 11, page 1133, paragraph 1650, there appears the following:

'Where a two-thirds vote is required, a member of the prevailing side may move to reconsider, even though he may be one of an actual minority. A majority is required to reconsider a vote taken under conditions requiring two-thirds for an affirmative action.'

"Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, page 111, Sec. 87, reads:

'The general parliamentary law requires that a motion to reconsider is made only by a member who voted on the prevailing side of the question.'

"Reading further; this authority says:

'In practice, the motion to reconsider is often made by a member who first voted upon the losing side but who changed his vote to the prevailing side before the announcement of the vote, in order to qualify to move to reconsider.'

"It is clear to the Chair, after a careful examination of the question, that the motion to reconsider must be made by two members who were on the prevailing side — which is a majority within the meaning of the rule.

"Rule 38 does not say a majority of the votes cast — it requires any two Senators voting with the majority.

"It is plain that those who voted in the negative defeated the confirmation, and were in the majority on the question. This has been the interpretation in the Congress of the United States (which rules are identical in this respect with ours) and in all Legislative Bodies, therefore the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, and the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, were qualified to make the motion to reconsider, both having voted in the negative." (Legislative Journal, 1939, p. 1266.)

SECTION 24

MOTIONS

Order of Disposal

24 (a). Mr. Dent inquired whether or not his colleague was in order to make another motion while one he has just made is pending.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled the gentleman out of order. (Legislative Journal, November 27, 1951, p. 5779.)

SECTION 25

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Comments Not in Order Under the Reading of Bills in Place

25 (a). On a point of order raised by Senator Hager, the President decided comments concerning bills were not in order under the Reading of Bills in Place. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 222.)

SECTION 26

ORDERS OF THE DAY

A Single Objection Prevents Suspension of, at a Special Session or a Special Purpose

26 (a). The President pro tempore decided that at a single session, for a special purpose, a single objection would prevent the suspension of the orders. (Senate Journal, 1875, pp. 460,589.)

The President decided that at a special session for a special purpose, a motion cannot be considered without the unanimous consent of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1875, p. 586.)

Motion to Extend Session Pending Consideration of Bills not in Order

26 (b). Mr. Hall submitted the point of order that a motion to extend session was not in order, pending the consideration of a bill. Decided well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 664.)

Suspended by Special Order

26 (e). Mr. Cooper submitted the point of order, that, as the order for the offering of original resolutions was not completed, the special order fixed by the Senate for half past eleven o'clock was not in order. Decided not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 780.)

Mr. Hughes, then submitted the point of order that, as the resolution was still pending and undisposed of, its consideration could not be interrupted by other business. Decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 780.)

Take Precedence of Call for the Previous Question

26 (f). The Chair having decided the call for the previous question in order, and an appeal taken, and the question being, "Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?" The hour of one o'clock having arrived, and the orders of the day being called for the President was about to adjourn the Senate, when Mr. Hall submitted the point of order that the orders of the day cannot be called pending a call for the previous question. The President decided the point of order not well taken and adjourned the Senate. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 172.)

SECTION 27

OVER IN ORDER

Once Bill Has Gone Over in Order, Decision Must be Reconsidered Not Merely Reversed

27 (a). Senator Kelley made a parliamentary inquiry that once a bill is gone over in its order, this decision is not reversible by the Chair, but rather must be reconsidered by the Senate. The President proceeded to a vote on the reconsideration of the decision to go over the bill. (Senate Journal, 1979, pp. 1098-9.)

If Motion to Go Over in Order Made on Tenth Day, Bill is Automatically Recommitted to Committee From Which it Emanated

27 (b). Upon parliamentary inquiry from Senator Kelley, regarding the status of a bill under consideration, the President pro tempore stated that when a bill goes over on the tenth day it has appeared on the calendar it is automatically recommitted to the committee from which it emanated. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 1691.)

Debate on Motion for Bill Over in Order Confined to Whether or Not Bill Should Go Over That Day

27 (c). Senator Jubelirer raised a point of order objecting to the debate on a motion for a bill to go over in its order. The President held the Senator's point well-taken and stated that debate should be confined to the limited area of whether or not the bill should go over in order that day. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2286.)

Motion to Go Over in Order Debatable Only as to Postponement

27 (d). Upon inquiry from Senator Greenleaf, the President pro tempore held that the motion for a bill to go over in its order was debatable only insofar as the postponement of the issue is concerned; the issue is not debatable on the merits of the legislation. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 1000.)

Motion For Whole Calendar to Go Over in Order Not Divisible

27 (e). On parliamentary inquiry from Senators Lloyd and Zemprelli, the President decided that when the motion is to go over the entire calendar, there is no question which can be divided, and the motion to divide the question so as to except a certain bill would not be on order. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 1066.)

SECTION 28

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Definition of

28 (a). Mr. Fleming raised the point of order as to the nature of the question of personal privilege.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, ruled that questions of personal privilege are questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of Members of the Senate in their representative capacity. They must relate to a person as a Member of the Senate or relate to charges against his character which would, if true, incapacitate him for membership of entitlement to the floor. (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 2059.)

SECTION 29

POINTS OF ORDER

Cannot Be Raised Upon Another Pending Point of Order

29 (a). The President pro tempore decided that a point of order could not be raised upon another point of order pending before the Senate for consideration. (Senate Journal, 1876, p. 884.)

Can Be Raised at Any Stage of a Bill

29 (b). The President decided that a point of order can be submitted at any stage of a bill, and was always in order. (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 389.)

Cannot Be Raised Upon a Question After Other Business Has Intervened

29 (c). The President pro tempore decided that as a recess had been taken (a motion to that effect having been made and carried in the meanwhile), and as the Senate had come together after the recess had expired it was then too late for a point of order to be raised upon the resolution which had been passed previous to the recess. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1891, p. 487.)

Point of Order Not Debatable

29 (d). A point of order having been ruled upon by the presiding officer, is not debatable. Exceptions to the ruling may be taken only by appeal. (Legislative Journal, March 14, 1949, pp. 1200, 1201.)

Chair Does Not Have to Give Reasons for Ruling

29 (e). The President concurred in a point of order raised by Senator Bell stating that the Chair does not have to give reasons for the Chair's ruling on a point of order. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 327.)

SECTION 30

PREVIOUS QUESTION

Call for, Can Be Renewed Same Day

30 (a). The Senate decided that the previous question, having been called on the pending question of a bill and not sustained, could be called again on the same day. (Senate Journal, 1884, p. 690.)

Call for in Order While a Senator is Speaking

30 (d). Mr. Cooper submitted a point of order that, as the Senator from Philadelphia (Mr. Adams) had the floor, the call for the previous question could not be recognized by the Chair at that time. The President decided the point of order not well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 172.)

Call For Prevents Member From Speaking Twice

30 (e). Senator Weiner raised the point of order that since some Members had not spoken twice on a bill as provided under Senate Rules (Senate Rule 4) they should be entitled to continue debate even though the call for the previous question had been adopted. The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Raymond P. Shafer, ruled that since the call for the previous question had been carried, debate is closed.

Motion Undebatable

30 (f). A motion for the previous question was made by Senator Duffield and others on an amendment offered by Senator Nolan. Senator Nolan attempted to debate the motion. Senator Coppersmith raised a point of order the motion was undebatable. The President, Lieutenant Governor, Ernest P. Kline, ruled the motion undebatable. (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 819) (Compilers note: see Mason's Manual, sec. 349, p. 244.)

Motion for Adjournment or Recess Takes Precedence

30 (g). While a motion for the previous question was pending, Senator Hager rose to a parliamentary inquiry as to whether the motion to adjourn would take precedence over the motion for the previous question. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the motion to adjourn would take precedence over the motion for the previous question. (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 819.) (Compilers note: see Senate Rule 13.2.)

On Amendments — Order of Consideration After Adoption of Motion

30 (h). Senator Nolan had offered amendments to House Bill 1349. After much debate, Senator Duffield and others moved the previous question. Senator Kelley and others raised point of order as to what procedure would be followed upon adoption of the motion. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled that all debate would cease and the Senate would vote first on the amendments, and then without debate vote immediately on the passage of the bill. He quoted from Senate Rule 13.9. (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 820.) (Senate Journal, November 16, 1977, p. 1128.)

Reconsideration — Not in Order

30 (i). Senator Hager moved to have the vote on the motion for the previous question on House Bill 1349 reconsidered. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the motion out of order, quoting a portion of Mason's Manual, Sec. 352.2, p. 246, "The previous question may not be reconsidered." (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 824.)

Motion to Reconsider Not in Order — Dilatory

30 (j). On appeal from the decision of the Chair, the President presiding, the Senate (31-9) sustained the Chair's decision that the motion for the previous question may not be reconsidered, and that such a reconsideration motion is a dilatory motion improperly delaying or obstructing business. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1930.)

Motion Not Debatable

30 (k). The President, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Zemprelli, held that on the basis of Rule XIII, Section 3 of the Senate Rules, the motion for the previous question is a non-debatable motion. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 832.)

SECTION 31

QUESTIONS OF PRIVILEGE

Do Not Take Precedence of Special Orders

31 (a). During the consideration of the resolution — (Resolved, As the sense of the Senate, that the ruling of the temporary President on the appeal taken from the decision of the President of the Senate on the point of order raised by the Senator from Delaware that amendments inserted on the second reading could not be stricken out on the third reading of House Bill No. 289, known as the repeal of the recorder's act of 1878, was an error, a tie vote having been cast, and the proceedings subsequent to the decision of the President of the Senate be corrected upon the Journal and rescinded) — the hour fixed for a special order having arrived, Mr. Reyburn then submitted the point of order that the question before the Senate was one of the highest privilege, and as such its consideration was in order until finally decided. The President submitted the point of order to the Senate for its decision. Decided in the negative by the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1883, pp. 779, 780, 787.)

Do Not Take Precedence Over Roll Call

31 (b). Mr. Lane interrupted a roll call by rising on question of personal privilege.

The Presiding Officer ruled the question of personal privilege does not take precedence over the roll call and the gentleman was out of order. (Legislative Journal, December 10, 1951, p. 5963.)

SECTION 32

QUORUM

Senators Announcing "Pairs" to Be Counted in Making Up

32 (a). Mr. Lee submitted the point of order that those members of the Senate who responded to the call of the yeas and nays just taken by stating as a reason for not voting that they were paired with absent Senators, are to be counted to ascertain whether there was a quorum present when the vote was taken. The President pro tempore decided the point of order well taken and the resolution agreed to. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 143.)

Senators Announcing "Pairs" and Signing Appeal to Be Counted in Making Up

32 (b). An appeal having been taken from the foregoing decision, and the yeas and nays called and the five Senators who signed the appeal declining to vote, Mr. Reyburn (acting President pro tempore), decided that with twenty-three Senators voting the two Senators recorded as present and paired, and the records on the question, a quorum was present, and the question was decided in the affirmative. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 145; appeal from decision of the Chair, p. 145.)

The Acting President pro tempore (Mr. Reyburn) directed the clerk to call the names of the Senators who signed the appeal from the decision of the Chair, viz.: Messrs. Gordon, Kennedy, Biddis, Ross and Hess, and make a record of the same; which was done. And the acting President pro tempore (Mr. Reyburn) decided that with the Senators voting, the Senators present and paired, and the record on the question, a quorum was present, and the question determined in the affirmative. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 146.)

SECTION 33

RECESS

Amending Motion for

33 (a). The President decided it not in order to amend a motion "that the Senate take a recess" by adding thereto an amendment fixing the order of business when again convened. An appeal was taken, and the decision reversed. (Senate Journal, 1877, p. 574.)

A motion "that the Senate take a recess until eleven o'clock," having been amended by adding thereto "and that the Senate then proceed to the consideration of House Bill No. 162," the President decided that the Senate having under consideration bills on third reading, and the bill proposed to be considered after the recess, being on second reading, it would require a two-thirds vote to pass the resolution. An appeal was taken, and the decision reversed. (Senate Journal, 1877, p. 576.)

Motion for, Not in Order After Motion to Adjourn has been Defeated, and Vote Shows a Quorum Voting

33 (b). A call for the previous question having been made on the first division of a motion to fix an afternoon session for the consideration of a certain bill, and less than a quorum voting thereon, a motion was made to adjourn and negatived, the vote showing more than a quorum present. A motion was then made to take a recess until tomorrow morning when Mr. Cooper submitted the point of order that as the vote on the motion to adjourn, just taken, demonstrated the presence of a quorum of the Senate, the motion just made was not in order, and that the question recurred upon the first division of the question now pending. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Senate Journal, 1885, p. 334.)

Motion Not Debatable

33 (c). Mr. Lane rose to debate the motion to recess.

The Presiding Officer ruled the motion to recess is not debatable and the gentleman was out of order. (Legislative Journal, December 10, 1951, p. 5963.)

Motion to Recess Takes Precedence Over Motion to Reconsider

33 (d). On a point of order raised by Senator Hager, the President determined that a motion for recess takes precedence over a motion to reconsider. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 623.)

Motion Amendable Only as to Length of Recess — Such Amendment is Not Debatable

33 (e). On points of order from Senators Lloyd and Mellow, the President pro tempore held that the motion to recess was amendable only as to the length of recess and that any motion to amend the length of the time for the recess would not be debatable. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2240.)

Motion Not Debatable

33 (f). On points of order from Senators Rocks and Lloyd, the President pro tempore held that, under the Rules of the Senate and Mason's Manual, a motion to recess is not debatable. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2240.)

SECTION 34

RECOMMITMENT

Bill May Be Recommitted Any Time Before Final Action

34 (a). The question having been raised as to the entertainment of a motion to recommit a bill, which through a printer's error, was not before the Senate in its proper form, the presiding officer (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) ruled that a bill may properly be recommitted for the purpose of amendment regardless of the condition of the bill as long as there is not final action on the bill. (Legislative Journal, April 13, 1949, p. 312.)

Motion to Recommit Subject to Reconsideration

34 (b). On a point of order raised by Senator Coppersmith, the President decided that a motion to recommit a bill was subject to reconsideration. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 672.)

Debate on Motion to Recommit Cannot Go Into Merits of Question

34 (c). The President concurred, in a parliamentary inquiry, that during debate of a motion to recommit, getting into the substance or merits of the bill is not proper. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 932.)

Motion to Recommit Debatable But Not on Merits of Bill

34 (d). Following a motion to rerefer a bill to committee, a point of order was raised by Senator Scanlon, and the President ruled that the motion to rerefer was open to debate, but not to debate on the bill itself. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1470.)

Motion to Recommit Takes Precedence Over the Motion to Adopt

34 (e). The Presiding Officer, upon parliamentary inquiry from Senator Coppersmith, held that a motion to recommit was actually made and that the motion to recommit takes precedence over the motion to adopt. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1686.)

Choice of Committees in Rereferral

34 (f). A motion was made to rerefer a bill to a different committee than to which it was originally referred. On a point of order raised by Senator Romanelli, the President decided that the Senate has the power to rerefer a bill to any committee it pleases. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1921.)

Debate on Motion to Recommit Limited to Reasons for Recommittal

34 (g). The President, on a point of order raised by Senator Fumo, reminded the speaker that debate on the motion to rerefer is limited to the reasons for rereferral and that debate on the substance of the bill was out of order. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1964.)

Motion to Recommit Debatable as to the Propriety of Reference, But Not as to the Main Question

34 (h). On several points of order raised by Senator Jubelirer, the President held that the motion to commit or recommit is debatable as to the propriety of the reference, but the main question is not open to debate. However, the President found that the urgency of the bill being discussed is germane to the propriety of the reference. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 1010-1.)

If Bill Recommitted, Amendments Pending Go With the Bill

34 (i). On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Jubelirer, the President ruled that if a bill were to go back to committee on rereferral, the amendments offered to the bill, but not yet adopted, would go back to the committee with the bill. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2779.)

Debate on Motion to Recommit Limited Solely to the Appropriateness of the Recommittal

34 (j). Senator Jubelirer objected to the debate on a motion to recommit, stating that when a member suggests that anyone who votes for the motion will deny him an opportunity to offer an amendment, that member is out of order. The President found the point of order well-taken and ruled that the Senator should confine his comments solely to the appropriateness of the recommittal. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 765.)

Executive Nomination Not Subject to Recommittal Until Taken From the Table

34 (k). A motion was made to take a nomination from the table. Then, prior to a vote, the motion to recommit the nomination was made. On point of order from Senator Zemprelli, the Presiding Officer (William J. Moore) decided that the nomination could not be subject to a motion for recommittal until it had been removed from the table. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1974.)

SECTION 35

RECONSIDERATION

Not in Order After Five Legislative Days

35 (d). Mr. Cooper submitted the point of order that, as five legislative days had elapsed since the vote was had by which the amendment was agreed to, under the provisions of the sixteenth rule of the Senate, the motion was not now in order. Decided well taken. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 737.)

Of Final Vote on Bill, Must Be Made Within Five Legislative Days

35 (f). A motion having been made to reconsider final vote on bill, Mr. Grady submitted the point of order that, as five legislative days had elapsed since the vote on final passage of the bill by the Senate, the resolution is not in order. The President decided that point of order well taken, and ruled the motion out of order. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1241.)

Motion for, on Second Reading Having Been Made and Lost, Not in Order a Second Time

35 (h). The bill being on third reading and a motion to reconsider the vote by which it passed second reading having been made and lost, Mr. Shapiro submitted the point of order that a motion to reconsider again was not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken and ruled the motion out of order. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 6129.)

Necessary When Instructing a Conference Committee to Do That Which the Senate Has Already Refused to Do

35 (i). Mr. Hughes submitted the point of order that it is proposed by the resolution instructing a conference committee to do something that the Senate has already refused to do, without reconsidering the previous action of the Senate, and is, therefore, not in order. The President decided the point of order well taken, and ruled the resolution out of order. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 62.)

A Motion for, Always in Order

35 (j). An objection having been made to the motion for the reconsideration of the vote by which a resolution was defeated, the President decided that a motion to reconsider is always in order. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1891, p. 404.)

Motion for, Opens Main Question to Debate

35 (k). Mr. Weiner raised the point of order that under the motion to reconsider only that motion was debatable.

The Presiding Officer decided the point of order not well taken and quoted from Mason's Manual, Sec. 471, p. 322, the following:

"'. . .When the question to be reconsidered is debatable, the entire question is opened to debate by the motion to reconsider.'"

Motion for Reconsideration in Order on Final Day of Five-Day Discharge Petition

35 (l). On the final day of a five-day requirement of a discharge petition, an executive nomination was defeated. A motion to reconsider was made, and on point of order, the President held that the motion to reconsider was in order on the fifth day of the discharge petition. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 434.)

Motion for Reconsideration Permitted Twice

35 (m). After a second, consecutive reconsideration motion was made, Senator Coppersmith raised a point of order, and the President ruled that (under Rule 12, Section 12) a second reconsideration motion was in order. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 644.)

Motion to Reconsider Executive Nominations Need Not Occur While in Executive Session But Senate Must Still Maintain Custody

35 (n). Senator Romanelli inquired whether a vote approving executive nominations can be reconsidered after executive session rises. The President decided that the motion to reconsider can be made at any time, and that the motion need not be made in Executive Session. The President added that in order to reconsider the matter, it must still be in the custody of the Senate, and he noted that nominations approved would leave Senate custody when they are sent to the Governor. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 61.)

Any Action of the Senate, Positive or Negative, Can be Reconsidered

35 (o). Senator Reibman inquired whether reconsideration can be asked for when a question is determined in the affirmative. The President pro tempore decided that any action of the Senate, positive or negative, may be reconsidered. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 502.)

Bill Does Not Have to be on Desks of Senators For Reconsideration Motion

35 (p). Senator Snyder rose to a point of order to object to the motion to reconsider a bill because the bill was not "on the desks" of the Senators. The President decided the motion to reconsider is in order without the bill being "on the desks," but that the motion to finally pass the bill would not be in order without the bill being on the desks. (Senate Journal, 1981, p. 609.)

Motion for Reconsideration Not in Order While the Senate is at Ease

35 (q). Senator Lloyd rose to a point of order to object to his not being recognized on the floor for the purposes of offering a reconsideration motion. The President decided that the gentleman was not recognized because the Majority Leader had asked for the Senate to be at ease, the President had put the Senate at ease, and it is not proper to recognize a member when the Senate is at ease. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2088.)

RESOLUTIONS

Merits of Resolution Not to Be Debated When Presented

36 (c). The point of order was raised by Mr. Huffman that it is a violation of the rules of the Senate for a debate to be presented by a Senator offering a resolution. President decided point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 129.)

Discharge Resolution Is Not a Privileged Resolution

36 (d). Mr. Dent raised the question as to whether or not a discharge resolution was a privileged resolution.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled that it is not and quoted from Section 400 of Jefferson's Manual the following:

"The motion to discharge a committee from the consideration of an ordinary legislative proposition is not privileged." (Legislative Journal, May 7, 1951, p. 1873.)

Discharge Resolution, Vote on, Not a Vote For or Against a Bill

36 (e). Mr. Van Sant inquired as to whether a vote on a discharge resolution constitutes a vote for or against a bill. The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, ruled that the vote is to decide whether or not to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill. The vote is on the resolution only, not the merits of the bill. (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 4174.)

Discharge Resolution Not Debatable

36 (f). The question was raised as to debate on a discharge resolution. The Presiding officer quoted the following from Section 491, p. 329, of Mason's Manual:

"It is not in order to discuss the merits of a bill upon a motion to discharge a committee or withdraw a bill from committee. Debate in such cases must be confined strictly to the purpose of the motion, for if this were not true, the merits of any question could be forced under discussion merely by such a motion."

(Senate Journal, June 21, 1977, p. 494.)

RESOLUTIONS CONCURRENT

Necessary to Provide for Printing of Report of an Investigating Committee — Cannot Be Considered Until Referred to Proper Committee

37 (a). Mr. Gobin submitted to the point of order, that a concurrent resolution is necessary to provide for the printing proposed in the resolution, and a concurrent resolution, which originated in the Senate, of the same character, having been defeated in the House, the resolution is not in order. The President pro tempore decided that the resolution was not in order. (Senate Journal, 1881, p. 860.)

A concurrent resolution creating a commission to be known as a commission to investigate the disbursement of the Commonwealth, having been introduced the President decided that under Rule 39 of the Senate, it must be referred to an appropriate committee before consideration by the Senate. (Legislative Journal, June 11, 1913, p. 4522.)

From House Recalling a House Bill Which is on Second Reading Calendar Out of Order

37 (b). A resolution having been presented to the Senate recalling a House Bill, Mr. Lyon submitted the point of order, that said bill having been regularly presented to the Senate as having passed the House of Representatives, committed to the proper Senate committee, considered by the same and reported to the Senate, and having passed first reading and now being on second reading calendar, the position of the bill is such that the request of the House contained in the resolution could not be complied with under the rules of the Senate. Whereupon, the President of the Senate decided the point of order well taken and ruled the resolution out of order. (Senate Journal, 1893, p. 1136. See also Legislative Journal, 1921, p. 1295.)

SECTION 38

REVERSION TO PRIOR PRINTER'S NUMBER

Debate on Motion Confined to the Amendments Involved

38 (a). During debate of a motion that a bill on third consideration revert to a prior printer's number, Senator Jubelirer rose to a point of order to object to the debate as being out of order. The President held the point well-taken because debate on the motion to revert to a prior printer's number should be confined to the amendments involved. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 323.)

SECTION 39

ROLL CALL

Verification Cannot Be Asked for After Vote Announced

39 (a.). Mr. Reed submitted the point of order that after the roll call was announced by the Chair it was too late to ask the verification of the roll. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, 1933, p. 5640.) (See also Legislative Journal, 1937, pp. 397, 398.)

Announcement of Roll Call Cannot be Delayed for a Day

39 (b). A roll call having been completed and the announcement thereof being next in order, Senator Dent requested the results be postponed until the following day to allow Senator Barr, who was absent, to register his opposition to the bill.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled the only order of business in order is the announcement of the roll call and the request is out of order. (Legislative Journal, December 17, 1951, p. 6294.)

Suspension of Rules — Motion — Not to Interrupt

39 (c). The clerk was calling the roll on House Bill 1349 when Senator Hager rose and moved to suspend the rules in regards to the previous question. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled the gentleman out of order. Once a roll call has begun, it cannot be interrupted even by a motion to adjourn. (Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 824.)

Members of Senate Not Supposed to be Near Tally Desk During Tabulation of Roll Call

39 (d). On a point of order raised by Senator Kelley, the President decided it well-taken that the Rules of the Senate provide that members are not supposed to be near the tally desk when the roll call is being tabulated. (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 645.)

Does Not Officially Begin Until it is Responded to

39 (e). Senator Zemprelli rose to a point of order to object to the Chair's entertaining of business once the roll has been called for. The President stated that the rule is that the roll call does not officially begin until it has been responded to; thus the roll call had not yet begun. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1731.)

Did Not Begin Because No Response Given to First Name Called

39 (f). The President pro tempore, on point of order from Senator Zemprelli, held that a roll call had not begun because there had been no response to the first name called; thus, it was not improper to recognize a Senator for debate at that point. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 2498.)

SECTION 40

SENATORS

Before Qualification, Cannot Present Papers

40 (a). The Speaker decided that it was not in order for a Senator-elect to present a paper to the Senate before he was qualified. (Senate Journal, 1866, p. 6.)

The Speaker decided that it was not in order to receive a paper from persons elected as Senators previous to their being qualified. The Senate sustained the decision. (Senate Journal, 1867, p. 6.)

Constitutional Order in Organization of Senate

40 (b). Senator Barr, at the meeting for the organization of the Senate, and after the Senators-elect from the even-numbered districts had been declared elected but prior to the roll call, asked leave to present a resolution.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis, ruled that the resolution was out of order and stated:

"Motions at this time are out of order because of the lack of a quorum as provided in Section 10, Article 2, of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"'A majority of each House shall constitute a quorum.'

"Until the oath of office has been administered to the Senators whose election has just been certified to the Senate by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the required quorum of twenty-six (26) members is lacking.

"In the absence of a quorum, the only thing before the Senate is the administering of the oath of office to the certified newly elected Senators and the calling of the roll to ascertain if a quorum is present."

(Legislative Journal, January 5, 1943, pages 3 and 4.)

May Vote on Question Affecting Seat of 40 (c). The Speaker decided that an amendment, directing that the name of a Senator, whose seat was contested, be omitted in calling the yeas and nays on the resolution before the Senate relating to the right of such Senator to a seat in that body, was not in order. An appeal was taken and laid on the table. (Senate Journal, 1871, p. 125.)

A question of order was raised that a Senator should not vote upon a question affecting his seat in the Senate. The Speaker submitted the question to the Senate, and it was decided that the question of order was not well taken. (Senate Journal, 1871, p. 127.)

Formal Resignation of, Necessary to Preclude Their Voting

40 (d). The yeas and nays having been called and taken, before the result was announced, Mr. Gordon submitted the point of order that the two Senators from Allegheny (Messrs. Arnhold and Upperman) having resigned their seats, were not entitled to a vote, and their vote should not be counted in ascertaining the result of the pending question. The President pro tempore (Mr. MacFarlane in the Chair) decided the point of order not well taken, the Senate having no official knowledge of the resignation of the Senators named. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1883, p. 209.)

SECTION 41

SPECIAL ORDERS

Debate Limited

41 (a). Mr. Walker raised the question that if a bill is made a special order of business at 2:45 o'clock and another bill is made a special order of business at 3:00 o'clock, are the proceedings, although unfinished, stopped at the termination of the time allotted to the bill which was made a special order of business at 2:45 o'clock when the Senate clock shows the hour of 3:00 o'clock.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled they very definitely would be. (Legislative Journal, September 25, 1951, p. 5356.)

Privilege of

41 (b). Mr. Weiner raised the point of order that the motion to make Executive Nominations a Special Order of Business immediately, while the Senate was under the Order of Business of Original Resolutions was out of order.

The Presiding Officer decided the point of order not well taken, and quoted from Mason's Manual, Sec. 264, p. 203, the following:

> "The purpose of a special order is to expedite important business and set a definite time for its consideration, which gives such a special order privilege over other pending business. Whenever the making of a special order sets aside the general rules regarding the order of business it requires the same vote as would be required to specifically suspend the rules."

The Chair is of the opinion that the motion made by Senator Fleming is in order at this time.

An appeal was taken and the decision of the Chair was sustained. (Legislative Journal, 1959, p. 5226.)

SECTION 42

SPECIAL SESSION

For a Special Purpose Being Fixed, a Two-thirds Vote Not Necessary to Pass Resolution for General Business

42 (a). A special session of the Senate being already fixed for the afternoon, for taking the vote on United States Senator, the President decided that two-thirds vote was necessary to pass a resolution — "That when the Senate adjourns this A.M., it will be to meet at three o'clock this P.M." An appeal was taken and the decision reversed by the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1877, p. 521.)

SECTION 43

SUSPENSION OF THE RULES

Motion to Suspend Not Debatable

43 (b). Senator Frame made a motion to suspend Senate Rule 15 so that the Senate could immediately consider the concurrence of amendments placed by the House in Senate Bill No. 765 without it appearing on the calendar. A question arose as to whether the motion to suspend a rule was debatable. The Chair, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled it was not and quoted from Mason's Manual, Section 283(6), page 214:

> "A motion to suspend the Rules may not be amended, debated, laid on the table, referred to committee, postponed, nor have any other subsidiary motion applied to it." (Legislative Journal, 1973, p. 741.) also (Senate Journal, June 20, 1978, p. 665.)

Motion to Suspend Rules to Amend House Amendments to Senate Bill is in Order

43 (c). The President, on inquiry from Senator Zemprelli, held that precedent and the Rules of the Senate indicated that a motion to suspend the rules to allow amendment of House amendments made to a Senate bill was in order. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 1522-3.)

Motion to Suspend Rules, Not in Order For Amendment of Conference Committee Report

43 (d). Upon a motion to suspend the rules for the purposes of amending a report of a committee of conference, the President held that the motion to suspend the rules is not in order due to the fact that the motion to adopt the report of the committee of conference is a privileged motion and privileged motions take precedence over motions to suspend the rules. On appeal, the Senate (28-22) sustained the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1982, pp. 1672-4.)

Motion to Suspend Rules Not in Order for Amendment of Bill on Concurrence in House Amendments

43 (e). Senator Bodack moved to suspend the rules in order to offer amendments to a bill on concurrence in House amendments. The President decided the motion was not in order because it was the intention of the Senator to amend the bill rather than the amendments placed in the bill by the House of Representatives. On appeal, the Senate (25-23) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 2503.)

Motion to Suspend Rules Not Debatable

43 (f). The President, on parliamentary inquiry from Senator Lloyd, held that it is not in order to speak on the motion to suspend the rules because it is a non-debatable motion. (Senate Journal, 1983, p. 832.)

Motion to Suspend Rules to Amend House Amendments to Senate Bill in Order Before Amendments Are Presented

43 (g). A motion to suspend the rules to amend House amendments to a Senate bill was made. Senator Bell raised a point of order, stating that the motion is out of order because the maker had not first presented the amendments. The President held the motion to suspend the rules was in order. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1585.)

Motion Not Debatable

43 (h). Senator Kelley inquired if the motion to suspend the rules was debatable in light of the difference between the list of non-debatable motions in the Senate Rules (Rule XIII, Section 3), the rule in Mason's Manual,and the constructive principle, Expressio Unius Est Exclusio Alterius (the expression of one thing is the exclusion of the other). The President pro tempore held the motion was non-debatable based on Rule XXVIII (adopting Mason's Manual as authority) and on established precedent of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1861.)

SECTION 44

TAKE FROM THE TABLE

Motion to Take From the Table Not Debatable

44 (a). The Presiding Officer, in response to a point of order raised by Senator Hager, held that the motion to take from the table is not subject to debate. (Senate Journal, 1980, p.1718.)

Motion to Take From the Table a Report of a Committee of Conference on a House Bill Not in Order

44 (b). The Senate received the report of a committee of conference on a House bill. On a motion to take the report from the table, the President held the motion out of order stating that the House is in possession of the bill, and the Senate cannot act on the bill until the intentions of the House are communicated. (Senate Journal, 1982, p. 1772.)

SECTION 45

TIE VOTE

On Appeal Sustains Decisions of the President

45 (a). An appeal having been taken from the decision of the President of the Senate, and the vote of the Senate on the question of sustaining the decision, resulted in a tie, the President directed that a decision of the Chair on a point of order stands until reversed by a majority vote of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1877, p. 163.)

Chair Obligated to Break Tie Vote

45 (b). Mr. Shapiro raised the point of order that a majority of those present had not voted on the motion to go into Committee of the Whole and that the Chair therefore is not entitled to a vote. The President disagreed with Mr. Shapiro as the Senate was not voting in Committee of the Whole. The President, however, ruled that under the Constitution the Chair is obligated to break a tie vote whether there is a constitutional majority or not. (Legislative Journal, 1937, p. 5949.)

President Not Entitled to Vote to Break Tie on Final Passage of Bill

45 (c). The President is not entitled to cast a deciding vote in case of a tie where it means the passage of a bill. The Constitution requires a majority vote of the members elected to the Senate. (Legislative Journal, April 28, 1949, p. 4808.)

Previous Question — President May Vote

45 (d). The vote on a motion for the previous question resulted in a tie. The President cast his vote in the affirmative. Senator Nolan rose to a point of information as to what authority permitted the Chair to vote. The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, stated that he was permitted to vote in accordance with provisions of Art. 4, Sec. 4 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which is titled,

"Lieutenant Governor

.....he shall be President of the Senate. As such, he may vote in case of a tie on any question except final passage of a bill or joint resolution, the adoption of a conference report or the concurrence of amendments made by the House of Representatives"

(Senate Journal, August 10, 1977, p. 822.)

SECTION 46

UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Movant Can Inquire as to Reason for Objection to Unanimous Consent, But Member Need Not Reply

46 (a). Senator Loeper objected to unanimous consent for a request to take nominations from the table. The President held that the member who requested unanimous consent may inquire as to the reasons for the Senator's objection, but it is not incumbent upon the objecting Member to give an answer. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 2211.)

SECTION 47

VOTE

Cannot Be Recorded After Result is Announced by the Chair

47 (a). The yeas and nays having been called on the passage of a resolution the names of Senators voting for and against it having been read by the clerk, the result announced by the President pro tempore, a Senator demanded that his vote, which he alleged had been cast but not recorded, should be recorded and counted. The President pro tempore decided that the Senator should have corrected the vote after it was read by the clerk, and before announced by the President pro tempore, and it could not be recorded and counted now. (Senate Journal, 1878, p. 615.)

Can Be Changed on a Misapprehension of the Question

47 (c). The yeas and nays having been taken, and before the list of those voting had been read by the clerk, and the result announced by the Chair, two Senators asked leave to change their votes from the affirmative to the negative, whereupon the President pro tempore inquired of them whether they had voted under a misapprehension. Upon a point of order being raised, the Senate decided that the proper question to put to each of the two Senators is "Has the Senator voted under a misapprehension of the question?" (Senate Journal, 1879, p. 948.)

Change of Vote by Reason of Misapprehension Only

47 (d). Senator Crowe having requested permission to change his vote from "aye" to "no" upon a pending bill, Senator Shapiro raised the point of order that no Senator has a right to change his vote unless he states that he voted under a misapprehension.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, ruled that the point of order was well taken and that, under Senate Decision No. 123, in the State Manual, a Senator cannot change his vote without stating that he voted under a misapprehension. (Legislative Journal, March 23, 1943, p. 1957.)

Of Twenty-six Senators in the Affirmative Necessary to Pass a Bill Finally

47 (e). The President decided that the constitutional requirements relative to the final passage of a bill is intended to apply to the whole number of Senators provided for by the Constitution, which would be fifty, and that the number required to be recorded in favor of a bill upon its final passage is a majority of the whole number of Senators elected, which would be twenty-six. (Senate Journal, 1881, p. 479.)

Too Late to Correct on Bill After Other Business Has Intervened

47 (f). Mr. Grady rose to a question of privilege and made the statement that the vote on House Bill No. 35, as taken, was incorrect; that the vote of Mr. Moyer, in the affirmative had not been recorded, and if recorded, the bill would have received twenty-six affirmative votes, and would have passed the Senate. He then, upon leave given, moved that the vote be again taken on said bill. Mr. Merrick raised the point of order that the motion of Mr. Grady was not in order, the vote having been already taken and the result of said bill announced, and that other business had intervened. The Chair decided the point of order well taken. (Senate Journal, 1897, p. 1799.)

Right to Change Vote

47 (g). After the verification of a roll call, but before announcement of the vote, Senator Geltz requested that his vote be changed from "aye" to "no." Senator Shapiro objected, raising the point of order that "since the Chair has already verified the negative vote and declared it to stand, there can be no change in the vote" and suggested that "nothing is in order until the vote has been counted and there is nothing before the Chair except an announcement of the vote. Anything else that comes up now, after the vote has been verified, is out of order."

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) ruled the point of order was not well taken and stated that "in the absence of a Senate Rule or a joint House and Senate Rule governing the question, the Chair, under Rule 34 of the Senate, quotes from the House Rules and Manual of the 76th Congress, Rule 15, Paragraph 766, page 349:

"Before the result of a vote has been finally and conclusively pronounced by the Chair, but not thereafter, a member may change his vote."

The Chair also quoted from page 193, Roberts Rules of Order:

"A member has the right to change his vote, up to the time the vote is finally announced." (Legislative Journal, May 10, 1941, pp. 2438 and 2449.)

Misapprehension on Confirmation

47 (h). Mr. Barr raised the question as to whether a member can vote under a misapprehension on the confirmation of a cabinet member.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled that a member may change his vote any time before it is announced. (Legislative Journal, February 19, 1951, p. 363.)

Senator Must Vote if Present

47 (i). Mr. Walker raised the point of order that since Senator Kephart was in his seat and had not voted when his name was called, he was obliged to vote under the rules of the Senate.

The Chair, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, ruled the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, December 4, 1951, p. 5855.)

Senator Must Vote on Confirmation if Present

47 (j). Senator Barr asked if he was required to vote on a confirmation.

The Presiding Officer ruled that a Senator must vote if present. (Legislative Journal, December 21, 1951, p. 6747.)

Vote "Present" Allowed on Nomination of President Pro Tempore

47 (k). On a roll call vote on amendments, Senator Bell voted "present." The Lieutenant-Governor (John Morgan Davis) stated the vote of "present" is not considered a vote in the Senate. Senator Bell then referred to a vote of "present" by Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro on a roll call vote on the election of Senator DiSilvestro as President Pro Tempore. The Lieutenant-Governor ruled that this vote was entirely in order for the simple reason that Senator DiSilvestro did not wish to vote for himself (there being no other candidates for the office) and also the vote would have meant an increase in salary. On that basis, naturally, he was accorded the privilege of not voting for or against himself. (Legislative Journal, February 7, 1961, p. 354.)

Twenty-five ELECTED Senators in the Affirmative Necessary to Pass a Bill Finally

47 (l). On a roll call vote on HB 1152 the Chair announced it had passed by a vote of 25-20. A Constitutional Point of Order was raised that the bill needed 26 affirmative votes for passage. The President, Raymond J. Broderick, submitted the following to the Senate for its determination:

"In accordance with Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution, the last sentence reads, in part as follows:

"'. . .no bill shall become law, unless on its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the journal, and a majority of the members elected to each House be recorded thereon as voting in its favor.'

"In view of the fact that no Senator has been elected from the Twenty-eighth Senatorial District and that this Senate, since convening this Session, has never had more than forty-nine Members elected, therefore, a majority of the 'members elected,' as that term is used in the Constitution, shall be, at the present time, twenty-five Members.

"The Chair wants to explain that those voting 'aye' shall vote that twenty-five votes are all that are necessary under the present makeup of this Senate. Those voting 'nay,' shall vote that twenty-six votes are necessary." A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was decided in the affirmatve and the point of order was sustained.

Immediately upon the announcement of the vote an appeal was taken by Senator Sesler on the President's announcement that the bill had passed the Senate. The President, Raymond J. Broderick, ruled the appeal out of order because the Chair had made no ruling, the Senate itself decided that the bill had passed.

Senator Sesler then raised a point of order that a constitutional majority did not exist in the passage of House Bill No. 1152 as only 25 affirmative votes were recorded and verified and that the bill, having failed to receive the constitutional majority (26), had failed.

The President, Raymond J. Broderick, ruled the point of order not well taken as this question had already been decided by the Senate.

Senator Sesler then appealed from the Statement of the Chair in which he stated "...the "aye" votes having been 25 and the "nay" votes having been 20, this bill will be returned to the House of Representatives with the information that the Senate has passed the bill without amendment."

On the question of the appeal the Chair was sustained. (Senate Journal 1967, page 775.) (Senate Journal 1968, page 472.)

Constitutional Majority — Senators Elected, Living, Sworn and Seated

47 (m). Senator Scales submitted his resignation to the Senate. After reading the letter of resignation, the President, Lieutenant-Governor Ernest P. Kline, made the following statement:

"The Chair wishes to advise the Members that with the resignation of Senator Scales and the vacancies presently existing in the Senate, and, inasmuch as only forty-eight Senators are presently serving, it is the opinion of this Chair that under the Constitution, particularly Article III, Section 4, which reads, in part, "...No bill shall become a law, unless on its final passage the vote is taken by yeas and nays, the names of the persons voting for and against it are entered on the journal, and a majority of the members elected to each House is recorded thereon as voting in its favor."

Under the Rules of the Senate, particularly under Rule XXII, "Voting," subsection 8, "A majority of the Senators elected shall mean a majority of the Senators elected living, sworn and seated," it is the opinion of this Chair that the current constitutional majority for final passage of legislation in this Senate is twenty-five.

That opinion is given for the purpose of notice. If the issue is ever raised, certainly an appeal would be in order." (Senate Journal, 1974, p. 1457.)

Personal Interest — Bank Stock Ownership — Rate of Interest Bill

47 (n). The Senate had under consideration Senate Bill 262 which regulated the rate of interest. Several Senators raised the question as to whether they should vote since they held bank stock.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, stated that it would be the ruling of the Chair that the holders of bank stock would be members of a class and, under the rules of the Senate and are entitled to vote and are compelled to vote under the rules of the Senate. (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 841.)

Personal Interest — No-fault Insurance — Attorneys and Those Engaged in Insurance Business — Permitted to Vote

47 (o). The Senate had under consideration House Bill 1973 pertaining to no-fault insurance. Senator Kelley raised the point of order that since he was a practicing attorney and may or may not be affected by the results of his vote, would he be permitted to vote under the conflict of interest provisions of the rules and constitution.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled that as an attorney he was a member of a class of attorneys, and, therefore, as a Senator, he would have the right to vote, since it would not be a conflict of interest. The same ruling, for the general information of the members, would also apply to those who may be engaged in the insurance business. (Senate Journal, 1974, p. 2210.)

Personal Interest — Appropriation Bill — Member of Board of Trustees

47 (p). The Senate had under consideration House Bill 1012 which appropriated money to the Pennsylvania College of Podiatric Medicine in Philadelphia.

Senator Rovner raised a parliamentary inquiry as to whether he could vote on this bill since he was a Member of the Board of Trustees of this College.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Ernest P. Kline, ruled that he would be one of a class of trustees and, thereby, not only eligible to vote, but is required to vote or give an explanation as to why you do not vote. (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 1242.)

Absent — Statement of Vote if Present

47 (q). Senator Zemprelli was absent from the Senate attending a committee meeting. Several roll calls were voted and he was not recorded. A question was raised as to how he may be recorded.

The President, Lieutenant-Governor Ernest P. Kline, stated that under the Rules of the Senate if he was not on the floor at the time the roll calls were taken he may state his reasons for his absence and how he would have voted had he been on the floor. This would become part of the record. (Senate Journal, 1973, p. 1121.)

Absent Member Cannot Abstain From Voting

47 (r). Senator Zemprelli, voting for an absent Senator, entered the vote of abstention. On parliamentary inquiry from Senator Andrews, the President ruled that the absent Senator may not abstain from voting. The absent Member's vote was changed to "not voting." (Senate Journal, 1979, p. 866.)

Member May Leave the Floor Once He Has Voted Even Though Tally Not Complete

47 (s). In interpreting Rule XXII after an inquiry from Senator Lincoln, the President decided that once a Senator has voted, being physically present for the vote, the member may leave the floor before final tally and announcement of the vote. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1400.)

Refusal to Vote Deemed a Contempt

47 (t). Upon parliamentary inquiry from Senator Lewis, the President, quoting Senate Rule XXII, decided that the refusal of any Senator to vote shall be deemed a contempt unless he be excused by the Senate or unless he has a direct, personal or pecuniary interest. But, he went on to state that the Senate would then have the power to: (1) vote the non-voting Member in contempt, (2) hold a hearing on the issue, or (3) overlook the issue entirely. (Senate Journal, 1980, p. 1931.)

Constitutional Majority Consists of Senators Elected, Living, Sworn, and Seated

47 (u). The President ruled that a constitutional majority of the Senate needed for confirming executive nominations was "a majority of Senators elected, living, sworn and seated." Senator Zemprelli objected and appealed this decision of the Chair, claiming that the Constitution of Pennsylvania and statutory provisions stated that a constitutional majority consisted of "members elected." The Senate (25-20) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 95-101.)

Several Senators, invoking the original jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. Section 721 (c) (Purdon 1981), then initiated a quo warranto action to oust eighteen nominated and confirmed state officials from their positions because they claimed the officials were not properly confirmed by a "constitutional majority" of the Senate.

O'BRIEN, C.J. delivered the opinion of the court.

The events giving rise to this action, which are not in dispute, took place on the Senate floor during the 1981 Session of the 165th General Assembly. Governor Thornburgh nominated Respondent Daniels by a letter to the Senate dated December 24, 1980. Initially, the nomination was tabled, but it was reconsidered on January 27, 1981, when a vote was taken. The affirmative votes of a majority of the members elected to the Senate were required to confirm her appointment under 71 P.S. Section 67.1(d) (4) (Purdon Supp. 1981). The nomination received 25 "yeas" and 22 "nays," and the President of the Senate, finding that a constitutional majority had been obtained, ruled the appointment confirmed.

Respondent Zemprelli objected to the Chair's ruling, arguing that the constitutional majority should be computed on the basis of the total number of members "elected" to the Senate rather than on the number then in office, 48, and that consequently the affirmative vote of 25 Senators was insufficient to seat Respondent Daniels. The President based his ruling on Senate Rule XXII, subparagraph 8, 104 PA. Code Section 11.22 (i), which provides "[a] majority of the Senators elected shall mean a majority of the Senators elected, living, sworn, and seated." Since 25 constituted a majority of the 48 Senators then in office, the President ruled that Respondent Daniels' nomination had achieved the majority vote mandated by Article IV, section 8(a) of the Pennsylvania Constitution. That section provides:

> "The Governor shall appoint a Secretary of Education and such other officers as he shall be authorized to appoint. The appointment of the Secretary of Education and of such other officers as may be specified by law, shall be subject to the consent of two-thirds or a majority of the members elected to the Senate as is specified by law."

Petitioner Zemprelli appealed the Chair's ruling and, after debate, the Senate sustained it by a vote of 25 to 22. Zemprelli's subsequent motion for reconsideration of the nomination was defeated. This quo warranto action ensued.

It is evident from the foregoing that the entire controversy before us turns on a single question of constitutional interpretation, namely the meaning of the phrase "a majority of the members elected to the Senate" in the context of Article IV, section 8. Before we may engage in such interpretation, however, we must first determine whether petitioners have standing to maintain this action. If we answer in the affirmative, we must then decide whether the dispute before this Court presents a "political question" not amenable to judicial review.

> [The Court found that the petitioners had alleged sufficient interest in the outcome of the action and thus had standing to bring it before the Court. The Court then concluded that the petitioner's claim was not a non-justiciable political question and proceeded to decide the substantive issue.]

This Court has announced clear guidelines to aid in the interpretation of constitutional provisions. In Commonwealth ex rel. Paulinski v. Issac, 483 Pa. 467, 397 A.2d 760 (1979), we stated:

> "Constitutional provisions are not to be read in a strained or technical manner. Rather, they must be given the ordinary, natural interpretation the ratifying voter would give them. Commonwealth v. Harmon, 469 Pa. 490, 366 A.2d 895 (1976); Beradocco v. Colden, 469 Pa. 452, 366 A.2d 574 (1976).
> "Where, as here, we must decide between two interpretations of a constitutional provision, we must favor a natural reading which avoids contradictions and difficulties in implementation, which completely conforms to the intent of the framers and which reflects the views of the ratifying voter."

Id. at 475, 477, 397 A.2d at 765, 766. We believe the reading petitioners would impose upon Article IX, section 8(a) enjoys none of the characteristics of such an interpretation.

Petitioners contend that the phrase "a majority of the members elected to the Senate" means a majority computed on the basis of the total number of Senators elected at a given time, whether or not such Senators are, in the words of Senate Rule XXII-8, "living, sworn [or] seated." Hence, in the instant action, they would have us rule that Respondent Daniels was put into office by less than a constitutional majority, and should be ousted, because 50 Senators were "elected," and her nomination received only 25 affirmative votes. Petitioners appear to be relying on the common or natural meaning of the word "elected" and the meaning of "member" as it is used elsewhere in the Constitution to arrive at this interpretation, disregarding the phrase as a whole and in the context of Article IV, section 8.

In our view, to compute a majority based on a number greater than the total voting group, even where, as here, the potential for ambiguity may exist, would be irrational. The purpose of Article IV, section 8(a) in requiring a majority of "members elected" would appear to ensure that the entire body of the Senate participates in the executive appointment confirmation process, rather than just a quorum. Thus, if in the instant situation the two persons not in office at the time of the vote on Respondent Daniels' nomination were instead merely absent, petitioners method of computing a majority would have been correct. To include among the number of individuals charged with the responsibility of reviewing the qualifications of the Governor's nominees, Senators-elect or former Senators, neither entitled to vote in the Senate, would in no way enhance the ability of the Senate to advise and consent. What it would do, however, is cause Article IV, section 8(a) to require greater than a majority vote whenever there was a vacancy in the Senate. This would place a proportionately greater burden on the executive branch when a vacancy or vacancies exist in the Senate, which could in turn encourage needless delay in filling appointive positions.

Additionally, under petitioners' interpretation, the number of "members elected" could be greater than the total number of Senators provided for in the Constitution. For example, both defeated incumbents and the successful candidates who have not yet replaced them in office would be "members elected." The same would presumably be true of Senators who die or resign and those elected to fill their seats. Both petitioners posit "doomsday" hypotheticals in which 25 of 50 Senators are killed in a disaster. While under respondents' interpretation of the phrase in question, a lesser number of Senators could override the Governor's veto then were originally required to pass the voted bill, under the same circumstances, the Senate would be incapable of taking any action requiring the vote of a majority of all members if petitioners' interpretation of Article IV, Section 8(a) were followed. The latter consequence is by far less desirable.

Petitioners' only support in Pennsylvania case law for their position appears to be the Marshall Impeachment Case, 363 Pa. 326, 69 A.2d 619 (1949), wherein petitioners find language of this court they assert is controlling in the instant action. In Marshall, President Judge Brown of the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas, on whose opinion we affirmed the trial court decision per curiam, stated:

> "Rule 4 of the Rules of Council, Manual of the City of Philadelphia for 1949, page 14, provides: 'a quorum shall consist of a majority of the members elected to council.' This number is twelve, and it governs even where variance exists in the Council membership of twenty-two. It also constitutes a majority of such membership. Therefore, it seems that twelve councilmen must concur in finding the accused guilty. . . ."

Id. at 345, A.2d at 629. (emphasis added). We do not consider that decision relevant to the instant action. First, the language quoted was entirely unnecessary to the determination of the case, and, in fact, all 22 councilmen were seated at the time the opinion was written. Secondly, and most importantly, a Rule of Philadelphia City Council, not the Pennsylvania

Constitution, is discussed. Finally, it is impossible to determine from the reported opinion whether this rule is being construed or whether, as is just as likely, the actual practice of the City Council is merely being described.

Petitioners find additional support in several decisions of the courts of other states, most notably, an advisory opinion of the Delaware Supreme Court, Opinion of the Justices, 251 A.2d 827 (Del. Sup. 1969). There the court was asked to determine whether a constitutional provision stating that "a majority of all the members elected to each House shall constitute a quorum to do business" (emphasis added), meant the majority as prescribed by law, regardless of whether vacancies have occurred. Id. Answering in the affirmative, the court used language which indicates that the Delaware Constitution has been interpreted along the lines urged upon us by petitioners. In light of the above discussion, however, we decline to follow such an interpretation.

Moreover, on the whole respondents' interpretation of the phrase "majority of the members elected" finds considerable support in the published decisions of American courts construing that phrase or portions thereof. See e.g., State ex rel. Pickrell v. Myers, 89 Ariz. 167, 359 P.2d 757 (1961); State v. Penta, 127 N.J. Super. 201, 316 A.2d 733 (1974); Bailey v. Greer, 63 Tenn. App. 13, 468 S.W.2d 327, 336 (1971); Osburn v. Staley, 5 W.Va. 95, 13 Am. Rep. 640 (1871); State Bank of Drummond v. Nuesse, 108 N.W.2d 283, 285, 13 Wis.2d 74 (1960). But see Satterlee v. San Francisco, 23 Cal. 214 (1863); Smiley v. Commonwealth ex rel. Kerr, 116 Va. 979, 83 S.E. 406 (1914).

We therefore adopt the interpretation of Article IV, section 8(a) placed upon it by the Senate in its Rule XXII-8, and hold that "a majority of the members elected to the Senate" as employed in that subsection means "a majority of the members elected, living, sworn, and seated." Accordingly, the appointments of Respondent Daniels and of the other nominees confirmed by a vote of 25 Senators are upheld as valid under the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The relief requested by petitioners is denied and their Petition for Review dismissed.

Vote of "Present" Not Allowed

47 (v). Two Senators voted "present" in protest. The President decided Senate Rule XXII, Section 3 required a "yea" vote or a "nay" vote only, and a vote of "present" is invalid. On appeal, the Senate (29-16) upheld the decision of the Chair. (Senate Journal, 1981, pp. 169-71.)

Duty to Vote on Executive Nominations Imposed by Rules and the Constitution of Pennsylvania

47 (w). Several Senators instituted a quo warranto action challenging the right of certain nominated and confirmed state officials to hold office. The nominations were submitted to the Senate after the constitutionally mandated ninety-day period. See, Zemprelli v. Thornburgh, 47 Pa. Commw. 43, 407 A.2d 102 (1979) (Zemprelli I), Pa. Const. Art. IV, Section 8 (b). The Senate, by roll-call vote, confirmed the nominations, and the nominees took office. During the vote in the Senate, the petitioning Senators protested the nominations, and voted not to confirm respondent officials. The respondents objected to the complaint in the form of a demurrer, challenging the Senator's standing to maintain the action. The respondents contended that the only alleged injury was to their right to vote, and having exercised that right, they have suffered no injury.

In relevant part, the Court, CRUMLISH, P.J., held:

> Under Section 8 of Article IV, each state Senator has a constitutional duty to vote on executive nominations for appointive offices. Wilt V. Beal, 26 Pa. Commonwealth Ct. 298, 262 A.2d 876 (1976). This constitutional duty is implicit in the Article IV, Section 8 mandate that "[t]he Senate shall act on each executive nomination . . . ." A duty to vote on executive nominations is also imposed by the rules of the Senate of Pennsylvania. Senate Rule XXII, Section 3, provides as follows:
> Every Senator shall be present within the Senate Chamber during the sessions of the Senate, unless duly excused or necessarily prevented, and shall be recorded as voting on each question stated from the Chair which requires a roll call vote unless excused by the Senate. The refusal of any Senator to vote shall be deemed a contempt unless he be excused by the Senate or unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in connection with the pending question.
> 104 Pa. Code Section 11.22(c). (Emphasis added.) This duty is unqualified and, hence, must be performed regardless of whether the nominations were, as alleged, unconstitutionally submitted. A refusal to act, as indicated above, invites a citation for contempt. Thus a state Senator is compelled to participate in roll-call votes on executive nominations, no matter how justifiably he may contest the constitutionality of the nomination or the vote necessitated thereby. Thus, we disagree with the respondent's assertion that the exercise of the vote extinguishes these Senators' legal interest in this controversy. A compulsion to vote on executive nominations conveys upon these individual Senators an interest greater than, and distinguishable from, the general citizenry of this Commonwealth. . . . The Senators have standing; thus, respondents' objection is overruled.

Proper For Senators Not Standing For Reelection to Vote on Issue of Eligibility of Senatorial Candidate

47 (x). The Senate was considering a resolution declaring a candidate for Senator ineligible because of failure to meet residency requirements. Senator Lewis raised a point of order that certain Senators not standing for reelection would not be present in the new session and as such were not eligible to vote on the resolution. The Presiding Officer (D. Michael Fisher) decided that the Senators in question were duly elected and qualified, and if present, were qualified to vote on the issue. (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1867.)

If Senator Present He Must Vote and Vote Only "Aye" or "Nay"

47 (y). On points of order from Senators Rocks and Zemprelli, the Presiding Officer (D. Michael Fisher) held that under Rule XXII, Section 3, if the Senator is present on the floor, he must vote unless excused, and each member must be recorded "Aye" or "Nay" — not "Present". (Senate Journal, 1984, p. 1875.)

YEAS AND NAYS

Call of, Out of Order, When Senators Demanding Same Decline to Vote

48 (a). On the completion of the call of the yeas and nays, and before the result was announced by the Chair, it appearing that less than a quorum had voted, the President pro tempore ruled the call out of order, because the Senators requiring the same had not voted. (Senate Journal, 1883, p. 1228.)

Call of, Cannot Be Interrupted After First Senator's Name Is Called

48 (b). Mr. Humes submitted the point of order that the motion was not in order at this time, the Chair having ordered the call of the yeas and nays, and the clerk having called the name of Mr. Adams. The President decided the point of order well taken. (Senate Journal, extra session, 1882, p. 174.)

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

JAMES J. MANDERINO
58th District
Westmoreland County

James J. Manderino, Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, was born in Monessen, Pennsylvania, on May 6, 1932.

One of six children, Manderino worked his way through St. Vincent's College where he earned his B.A. and graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1956.

After graduating from law school, Manderino returned to Monessen to practice law and served as solicitor to a number of public bodies and was first elected to the General Assembly representing the 58th District in 1966. He was elected Majority Whip in 1975, and elected Majority Leader in 1977 and again in 1982, 1984, and 1986. Representative Manderino was elected Speaker of the House on January 3, 1989.

Over the past two sessions of the General Assembly, Representative Manderino has been widely recognized as the driving force behind the nationally recognized job development programs that have come out of Harrisburg. Under Manderino's leadership, the state enacted the $190 million Pennsylvania Economic Recovery Fund, in which eight separate programs address Job Development and Training concerns, including employee business ownership, business infrastructure loans, youth training, and incubators for small business. The Monessen Democrat also played a key role in the creation of the Sunny Day Fund to attract new industry to Pennsylvania and in the passage of new business tax laws to make Pennsylvania competitive with other states.

Representative Manderino also led the way during 1985 in the passage of a new formula for Customized Job Training that targets high unemployment areas; Emergency Medical Services law that sets standards for the training and licensing of ambulances and emergency personnel; a $5.5 million "bridge housing" program for the homeless in Pennsylvania; and a major compromise hammered out with Governor Thornburgh that will lead to a $4 billion expansion of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

In 1983, he was principal architect of an economic development package known as PennPRIDE — the Pennsylvania Program for Recovery, Investment, Development and Education. It was hailed nationally as one of the most ambitious state economic development programs ever proposed by a state legislature. Also in 1983, Manderino oversaw passage of legislation to provide for a senior citizen Co-Pay Prescription Compensation Fund; a package to improve efficiency of the Crime Victims Compensation Program; a bill to do away with automatic cost increases by gas utilities; a $100 million low-interest mortgage program for Vietnam-era veterans; and a program for in-home services as an alternative to hospitals and nursing homes for senior citizens.

Manderino has been chief architect of numerous landmark laws which directly affect Pennsylvania workers. Most recently, he has been largely responsible for the enactment of the 1984 "Right-to-Know" law protecting workers from hazardous chemicals in the workplace; a far-reaching health care cost containment law enacted in 1986; and legislation enacted during the 1987/88 Session aimed at seriously easing the Commonwealth's acute solid waste crisis, and eliminating numerous toxic waste sites in the state through the establishment of a state "superfund."

Speaker Manderino is the recipient of numerous awards including: the Musmanno Award presented by the Philadelphia Trial Lawyers Association; the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO Citizen of the Year Award; the National Association of Service and Conservation Corps State Award; Deputy Sheriffs of Pennsylvania Distinguished Public Service Award; the Citizens of the Arts of Pennsylvania Annual Award; and The Sons of Italy's Highest Honor, the Gold Medal Award.

The Speaker and his late wife, Constance Myers Manderino, who were married in 1955, have five children: Anthony, Kathy, James, Thomas, and Alan.

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

As Adopted January 6, 1987

DEFINITIONS

A. "Day" shall mean any Calendar Day.

B. "Legislative Day" shall mean any day that the House shall be in session.

C. "Hall of the House" shall be the floor space within its four walls and does not include the adjoining conference rooms, the lobbies or the upper gallery of the House.

D. "Floor of the House" shall be that area within the Hall of the House between the Speaker's rostrum and the brass rail behind the Members' seats.

E. "Press Gallery" shall be within that area known as the Hall of the House as designated by the Speaker.

F. "Roll Call Vote" shall be a vote taken and displayed by and on the electric roll call board or in the event of a malfunction of the electric roll call board, by such method as shall be determined by the Speaker.

G. "Formal Action" shall mean any vote or motion of a member of a standing committee, Standing sub-committee, select committee or rules committee of the House of Representatives to report or not report, amend, consider or table a bill or resolution and the discussion and debate thereof.

RULE 1 — Speaker Presiding

The Speaker shall preside over the sessions of the House. He may name a member to preside, but the substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment. He may appoint a member as Speaker Pro Tempore to act in his absence for a period not exceeding ten consecutive legislative days.

In case of failure to make an appointment, the House shall elect a Speaker Pro Tempore to act during the absence of the Speaker.

The Speaker Pro Tempore shall perform all the duties of the Chair during the absence of the Speaker.

RULE 2 — Taking the Chair

The Speaker shall take the Chair and call the members to order on every legislative day at the hour to which the House adjourned at the last sitting. On the appearance of a quorum, the Speaker shall proceed to the regular order of business as prescribed by the rules of the House.

RULE 3 — Order and Decorum

The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobbies, he shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

The Speaker shall have the right to summon State Police to assist in the preservation of order and decorum.

The Sergeant-at-Arms under the direction of the Speaker shall, while the House is in session, maintain order on the floor and its adjoining rooms. He shall enforce the rule with respect to the conduct of visitors.

RULE 4 — Questions of Order

The Speaker shall decide all questions of order subject to an appeal by two members. The Speaker may, in the first instance, submit the question to the House. Questions involving the constitutionality of any matters shall be decided by the House. On questions of order there shall be no debate except on an appeal from the decision of the Speaker or on reference of a question by him to the House. In either case, no member shall speak more than once except by leave of the House.

Unless germane to the appeal, a second point of order is not in order while an appeal is pending, but, when the appeal is disposed of, a second point of order is in order and is subject to appeal.

RULE 5 — Conference and Select Committee Appointments

All Committees of Conference shall be appointed by the Speaker and shall be composed of three members, two of whom shall be selected from the majority party and one from the minority party.

The Speaker shall appoint the members of Select Committees, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

RULE 6 — Signature of the Speaker

The Speaker shall, in the presence of the House, sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the General Assembly after their titles have been publicly read immediately before signing, and the fact of signing shall be entered on the Journal.

Resolutions, addresses, orders, writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House, shall be signed by the Speaker and attested by the Chief Clerk.

RULE 7 — Oath to Employees

The Chief Clerk shall administer an oath or affirmation to the employees of the House that they will severally support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and that they will discharge the duties of their offices with fidelity.

Each employee of the House, after taking the oath of office, shall sign his name in the Oath Book in the presence of the Chief Clerk.

RULE 8 — Supervision of Hall of the House and Committee Rooms

Subject to the direction of the Speaker, the Chief Clerk shall have supervision and control over the Hall of the House, the caucus and committee rooms and all other rooms assigned to the House.

During the sessions of the Legislature the Hall of the House shall not be used for public or private business other than legislative matters except by consent of the House. During periods of recess of the House such use may be authorized by the Speaker without the consent of the House.

RULE 9 — Decorum

While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House and during debate or voting, no member shall disturb another by talking or walking up and down or crossing the floor of the House.

RULE 9 — (a) Smoking

No smoking of cigarettes, cigars, pipes and other tobacco products shall be allowed in the Hall of the House.

RULE 10 — Debate

When a member desires to address the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker." Upon being recognized, he may speak, confining himself to the question under consideration and avoiding personal reflections.

When two or more members rise at the same time and ask for recognition, the Speaker shall designate the member who is entitled to the floor.

No member, except the Majority and Minority Leaders, may speak more than twice on any question, without the consent of the House.

With the unanimous consent of the House a member may make a statement not exceeding ten minutes in length concerning a subject or matter not pending before the House for consideration, providing the Majority and Minority Leaders have agreed on a time the member is to ask for recognition.

RULE 11 — Interruption of a Member Who Has the Floor

A member who has the floor may not be interrupted, except for questions of order or by a motion for the previous question.

With his consent, a member may yield the floor for questions related to the subject before the House.

RULE 12 — Personal Privilege

Any member may by leave of the Speaker rise and explain a matter personal to himself, but he shall not discuss a pending question in his explanation. Questions of personal privilege shall be limited to questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of members of the House in their respective capacities.

RULE 13 — Transgression of House Rules

If any member in speaking or otherwise transgresses the Rules of the House, the Speaker or any member through the Speaker shall call him to order, in which case he shall immediately sit down unless permitted by the House to explain.

The House upon appeal shall decide the case without debate. If the decision is in favor of the member, he may proceed. If the case requires it, he shall be liable to censure or other punishment as the House deems proper.

RULE 14 — Members' and Employees' Expenses

A member who attends a duly called meeting of a standing or special committee of which he is a member when the House is not in session or who is summoned to the State Capitol or elsewhere by the Speaker, or the Majority or Minority Leader of the House, to perform legislative services when the House is not in session shall be reimbursed per day for each day of service, plus mileage to and from his residence, at such rates as are provided herein established from time to time by the Committee on Rules but not in excess of the applicable maximum per diem and mileage rate authorized by the Federal Government for travel. These expenses shall be paid by the Chief Clerk from appropriation accounts under his exclusive control and jurisdiction, upon a written request approved by the Speaker of the House, or the Majority or the Minority Leader of the House.

An employee of the House summoned by the Speaker or the Majority or Minority Leader of the House to perform legislative services outside of Harrisburg shall be reimbursed for actual expenses and mileage to and from his residence. Such expenses may be paid by the Speaker, Majority or Minority Leader, if they agree to do so, or shall be paid by the Chief Clerk from appropriation accounts under his exclusive control and jurisdiction, upon a written request approved by the Speaker of the House, or the Majority or the Minority Leader of the House.

Members and employees traveling outside the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who receive any reimbursement for expenses or travel which reimbursement is from public funds shall file with the Chief Clerk a statement containing his name and the name, place and date of the function.

Money appropriated specifically to and allocated under a specific symbol number for allowable expenses of members of the House of Representatives shall be reimbursed to each member upon submission of vouchers and any required documentation by each member on forms prepared by the Chief Clerk of the House. No reimbursement shall be made from this account where a member receives reimbursement for the same purpose from any other appropriation account.

Such allowable expenses of members may be used for any legislative purpose or function, including but not limited to the following:

(1) Travel expense on legislative business.

(a) Mileage on session or nonsession days at a rate as may be approved from time to time by the Committee on Rules, but not in excess of the maximum mileage rate authorized by the Federal Government for travel; voucher only.

(b) Miscellaneous transportation on legislative business (taxi, airport limousine parking, tolls), and expenses of a similar nature; voucher only for any single expense not in excess of ten dollars ($10).

(c) Travel on legislative business by common carrier other than taxi and airport limousine; voucher and receipt from common carrier.

(d) Car rental; voucher and receipt from rental agency but reimbursement not to exceed in any month an amount as may be approved from time to time by the Committee on Rules. Any amount in excess of the said amount shall be paid by the person renting the car. In no event shall other than American manufactured cars be rented.

(e) Lodging, restaurant charges and other miscellaneous and incidental expenses while away from home. Vouchers only for per diem allowance approved from time to time by the Committee on Rules, but not in excess of the applicable maximum per diem rate authorized by the Federal Government or for actual expenses not in excess of such per diem rate.

(2) Administrative, clerical and professional services for legislative business, except for employment of spouses or any relatives, by blood or marriage.

(a) Administrative and clerical services; voucher and receipt from person employed.

(b) Professional services; voucher and receipt and copy of agreement or contract of employment.

(3) Rent for legislative office space; purchase of office supplies; postage; telephone and answering services; printing services and rental only of office equipment; voucher and vendor's receipt, except for postage expense. No reimbursement or expenditure shall be made out of any appropriation account for any mass mailing including a bulk rate mailing made at the direction or on behalf of any member which is mailed or delivered to a postal facility within sixty (60) days immediately preceding any primary or election at which said member is a candidate for public office.

Mass mailing shall mean a newsletter or similar mailing of more than fifty (50) pieces in which the content of the matter is substantially identical. Nothing in this rule shall apply to any mailing which is in direct response to inquiries or requests from persons to whom matter is mailed, which is addressed to colleagues in the General Assembly or other government officials or which consists entirely of news releases to the communications media.

(4) Official entertainment — restaurant and beverage charges; voucher only for expenses. Receipts for entertainment expenses, together with a statement of the reason for the expense, shall be submitted with the request for reimbursement.

(5) Purchase of flags, plaques, publications, photographic services, books, and other similar items in connection with legislative activities; voucher and vendor's receipt.

(6) Communications and donations in extending congratulations or sympathy of illness or death; voucher only on expenses not in excess of thirty-five dollars ($35).

No money appropriated for members' and employees' expenses shall be used for contributions to political parties or their affiliated organizations or to charitable organizations or for charitable advertisements.

All disbursements made, debts incurred or advancements paid from any appropriation account made to the House or to a member or non member officer under a General Appropriation Act or any other appropriation act shall be recorded in a monthly report and filed with the Chief Clerk by the person authorized to make such disbursement, incur any debt or receive any advancement on a form prescribed by the Chief Clerk.

The Chief Clerk shall prescribe the form of all such reports and make such forms available to those persons required to file such reports. Such report form shall include:

(1) As to personnel:

(a) The name, home address, social security number, job title, brief description of duties and where they are performed, department or member or members to whom assigned, the name of immediate supervisor and minimum hours of employment per week of each employee.

(b) The appropriation account from which such employee is compensated, the amount of compensation and whether such person is on salary, per diem or contract.

(2) As to all other expenditures:

(a) To whom it was paid, the amount thereof, and the nature of the goods, services or other purpose for which the expenditure was made.

(b) The appropriation account from which the expenditure was made and the name or names of the person or persons requesting and/or authorizing the same.

A copy of each such report shall also be filed with the special committee on internal affairs and House administration for use in the performance of its duties under Rule 47(a).

The reporting requirements as to personnel may be fulfilled by the maintenance in the Office of the Chief Clerk of the House of an alphabetical file containing the current information for each employee as set forth above. (a) Waive the recommittal to the Appropriations Committee and provide that the fiscal note be attached to the bill while on the active calendar. The providing of such note shall be priority item for the Appropriations Committee; or

(b) Waive the necessity of a fiscal note on any bill which it deems to have a de minimis fiscal impact or which merely authorizes, rather than mandates, an increase in expenditures or an action that would result in a loss of revenue.

(2) Nothing herein shall preclude any member from moving, at the proper time, the recommittal of any bill to the Appropriations Committee for a fiscal note.

(3) The Appropriations Committee shall be limited in its consideration of any such bill to the fiscal aspects of the bill and shall not consider the substantive merits of the bill nor refuse to report any such bill from committee for reasons other than fiscal aspects. (i) A reference to the source of the data from which the foregoing fiscal information was obtained, and an explanation of the basis upon which it is computed.

(4) No bill which may result in an increase in the expenditure of Commonwealth funds shall be given second consideration reading on the calendar until the Appopriations Committee has certified that provision has been made to appropriate funds equal to such increased expenditure. Whenever the Appropriations committee cannot so certify, the bill shall be returned to the committee from which it was last reported for further consideration and/or amendment.

(5) No amendment to a bill, concurrences in Senate amendments, or adoption of a conference report which may result in an increase in the expenditure of Commonwealth funds or those of a political subdivision or which may entail a loss of revenues in addition to that originally provided for in the bill prior to the proposed changes nor any bill requiring a fiscal note for which re-referral to the Appropriations Committee has been waived by the Rules Committee shall be voted upon until the day following the distribution of a fiscal note to the members with respect to such changes or to such bill showing the fiscal effect of the changes with respect to the bill, and containing the information set forth by subsection (3) of this rule.

(6) In obtaining the information required by these rules, the Appropriations Committee may utilize the services of the Budget Bureau and any other State agency as may be necessary.

No bill shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title, except a general appropriation bill or a bill codifying or compiling the law or a part thereof. (Constitution, Article III, Section 3).

RULE 21 — Consideration of Bills

Every bill and every joint resolution shall be considered on three different days. All amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken thereon, and before the final vote is taken, upon written request addressed to the presiding officer by at least twenty-five per cent of the members elected to the House, any bill shall be read at length. No bill shall become law and no joint resolution adopted unless, on its final passage, the vote is taken by yeas and nays, the names of the persons voting for and against it are entered on the Journal, and a majority of the members elected to the House is recorded thereon as voting in its favor. (Constitution, Article III, Section 4).

RULE 22 — First Consideration Bills

Bills reported from committees shall be considered for the first time when reported and shall then be automatically removed from the calendar and laid on the table, except House bills reported from committees after the first Monday in June until the first Monday in September which shall then be automatically recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

After the first Monday in September, any bill which was automatically recommitted to the Committee on Rules pursuant to this Rule 22 shall automatically be re-reported to the floor of the House and laid on the table.

The Rules Committee shall not in any instance have the power to amend a bill that has already gone through another committee.

Any bill which was automatically laid on the table pursuant to this Rule 22 and has remained on the table for fifteen legislative days shall automatically be removed from the table and returned to the calendar for second consideration the next legislative day.

Any bill which was automatically laid on the table pursuant to this Rule 22 may be removed from the table by motion of the Majority Leader, or his designee, acting on a report of the Committee on Rules. Such report shall be in writing and a copy thereof distributed to each member. Any bill so removed from the table shall be placed on the second consideration calendar on the legislative day following such removal. Nothing herein shall affect the right of any member to make a motion to remove a bill from the table.

Amendments shall not be proposed, nor is any other motion in order on first consideration.

Bills shall not be considered beyond first consideration until the latest print thereof is on the desk of the members.

Any noncontroversial bill, which is defined as any bill, other than an appropriations bill, approved by a committee with no negative votes or abstentions, shall be placed on an uncontested calendar. Bills on the uncontested calendar shall be voted upon by a single roll call vote. Each bill listed on the uncontested calendar will be printed separately in the journal with the vote recorded on the approval of the uncontested calendar as the vote on final passage of each bill contained therein.

If any member should object to the placement of a bill on the uncontested calendar, the bill shall be automatically removed from the uncontested calendar and placed on the regular calendar the next legislative day.

RULE 23 — Second Consideration Bills

RULE 26 — Reconsideration

A motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill, resolution or other matter was passed or defeated shall be made in writing by two members. The motion shall be in order only under the order of business in which the vote proposed to be reconsidered occurred and shall be decided on a roll call vote by a majority vote of the members elected to the House. No motion to reconsider shall be in order when the bill, resolution or other matter is no longer in the possession of or is not properly before the House.

A motion to reconsider any such vote must be made on the same day on which the initial vote was taken or within the succeeding five days in which the House is in session, provided such bill, resolution or other matter is still in the possession of or is properly before the House.

When a motion to reconsider any such vote is made within the aforesaid time limits and is decided by the affirmative vote prescribed herein, the question immediately recurs on the bill, resolution or other matter reconsidered.

Where a bill, resolution or other matter has been initially defeated and a motion to reconsider is not timely made, then such bill, resolution or other matter shall carry the status of "defeated finally" and not properly before the House. Therefore, it shall not be in order to entertain a motion to reconsider any such vote.

Where a timely made motion to reconsider is lost, it shall not be in order to again entertain a motion to reconsider any such vote, even though such second motion to reconsider is timely made.

Where a bill, resolution, or other matter has been initially defeated, and a timely made motion to reconsider the vote is lost, or if no motion to reconsider the vote was timely made, then it shall not be in order for the House thereafter to receive or consider a new bill, resolution or other matter embracing therein a subject or purpose basically identical to or of similar import to the subject matter or purpose of the bill, resolution or matter initially defeated.

The vote on a bill or resolution recalled from the Governor may be reconsidered at any time after the bill or resolution has been returned to the House.

Where a timely made motion to reconsider is lost, it shall not be in order to again entertain a motion to reconsider any such vote, even though such second motion to reconsider is timely made.

Where a bill, resolution, or other matter has been initially defeated, and a timely made motion to reconsider the vote is lost, or if no motion to reconsider the vote was timely made, then it shall not be in order for the House thereafter to receive or consider a new bill, resolution or other matter embracing therein a subject or purpose basically identical to or of similar import to the subject matter or purpose of the bill, resolution or matter initially defeated.

The vote on a bill or resolution recalled from the Governor may be reconsidered at any time after the bill or resolution has been returned to the House.

No amendment to an amendment shall be admitted nor considered.

The sponsor of the amendment shall explain the amendment prior to consideration by the House.

Before consideration, eight typewritten copies of a proposed amendment signed by its sponsor shall be presented to the Speaker, one copy of which shall be delivered to the news media and a printed copy in typewritten form prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau shall be placed on the desk of each member.

The House shall not consider any proposed amendment to any amendment made by the Senate to a House bill or joint resolution.

A majority vote of the members elected to the House taken by yeas and nays shall be required to concur in amendments made by the Senate, except for appropriations to charitable and educational institutions not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth, where a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to the House shall be required to concur. If disapproved, the Standing Committee may then determine by a majority vote of its members what further action, if any, should be taken on such bill, resolution or other matter.

Where no action has been taken by a Standing Sub-committee on a bill, resolution or other matter referred to it, and the chairman of the Standing Committee considers that such Sub-committee has had reasonable time to consider the bill, resolution or other matter and return the same to its parent Standing Committee. The Sub-committee Chairman shall then forthwith surrender and forward the same, together with all documents or papers pertaining thereto, to the Standing Committee.

In addition to regular meetings, special meetings may be called from time to time by the Chairman of the Committee or Sub-committee as they deem necessary. No committee shall meet during any session of the House without first obtaining permission of the Speaker. During any such meeting, no vote shall be taken on the Floor of the House on any amendment, recommittal motion, final passage of any bill, or any other matter requiring a roll call vote. Any Committee meeting called off the Floor of the House shall meet in a committee room. In addition to the specific provisions of this Rule 45, all provisions of the act of July 19, 1974 (P.L. 486, No. 175) relative to notice of meetings shall be complied with.

At regularly scheduled meetings, or upon the call of the chairman, or sub-committee chairman, for special meetings, the membership of such committees shall meet to consider any bill, resolution, or other matter on the agenda. The secretary of each standing committee, or in case of subcommittees a secretary designated by the subcommittee chairman, shall record:

Such committee reports shall be filed with the Chief Clerk within five days of the meeting. When any member, except for an excused absence, fails to attend five consecutive regular meetings of his committee, the chairman of that committee or subcommittee shall notify him of that fact and, if the member in question fails to reasonably justify his absences to the satisfaction of a majority of the membership of the standing committee of which he is a member, his membership on the committee or subcommittee shall be deemed vacant and the chairman of the standing committee shall notify the Speaker of the House to that effect. Such vacancy shall then be filled in the manner prescribed by these rules.

Whenever the chairman of any standing committee shall refuse to call a regular meeting, then a majority of the members of the standing committee may vote to call a meeting by giving two days written notice to the Speaker of the House, setting the time and place for such meeting. Such notice shall be read in the House and the same posted by the Chief Clerk in the House Chamber. Thereafter, the meeting shall be held at the time and place specified in the notice. When the majority of the members of a standing committee believe that a certain bill or resolution in the possession of the standing committee should be considered and acted upon by such committee, they may request the chairman to include the same as part of the business of a committee meeting. Upon failure of the chairman to comply with such request, the membership may require that such bill be considered by written motion made and approved by a majority vote of the entire membership to which such committee is entitled.

Whenever the phrase "majority of members of a standing committee or sub-committee" is used in these rules, it shall mean majority of the entire membership to which a standing committee or subcommittee is entitled, unless the context thereof indicates a different intent.

Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Any person who willfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, documents or data and information produced and stored by any electronic data processing system shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such case. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Such notice shall be read in the House and posted in the House Chamber by the Chief Clerk, or his designee. Thereafter, the meeting shall be held at the time and place specified in such notice.

Failure of the person charged to file an answer shall not be deemed to be an admission or create an inference or presumption that the complaint is true, and such failure to file an answer shall not prohibit a majority of the committee from either proceeding with a formal investigation or dismissing the complaint.

A majority of the Committee may initiate a preliminary investigation of the suspected violation of a Legislative Code of Ethics or House rule by a member, officer or employee of the House or lobbyist. If it is determined by a majority of the Committee that a violation of a rule or law may have occurred, the person in question shall be notified in writing of the conduct in question and the section of the "Legislative Code of Ethics," the "Lobbying Registration and Regulation Act" or House rule violated. Failure of the person charged to file an answer shall not be deemed to be an admission or create an inference or presumption that the charge is true, and such failure to file an answer shall not prohibit a majority of the Committee from either proceeding with a formal investigation or dismissing the charge.

In the event that the Committee shall elect to proceed with a formal investigation of the conduct of any member, officer or employee of the House, the Committee shall employ independent counsel who shall not be employed by the House for any other purpose or in any other capacity during such investigation.

All constitutional rights of any person under investigation shall be preserved, and such person shall be entitled to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses, face his accuser, and be represented by counsel.

These proceedings shall be without debate, and no motion, except to adjourn, shall be in order.

RULE 58 — Persons Admitted Under a Call of the House

Members who voluntarily appear during a call of the House shall be admitted to the House. Upon recognition by the Speaker they shall announce their presence and their names shall be recorded on the roll.

Officers of the House, accredited correspondents and employees designated by the Chief Clerk shall be admitted to the House during a call.

Visitors shall not be admitted to the House after the doors are closed and until the proceedings under the call are terminated, but they shall be permitted to leave.

RULE 59 — Lay on the Table

A motion to lay on the table is not debatable, is not subject to amendment and carries with it the main question and all other pending questions which adhere to it, except when an appeal is laid on the table.

RULE 60 — Motion to Take from the Table

A motion to take from the table a bill or other subject is in order under the same order of business in which the matter was laid on the table. It shall be decided without debate or amendment.

RULE 61 — Previous Question

A motion for the previous question, seconded by twenty members and sustained by a majority of the members present, shall put an end to all debate and bring the House to an immediate vote on the question then pending, or the questions on which it has been ordered.

A motion for the previous question may be made to embrace any or all pending amendments or motions and to include the passage or rejection of a bill or resolution.

RULE 62 — Call for Yeas and Nays — Reasons for Vote

The yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two of them, be entered on the Journal. (Constitution, Article II, Section 12).

When the Speaker or any member is not satisfied with a voice vote on a pending question, the Speaker may order a roll call vote; or, upon request of two members, before the result of the vote is announced, he shall order a roll call vote.

A member may submit a written explanation of his vote immediately following the announcement of the result of the vote and have it printed in the Journal.

RULE 63 — Division of a Question

Any member may call for a division of a question by the House, if it comprehends propositions so distinct and separate that one being taken away, the other will stand as a complete proposition for the decision of the House.

A motion to strike out and insert is indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall neither preclude amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

RULE 64 — Members Required to be Present and Vote

Every member shall be present within the Hall of the House during its sittings, unless excused by the House or unavoidably prevented, and shall vote for or against each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the determination of the question, or unless he is excused by the House.

No member shall be permitted to vote and have his vote recorded on the roll unless he is present in the Hall of the House during the roll call vote.

The Legislative Journal shall show the result of each roll call by yeas and nays and those absent and not voting.

RULE 64.1 — Chronic Absenteeism

For purposes of this rule the term "chronic absenteeism" shall mean the unexcused absence of a representative for a period of five consecutive legislative days from official sessions of the House of Representatives or the absence of a committee member for a period of five consecutive days from their assigned committee meetings which meetings qualify as regular committee meetings under the rules of the House of Representatives and the Sunshine Law of the Commonwealth.

Any representative who is absent without excuse from regular House sessions for a period of five consecutive legislative days or is absent for a period of five consecutive committee meetings shall be deemed a chronic absentee and may, on a vote of the full House, be held in contempt of this House upon motion of five members of the House for chronic absence from regular House sessions and by motion of three members of the standing committee of the House to which such representative is assigned for chronic absence from regularly scheduled committee meetings.

The term "chronic absenteeism" shall not include:

(1) Absence due to the personal illness or bodily injury of a representative.

(2) Absence due to personal illness or bodily injury of a member of the immediate family of the representative.

(3) Death to a member of the immediate family of a representative.

(4) Any excused absence approved by the House pursuant to its rules.

RULE 65 — Member Having Private Interest

(a) A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose the fact to the House and shall not vote thereon. (Constitution, Article III, Section 13).

(b) A member who, for remuneration, represents any organization required to register under the Lobbying Registration and Regulation Act shall file a statement of that fact with the Chief Clerk.

RULE 65(a) — Professionals-Legislators

(1) Except as hereinafter provided, any member or employee of the House or its agencies shall not be retained for compensation to appear in his or her professional capacity to represent the interest of any client in any proceeding before any Commonwealth department, board, agency, bureau or commission, except that such member or employee is authorized to represent the interest of a client at any stage of a proceeding before the Commonwealth or its agencies where such proceeding was initially taken or brought as a ministerial action, as defined by this rule, and as originally taken was not initially adverse in nature to the interest of the Commonwealth or its agencies.

(2) The provisions of this rule shall not be applicable to professionals-legislators:

(a) Representing clients on criminal matters before the courts of the Commonwealth.

(b) Representing clients on civil matters before the courts of the Commonwealth.

(c) Representing clients in all stages of a proceeding before the Commonwealth or its agencies which was initially commenced as a ministerial action. The term "ministerial action" means and includes any proceeding or action before the Commonwealth or its agencies where the proceeding, as initially commenced involved solely:

(i) The uncontested or routine action by the Commonwealth's administrative officers or employees in issuing or renewing licenses, charters, certificates or any other documents of a similar nature; or

(ii) The preparation, filing and review of tax returns and supporting documents required by law; or

(iii) The preparation, filing and review of engineering and architectural plans, drawings, specifications and reports; or

(iv) Any other initially routine or uncontested preparation, filing, review or other action not enumerated above and considered and normally handled by the Commonwealth or its agencies as a ministerial action.

(3) This rule shall not apply to the other members of the firm of such member and/or employee.

RULE 66 — Electric Roll Call

The names of the members shall be listed on the electric roll call boards by party affiliation in alphabetical order, except the name of the Speaker shall be last.

On any question requiring the "yeas" and "nays", the electric roll call system shall be used. On all other questions to be voted upon, the Speaker may, in his discretion, order the yeas and nays taken by the electric roll call system or voice vote or, upon demand of two members before the result of a vote has been declared, the yeas and nays shall be taken by the electric roll call system.

In the event the electric roll call system is not in operating order, the Speaker shall order all yea and nay votes be taken by calling the roll, as provided in the Rules of the House.

The vote of any member which has not been recorded because of mechanical malfunction of the electric roll call system shall be entered on the Journal, if said member was in the Hall of the House at the time of the vote and did cast his vote at the appropriate time, and the fact of such malfunction is reported to the Speaker of the House prior to the announcement of the result of the vote.

When the House is ready to vote upon any question requiring the yeas and nays and the vote is to be taken by the electric roll call system, the Speaker shall state: "The question ..... (Designating the matter to be voted upon.)" The Speaker shall then unlock the voting machine and announce: "The members shall now proceed to vote." Once the voting has begun, it shall not be interrupted, except for the purpose of questioning the validity of a member's vote or, if the voting switch of a member present in the Hall of the House is locked or otherwise inoperative, a request that such switch be rendered operative or such member's vote be officially recorded, before the result is announced.

When, in the judgment of the Speaker, reasonable time has been allowed all members present in the House to vote (in no event shall such time exceed ten minutes) he shall ask the question: "Have all members present voted?" After a pause, the Speaker shall lock the machine and instruct the Clerk to record the vote, and the Speaker shall announce the result of the vote.

No member or other person shall be allowed at the Clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being recorded, or the vote counted.

After the voting machine is locked, no member may change his vote and the votes of tardy members will not be recorded.

The vote as electrically recorded on the roll of members shall not in any manner be altered or changed by any person.

No member shall vote for another member, nor shall any person not a member vote for a member. Any member who shall vote or attempt to vote for another member, or a person not a member who shall vote or attempt to vote for a member, may be punished in such manner as the House determines.

Any member or other person who willfully tampers with or attempts to disarrange, deface, impair, or destroy in any manner whatsoever the electrical voting equipment used by the House, or who instigates, aids or abets with the intent to destroy or change the record of votes thereon shall be punished in such manner as the House determines.

A member who has been appointed by the Speaker to preside as Speaker Pro Tempore may designate either the Majority or Minority Whip to cast his vote on any question while he is presiding in accordance with his instructions from the Chair.

RULE 67 — Verification and Challenge

Upon completion of a roll call and before the result is announced, if there appears to be need for verification, the Speaker may direct the Clerk to verify it, or three members may demand a verification.

Any member may challenge in writing the yea or nay or electrically recorded vote of other members. The allegations made shall be investigated by a committee composed of the Speaker, a majority member and a minority member appointed by the Speaker, who shall submit a report to the House not later than its next session. The House shall then decide whether the challenged vote shall be recorded or not.

If the challenged vote would change the result, the announcement of the vote shall be postponed until the House decides the case.

RULE 68 — Changing Vote

No member may change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the result of a roll call vote has been announced, nor after an affirmative or negative roll has been declared verified.

RULE 69 — Journal

The Chief Clerk shall keep a Journal of the proceedings of the House, which shall be printed and shall be made available to the members.

The Journal of the proceedings of the last day's session shall not be read unless so ordered by a majority vote of the House.

RULE 70 — History of House Bills and House Resolutions

A weekly History, showing the title and action on House bills and the text and action on non-privileged resolutions, shall be compiled and indexed under the direction of the Chief Clerk and shall be printed and placed on each member's desk.

The House History shall include a cumulative index of laws enacted during the session and the text of vetoes by the Governor.

RULE 71 — House Calendar

Bills and non-privileged resolutions reported from committees to the House with an affirmative recommendation shall be listed on the calendar in such manner as prescribed by the Rules Committee and any other rule of the House. House bills and House resolutions shall precede Senate bills and Senate resolutions.

Bills and non-privileged resolutions shall be listed on the House calendar for no more than fifteen consecutive legislative days. At the end of the fifteenth consecutive legislative day the said bill or non-privileged resolution shall be automatically recommitted to the committee from which it was reported to the floor of the House.

Any bill or non-privileged resolution on the calendar which cannot, by its status, be recommitted shall be removed from the calendar and laid on the table, unless the House shall otherwise direct.

RULE 72 — Journal, Transcribing and Documents Rooms

No person, except members and employees of the House having official business, shall be permitted in the Transcribing, the Legislative Journal, and the Bills and Documents Rooms of the House without the consent of the Chief Clerk.

RULE 73 — Correspondents

Admission to and administration of the Press Galleries of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be vested in a Committee on Correspondents consisting of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, or his designee; the Speaker of the House of Representatives, or his designee; the Supervisor of the Capitol Newsroom; the President of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association, or his designee and the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters, or his designee.

Persons desiring admission to the press sections of the Senate and House of Representatives shall make application to the Chairman of the Committee on Correspondents. Such application shall state the newspaper, press association or licensed radio or television station, its location, times of publication or hours of broadcasting, and be signed by the applicant.

The Committee on Correspondents shall verify the statements made in such application, and, if the application is approved by the Committee, shall issue a correspondent's card signed by the members of the Committee.

The gallery assigned to newspaper correspondents or recognized press association correspondents or representatives of licensed radio and television stations, systems or newsgathering agencies shall be for their exclusive use and persons not holding correspondents' cards shall not be entitled to admission thereto. Employees of the General Assembly, representatives and employees of state departments, boards, commissions and agencies, visitors and members of the families of correspondents entitled to admission to the press gallery shall, at no time, be permitted to occupy the seats or be entitled to the privileges of the press gallery.

Accredited representatives of newspapers, wire, newsreel services and licensed radio or television stations, systems or newsgathering agencies, may be authorized by the Speaker of the House to take photographs, make audio or video recordings or tapes, and to broadcast or televise in the House of Representatives. Applications to take photographs, make audio or video recordings or tapes, or to broadcast or televise at public hearings of committees shall be approved by the Committee Chairman or Co-chairmen conducting such hearing. However, the Committee Chairman conducting the hearing may make such orders to such representatives as may be necessary to preserve order and decorum.

No photographs shall be taken nor any recordings or tapes made, nor any broadcasting or televising done in the House of Representatives during sessions, being at ease or recessed, without prior notice to the Representatives. When possible, such notice shall be given at the beginning of the session, at ease or recess, during which the photographs, recordings or taping, broadcasting or televising are scheduled to be taken or made.

No more than one representative of each newspaper, press association or licensed radio or television station, systems or newsgathering agency shall be admitted to the press gallery at one time. Members of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association and representatives of licensed radio and television stations, systems or newsgathering agencies, assigned to the House of Representatives on a daily basis shall have permanent assigned seating in the press gallery with identification plates. Visiting representatives of daily newspapers, press associations, Sunday newspapers as well as radio and television stations, systems or newsgathering agencies shall coordinate seating accommodations with the supervisor of the Capitol Newsroom.

Persons assigned to the press gallery on a permanent or temporary basis, shall at all times, refrain from loud talking or causing any disturbance which tends to interrupt the proceedings of the House of Representatives.

Persons assigned to the press gallery on a permanent or temporary basis shall not walk onto the floor of the House of Representatives nor approach the rostrum or the clerks' desks during session or while being at ease.

Persons assigned to the press gallery on a permanent or temporary basis wishing to confer with a Representative shall disclose this fact by having a message delivered by a page to the Representative. Such conversation shall be conducted off the floor of the House of Representatives.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania public broadcasting system may, subject to regulations of the Speaker, televise or make video tapes of proceedings of sessions of the House of Representatives and meetings of all committees of the House of Representatives.

RULE 74 — Visitors

Visitors shall be admitted to the Hall of the House only when sponsored by a member. The Chief Clerk shall issue an appropriate pass to any visitor so sponsored.

Persons admitted to the Hall of the House other than members and attaches, shall not be permitted to stand while the House is in session but shall be seated in chairs provided for them. At no time shall visitors be permitted on the Floor of the House while the House is in Session unless so permitted by the Speaker.

RULE 75 — Lobbyists

No registered lobbyist shall be admitted to the Hall of the House.

RULE 76 — Soliciting Prohibited

No officer or employee of the House shall solicit any member, other officer or employee of the House for any purpose.

RULE 77 — Suspending and Changing Rules

Any rule of the House, which is not required by the Constitution, may be temporarily suspended at any time for a specific purpose only by a majority vote of the members elected to the House by a roll call vote.

A motion to suspend the rules may not be laid on the table, postponed, committed or amended.

The existing rules of the House shall not be changed, added to, modified or deleted except by written resolution and the same approved by a majority vote of the members elected to the House by a roll call vote.

Except where such resolution originates with the Committee on Rules, no resolution proposing any change, addition, modification or deletion to existing House rules shall be considered until such resolution has been referred to the Committee on Rules, reported therefrom, printed, filed on the desk of each member and placed on the calendar.

Any proposed change, addition, modification or deletion offered by a member on the floor of the House to such resolution shall be considered, in effect, a change, addition, modification or deletion to existing House rules and shall require for approval a majority vote of the members elected to the House by a roll call vote.

RULE 78 — Parliamentary Authority

Jefferson's Manual supplemented by Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure shall be the parliamentary authority of the House if applicable and not inconsistent with the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the laws of Pennsylvania, the laws of Pennsylvania applicable to the General Assembly, the rules of the House and the established precedents of the House and the established customs and usages of the House.

DECISIONS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SECTION 1

ADJOURN

Not in Order to Entertain Two Consecutive Motions to

1 (a). The Speaker decided that it is not in order to entertain two consecutive motions to adjourn, if no other business of the House has intervened at the time the motion is made. (Journal H. R. 1843, p. 361.) (See also Journal H.R. 1885, p.920.)

Motion to, in Order Immediately Following a Motion for Recess

1 (b). A motion that the House take a recess having been defeated, a motion was immediately made to adjourn. The point of order was raised that no other business having intervened, a motion to adjourn is not in order. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, stating the previous motion was for a recess. (Legislative Journal, April 17, 1913, pp. 2019 and 2020; Journal H. R., p. 2724.)

Motion to, Pending No Other in Order

1 (c). A motion to suspend the rules was made while a motion to adjourn was pending. The point of order was raised that no motion is in order while a motion to adjourn is before the House. The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken — motion to suspend a rule is not in order while a motion to adjourn is pending and a motion to adjourn takes precedence of all others; the House cannot be kept sitting against its will. (House Journal 1936, p. 318. Also Legislative Journal May 7, 1956, p. 7837.)

From Wednesday Until the Following Monday, Not in Contravention of Constitution.

1 (d). A motion was made that when the House adjourns this Wednesday evening, it be to meet on next Monday evening at 9 o'clock. The point of order was submitted that it was unconstitutional for the House to adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the Senate. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken; that an adjournment of the House from Wednesday till the succeeding Monday was not an adjournment for more than three days as provided by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Sunday being a dies non. See Buckalew on the Constitution of Pennsylvania, edition 1883, p. 52. Construction: It has been long held that the three days' limitation in this section (Section 14, Art. 2) is exclusive of Sundays, and such is the settled construction. Therefore, whether natural or secular days were intended by the authors of the limitation is not now a question of practical importance. Judicial Opinion: West Philadelphia Passenger Ry. Co. v. Union Passenger Ry. Co., and Bancroft v. Same, 29 Legal Intel. 196, 4 Leg. Gaz., 193. (Journal H.R., 1897, p. 114. House Journal 1872, pp. 156-7. See also Senate Journal, 1913, p. 1127.)

Motion to Amend Resolution for Final

1 (e). The speaker decided that a motion to amend a resolution for the final adjournment of the Legislature by adding thereto the following: "Provided, that in order to avoid the expense attendant upon the meeting of the convention of the two Houses, in October next, to which it stands adjourned, the members of the two Houses shall assemble previous to the final adjournment of the Legislature, for the purpose of electing a person to represent this Commonwealth in the Senate of the United States, in accordance with the Constitution of the United States, and the laws of the Commonwealth" was in order. The House overruled the decision of the Speaker. (Journal H. R., 1885, p. 826, p. 1086.)

SECTION 2

AMENDMENTS

Amendments, Germane

2 (a). A point of order was raised as to the germaneness of amendments. The Speaker ruled that: "In keeping with a long line of precedents on the part of the House and in conformity with an expressed decision made by the attorney general's office in times past in accordance with Mason's Manual which established legislation precedents, the Chair would be compelled to hold that these amendments are germane, that the subject of the bill is the vehicle code. The subject is not a particular amendment to the vehicle code, but the subject is the vehicle code and, therefore, the amendments are germane. Perhaps for the sake of precedent, the Chair will submit for the record the following:

(Legislative Journal July 10, 1961, pp. 2818-2819)

Article 3, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania reads as follows:

"No law shall be passed except by bill and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose."

In an opinion recently written by Deputy Attorney General Harrington Adams on the question of germaneness of proposed amendments to a bill, he quoted from authorities as follows:

In 82 Corpus Juris Secundum Statues, Section 30, it is said:

> "A constitutional provision that a bill shall not be so altered or amended, in the course of its enactment, as to change its original purpose does not prevent the insertion of amendments germane to, and within the scope of, the original.
> "A constitutional provision that a bill shall not be so altered or amended, in the course of its enactment, as to change its original purpose is not to be so construed as to prevent the introduction of matter merely extending the purpose or scope of operation of the bill, or limiting, or the substitution of a measure or insertion of amendments having the same purpose as the original or germane to, and within the scope of, the original; and a bill thus limited and extended by the amendments of the two houses in its scope or purpose, or otherwise amended, but embracing no matter not germane to the original purpose or the subject of legislation as expressed in the title of the act which it purports to amend, may become a valid law. Also, such a restriction should not be so embraced as to prevent the substitution for a bill which is essentially amendatory in character of another related to the same subject and having the same general effect on existing laws, although some changes may be proposed by the substitute which would not have resulted from the passage of the original.
> "The 'purpose' contemplated in such a constitutional provision is the general purpose of the bill, and not the mere details through which and by which that purpose is manifested and effectuated. Such a constitutional provision should be given a reasonable construction so as not unnecessarily to embarrass proper legislation..."

In 158 American Law Report in the annotation appearing at page 421, in discussing constitutional provisions against changing the purpose of the bill during passage, it is said:

> "III Types of alterations or amendments which do not change original purpose:
> "a. Immaterial Changes, 424.
> "b. Extension of scope, 426.
> "c. Limitations of scope, 428.
> "d. Changes in Time, 428.
> "e. Substitution of other measures having the same purpose as original measures, 429.
> "f. Additions of matters germane to original purpose, 429."

In the case of black Hawk consol. Mines C. v. Gallegos, 191 Pacific 2d 996 (1948), the Court at page 1005 said:

> "The purpose of Article 4, Section 15 of the New Mexico Constitution prohibiting the altering or amending a bill on its passage so as to change its purpose is, solely to prohibit amendments not germane to subject of legislation expressed in the title of act purported to be amended.
> See Stein v. Leeper, 78 Ala. 517; Hall v. Steel, 82 Ala. 562, 2 So. 650; Alabama State Bridge Corp. v. Smith, 217 Ala. 311, 116 So. 695."

(Emphasis supplied)

In Cone v. Garner, 3 S.W. 2d 1 (1927), the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, which is identical with Article III, Sec. 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, reads:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its purpose."

At page 4 the Court said:

"It is said that the object of this section of the Constitution was that the Senate and House of Representatives of the state might not be hampered or embarrassed in amending and perfecting their bills and thus be driven to accomplish by a number of bills that which might well be accomplished by one bill, but the purpose of the section was to forbid amendments which should not be germane to the subject of legislation expressed in the title of the act which it purports to amend, Hickey v. State, 114 Ark, 526, 170 S.W. 562."

In a later case, the Supreme Court of Arkansas, in Pope v. Oliver, 117 S.W. 2d 1072 (1938), said, in speaking of an alleged violation of Section 21 of Article V of the Constitution, that:

".... The purpose of this provision in our Constitution is to prevent amendments to a bill which would not be germane to the subject of the legislation expressed in the title of the Act, which it purports to amend. Loftin v. Watson, 32 Ark. 414; Hickey v. State, 114 Ark. 526, 170 S.W. 562; Cone v. Garner, 175 Ark. 860, 3 S.W. 2d 1; Matthews v. Byrd, 187 Ark. 458, 60 S.W. 2d 909."

(Emphasis supplied)

Rule 57 of the House reads, in part, as follows:

"No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment."

ALSO:

"Any member may move to amend a bill provided the proposed amendment is germane to the subject."

Mason's Manual, Section 402, Section 3, defines "germane" as follows:

"To be germane, the amendment is required only to relate to the same subject it may entirely change the effect of the measure and still be germane to the subject. This article is supported by the established precedents of the House." Legislative Journal, May 25th, 1931, p. 5401 and numerous others.

Amendments Germane — Therefore Constitutional

2(b). On the question of agreeing to a bill on third reading the point of order was raised; that, inasmuch as the subject and purpose of the Senate bill, as it passed the Senate, was the express declaration restricted to amending the Public Service Company Law in the matter only of changes in utility rates and charges, the further amendments incorporated in the said bill by the House Committee on Public Utilities are reported and contained in a House bill, divesting the Senate from its present authority in the matter of removals of Public Service Commissioners from office; conferring new powers and imposing new duties on the Superior Court in appeals from Commission orders; and requiring Commission approval as conditions precedent to utility security issues, a subject entirely new and not comprehended in any degree in the original of any amendatory provision of the Public Service Company Law, the Senate bill, as reported by the House Committee, was further amended as to the title thereof. The bill, which is now before this House for third reading and final passage, violates Articles 3, Section 1, of the State Constitution ordaining that:

"No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended, on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

And violates 46 of the Rules of the House of Representatives, providing that:

"No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House, nor shall a motion or proposition be entertained under color of such an amendment, nor shall any bill or resolution be amended by substituting therefore, under a motion to strike out, or otherwise any other bill or resolution on a subject different from that under consideration, as required by the Constitution, Art. III, Sec. 1."

And accordingly the point of order is made that the said bill, being unconstitutional, it is improperly on the calendar and that for the Speaker to call for a yea and nay vote thereon would be to call upon a member of this House to violate his oath to observe and obey the Constitution.

In further explanation of the point of order, under the Rules of the National House of Representatives a rule similar in substance to that of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives provides:

"And no motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment."

Under this section it was ruled by Speakers Reed, Clark and Cannon that an amendment must be germane to the particular section of the law to which it is offered and that an amendment relating to the terms of the laws rather than to the terms of the bill, was not germane to a bill amending a general law upon a specific point. In reading such decision, the Speaker quoted "Hind's Precedent," Vol. 5, page 441, 5506, which provided:

"To a bill amendatory of an existing law as to one specific particular, and amendment relating to the terms of the law rather than to those of the bill was held not to be germane."

The Speaker stated that five members having requested in writing that the point of order be submitted to the House for its decision, and that Rule 4 of the House provides that all questions of order involving the determination of a constitutional question shall be submitted to the House upon request — the Chair therefore submits for decision by the House, this point of order. The Point of order was not sustained by the House (Legislative Journal, May 25, 1931, p. 5401.)

Delegating Legislative Powers to a Third Person is Unconstitutional

2 (c). Amendments were offered to a Senate bill which was on second reading. The point of order was raised that the amendments offered were unconstitutional and entirely out of order because they seek to delegate legislative power and responsibility upon a third person or persons who are in no manner answerable for their conduct to the people. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating the amendment violates Article II, Sections 1 and 15 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. An appeal was taken from the decision of the Chair. The House sustained the ruling of the Speaker (Legislative Journal, February 13, 1917, p. 202; Journal H. R., p. 413.)

To Amend on Final Passage, Vote on Third Reading Must First Be Reconsidered

2 (d). On the question whether a bill which has passed third reading and being, as required by the Constitution upon final passage, is subject to amendment, the Speaker pro tempore decided "that when a bill has passed three separate readings, and been agreed to each time, the only thing which remains is to take the vote required by the Constitution, unless postponed, and the vote agreeing to the bill the third time must be reconsidered in order to amend the bill." (Journal H. R., 1878, p. 424; see also, Legislative Record, February 8, 1909, p. 351.)

Defeated Cannot Be Offered Again

2 (e). The point of order was raised that "the amendment is out of order, because it had been offered and voted down when the section was under consideration, April 29." Decided well taken by the Speaker. (Journal H. R. 1885, p. 903; House Journal, 1891, p. 961.) (See also Legislative Record, May 14, 1907, p. 5429; Legislative Journal, April 4, 1911, p. 1152.)

Similar to One Defeated, But Not to Same Section Is in Order

2 (f). The point of order was raised that inasmuch as this amendment is similar to one already voted down and provides for the very same thing, it is out of order. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken because the amendment offered is to another section of the Bill (Legislative Record, March 28, 1907, p. 1845.)

Rejected Not in Order to Discuss

2 (g). The point of order was raised that the amendments having been rejected by the House, a discussion of the same is not in order. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, April 12, 1915, p. 1492.)

Withdrawn and Presented at a Later Time Is in Order

2 (h). Amendments were offered on second reading to a House bill. The point of order was raised that the amendments offered had been previously withdrawn, therefore, the offering of them at this time is out of order. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken. (Legislative Journal, June 3, 1913, p. 3819.)

Consistency of Amendments for House to Decide

2 (i). The Speaker ruled that the House, rather than the Speaker, should decide on the consistency of amendments and their legislative effect. It is not a question of order. He quoted Jefferson's Manual, Section 459. The question as to the consistency of the amendments was submitted to the House. (Legislative Journal, April 24, 1935, p. 2716.)

Amendment Defeated, Cannot be Offered Again Unless Vote be Reconsidered

2 (j). A point of order was raised that an amendment defeated cannot be again offered. The Speaker ruled that when an amendment has been defeated, the same amendment may not be proposed again without first reconsidering the vote by which the amendment lost. (Legislative Journal, August 31, 1961, p. 4075.)

Germaneness of Senate Amendment

2 (k). A parliamentary inquiry was raised as to whether or not, on the question of concurrent in Senate amendments, the issue of the germaneness of the Senate amendment could be raised. The Speaker ruled that this question could not be raised at this time, but the member could cite the issue of germaneness as a reason for non-concurrence in the amendment. (House Journal, September 23, 1986, p. 1708.)

SECTION 3

AMENDMENTS BETWEEN THE HOUSES

Not in Order to Discuss Bill Not Properly Before the House

3 (a). On bill not properly before the House, the point of order was raised that a House bill which was amended in Senate, returned and House declined to concur in amendments, is not properly before the House. The Speaker ruled point well taken. (Legislative Journal, June 14, 1932, p. 5144.)

A Motion to Recede from Non-Concurrence in, After Notice Given to Senate, Not in Order

3 (b). After information has been given to the Senate, that the House insists upon its non-concurrence in an amendment by the Senate, a motion to recede from the non-concurrence is not in order. (Journal H. R., 1827-8, p. 781.) (The same principle is decided in Journal 1816-17, p. 708.)

Receding from, Requires a Constitutional Majority Vote

3 (c). The Speaker having decided a motion that the House recede from amendments, non-concurred in by the Senate was defeated, the point of order was raised that the motion just decided was defeated, did have the required number of votes to pass it. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken inasmuch as to recede from the amendments made by the House, it requires a constitutional majority. (Legislative Record, June 26, 1901, p. 3895.)

Amended House Bill Returned for Concurrence — Motion to Refer to Committee in Order

3 (d). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry as to whether a motion to recommit is in order when a House Bill is before the House on the question of concurrence in Senate amendments, the Speaker read a parliamentary authority, as follows: 'It is proper for a House upon receiving an amended bill with the request to concur, to refer the message with the bill to a committee.' The Speaker added that it was also a privilege motion under the House Rules." (Legislative Journal, August 1, 1963, Page 2280).

In reply to a parliamentary inquiry as to whether a motion to recommit is in order when a House Bill is before the House on the question of concurrence in Senate amendments, the Speaker replied that such a motion is proper and cited Chapter 72 of Mason's Manual, Section 766, Sub-section 3, as follows: 'It is proper for a House, upon receiving an amended bill with a request to concur, to refer the message with the bill to a committee for consideration and a report upon concurrence.' (Legislative Journal, October 31, 1979, Page 2254).

APPEAL

Not Entertained from Response to Parliamentary Inquiry

4 (a). A parliamentary inquiry having been made as to the reading of section reading.

The Speaker stated that the Journal shows that the section was read. That could mean nothing other that it was read at length.

An appeal was taken and the Speaker ruled that the question was a parliamentary inquiry made to the Speaker from which there is no appeal and quoted as follows from Jefferson's Manual:

> "The rights of appeal insures the House against the arbitrary control of the Speaker and cannot be taken away from the House; but appeal may not be entertained from responses to parliamentary inquires." (Legislative Journal, May 2, 1939, p. 2318.)

Speaker Pro-Tem, Not to Interpret Question Which Has Been Referred to House

4 (b). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker pro-tempore stated it was not proper for him to interpret a question of parliamentary law, which has been specifically referred to the House as a result of an appeal. (Legislative Journal, May 1, 1939, p. 2194.)

SECTION 5

BILLS

Under Control of Speaker While in the Possession of the House

5 (a). The Speaker decided that all bills were under his control while in the possession of the House. An appeal was taken, which was laid on the table. (Journal H. R., 1859, pp. 292, 293, 294.) (Legislative Journal, July 27, 1955, p. 2961.)

Passed Finally, Messaged to Senate

5 (b). The point of order was raised that it was not within the province of the House to hold a bill, inasmuch as it passed finally. The Speaker ruled the point of order not well taken, inasmuch as the Senate would not be in session until the next Tuesday and therefore, the bill would remain in the possession of the House until that time. (House Journal, 1931, pp. 1262-63.)

Defeated in House, Not in Order to Consider Similar One from Senate

5 (c). The House decided that when a bill has been considered and defeated in the House, it is not in order subsequently to consider a similar bill which had passed the Senate, and introduced into the House. (Journal H. R., 1865, pp. 802-894); House Journal, 1870, p. 1197. 1887, p. 1434; Journal H. R., 1891, p. 1694; House Journal, 1893, p. 507; Legislative Record, 1891, p. 2749; Legislative Journal, May 24, 1911, p. 3500. Legislative Journal, August 30, 1961, pp. 3958-3960.)

Defeated, Not in Order to Consider Another Bill Containing Same Provisions

5 (d). A point of order was raised that a bill before the House for consideration was the same as one which was previously defeated.

The Speaker ruled that . . .

> "When a bill has been defeated by the House, it shall not be re-introduced, nor shall it be in order to consider a similar one or to act on a Senate bill of like import during the same session."

The purpose of this rule, of course, is to prevent perhaps endless voting on questions upon which the judgment of the House has been expressed during a current session.

It is equally essential, however, that the discretion of the House should not be confined by its rules so as to prevent it from changing its mind when such change is proper and necessary.

This is precisely what the House had done with respect to House Bill No. 460, Printer's No. 499, when it reconsidered the vote on April 5th, by which this bill was defeated on final passage and placed it on the postponed calendar.

When the vote was reconsidered, that vote canceled completely the vote defeating House Bill 460 as though it has never been taken.

It is therefore the opinion of the Chair that House Bill 460, having been revived by the action of the House, does not come within the scope of a defeated bill under the provision of House Rule 49 and that House Bill 1496, being identical with House Bill 460, Printer's No. 499, is properly before the House for its consideration. (Legislative Journal June 13, 1961, p. 2268.)

Defeated Bill, May Not be Considered

5(e). The point of order was raised that a House Bill containing the same provisions as one previously defeated could not be considered. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (House Journal, 1911, p. 4122)

Notations on Headings of Bills Only for Convenience of Members

5 (f). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether it is required that the print of a bill, which was recommitted to a committee, must show that it was before the committee. The Speaker stated that notations printed on bills are for the information of the members and are not required either by law or rule. The Journal which is the official record of the House shows the course of the bill. (Legislative Journal, April 27, 1939, p. 2079.)

Printing of Senate, Not a Question for House to Decide

5 (g). On the question of agreeing to a resolution requiring the Senate to have printed all bills introduced in the Senate, the point of order was raised that it is not within the power of the House to direct the Senate what to do with their bills. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, January 31, 1907, p. 352.)

Senate, Referred and Reported with Amendments, Must be Reprinted before Considered

5 (h). The Speaker decided that a bill introduced into the House from the Senate, referred to a committee, and reported from the committee with amendments must be reprinted as amended before it can be considered in the House (Journal H. R. 1874, p. 218.)

Not Properly Before the House Until Printed and in the Files of Members

5 (i). On a motion to recommit a House bill to committee, the point of order was raised that this bill is not properly before the House, as it has not been printed, it is not in the calendar or the files of the House and under the rules of the House cannot be recommitted at this time. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken for the reason that the bill is not properly before the House. (Legislative Record, March 8, 1901, p. 735, Journal H. R., p. 669.) (See also, Legislative Record, March 18, 1901, p. 855; Legislative Record, March 18, 1909, pp. 1278, 1281, 1282.)

Second Reading Bills, Constitutional Majority Vote Not Required

5 (j). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked does it require a constitutional majority vote to agree to a bill on second reading. The Speaker replied that a constitutional majority was not required, only a simple majority was necessary to agree to a bill on second reading. (Legislative Journal, July 7, 1953, p. 2903.)

Appropriation to University of Pennsylvania, Requires a Two Thirds Vote

5 (k). On a motion to reconsider the vote by which a House bill was defeated on final passage, the point of order was raised that the University of Pennsylvania being a State institution the majority required by the Constitution of Pennsylvania to pass this bill is 103 votes. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken. (Legislative Record, June 20, 1901, p. 3615, Journal H. R., p. 2544.)

Amended, Final Passage Same Day

5 (l). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether a bill amended on third reading could be considered on final pasage on the same day. The Speaker replied the requirements for passage of bills is that amendments be printed in the bill as provided in the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Article III, Section 4. (Legislative Journal, September 19, 1951, p. 5121.)

Re-reported from Committee as Committed May Be Passed Finally on Same Day

5 (m). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, as to whether a bill reported from committee on one legislative day could be considered the same day. The Speaker decided that the House by unanimous consent had dispensed with printing the title of the bill on the Calendar, the bill having been read twice before it was recommitted and was printed and on files of the members; therefore, the House could consider it on third reading and final passage the same day it was re-reported in compliance with Article III, Sections 2 and 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. (Legislative Journal, 1941, pp. 5595 and 5596.) (See House Decision 55.)

CALENDAR

Proceedings Placing Bill Upon, Regular

6 (a). A Senate bill was on final passage. The point of order was raised that this bill is improperly and illegally on the third reading calendar for the reason that the doors of this House were locked and members on the outside were unable to gain entrance to the hall during the time that action was taken on the resolution discharging the Committee on Municipal Corporations from further consideration of the bill, and the first reading thereof. The Speaker ruled that the proceedings, when that motion was adoped, were entirely regular in the opinion of the Chair, and the proceedings of that meeting have been approved by the House, and ratified by the refusal of a majority of the members elected to expunge from the records the proceedings referred to, therefore, the point of order is not well taken. (Legislative Journal, April 27, 1921, pp. 3132, 3137.)

Calendar, Not in Print

6 (b). A point of order was raised that there not being any calendar for this day or file of bills on the desks, this bill was not in order.

The Speaker Pro Tempore decided the point of order well taken, whereupon an appeal was taken from the ruling of the Speaker. The question was determined in the negative and the decision of the Chair reversed. (House Part IV, 1911, pp. 4294-4295.)

Defective Title On

6 (c). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry that the title of a bill as printed on the calendar, was defective at the time of passage, the Speaker stated the calendar does not govern. It is the bill placed on the Members' desks that governs. The members vote on the bills not on the titles as they appear on the calendar. (House Journal, 1937, p. 4912.)

SECTION 7

CALL OF THE HOUSE

When Quorum Present, Speaker to Order Vote to Be Again Taken

7 (a). The Speaker decided that when a call of the House is made, and a quorum appears to be present, it is the duty of the Speaker to order the vote to be again taken. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1864, p. 1024.)

Members Actually Present Will be Recorded as Being Present Whether Answering to His Name Or Not

7 (b). Under a question of information concerning members not answering to a call of the House, when present in the House, the point of order was raised that when a session of the House is called and a member is present when the roll is called to ascertain the presence of a quorum, that gentleman should be recorded whether he votes or not. The Speaker pro tem, decided the point of order well taken, and ruled that when any member of the House is actually present in the House on the call of the House, he will be recorded as being present. (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1921, p. 2859.)

Quorum Call, Member Response

7 (c). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked: "What is the correct response for a member to make on a quorum roll call?"

The Speaker replied, "Present."

(Legislative Journal, Nov. 12, 1959, p. 4578.)

Quorum Call, Members Granted Leave of Absence Not Recorded

7 (d). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether the names of members had been properly recorded on the roll.

The Speaker replied those members granted a leave of absence should not be recorded on the quorum roll. (Legislative Journal, Nov. 12, 1959, pp. 4571-4572.)

SECTION 8

COMMITTEES

Select, in Order to Instruct to Report at a Specified Time

8 (a). The House decided that it was in order to instruct a select committee not to make a report until a specified time. (Journal H. R. 1857, p. 201.)

Select, Having Been Ordered by Joint Resolution to Report within Three Days of Final Adjournment, House Cannot Extend the Time

8 (b). The Speaker decided that the Senate and House having by joint resolution determined that the Legislature would adjourn sine die on the eleventh day of April, instant, and that all select committees of each House shall report within three days of that time, and this committee having made their report, it is not now in order for this House to extend the power and function of the committee for a longer time, or for any such committee to sit longer than the time specified in the joint resolution above referred to. (Journal H. R., 1862, p. 803.)

Select, Has Right to Proceed After Final Adjournment if Instructed by the House

(Note: Pa. Supreme Court Decisions supersede Ruling 8 (c). 321 Pa. 54-61, Brown vs. Brancato; 401 Pa. 310 (1960 McGinley vs. Scott); 331 Pa. 165, Scutter vs. Smith.)

8 (c). On a motion to discharge an investigating committee authorized by the House, the point of order was raised that this motion is out of order. The investigating committee has been authorized under a resolution of the House and ceases to exist after this House adjourns sine die. "In a ruling of the Catlin Commission it was held that a Committee acting under a resolution of one of the Houses of Assembly would have no right to subpoena witnesses and no right to insist upon that subpoena being obeyed during the recess or interim of the General Assembly. Therefore, the Committee would be without power," and the motion would be futile. The Speaker overruled the point of order for this reason: There is no parallel between the Catlin Commission and the Committee. The Catlin Commission was appointed to investigate matters over which the Senate has no particular jurisdiction above or other than the jurisdiction of the House. This committee is solely and exclusively within the jurisdiction of the House. The question is whether or not the House shall prefer charges. The Attorney General has given an opinion in which he says: "There is no doubt of the right of the committee to proceed with the investigation after the adjournment of the House," and it is likewise the opinion of the chair. (Legislative Journal, June 27, 1913, pp. 5372 and 5373; Journal H. R., p. 5773.)

On Rules, Can Designate Bills as Special Orders of Business

8 (d). On the question of adopting a report from the Committee on Rules making bills Special Order of Business, the point of order was raised that the Committee on Rules has not the right to make any single bill a special order in advance of other bills. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken under rules of the House. (Legislative Record, May 21, 1901, p. 2544.)

Standing, Power of, To Amend Bills

8 (e). The point of order was submitted that in line sixteen, of section three, the word "ten" is improperly in the section, for the reason that on second reading the word "ten" was stricken out, and the word "five" inserted by the House. The bill was afterwards recommitted, and the committee improperly restored the word "ten" and so reported it. An amended inserted by the House is direct instructions to a committee and should not be disobeyed by such committee. Decided well taken. (Journal H. R., 1885, p. 543.)

The point of order was raised that as when the bill under consideration was recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture it contained several amendments, inserted on the floor of the House, which were stricken out afterwards, by the Committee without authority, the House must insist on the amendments being replaced before proceeding with the further consideration of the bill. Decided well taken. (Journal H. R., 1893, p. 585.)

Power of, to Amend Appropriation Bills

8 (f). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether the Committee on Appropriations has the power to amend the amount in a bill. The Speaker replied that it had, if the amendment had not been placed in the bill by the House. (Legislative Journal, May 6, 1957, p. 1598.)

Has Right to Reserve Its Original Recommendations

8 (g). A House bill was re-reported from Committee with a negative recommendation. The point of order was raised that when a committee has reported a bill affirmatively to the House and it is placed on the calendar of the House, and read, then is recommitted to the committee for the purpose of a hearing, the committee cannot thereafter report the bill with a negative recommendation. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, a committee has full power over any bill committed to it except when such bill is committed with specific instruction from the House. Further, the committee has the right to reverse its original recommendation based upon additional information obtained at a hearing or otherwise. (Legislative Record, April 22, 1907, p. 3066; Legislative Record, April 17, 1907, p. 2810; Journal H.R., p. 1925.)

Powers of Subpoena

8 (h). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether a clause specifically conferring the power of subpoena is necessary in a resolution, or does a committee have that power? The Speaker replied that the House must confer power of subpoena on any of its committees. The House itself has the power to compel witnesses to appear and testify before any of its committees, to punish for contempt for refusal to do so, but only if the matter of inquiry is properly in connection with legislative business. The Speaker cited Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. (Legislative Journal, January 28, 1947, p. 253.)

Proceedings of, Not to be Divulged on the Floor of the House

8 (i). On a motion to discharge a committee from further consideration of a House bill, point of order was raised that the gentleman divulged to the House the conduct or action of the committee, which took place in the committee room. The Speaker ruled that it is out of order to divulge the proceedings that take place within the doors of a committee room, and decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, March 16, 1921, p. 705.) The Speaker also ruled that whatever occurs before a committee at a public hearing is proper to be considered on the floor of the House. (Legislative Journal, March 16, 1921, p. 705.) (See also Legislative Record, 1907, p. 4174, and Legislative Journal, 1919, pp. 3258, 3259.) (See also House Journal, 1927, p. 3044.) (Legislative Journal August 2, 1932, p. 779.) (Legislative Journal, April 10, 1933, pp. 2445, 2594 and 2595.)

Not Permitted to Sit During Sessions of the House without Leave

8 (j). A bill was reported from committee. The point of order was raised that the action of the committee in reporting the bill is irregular and out of order for the reason that the meeting yesterday was held during the session of this House. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that under the Rules of the House, no committee shall sit during the session of the House without leave. The bill was ordered returned to the committee with the recommendaion that they consider it in the regular way. (Legislative Record, April 4, 1907, p. 2144.)

Bill Reported by, Not Competent for Chair to Go Behind the Records Concerning Action in

8 (k). The Speaker decided that a bill having been regularly reported to a committee, it is not competent for the Chair to go behind the records for the purpose of inquiring how it was acted upon in committee. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1868, pp. 713, 714; also Journal H. R., 1901, p. 303.)

Merits of Bill Cannot be Discussed Under Motion to Discharge

8 (l). On a motion to discharge a committee from further consideration of a bill, the point of order was raised that the member was speaking on the bill and not the motion. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken and ruled that the merits of a bill could not be discussed when a motion was made to discharge a committee. (Legislative Journal, May 5, 1931, p. 3067.)

Legally Constituted Whether Organized or Not

8 (m). A member inquired of the Speaker whether a standing committee of the House which had never organized was a legal committee of the House. The Speaker stated that under Rule 27 of the House, the committee is a duly constituted standing committee of the House, and that all its members were regularly elected by the committee of the House. The Speaker House. The fact that it had not organized had nothing to do with it being a legally constituted committee. (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1945, p. 3022.)

Responsibility for Consideration of Bills

8 (n). Replying to a question of information with reference to a standing committee and considering bills referred to it, the Speaker read Article 3, Section 2 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania:

> "No bill shall be considered, unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom and printed for the use of the members."

Also Rule 30 of the House:

> "Rule 30 of the House provides that, Each Committee shall have full power over the bill, resolution or other paper committed to it, . . ."

The Speaker stated:

> "The responsibility for the consideration of bills before being acted upon by this House is placed under the provisions of the Constitution and Rules of this House directly upon the Committees of the House and not upon the Chairmen. The Chairman acts only as the organ of the Committee in precisely the same manner as the Speaker of the House acts as the instrument of the House. It is the function of both to carry out the will of the body over which they respectively preside." (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1945, p. 3032.)

Meetings, Call of

8 (o). Replying to a question of information as to what action the members of a committee should take to compel a meeting where the Chairman refuses to call a meeting, the Speaker stated that:

> "There are only two methods; one is a call by the Chairman, the other is a request signed by the majority of the members of the Committee asking for a meeting of the Committee." (Legislative Journal, April 30, 1945, p. 3032.)

Meetings, Call of

8 (p). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, it was asked in the event a Chairman declines to convene his committee and the members themselves fail to call a meeting, what is the jurisdiction of the House to require the committee to meet and act, or if the committee declines to act, to gain possession of the bills in the Chairman's keeping. The Speaker stated the only method would be for the House to discharge the Committee from consideration of the bill. (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1945, p. 3032.)

Chairman, Removal of

8 (q). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry it was asked whether a committee Chairman could be replaced if there was reason to question his conduct. The Speaker stated the appointment of Committee Chairmen is in the control of the Speaker and the power to appoint carries with it the power to remove. (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1945, p. 3032.)

SECTION 9

COMMITTEE ON CONFERENCE

Proceedings of, Not to be Discussed

9 (a). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry whether a member of a Committee of Conference could be interrogated relative to matters that have taken place in a Conference Committee. The Speaker stated that it would be out of order to interrogate a member of a Committee of Conference relative to proceedings of the committee. (House Journal, 1936, pp. 573-4)

Report of, Must be Printed before Action

9 (b). The Speaker decided that a report of a committee of conference must be printed before action can be taken by the House. (Journal H. R., 1874, p. 436.)

Cannot be Appointed Until Senate Has been Notified of the Non-concurrence of the House in Senate Amendments

9 (c). The point of order was raised that a committee of conference could not be appointed until after the Senate had been notified that the House had not concurred in the Senate amendments. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Journal H. R., 1891, p. 876.)

Proper Time to Instruct — Must be in Writing

9 (d). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked at what time would it be proper for the House to give specific instructions to a Conference Committee on the part of the House. The Speaker advised that the motion to instruct managers should be offered after the vote to ask for or agree to a conference and before the managers are appointed. Jefferson's Manual, Section 541, cited as authority. (Legislative Journal, July 2, 1980, p. 2025).

House Can Instruct Its Own Conferees

9 (e). On a motion to instruct a Conference Committee to make certain amendments to a House bill, the point of order was raised that this motion is out of order because the House cannot instruct the conferees. This is a joint conference committee of the House and Senate and this body has no power to instruct such conferees. It can reject their report and the House has the power to name new conferees or the present conferees can be requested to reconsider the matter but this House cannot instruct joint conferees. The Speaker ruled that the question is not whether this House can instruct the joint conferees, but whether this House can instruct its own conferees to express its wishes, therefore, the point of order is not well taken. (Legislative Journal, June 28, 1917, p. 4734.)

Instructions of

9 (f). In response to a parliamentary inquiry as to whether the House can instruct its own conferees, the Speaker stated that the House has power to instruct its own conferees by written motion. (Legislative Journal, 1941, p. 3388.)

Not in Order for a Standing Committee to Act as a Committee of Conference

9 (g). The conference committee having failed to agree and the House Committee having been discharged, a motion was made that the bill be referred for any further conference to the Committee on Labor and Industry. The point of order was raised that the motion was out of order, as it changed the joint rule, and the rule must first be suspended. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Journal H. R., 1903, p. 2337.)

Conference Report Rejected

9 (h). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked: "What happens should a conference report be rejected?"

The Speaker Pro-Tempore replied that the question of concurring in the amendment placed in the bill by the Senate would again be before the House. (Legislative Journal, Nov. 20, 1959, p. 4930.)

Confined to Differences between House and Senate

9 (i). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry as to whether a conference committee was confined only to the consideration of the questions of difference between the House and Senate. The Speaker stated that under Rule 33 of the House, a Conference Committee is confined to consideration of the amendments which are in disagreement between the Houses. (Legislative Journal, 1941, pp. 5152-5153.)

Vote Required from House Prior to Senate on Conference Reports on House Bills

9 (j). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked whether the House was required to vote upon a Report of a Conference Committee prior to the Senate taking action on the same report. The Speaker replied that the Conference Report being on a House bill, the House should first act upon the Report. (Legislative Journal, December 12, 1951, p. 6127.)

SECTION 10

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Made in Committee of the Whole, Fail When Leave to Sit Again is Refused

10 (a). The Speaker decided that when the Committee of the Whole rises, reports progress, and is refused leave to sit again, the amendments made in Committee of the Whole are not parts of the bill, unless so ordered by a vote of the House. (Journal H. R., 1858, p. 463.)

Motion to Go Into, Is Debatable

10 (b). On the question of agreeing to a motion to go into the Committee of the Whole House for the purpose of special amendment to a Senate bill, the point of order was raised that this motion is not debatable. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken. (Legislative Record, May 13, 1907, p. 5228.)

Motion to Go Into, Immediately Following Defeat of Like Motion, Not in Order

10 (c). A motion that the House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment to a House bill, was offered immediately following the defeat of a similar motion. The point of order was raised that the House having refused to go into the Committee of the Whole we cannot entertain the same motion a second time. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, March 6, 1907, p. 1044; Journal H. R., p. 825.)

Motion to Go Into, Is a Privileged Motion

10 (d). On the question of agreeing to a motion to go into the Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment to a Senate bill, the point of order was raised that this being a Senate bill it cannot be considered for the reason that the orders for the day have been fixed by the House. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken as this is a privileged motion. (Legislative Record, May 8, 1901, p. 2288.)

Motion to Go Into, Not in Order After Bill Has Been Agreed to on Third Reading

10 (e). A House bill was being considered on final passage, and when a motion was made that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole, for special amendment, the point of order was raised that this bill having been agreed to on third reading and now being under consideration on final passage, the House cannot go into the committee of the Whole. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, April 12, 1915, p. 1492.)

Recess May Be Taken Only With Consent of the House

10 (f). A motion was made that the Committee of the Whole recess for the purpose of having printed amendments for the information of the Members to a bill which the Committee had under consideration.

The Chairman declared the motion out of order, when the point of order was raised, that the Chair erred in his ruling.

The chairman of the Committee of the Whole ruled the point of order not well taken. An appeal was taken from the ruling of the Chair. The Committee of the Whole sustained the ruling of the chairman. (Legislative Journal, Nov. 21, 1933, pp. 139-140.) (Note: Chairman of the Committee of the Whole stated the Committee could not recess, but must proceed with the business before it and report to the House or report that it cannot finish the business referred to it.) (Legislative Journal, Nov. 21, 1933, p. 157.)

Motion to Recommit to Committee of the Whole May Only Be Made in the House

10 (g). A motion was made in the Committee of the Whole that the Committee rise and report to the House a bill as amended.

An amendment was offered to add to this motion, that the bill be recommitted to the Committee of the Whole, for the purpose of taking up further amendments.

The chairman ruled the amendment to the original motion out of order for the reason that it was not within the power of the Committee to pass upon such a motion. The House alone has the power to resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole. (Legislative Journal, Nov. 12, 1933, p. 159.)

Reprinting Bill Not Required to Pass on Second Reading

10 (h). The report of the Committee of the Whole having been adopted by the House, the Committee having inserted amendments in the bill referred to them.

A question of parliamentary inquiry was raised, as to whether the House could pass on the bill as amended before it was reprinted and distributed to the Members.

The Speaker stated it was in order under Rules of the House to consider the bill on second reading after which it would be printed. (Legislative Journal, Nov. 21, 1933, p. 129.)

SECTION 11

COMMIT AND RECOMMIT

Motion to, With Instruction to Change Character of Bill, Not in Order

11 (a). A point of order was raised that a motion to recommit a bill, with instructions to amend so as to change the object of the bill, was not in order. The Speaker decided the point to be well taken. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1875, pp. 314, 315.)

To Another Committee, When Motion to, in Order

11 (b). On the question whether a motion to recommit a bill to a different committee from the one which reported it is in order, the Speaker decided that the rule permits a motion to be made to recommit a bill which means that it be returned to the committee which reported it and a motion to commit to another committee should be made as an independent motion, when original resolutions are in order, or when the bill is properly before the House. (Journal H. R., 1879, p. 295.)

Motion to, Not in Order Until Bill is Before the House

11 (c). A bill being on the postponed calendar and a motion to recommit to committee having been made, the point of order was raised that the motion was not in order as the bill was not before the House. The speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Journal H. R., 1901, p. 843.) (See also Legislative Record, February 13, 1905, p. 458, Journal H. R., p. 464.)

Motion to, Not in Order, Until Vote on Third Reading Is Reconsidered

11 (d). On a motion to recommit a House bill to committee, the point of order was raised that the bill could not be recommitted until the vote by which the bill passed third reading be reconsidered. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, May 1, 1913, p. 2528; Journal H. R., p. 3183.)

Motion to, Not in Order on First Reading

11 (e). On the question of agreeing to a motion to recommit Senate bill to committee, the point of order was raised that a bill cannot be recommitted until it has been read before the House for the first time, this bill has not been read before the House at all. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, June 3, 1901, p. 2862; Journal H. R., p. 1976.)

An appeal was taken from the decision of the Chair. The House sustained the ruling of the Speaker. (Legislative Record, June 3, 1901, p. 2862.)

Motion to, Precludes Amendment

11 (f). A motion was made to recommit a House bill while an amendment to the bill was under consideration. The point of order was raised that a motion to recommit precludes action on the question before the House. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, February 15, 1915, p. 207.)

Motion to, Carries With It Bill and Pending Amendments

11 (g). On a motion to recommit a bill on second reading, together with the amendments, the point of order was raised that the motion should apply solely to the bill as it appears on the calendar and does not affect the amendments which the House has not adopted; because if the House has not adopted the amendments, they do not appear in the record as anything that can be referred to committee. The Speaker ruled that under Rule 15 of the House, the motion to recommit takes precedence over the question on the amendment. The only thing that can be done with the amendments is to allow them to be recommitted with the bill, if the House decides to recommit the bill. The motion to recommit facilitates the motion to amend. (Legislative Journal, April 1, 1947, p. 1088.)

Merits of Bill Cannot be Discussed Under Motion to

11 (h). The point of order was raised that a member was discussing the merits of the bill under a motion to recommit. The Speaker ruled that the merits of a bill are not open to discussion on a motion to recommit. (House Journal, 1929, p. 4369.) (Legislative Journal, April 27, 1931, p. 2541; also Legislative Journal, April 29, 1931, p. 2738.) (Legislative Journal, March 31, 1931, p. 1393.) (Legislative Journal Jan. 31, 1933, p. 352; also April 3, 1933, p. 1926.)

Motion to, Stops Debate on the Merits of the Main Question

11 (i). A motion had been made to recommit a bill to committee on the second reading; in debate on the motion, a member was discussing the merits of the bill, when the point of order was raised that he was not limiting his debate to the motion to recommit.

The Speaker ruled:

"When a motion to recommit is made it stops debate on the main question and the debate is limited to the propriety of committing the bill. It has been uniformly held by former Speakers of this House that the merits of the main question cannot be debated when a motion to recommit is before the House.

"Rule 54 of the House specifically shuts out the original question when a motion to recommit is made.

"Rule 15 of the House provides that a motion to recommit is privileged and interrupts the question before the House. The motion to recommit must, therefore, be first decided by the House before consideration or debate of the main question is resumed." (Legislative Journal, 1943, p. 2031.)

Unanimous Consent Given to Recommit Precludes Any Other Action

11 (j). The point of order was raised that the House having given its unanimous consent for the purpose of recommitting a bill to Committee, the motion stopped there, and, therefore, further consideration of the bill for any other purpose is out of order. The Speaker ruled that the point of order well taken for the reason that the unanimous consent of the House was given only for the purpose of recommitment. (Legislative Journal, April 29, 1931, pp. 2740-2741.)

CONSTITUTION

Advertisement of Notice of Local Or Special Bills Must Be Published in Two Papers in Each of Counties Affected, as Required by

12 (a). The point of order was raised that advertisement of local or special bills shall be in at least two newspapers, published in each of the counties to be affected. The Speaker submitted the question to the House for its decision. The House decided the point of order well taken. (Journal H. R., 1876, p. 190.)

Proof of Publication of Advertisement, Must be Exhibited Before Final Vote Is Taken on Local Bill

12 (b). A local bill being under consideration on second reading, the point of order was raised that the bill could not be considered as it had never been advertised. The Speaker decided that before the bill passed finally, proof of advertisement must be shown, but that he could not rule it off the calendar on second reading. (Journal H. R., 1887, p. 1256.) (See also, Legislative Journal, March 29, 1915, p. 978; Journal H. R., p. 1234.)

Special or Local Legislation Violates Article III, Section 7

12 (c). On the final passage of a House bill the point of order was raised that this bill is unconstitutional being special and local legislation prohibited by Article III, Section 7, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The Speaker submitted the point of order to the House. The House sustained the point of order. (Legislative Journal, March 31, 1913, pp. 1301, 1302, 1303, and 1304; Journal H. R., p. 2009.) (See also Legislative Record, May 5, 1907, p. 963, Journal H. R., p. 782; Legislative Journal, May 5, 1915, p. 2845; Journal H. R., p. 3098.)

Amending Local Bill, Unconstitutional

12 (d). A constitutional point of order was raised that a local bill which had been introducted as advertised could not be amended, being a violation of Article III, Section 8 of the Constitution.

The House sustained the point of order. (Legislative Journal, June 13, 1961, pp. 2288-2290.)

Bill Amending Local Laws, Unconstitutional

12 (e). The point of order was submitted that this Act is in conflict with article three, section seven of the Constitution, in that it is a supplement of a local law regulating the opening and preparing of roads and bridges. A local law, the enactment of which is prohibited, cannot be amended. Decided well taken by the House. (Journal H. R., 1885, p. 972.)

Amendments to, Proposed by One Legislature, Not Subject to Amendment by Succeeding

12 (f). The Speaker decided that the proposed amendments to the Constitution agreed to by one Legislature, were not subject to amendment in the Legislature next afterwards chosen. (Journal H. R., 1857, p. 891.)

Bill Repealing Local and Enacting General Laws, Constitutional

12 (g). The point of order was raised that the amendments was out of order, because an act to repeal an act could not be amended. The Speaker pro tempore decided the point not well taken, as the bill not only repealed an act, but enacted a new law. (Journal H. R., 1885, p. 940.)

Right of Eminent Domain Under Provisions of, Can Only Be to Public or Quasi Public Corporations

12 (h). A Senate bill was under consideration on second reading. The point of order was raised that this bill is unconstitutional because it is against the provisions of the Constitution of Pennsylvania to grant the right of eminent domain to any one but public or quasi public corporations. The Speaker submitted the point of order to the House. The House sustained the point of order. (Legislative Journal, May 18, 1915, p. 3703.)

Bill Falls When Declared Unconstitutional By the House

12 (i). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked if by majority vote, a bill is decided to be unconstitutional, does the House then vote on the bill? The Speaker replied, if a bill is declared unconstitutional by the House, the bill falls. (Legislative Journal, July 7, 1953, p. 2908.)

Bill Unconstitutional, House Competent to Amend, Making Constitutional

12 (j). A point of order raised that a bill "to increase the revenue and impose a tax on all crude petroleum shipped outside the Commonwealth," was unconstitutional, could not be amended, and should be stricken from the calendar. The Speaker decided that while the bill might be unconstitutional it was certainly competent for the House to amend it so as to make it constitutional. (Journal H. R. 1883, p. 1085.)

Constitutional Question Not in Order When Bill is Not in Possession of the House

12 (k). The Speaker ruled that a question of constitutionality of bills which had passed the House could not be submitted to the House, nor was it in order to discuss the bills. (Legislative Journal, May 27, 1931, p. 5978.)

Delegating Legislative Powers to People is in Violation of 12 (l). On the question of going into the Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment, the point of order was raised that the special amendment is unconstitutional for the reason that it proposes to delegate legislative powers to the people. The Speaker Pro Tempore decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, April 1, 1903, p. 2652; Journal H. R., p. 1606.)

Payment of Expenses Incurred by Members for Extra Services, Not Unconstitutional

12 (m). On the question whether the section of a bill to provide for the ordinary expenses of executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, et cetera, is unconstitutional, the Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, the section not providing compensation, but only making an appropriation for the expense of the commission, which had been directed to act by prior provisions of law. (Journal H. R., 1879, p. 743.)

Reading of Bills by Short Title, Constitutional

12 (n). Acting on a motion that the reading of bills by short title is in compliance with the Constitution (Art. II, Sec. 4) "in every respect," the House voted in the affirmative. (Legislative Journal, June 15, 1965, p. 926.)

Member May Not Criticize Senate

13 (a). A member was criticizing the action of the Senate in defeating a bill.

When the point of order was made that comment on the part of any member of the House concerning the deliberations of the Senate are distinctly out of order. The Speaker sustained the point of order, stating while the Senate may be referred to properly in debate, it is not in order to discuss its functions or criticize its acts or to refer to a Senator in terms of personal criticism or read a paper making such criticism. The Chair cited Jefferson's Manual as authority for his ruling. (Legislative Journal, December 20, 1933, p. 949.)

Senate Proceedings, May Not Be Read in

13 (b). Amendments were being considered to a section of a bill on second reading, when a member in debate proceeded to read from the Legislative Journal record of the Senate a statement by a member of the Senate on the same subject. The Speaker stated that the member was out of order in reading from the record of the Senate, which is an independent body and its proceedings should not be read into the record of the House. In support of his ruling, the Speaker quoted the following from Jefferson's Manual:

> "It is a breach of order in debate to notice what has been said on the same subject in the other House, the particular votes or majorities on it there; because the opinion of each House should be left to its own independency, not to be influenced by the proceedings of the other; and the quoting of them might beget reflections leading to a misunderstanding between the two Houses." (Legislative Journal, May 1, 1939, p. 2193.)

Executive Officers May Be Criticized but Personal Abuse Not Permitted

13 (c). In response to a Parliamentary inquiry —

The Speaker stated that it was in order for a member to criticize the official acts of the Governor and executive officers, but that personal abuse is not permitted in debate — quoting from Jefferson's Manual. (Legislative Journal, February 13, 1933, p. 583.)

Criticizing Federal Official

13 (d). The point of order was raised that a member in debate was criticizing a member of the President's Cabinet. The Speaker ruled that a member was within his right in criticizing a public official. (Legislative Journal, 1941, p. 4044.)

On Second Reading in Order

13 (e). The point of order was raised that a bill was being debated on second reading. The Speaker ruled that it was in order to debate a bill on second reading, the question before the House being "Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?" (Legislative Journal, 1941, p. 1365.)

Confined to Question Before the House

13 (f). An amendment was being debated to section one of a bill on second reading. The point of order was raised that the member who has the floor was not confining his remarks to the amendment — which the Speaker sustained. After ruling the member out of order, during his debate on the amendment, the Chair stated that our House Rule was similar to that of the National House of Representatives and he read the following as an interpretation of the rule:

> "He shall confine himself to the question under debate. Much meat is packed into this simple statement, and if the discussion is to be kept from aimless wanderings over an indefinite territory, this rule must be observed. If it is not, the debate ceases to be logical discussion on the particular subject and becomes a rambling and incoherent medley of unrelative statements. Of course, discretion is called for. Where there is plenty of time for debate and it's of a general character more leeway is necessarily expected and allowed." (Legislative Journal, 1943, pp. 1702-1703.)

Under Unanimous Consent

13 (g). A point of order was raised that once a member received unanimous consent to address the House, no rule would preclude him from speaking on any subject.

The Speaker stated that, under House Rule 63, a bill or resolution not reported from committee could not be debated. (House Journal, February 18, 1963, pp. 160-161.)

SECTION 14

DIVISIBLE QUESTIONS

When Not Divisible

14 (a). The Speaker decided that a question although embracing different propositions, could not be divided after these propositions had been amended and acted upon separately and independently, and the question thus blending them together, was presented for the final action of the House. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1853, pp. 655, 656, 657.)

Reading and Approval of

15 (a). The point of order was raised that it is contrary to parliamentary practice for the House to approve the preceding day's Journal before it was in print and an opportunity to inspect it. The Speaker ruled that the question of the approval of the Journal, is for the House to decide. (Legislative Journal, February 7, 1951, p. 260.)

Motion to Expunge

15 (b). A motion was made to expunge remarks from the record. The Speaker stated a motion to expunge from the record is not in order until the main question is disposed of. (House Journal, 1906, p. 407.)

Proceedings Relative to, May Be Expunged from Record

15 (c). The question was raised whether the House could expunge from the record, proceedings relating to a resolution under consideration. The Speaker stated that all proceedings relating to the resolution could be expunged from the record by action of the House. (Legislative Journal, February 14, 1933, p. 253.)

SECTION 16

LAY ON THE TABLE

To Consider Resolution Placed on the Table, Motion Must Be Made to Take It from the Table

16 (a). The point of order was raised that inasmuch as the resolution was placed on the table by a vote of the House, that a motion to now proceed to its consideration is not in order for the reason that a motion must first be made to take it from the table. Decided well taken. (Journal H. R., 1893, p. 977.)

SECTION 17

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Objected to

17 (a). An objection was made to a request for a leave of absence and, in reply to a parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker stated that if the House refused to grant a leave of absence to Members who are absent without leave and in contempt, it would also be for the House to decide whether the Member shall be brought before the House at the earliest possible moment. (Legislative Journal, September 12, 1955, pp. 3575-77.)

May Be Revoked

17 (b). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry the Speaker was asked if it was within the power of the House to revoke, rescind or recall leaves of absence granted? The Speaker stated that it is within the power of the House to revoke, rescind or recall leaves of absence. (Legislative Journal, April 11, 1945, p. 2329.)

SECTION 18

LEGISLATIVE INTENT

Could be Construed from Debate

18 (a). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker Pro-Tempore stated that legislative intent could be construed from debate before the House. (Legislative Journal, June 23, 1959, p. 1964.) (Legislative Journal, April 25, 1961, p. 1416.)

EXTRACTS FROM AN ADDRESS BY FORMER SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE, W. STUART HELM AT THE 1958 NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE, BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

The great weight of authority is, that the courts may ex-officio take judicial notice of the Legislative Journals.

The Courts have held — "That Journals of the Legislature may be considered even though not offered in evidence, being not only the official records of the coordinate branch of government, kept under requirement of law, but also important as bearing on the construction, validity and meaning of a statute law."

The second question that arises is — Are Legislative Journals always considered by the Courts in construing the statute?

The Pennsylvania Courts have repeatedly held that resort may not be had to the Legislative Journals when the language of a statute is plain.

In a case as recent as 1957, the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court said: "The intention and meaning of the Legislature must primarily be determined from conjectures. When the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous and conveys clear and definite meaning, there is no occasion for resorting to the rules of statutory interpretation and construction; the statute must be given its plain obvious meaning."

The third question that arises is — If the language of a statute is not plain and is ambiguous and resort is authorized to the Legislative Journals, what if any limitations are put upon their use by the Courts?

"The Supreme and Superior Courts of Pennsylvania, in considering this question, have frequently stated the rule to be that what is said in debate is not relevant, although reports of a Legislative Commission or Committee may, if obscurity or ambiguity exists, be considered. Moreover, a report of a Commission appointed to codify the law on a given subject is entitled to greater weight then a report of a Committee."

Recently, however, there has been a tendency of Pennsylvania Courts to recognize that while the Legislative debates are not controlling, they are a factor to be considered as indicating the Legislature's intent; that is what the Courts have said:

a. "In order to get at the old law, the mischief and the remedy and properly to understand and construe a statute — the history of the enactment in question may always be considered."

b. "In interpreting the Legislation before us, it is our duty to ascertain, if we can, the Legislative intent and give effect to it. The history of this Legislation is illuminating. The sponsor of the amendment, when it was before the Legislature, said:

'This bill proposes to cure something that was recently decided by the Supreme Court. The purport of the decision, as I take it, is to tax the proceeds of life insurance, left with the company by the assured and make it subject to a county tax'."

No doubt can be entertained that the amendment in question was intended to change the laws as then existing and to exempt life insurance proceeds on deposit with the company from being taxed for county purposes.

The Court said. "We are mindful that contemporaneous history is not controlling, but it is a factor which may be considered as indicative of legislative intent."

It is important to remember in reading the more recent decisions of the Supreme and Superior Courts of Pennsylvania, that Pennsylvania adopted a Statutory Construction Act May 28, 1937, P.L. 1019, 46 P.S. 551.

Included among its provisions is a section frequently quoted and referred to in the recent decisions of the Supreme and Superior Courts, namely Section 551 which reads as follows:

"The object of all interpretation and construction of laws is to ascertain and effectuate the intention of the Legislature. Every law shall be construed, if possible, to give effect to all its provisions.

When the words of a law are clear and free from all ambiguity, the letter of it is not to be disregarded under the pretext of pursuing its spirit.

When the words of a law are not explicit, the intention of the Legislature may be ascertain by considering among other matters:

1. The occasion and necessity for the law.
2. The circumstances under which it was enacted.
3. The mischief to be remedied.
4. The object to be attained.
5. The former law, if any, including other laws upon the same or similar subjects.

6. The consequences of a particular interpretation.
7. The contemporaneous legislative history.
8. Legislative and administrative interpretations of such law."

Thus, you see that the Legislature has now authorized the ascertainment of the intention of the Legislature when the words of a law are not explicit by considering the Legislative history and interpretation of such law.

SECTION 19

MEMBER

What Regarded as a Certificate of Election by the House, in Case of Contested Election

19 (a). On a resolution which recited that "it appears from the certified copy of the record of the court of common pleas, of Westmoreland county, duly transmitted to this House in accordance with the Act of 1874; that W. N. Porter and A. D. Hunter were duly elected members of the House of Representatives instead of Eli Waugaman and W. R. Barnhart, who, on the face of the returns, appear to be elected, and resolved that the said W. N. Porter and A. D. Hunter be sworn in as members of the House in conformity with the decision of the court, and that their names be placed on the roll of members." During the debate on the resolution a number of points of order were submitted to the effect that the resolution could not at that time be considered, as the court record was not a certificate of election, et cetera. The Speaker decided the points of order not well taken, for the reason that the record presented is regarded as a certificate of election under the Act of 1874, and under the decision of the court the contestants, in whose favor the decision has been made, are prima facie entitled to their seats. (Journal H. R., 1893, p. 666, and Legislative Record, 1893, p. 855.)

The Sitting Member is Entitled to Vote During Contest

19 (b). A resolution having been offered that neither the contestants nor respondent in the contested election case of Higby vs. Andrews be entitled to vote until a decision is reached by the House as to which is the member elected and qualified, to the end that legislation may not be imperiled thereby, the point of order was raised "that the resolution was 'res judicata' and would invalidate the whole proceedings of the organization of the House." the speaker decided the point of order well taken for the reason that the right of a member to be called and cast a vote was a constitutional right, which he could not be deprived of except for actions in violation of the Constitution or laws of this Commonwealth (Journal H. R., 1893, p. 397.)

Expulsion of, in Order to Reconsider Vote for 19 (c). The Speaker submitted to the House for decision: Whether a motion to reconsider the vote given for the expulsion of a member by the constitutional majority, and his seat declared vacant, is in order? The House decided in the affirmative. (Journal H.R., 1840, pp. 859-61.)

Qualification of Members

19 (d). Proceedings with relation to, under Article II, Section 5, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. (Legislative Journal, 1949, pp. 55, 113, 114, 321 and 322.)

Under Arrest for Contempt of the House Nothing in Order Until Purged

19 (e). The Speaker decided that when a member of the House was under arrest for contempt, nothing was in order until the contempt was purged, or the matter otherwise disposed of by the House. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1875, p. 177.)

Motives of, Not to Be Questioned

19 (f). During the debate on Senate bill, the point of order was raised that the gentleman is impugning the motives of another member of the House, without any evidence, and furthermore, he is saying that which is to be the derogation of a member's private character, and he should, therefore be stopped. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, and directed the gentleman to confine his remarks to the issue. (Legislative Journal, April 27, 1921, p. 3118; (Legislative Journal, 1935, p. 4141; Legislative Journal, March 21, 1956, p. 7053.)

Not Permitted to Speak More Than Twice on Same Subject Without Consent of the House

19 (g). A House bill was being debated on second reading. The point of order was raised that the gentleman has spoken twice on this subject. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that under the rules the gentleman cannot proceed without the consent of the House. (Legislative Record, April 2, 1907, p. 2014.)

Cannot Be Excluded from the House

19 (h). A request was made during the verification of the roll that the Sergeants-at-Arms be placed at the doors of the House and that no member be allowed to enter. The point of order was raised that a member cannot be excluded from the House. The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken, stating that it is a member's constitutional right to come into the House at any time. (Legislative Journal, 1943, p. 1764.)

Member Being a Member of a Commission, Not Considered Personal Interest

19 (i). On the question of agreeing to amendments offered to a House bill, the point of order was raised that the gentleman has personal interests in the bill and is, therefore, not entitled to vote. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, stating that being a member of a Commission is not a personal and private interest. (Legislative Journal, June 3, 1913, p. 3819; Journal H. R., p. 4503.)

Member Himself Must Determine Whether He Has Private Interest in a Bill

19 (j). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, a member asked whether the House rule prevented a member having a private interest in a bill to vote thereon. The Speaker stated that it was a matter entirely within the conscience of the individual member as to his right to vote. (Legislative Journal, December 12, 1933, p. 574.)

Entitled to Recognition before Call of Roll

19 (k). The point of order was raised that nothing was in order but the calling of the roll. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken. A member is entitled to recognition before the roll call has actually begun. (House Journal, 1937, p. 2943; July 28, 1938, p. 440.)

Personal Interest in Member Voting Defined Under Provisions of Article III, Section 33, of Constitution

19 (l). Honorable Presely N. Jones, a member of the House of Representatives from the County of Lawrence, duly elected to the General Assembly for the Session of 1941 and 1942, on February 3, 1941, presented Resolution Number Nine to the House of Representatives alleging that the Honorable Don Wilkinson, a duly elected member of the House of Representatives from the County of Luzerne for the Session of 1941-1942, did while serving as a member of the House of Representatives during the Session of 1939 and 1940, introduce and sponsor legislation defining the rights, powers and duties of County Tax Collectors as will be found in Act No. 277, approved the 20th day of June, 1939, P. L. 508, and that said Don Wilkinson, at the time of introduction of said bill, was a Tax collector, that the bill introduced by the said Don Wilkinson for his private and pecuniary profit and that the said Don Wilkinson voted upon the said piece of legislation and that after passage of same received contracts from certain school districts, townships and boroughs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the collection of taxes under said Act.

On February 10, 1941, the Resolution was returned to the House of Representatives by the Committee on Rules and referred to the House Judiciary General Committee for action. The House Judiciary General Committee there upon appointed a sub-committee composed of the following members of the Judiciary General Committee, Honorable Homer S. Brown, Honorable John H. McKinney, Honorable John R. Bently, Honorable William L. Shaffer, and Honorable George W. Cooper.

Subsequent to the appointment of the sub-committee, the Petitioner, Presley N. Jones, submitted a Bill of Particulars to the Committee, which Bill of Particulars stated in substance that said Don Wilkinson as a Tax Collector, had secured certain contracts from the School Board of the City of New Castle for the collection of delinquent per capita taxes, which contracts provided for the payment to the said Don Wilkinson of fees and charges set forth in the Act of 1939 above referred to. To the Bill of Particulars the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, filed a demurrer alleging that the present Session of the House of Representatives had no jurisdiction in that the House of Representatives is not a continuous body and that Article 3, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania dealing with the question of personal or private interest had not been violated. To the demurrer, the aforesaid Petitioner filed an answer stating that the Respondent had violated Article 7, Section 1, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania dealing with the oath of Senators, Representatives, the Judiciary and State and County Officers, and Article 3, Section 33, the personal and private interest section of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, as it applies to members of the General Assembly.

1. The first question raised by the demurrer filed by the Honorable Don Wilkinson is that the present House of Representatives has no authority to take jurisdiction of the matter alleged in the Resolution and in support of this question the Respondent cited a number of precedents recorded in Hinds' Precendents of the House of Representatives of the National Congress to the effect that the House of Representatives not being "a continuous body but an entity that dies at the expiration of the term of each of its members":

> "It is a rule of the House of Representatives of Congress that a House may not try to punish one of its members for an offense alleged to have been committed against a preceding House." See Hinds' Precedents of the House of Representatives, Vol. 2, section 1283; also sections 1284 and 1285.

Our Committee, while not attempting to overrule the Hinds' Precedents, are of the opinion that the better view is to effect that misconduct on the part of a member of the House of Representatives in a previous term may constitute grounds for his removal and impeachment in a succeeding term, especially where the offending party is his own successor and that re-election would not condone the offense. See State v. Welsh, 109, Iowa, 19, 79, N. W., 369:

> "The very object of removal is to rid the community of a corrupt, incapable, or unworthy official. His acts during his previous term quite as effectively stamp him as much as those of that he may be serving. Re-election does not condone the offense. Misconduct may not have been discovered prior to election, and, in any event, had not been established in the manner contemplated by the statute * * * The commission of any of the prohibited acts the day before quite as particularly stamps him as an improper person to be intrusted with the performance of the duties of the particular office as those done the day after."

See also the case of Throop Borough's School Directors, 298 Pennsylvania, 453, page 357:

> "Wrong doing cannot be overlooked and approved by the act of the people in reelecting them to office for the ensuing term, and such attempted condonation does not prevent the legally constituted authorities from visiting on the offending persons the results of conduct expressly prohibited by the Act of Assembly."

and on pages 458, 459:

> "Offenses committed during a previous term are generally held not to furnish cause for general removal, but where removal carries with it a disqualification to hold office in the future, the rule is otherwise, 45 Corpus Juris 96."

II. The offense alleged in the Bill of Particulars submitted by the Petitioner, primarily charges the Respondent with violating Article 3, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which article reads as follows:

> "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon."

Believing that this Session of the legislature has jurisdiction over the subject involved in the pending Resolution, we now proceed to discuss whether or not the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, is guilty of violating Article 3, Section 33, aforementioned and it becomes necessary to discuss the important provision of this Section of the Constitution in order to define and explain the meaning of the words: "personal or private interest."

A perusal of the debates of the Constitutional Convention that concluded its work November 3, 1873, reveals that it not only failed to adopt a sanction of penalty for Article 3, Section 33, but likewise omitted to make clear the meaning of the important language embodied in this Section. Much was said about the practice of individuals representing corporations seeking special and local legislation and special favors, but the Section was finally adopted without a clear distinction as to its meaning.

The Committee is fortunate to cite as an authority in defining the aforementioned words, the interpretation of the able Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, the Honorable S. Edward Moore, and quotes in its entirety his review of this subject, which has been handed to the Committee:

"The Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article 3, Section 33 provides: 'That a Member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose the fact to the House and shall not vote thereon.'

The right of a Member to represent his constituency, is of such major importance that a Member should be barred from voting on matters of direct personal interest only in clear cases and when the matter is to be voted upon is particularly personal.

When the matters under consideration affect a cause rather than individuals, the personal interest belongs to that cause and is not such as to disqualify a Member from voting.

As for instance a Member may have a personal interest in a particular hospital seeking an appropriation. The Pennsylvania Commission on Constitutional Revisions said 'It was not the intent of Article III, Section 33, that a Member should expose such personal interest to the House of which he is a Member.'

Rule VIII of the National House of Representatives reads in part: 'Every Member shall vote on each question put unless he has a personal or pecuniary interest.'

In interpreting this rule of Congress which is similar to our own it has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the Member directly and not as one of a class (Hinds' Precedents, Vol. V, Section 5952, 5954, 5955 and 5963.)

Senator Robert C. Winthrop of the Massachusetts House discussed the subject of Personal Interest exhaustively in 1840 and was of the opinion: 'That an interest which a Member holds in common with thousands of others could hardly be regarded as a private interest.'

Speaker James G. Blaine when the matter of personal interest came up in 1893 in the National House, said: 'You can go through the whole round of business and find upon this floor gentlemen, who in common with many citizens outside of this House, have an interest in questions before this House. But they do not have that interest separate and distinct from a class.'

Speaker Talbot of the Pennsylvania House in 1933, in response to a parliamentary inquiry stated: 'That the right of a Member to vote where a question of personal interest was involved was a matter entirely within the conscience of the individual member.'

In conclusion the question is definitely one upon which each individual Member must satisfy his conscience. He must settle it for himself."

The view of the able Parliamentarian is supported by many authorities. See Luce-Legislative Procedure, Section 323 and Jefferson's Manual on Rules of the House of Representatives, 651. For the purpose of brevity, we quote only the following:

> "In one or two instances the Speaker has decided that because of personal interest, a member should not vote (V.5955, 5958); but usually the Speaker has held that the Member himself should determine this question." (V.5950, 5951.) "And one Speaker denied his own power to deprive a member of the constitutional Right to Vote." (V.5956.)
> "It is a principle of immemorable observance' that a member should withdraw when a question concerning himself arises (V.5949); but it has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the member directly (V.5952)." Jefferson's Manual on Rules of the House of Representatives, Section 651.

The committee finds that this matter has been the subject of interpretation by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, as will be found in the case of Wilson v. New Castle City, 301 Pa. 359, pages 362 and 363. The Court saying in this case:

> "The question hinges upon what is known as personal or private interest. The 'interest' in a matter which will disqualify a public official acting in an executive capacity must be certain pecuniary or proprietary acts and capable of proof. It must be direct, not contingent nor depending on an indirect benefit as that of contract may or may not effect other independent transactions. A sentimental interest or a general interest is not enough."

III. The petitioner, Presley N. Jones, in his argument asking for expulsion of the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, contends that the said Respondent violated Article 7, Section 1, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, said Article having to do with the Oath of Senators, Representatives and all Judicial, State and County Officers; and provides inter alia the following:

> "And any person who shall be convicted of having sworn or affirmed falsely or of having violated said oath or affirmation, shall be guilty of perjury, and be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth."

and in support of his argument asserts, that under this Section, the Respondent could be found guilty without trial by jury; citing as his authority the opinion of the learned Chief Justice in the case of Commonwealth v. Walter, 83 Pa. 103, where the Court in construing Article 8, Section 9, of our Constitution, used the following language:

> "The word 'guilty' is defined by our lexicographers to meaning 'having guilt'; 'chargeable with a crime'; 'not innocent'; 'criminal.' Hence we say a man is guilty of an offense when he has committed an offense. We say he has been convicted of an offense when he has been found guilty by the verdict of a jury."

Article 8, Section 9, supra, cannot be interpreted in the same manner as Article 7, Section 1; and we believe the latter Article presupposes that a person must be convicted of perjury in Court of proper jurisdiction before being disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth. However, a member violating his oath of office could be punished by the Legislature under Article 2, Section 2 of our Constitution, without first having been tried in Court of proper jurisdiction:

> "Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers or bribes or private solicitations, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House, and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense." Article 2, Section 2.

CONCLUSION

Your Committee is of the opinion from the argument above given that the House of Representatives of the Session of 1941 has jurisdiction to punish a member for an offense committed in the 1939 Session provided that offense is one which affects the right of the member to hold office in the present term and that if such offense were established it would be a violation of the oath of the member to the extent that the present Session of the House of Representatives would have the power to punish said member under Article 2, Section 2, of the constitution. However, we find that the matters alleged in the Petitioner's Bill of Particulars and Brief do not come within the meaning of the "personal and private interest" section contained in Article 3, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the following reasons:

1. The matters alleged, namely the voting upon legislation in Act 277, approved the 20th day of June, 1939, P. L. 508, affected the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, as a member of a class, to wit, Tax Collectors.
2. The passage of said Act 277, by the House of Representatives in the absence of bribery, fraud or corruption would not make the Respondent's vote a violation of the Constitution notwithstanding the fact that he may have received a pecuniary benefit from the results of the Act of Assembly.

We have omitted in argument any discussion concerning paragraph ten (10) of the Petitioner's Bill of Particulars which charges the Respondent with violating Section 895 of the Act of 1939, P. L. 872, of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, making it a misdemeanor to disperse any paper purporting to be a legal process or summons of a Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is our opinion that charges of this nature should be made in the Court of proper jurisdiction where the Respondent would have the constitutional protection offered Defendants charged with violating our Criminal Laws. If the legislature undertook to try each member on matters submitted to it of this nature, the accused member might be at the mercy of a Legislature unsympathetic to his political views, which alone might be the factor in determining his guilt or innocence. We believe that except in the case of impeachment and for crimes of bribery, perjury, corruption in office and closely related matters, the Legislature should not invade the field of Criminal Law to invoke the provisions of Article 2, Section 2 of State Constitution.

The procedure asked for by the Petitioner, Presley N. Jones, is a most extraordinary one and should not be used in a case or cases where the evidence admits of no doubt as to guilt of the Respondent. To hold otherwise would turn an orderly, and free House of Representatives into a chaotic and despotic body; and members might be allowed to hold office only by the will of two-thirds (2/3) of its membership. In this connection, we quote with approval the able argument presented in the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Dean in Commonwealth v. Moir, 199 P. 534:

> "The time is not very remote in the past in English politics when the victorious political party, as soon as it was seated in power, promptly proceeded to cut off the physical heads of their leading antagonists and confiscate their property; it is not very remote in the future when the victorious political party will promptly proceed to cut off the political heads of its opponents where they held office by the municipal vote of cities."

Your Committee therefore urges that the Prayer of the Petitioner that the House of Representatives authorize the speaker to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to inquire into the matter concerning the official conduct of Don Wilkinson and further inquire whether he is guilty of misconduct as grounds for expulsion from the House of Representatives, be refused.

This is a Report of the Judiciary General Committee submitted to the House of Representatives by the Honorable Homer S. Brown, Chairman, June 2, 1941. The Report was unanimously adopted by the House of Representatives. (Legislative Journal, 1941, pp. 3114 to 3124, inclusive) Note: Exhibit A of the Report is House Resolution No. 9, introduced in the House January 28, 1941.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Unanimous Consent to Divert From

20 (a). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked whether it is within the province of a member to call any bill at any time.

The Speaker Pro-Tempore replied it was not. Only by unanimous consent or action taken by the House can we divert from the regular order of the calendar. (Legislative Journal #11, 1959, pp. 4568-4569.)

Bill Under Consideration at Time of Last Adjournment No Quorum Being Present Not the First Order at the Next Session

20 (b). The point of order was submitted that when the House adjourned Friday last it had under consideration a Senate bill and there was no quorum present, that said bill should be the first order of business for this evening. The Speaker decided the point of order to be not well taken, as he had exhausted all available means of procuring a quorum and was, therefore, compelled to adjourn the House and that said bill would come up in its order with Senate bills on second reading. (Journal H. R., 1895, p. 2295.)

SECTION 21

ORDER OF BUSINESS, SPECIAL

Motion Fixing, in Order

21 (a). On a motion to make a House bill a Special Order of Business, on second reading, the point of order was raised that this motion being in the nature of a resolution, is out of order. The Speaker ruled that the motion being a mere motion, is in order. (Legislative Journal, February 19, 1913, p. 362; Journal H. R., p. 917.)

House by a Majority Vote on Recommendation of Committee on Rules Can Fix for One Bill in Advance of Others

21 (b). Mr. Bedford submitted the point of order that the Committee on Rules had not the power to take out any single bill and make it a special order in advance of other bills. The Speaker read for the information of the gentleman, the rule and decided the point of order not well taken. (Legislative Record 1901, p. 2544.)

Committee of Whole Report Having Been Made Special Order for Second Reading

21 (c). The report of the Committee of the Whole having been adopted, the House proceeded to the second reading of the bill.

When a motion was made to fix a later time for its second reading.

The Speaker ruled the motion out of order, for the reason it should have been made before the House proceeded to the consideration on second reading of the bill and the rule requires that the House immediately proceed to the one reading of a bill after it has acted upon the report of the Committee of the Whole. (Legislative Journal, November 21, 1933, pp. 129-130.)

Hour for, Having Arrived, Must Proceed With

21 (d). The Speaker decided that the House having agreed to "proceed to the final vote upon a resolution at ten o'clock this evening," and that hour having arrived, nothing was in order but the vote on the final passage of the resolution. (Journal H. R., 1869, p. 767.)

Day Fixed for Consideration of, Cannot be Called Up Prior to 21 (e). The point of order was raised that the House having fixed a day for the consideration of a bill, that bill cannot be called up before the time fixed upon by the House for its consideration. The Speaker decided the point of order to be well taken. The House sustained the Speaker. (Journal H. R., 1876, pp. 612, 613, 614.)

One Special Order Must Be Rescinded before Making Another for Same Proposition

21 (f). A motion was made to suspend the rules for the specific purpose of considering a resolution.

The point of order was made that the House had fixed as a special order of business for the consideration of a bill today which this resolution proposes a public hearing for a later time, therefore, the special order would have to be rescinded before the resolution could be considered.

The Speaker sustained the point of order, the proper procedure being for the House first to rescind its action fixing the bill as a Special Order of Business. (Legislative Journal, July 13, 1932, p. 352.)

SECTION 22

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Must be Confined to Integrity of the Member of the House

22 (a). A member rose to a question of personal privilege and the speaker ruled that unless the question of personal privilege related to the integrity of the member or the integrity of the House, it is not in order. (Legislative Journal, May 20, 1931, p. 4677.)

Question Confined to Rights of the House or of the Member

22 (b). A member rose to question of personal privilege.

The point of order was raised that the gentleman was not speaking on a question of personal privilege.

The Speaker ruled that questions of privilege are first, those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, dignity and the integrity of its proceedings; second, the right, reputation and conduct of its members individually in their representative capacity only. (Legislative Journal, March 20, 1933, p. 1251; also January 23, 1933, p. 247.)

Member Not to Discuss Merits of a Bill Under Question of Personal Privilege

22 (c). The Speaker ruled that a decision of the merits of a bill is not permitted under a question of personal privilege. (Legislative Journal, April 23, 1935, p. 2598.)

Confined to Remarks Concerning Himself

22 (d). A member was addressing the House under a question of personal privilege, when the point of order was made, that the gentleman was not speaking on a question of personal privilege.

The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken and in response to a parliamentary inquiry states the following:

"Questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of members of the House in their representative capacity are questions of personal privilege."

"Questions of privilege of a member must relate to a person as a member of the body, or relate to charges against his character, which therefore he is not entitled to the floor on a question of personal privilege unless the subject which he proposes to present relates to him in his representative capacity."

"A person who raises the question of personal privilege must confine himself to remarks which concern himself personally, and when speaking under personal privilege a member has no right to defend any person other than himself."

"If the gentleman from Allegheny will confine himself to a question of personal privilege, he has a right to be heard." (Legislative Journal, March 13, 1939, p. 611.)

SECTION 23

POINTS OF ORDER

Question for Speaker to Decide and Not the House Unless Submitted to It

23 (a). On the question of adopting a resolution, declaring subjects not enumerated in the Governor's proclamation out of order the point of order was raised that the resolution is not in order because under parliamentary rules a point of order is a question for the Speaker and not for the House to decide unless submitted to the House. The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, January 22, 1906, p. 60; Journal H. R., p. 36.)

Members May Raise Constitutional Point of Order Whether or Not a Personal Interest in Bill

23 (b). The point of order was made that a member could not raise a question as to the constitutionality of a bill until he declared to the House whether or not he had any personal interest in the bill. Rule 72 of the House makes it obligatory for members to declare whether they have a personal interest. Speaker ruled that point of order not well taken, stating that any member of the House whether he has a personal interest or not has the right to raise a constitutional question. (Legislative Journal, April 1, 1939, pp. 1345 and 1346.)

Members May State Reasons for Raising

23 (c). A point of order having been raised that amendments to a bill were unconstitutional was being debated when another point of order was raised that the gentleman is debating the point of order which he has raised and, therefore, is out of order until the Chair has given his decision. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken as a gentleman has a right to give his reasons for raising a point of order and refer to authorities. (Legislative Journal, February 13, 1917, p. 202.)

Constitutional Points of Order for House to Decide

23 (d). A bill was on final passage when the point of order was raised, that it was unconstitutional in violation of Art. III, Sec. 7.

The Speaker stated that it was his opinion that any question affecting the constitutionality of a bill is for the House itself to determine and not for the Speaker to decide.

This principle is supported by uniform rulings of Speakers of the House of Representatives of the United States and Pennsylvania, which will be found in Hinds' Precedents, Vols. 2 and 5. (See also Legislative Journal of Pa., 1913, pp. 1301, 1304.)

Cooley's Constitutional Limitations, Vol. 1, Chap. 4, p. 99, says: "The decisions for the construction of the Constitution must be made by the body upon whom the duty is imposed, or from whom the act is required."

The rules of this House give the Speaker the authority to submit the question to the House, which he does.

The bill was declared unconstitutional by the House. (Legislative Journal, Dec. 13, 1933, pp. 638, 639.) (Legislative Journal, June 5, 1935, p. 4805.) (Legislative Journal, 1949, April 27, p. 4703.)

Point of Order Must be Made at Time Offense is Committed

23 (e). A point was raised that a bill was considered out of its regular order. The Speaker decided that the question was not subject to a point of order because it is business that has already passed. A point of order must be made at the time the offense is committed. (Legislative Journal, March 1, 1955, p. 537.)

Constitutionality of Bills, Question for House to Decide

23 (f). Under parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether the House may determine the question of the constitutionality of legislation before it? The Speaker replied that it could. (Legislative Journal, July 7, 1953, p. 2098.)

Constitutionality of Bills, Attorney General May Not be Summoned to Decide Upon

23 (g). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked could the House summon the Attorney General to appear before it for an opinion on the constitutionality of a bill? The speaker replied — it could not — the Attorney General being the legal advisor to the Governor of the Commonwealth and not the advisor to the House. (Legislative Journal, July 7, 1953, p. 2909.)

Constitutional Point of Order

23 (h). The House decided that a member given its unanimous consent could discuss a bill he was about to introduce without violating Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution, which reads:

> "No bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members."

(Legislative Journal, May 6, 1959, pp. 1196-1199.)

POSTPONEMENT

Bill Properly on Regular Calendar and Not on Calendar of Postponed Bills When Reported by Committee

24 (a). A Senate bill was on second reading. The point of order was raised that when this bill was recommitted to committee it was on the postponed calendar, it should, therefore, go on the postponed calendar when re-reported from committee. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken as the vote of the House to recommit took the bill from the postponed calendar and when re-reported from committee would properly be placed on the regular calendar. (Legislative Record, April 4, 1905, p. 2349; Journal H. R., p. 1494.)

Bill Not on Calendar, Motion for is Not in Order

24 (b). On a motion to postpone a House bill, the point of order was raised that the bill is not on the calendar, therefore, it cannot be postponed. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, April 4, 1905, p. 2291.)

Bills on Postponed Calendar Must be Called Up Under Their Regular Order of Business

24 (c). A request was made to call up from the postponed calendar a House bill. The point of order was raised that the order of business is bills on first reading, therefore, consideration of this bill is out of order. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken (Legislative Record, March 29, 1909, p. 1843.)

Must be by Action of the House

24 (d). In response to a parliamentary inquiry as to whether the House could proceed to act upon a bill which was on the calendar before the report of a Select Committee had made its report to the House appointed to investigate this subject. The Speaker stated that the question of postponement of the bill was for the House to decide — the Chair has no jurisdiction and cannot stop consideration of a bill on the Calendar. It must be done by motion from the floor. (Legislative Journal, 1941, p. 750.)

SECTION 25

PREVIOUS QUESTION

When Exhausted

25 (a). The point of order was raised that the previous question having been ordered, no further amendments are in order to the bill, and the previous question is not exhausted until the bill is gone through with. The Speaker decided the point of order to be not well taken, for the following reasons, viz.: The previous question having been called on an amendment to the third section of the bill, and the main question ordered to be put, the previous question exhausted itself on the amendments to subsequent sections are in order. (Journal H. R. 1881, p. 1414.)

Debate May Continue Only if Previous Question is Voted down

25 (b). The point of order was raised that the House having given a member permission to speak, the previous question is not in order. The Speaker ruled that the previous question having been moved and seconded, this question would have to be voted down to permit the gentleman to continue in debate. (Legislative Journal, March 4, 1935, p. 799; also June 11, 1935, p. 5212.)

Previous Question is Not Debatable

25 (c). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker stated that the motion for the previous question was not debatable and having been made, nothing is in order but the question "Shall the main question be now put?" It is for the House itself to determine whether it wants the main question. Rule 68 of the House, and Jefferson's Manual, Section 454, were cited as authority. (Legislative Journal, June 11, 1935, p. 5212; also pp. 5219, 5220.) (See Jefferson's Manual, Section 785; also Hinds, Precedents, Vol. V, Sections 5410-5411.)

May Not be Laid Upon Table

25 (d). The previous question having been moved and seconded. A motion was made to lay the motion for the previous question on the table. The Speaker ruled that the motion for the previous question could not be laid upon the table. (Legislative Journal, May 2, 1939, p. 2317.)

Interrogation Not Permitted, Is a Form of Debate

25 (e). A motion was made and seconded for the previous question, a member under a question of parliamentary inquiry asked if it was permissible under the rules to interrogate the gentleman who made the motion for the previous question. The speaker stated that he was of the opinion that an interrogation would be a form of debate and read for the information of the House Rule 68, relative to interrogation on an undebatable motion. (Legislative Journal, 1943, p. 2295)

SECTION 26

RECONSIDERATION

Omnibus Motion to Reconsider Vote to Reinstate Bills Not in Order

26 (a). A motion was offered to reconsider the vote by which several bills had been dropped from the calendar. The point of order was raised that the bills could not be reinstated by an omnibus motion, but that the motion should designate the number of each bill and the page of the calendar. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that each individual bill should be acted upon separately. (Legislative Journal, April 5, 1925, p. 3766.)

After Bill Has Passed House and Is Messaged to Senate Not in Order to

26 (b). A motion was made to reconsider the vote by which a House bill passed finally. The point of order was raised that this bill has already passed the House and sent to the Senate for concurrence and is no longer the property of the House. The Speaker pro tempore decided the point of order well taken. An appeal was taken from the decision of the Chair. The House sustained the decision of the Speaker pro tempore. (Legislative Journal, March 21, 1917, p. 732; Journal H. R., p. 948.)

Motion for, in Order Until Defeated

26 (c). On a motion to reconsider the vote by which a Senate bill was defeated on final passage, the point of order was raised that a motion has once been made for the reconsideration of this bill. The Speaker ruled that a motion to reconsider is always in order until the motion to reconsider has been defeated. (Legislative Record, April 15, 1909, p. 4096.)

Resolution Must be in Possession of the House to Reconsider

26 (d). A motion was made to reconsider the vote by which a resolution passed the House. The speaker ruled the motion out of order for the reason that the resolution was not in the possession of the House. (Legislative Journal, Jan. 23, 1933, p. 247.)

Of Motion by Which House Bill was Recommitted Not in Order

26 (e). A motion was made to reconsider the vote by which a House bill was recommitted to committee. Following the vote to reconsider the question was raised that the same could not be done because the House having voted to recommit the bill, the bill was no longer in the possession of the House so that action could be taken upon the motion to reconsider. The Chair ruled the point of order to be well taken and that the motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was recommitted was out of order. (Legislative Journal — House, June 8, 1971, p. 699.)

Motion to take from Table Cannot be Reconsidered

26 (f). On the question of renewing a motion to take from the table, the speaker ruled that although this motion Cannot be reconsidered, it can be renewed after intervening business. (Legislative Journal — House, February 19, 1987, p. 342.)

Question of Constitutionality Can be Reconsidered

26 (g). A parliamentary inquiry was raised regarding what the disposition of a bill was after it had been found to be unconstitutional by a vote of the House. The Speaker decided that the bill is still in the possession of the House, and a member would be free to offer a reconsideration motion on the matter of constitutionality. The question of constitutionality would then be before the House once again. (House Journal — July 16, 1975, p. 2172.)

SECTION 27

RESOLUTIONS

Placing Bill not Reported from Committee on Calendar, Not in Order

27 (a). On the question of adopting a resolution to place a Senate bill on the calendar not withstanding the negative recommendation to the Committee, the point of order was raised that this bill has not been reported to the House, and is not in the possession of the House, therefore, this resolution cannot be entertained. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, May 6,1907, p. 176; Journal H. R., p. 2597.)

Laid Upon the Table by a Majority Vote by the House Cannot be taken from the Table Except by a Majority Vote

27 (b). A resolution which was laid on the table was called up by a member. The point of order was raised that the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of the House, therefore, must be taken off by a vote of the House. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that it will require a motion agreed to by a majority of the members present to take the resolution from the table. (Legislative Record, February 11, 1907, p. 513; Journal H. R., p. 498.)

Act of Assembly Cannot be Changed or Repealed by

27 (c). On a motion to refer a Concurrent Resolution abolishing the printing of the Legislative Record to the Committee on Printing the point of order was raised that the publishing of the Legislative Record is provided for by an Act of Asembly and an Act of Assembly cannot be repealed by a Concurrent Resolution. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legisaltive Record, April 2, 1907, pp. 1941 and 2034; Journal H. R., p. 1385.) (See also Legislative Record, March 12, 1901, p. 785; Journal H. R., p. 727; also Legislative Record, Feb. 15, 1906, p. 695; and Journal H. R., p. 303.)

Acts of Assembly Cannot be Amended by Concurrent

27 (d). On the question of adopting a concurrent resolution, the point of order was raised that this resolution is unconstitutional. The speaker decided the point of order well taken, holding that an Act of Assembly cannot be amended by a concurrent resolution. (Legislative Journal, June 7, 1917, p. 3273; Journal H. R., p. 3143.)

Not Concerning a Member of the House, Out of Order

27 (e). On the question of adopting a concurrent resolution, the point of order was raised that the House is not concerning in this resolution because there is no charge in it affecting a member of this House but the charge relates entirely to a Senator. The Speaker submitted the point of order to the House. The House sustained the point of order. (Legislative Record, May 6, 1907, p. 4180; Journal H. R., p. 2600.)

Requesting a Clerk in a Department to Furnish Information, Not in Order

27 (f). On a motion to commit a House Resolution to the Committee on Ways and Means, the point of order was raised that the resolution is out of order, because Mr. Lewis, being an employe and not an officer of the Auditor General's Department, cannot be called upon to furnish information from that Department. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, and declared the resolution out of order. (Legislative Journal, April 13, 1921, p. 1836, and April 18, 1921, p. 2037.)

Recalling Bill from Senate Must be Acted upon by the Senate

27 (g). On a motion to reconsider the vote by which the resolution recalling a House bill from the Senate was adopted, the point of order was raised that the House cannot recall a bill from the Senate after it has passed second reading in the Senate. The Speaker ruled that the Resolution recalling the House bill is a Concurrent Resolution, therefore, the question of returning the bill to the House is for the Senate itself to determine. (Legislative Journal, April 5, 1921, p. 1308.)

Reconsideration of Vote Adopting, After Bill Has Been Messaged to Senate, Not in Order

27 (h). On a question to reconsider the vote by which the House adopted a Resolution to return a House bill to the Governor, the point of order was raised that the resolution authorizing the return of this bill to the Governor, was adopted by the House and messaged to the Senate before the gentleman presented his motion to reconsider the vote or the resolution, therefore, his motion is out of order, the resolution no longer being in the possession of the House. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that the resolution has already been messaged to the Senate and is not in the House, therefore, the motion is out of order. (Legislative Journal, June 16, 1919, pp. 3110 and 3111.)

Recalling Bill from Governor Is in Order After Bill Has Been Signed by Presiding Officers of Both Houses

27 (i). On the question of concurring in a resolution of the Senate to recall a Senate bill from the Governor, the point of order was raised that this bill has not yet been messaged to the Governor, therefore, the House cannot consider a resolution to recall it. The Speaker ruled that this bill has been signed by the speaker and is no longer in the possession of the House. (Legislative Journal, June 19, 1917, p. 3842.)

Consideration of, Not in Order Until Printed

27 (j). A concurrent resolution was offered and ordered laid over for printing when the point of order was raised that the resolution is out of order. The Speaker decided that until the resolution is printed its consideration is not in order and until its consideration is in order a point of order cannot be raised against it. (Legislative Journal, May 5, 1913, p. 2604.)

Amendment to, Restraining Persons from Leaving the State, Not in Order

27 (k). An amendment was offered to a resolution restraining certain persons from leaving the State, the point of order was raised that the amendment undertakes to give powers that the Legislature does not have. No legislative body has the power to restrain any person from leaving the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth before process is served. The speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, January 28, 1907, p. 267; Journal H. R., p. 303.)

Concurrent, Does Not Require Three Readings

27 (l). The point of order was raised that a concurrent resolution required three readings under Rule 32 of the House and is, therefore, not properly before the House. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken for the reason that the resolution before the House is a concurrent resolution and not a joint resolution and does not take the course of the bill (Legislative Journal, February 3, 1931, p. 219.)

Motion to Adopt Negatived, Not in Order

27 (m). A motion was offered to adopt a resolution which had been reported by committee with the negative recommendation. The Speaker ruled the motion out of order, stating that the proper parliamentary practice is to offer a motion to have this resolution (which is in the nature of a bill) placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee. An appeal was taken from the decision of the Chair. The House sustained the ruling of the Chair. (Legislative Journal, February 7, 1911, pp. 176, 179 and 180; Journal H. R., pp. 450 and 453.)

House May Print Senate Resolutions for Its Own Use

27 (n). A question of parliamentary inquiry was submitted, whether the House could require a Senate resolution under consideration printed. The Speaker replied that it was within the power of the House to have the resolution printed if it so decided (Legislative Journal, February 20, 1933, p. 674.)

Resolutions Required to be Submitted to Governor

27 (o). The point of order was raised that the resolution under consideration is out of order, for the reason that the resolution it proposes to recall is improperly in the hands of the Governor and is, therefore, not subject to recall.

The Speaker. In ruling on the point of order raised by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, the Chair read for the information of the House Article III, Section 26, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania:

"Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of both Houses may be necessary, except on questions of adjournment, shall be presented to the Governor and before it shall take effect, be approved by him."

In Commonwealth v. Griest, 196, Pa. 396, it was held that the orders, resolutions and votes which must be submitted to the Governor are, and only can be such as relate to and are a part of the business of legislation, as provided for and regulated by the terms of Article III of the Constitution. The same principle is supported in Armstrong v. King, 281 Pa. 207; also Taylor v. King, 284 Pa. 235.

In an opinion by Attorney General Brown, 1915, page 2, he stated:

"That not all joint or concurrent resolutions passed by the Legislature must be submitted to the Governor for his approval, but only such as make legislation or have the effect of legislation, i. e., enacting, repealing or amending laws or statues, or which have the effect of committing the State to a certain action or which provide for the expenditure of public money. Resolutions which are passed for any other purpose, such as the appointment of a committee by the Legislature to obtain information on legislative matters for its future use or to investigate condition in order to assist in future legislation are not required to be presented to the Governor for action thereon."

Attorney General Woodruff approved the conclusions of Attorney General Brown above cited in 7 D & C 672.

In Resolution 143, Printer's No. 965, the first resolve clause, Section (a), provides that two members of the proposed committee shall be appointed by the Governor.

The second resolve clause proposes a committee of three members of the House, and three members of the Senate, together with the Executive Director of the Emergency Relief Board (who is an administrative officer appointed by the Governor), to perform administrative duties of passing on salary increases and personnel and all other matters pertaining to the State Emergency Relief Administration.

The last resolution commits the General Assembly to a definite course of legislative action. Unless the Governor were in accord with this resolution, the Assembly could have no assurance that this course to which it pledged itself could be carried out.

The Chair is, therefore, of the opinion that Resolution 143 very definitely commits the State to certain action pertaining to the administration of relief and directly affects the administrative branch of Government; furthermore it requires the Governor to appoint members of a committee which could not be done without his consent, and that the resolution is legislative in character for these reasons this resolution was properly submitted of the Governor for his approval and the point of order is not well taken. (Legislative Journal, May 8, 1935, pp. 3346-3347.)

SECTION 28

ROLL CALL

Not in Order After Question Has Been Determined

28 (a). On a motion to reconsider the vote by which a resolution recalling a House bill from the Senate, was adopted, a viva voce vote was taken, and the Speaker decided the motion was not agreed to. The point of order was raised that several members of the House called for a division of a yea and nay vote before the final decision of the Chair was made, but were not heard by the Speaker, therefore, they are entitled to the privilege of a roll call on the question. The Speaker ruled the original question has been determined, and the only question is the point of order on the decision of the Chair, as to the yeas and nays, on a viva voce vote. (Legislative Journal, April 5, 1921, p. 1308.)

Call for Roll Not in Order After Decision is Announced

28 (b). A motion having been decidedly agreed to on a viva voce vote, a request was made by a member that the Chair withdraw his decision and permit a roll call. The point of order was made that the Speaker having announced his decision in the vote, a request for a roll call is out of order. The Speaker sustained the point of order. (Legislative Journal, August 9, 1932, p. 868.)

Nothing in Order but the Calling of 28 (c). The roll having been ordered called after which an attempt was made to open discussion of the question, the point of order was raised that there is nothing in order but the calling of the roll. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, stating that discussion of the question cannot be permitted. (Legislative Journal, March 19, 1913, p. 920; Journal H. R. p. 1553) (See also Legislative Journal, February 24, 1919, pp. 288-289.) (Legislative Journal, June 23, 1919, p. 3715.) (Legislative Journal, March 17, 1925, p. 1741.)

Roll Call May Not be Delayed to Permit Absent Member to Vote

28 (d). A request was made that the calling of the roll be delayed to give a member who had temporarily left his seat an opportunity to vote. The point of order was raised there was nothing before the House except voting on the question of concurring in the amendments of the Senate. Whether or not a member has absented himself from the House is of no moment. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, May 4, 1933, p. 5844.)

Terminates Upon Announcement of Vote

28 (e). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked, does the calling of the name "Mr. Speaker" terminate the roll call? The Speaker replied that the termination of the roll call does not take place until the announcement of the vote. (Legislative Journal, July 21, 1953, p. 4008.)

Challenging Vote of Members in Absentia

28 (f). The vote having been challenged on the charge that certain members were voted in absentia, and upon interrogation it was established that said members were not present nor in the Hall of the House, the Speaker declared the vote to be null and void, and ordered a new vote. Upon appeal taken, the decision of the Chair was sustained. (Legislative Journal, April 21, 1965, pp. 496-99.)

SECTION 29

RULES

Of Last House Do Not Continue in Force

29 (a). On motion to proceed to the election of a chief clerk, the point of order was raised that the nomination and election of an officer on the same day was a transgression of the rules of the House. The Speaker decided the point of order was not well taken, as the House was not yet organized, and there were not rules in force. (Journal H. R. 1889, p. 10.)

Organization of the House, before Adoption of 29 (b). Under a parliamentary inquiry during the organization of the House, the question was asked whether there were any rules governing debate. The Speaker replied there were no rules except those rules which by usage and custom have prevailed in the House. (Legislative Journal, January 3, 1939, p. 44.)

Organization of the House, before Adoption of 29 (c). Under a parliamentary inquiry during the organization of the House, the question was asked that since the House was preceeding without having yet adopted rules, are we not in the status of a committee of the whole. The Speaker replied we were not in the committee of the whole, but were members who had been elected and sworn, organizing the House, having selected a Speaker, and proceeding with selection of other officers. (Legislative Journal, January 3, 1939, p. 44.)

Joint Rules Not Binding on Succeeding House Unless Adopted

29 (d). Joint rules adopted by a former Senate and House were included in a current issue of a Legislative Directory.

A question of parliamentary inquiry was raised, asking whether they were binding on the present House.

The Speaker stated that they were not binding on the present House, for the following reasons:

Under the Constitution of Pennsylvania Art. II, Sec. 2. "Each House shall power to determine the rules of its proceedings."

Quoting from Jefferson's Manual. "It has been determined that one House may not continue its rules in force and over its successor. ...."

The Speaker further stated, "That the principle is well settled that it is not within the province of one House to adopt rules which are binding upon a subsequent House and the same principle applies to joint rules." (Legislative Journal, March 6, 1933, p. 925.)

Motion to Suspend Must State a Specific Purpose

29 (e). On a motion to suspend House Rule No. 57 for the remainder of the session, the point of order was raised that the motion is out of order for the reason that it violates House Rule No. 43, which requires that a motion to suspend a rule of the House must state a specific purpose. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, April 20, 1921, p. 2645.)

Suspension of, for a Specific Purpose Is in Order

29 (f). Rule No. 43 of the House was suspended for the specific purpose of consideration on third reading of a Senate bill. The House proceeded to the consideration of the bill the point of order was raised that the consideration of this bill is out of order at this time, for the reason that Rule No. 8 of the House does not provide for consideration on Monday nights of bills upon third reading. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, stating that the rules of the House provide that the majority of those voting can at any time alter the rules of the House. (Legislative Journal, June 25, 1917, p. 4131.)

Debate Not Allowed On Motion To Suspend The Rules

29 (g). Under a parliamentary inquiry, a question was raised of the Speaker as to what Rule provides that the Motion to Suspend the Rules is not debatable.

The Speaker replied that governing provisions are found in Mason's Legislative Manual, Section 82, Subsection (g). (Legislative Journal, October 26, 1983, p. 1738).

SECTION 30

SESSION

Continued after Midnight, Competent to Proceed with Business Pending before the House

30 (a). The session of the House having continued after twelve o'clock midnight, the Speaker decided that it was in order to proceed with the business before the House. An appeal was taken. The House sustained the decision. (Journal H. R., 1864, p. 1025.)

The hour of midnight having arrived, the Speaker decided that it was in order to proceed with the business under consideration. (Journal H. R., 1872, pp. 622, 623.)

The hour of midnight having passed the Speaker ruled that a legislative day extends until the House is adjourned (Legislative Journal, April 27, 1931, p. 2543) (Legislative Journal, Nov. 27, 1933, p. 230.)

Extends Until House is Adjourned

30 (b). The point of order was made that the House is governed by Eastern Standard Time, we are, therefore, in a new legislative day. (The hour of twelve midnight having passed.)

The Speaker ruled the point of order not well taken:

> "A Legislative day is not goverened by the hour of the day or the day of the week, but extends until the House adjourns. The Chair will refer the gentleman to decisions of the House as follows:
> 'The session of the House having continued after midnight, the Speaker decided it was in order to proceed with the business before the House. An appeal was taken and the House sustained the decision. Journal of the House of Representatives, 1864, page 1025.

'The hour of midnight having passed, the Speaker decided it was in order to proceed with the business then under consideration, Journal of the House, 1872, pp. 622 and 623.

'The hour of midnight having passed, the Speaker ruled that the legislative day extends until the House is adjourned. Legislative Journal, April 27, 1931, page 2453.'

In addition the Chair would read to the gentleman from Cambria, from Jefferson's Manual, Section 6:

'Legislative rather than calendar days are observed by the House of Congress.' "

The Speaker further stated that the rule of the House referred to governs the convening of the House but not the adjourning of the House. (Legislative Journal, May 25, 1939, p. 4524.)

Special, for a Special Purpose, No Other Business Can be Considered

30 (c). The point of order was raised that this being a special session for a special purpose, no other business could be considered. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Journal H. R., 1891, p. 1443.) (See also, House Journal, 1879, p. 788.)

Special, Subject Not Enumerated in Governor's Proclamation, Out of Order

30 (d). A point of order was raised that the subject of the bill was not germane to the proclamation of the Governor. The House sustained the point of order. (House Journal, 1906, p. 70.)

Fiscal

30 (e). Limitations defined in report of a Select Committee adopted.

REPORT AND SUGGESTIONS OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO STUDY THE AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 11, SECTION 4, OF THE CONSTITUTION, PROVIDING FOR ANNUAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Presented pursuant to House Resolution No. 132, Printer's No. 2070 (Serial No. 138), which directed the committee to define the types of legislation to be considered and limitations thereon for the 1960 annual session and the "fiscal" sessions occurring in even-numbered years thereafter; and to make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate rules to the General Assembly.

Pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution No. 132, Printer's No. 2070, the committee held several meetings. At the first meeting the committee directed the Joint State Government Commission and the Legislative Reference Bureau to conduct a study of the legal authorities and the experience of other states which have similar constitutional provisions and to make a report to the committee. The Governor was requested to direct the Attorney General to conduct a similar study. At subsequent meetings, the committee discussed these reports and the legal authorities cited therein.

As a result of these meetings, the committee drafted a rule which is designed to define the area within which the General Assembly may enact legislation during regular session convening in an even-numbered year.

A copy of this rule drawn for the House of Representatives, is made a part of this report.

It is suggested by the committee that the House of Representatives adopt this rule and that the Senate adopt a rule incorporating the definitions of "bills raising avenue" and "bills making appropriations" contained in this rule.

The Senate members of the committee preferred that this committee make no suggestions concerning procedural matters in the Senate.

The committee agrees that the limitation contained in the constitutional amendment applies only to legislation and that any other action which the General Assembly, or either House thereof, may lawfully take or consider, may also be taken nor considered during a "fiscal" session.

House Rule 38

All bills introduced during a regular session convening in an even-numbered year shall be either bills raising revenue or bills making appropriations.

A bill is a bill raising revenue when its primary purpose is to produce income to the State Treasury for use by the State, through taxation, license fees, regulatory fees, special assessments, rentals, royalties or from any other source through which the State may lawfully exact revenue. It may increase or decrease the revenue derived from any source, eliminate any source of revenue, or provide for a new source of revenue. It may contain such provisions of a regulatory character, or provisions making changes in existing law, which are incidental to its primary purpose.

A bill is a bill making an appropriation when its primary and specific purpose is to make expenditure of money from the State Treasury, and which contains no provisions of law other than those which may be lawfully imposed as conditions upon which such money may be expended.

Bills introduced during a regular session convening in an even-numbered year shall be numbered consecutively and those which are bills raising revenue or bills making appropriations shall be referred by the Speaker to an appropriate committee during the next ensuing five days during which the House is in session, at which time they shall be printed for the use of the members. All other bills shall remain in the possession of the Speaker, unless upon motion made and carried, the Speaker shall be directed to refer a bill to committee.

This rule shall be deemed to abrogate all other rules of the House to the extent that such other rules are inconsistent herewith. (Legislative Journal, January 25, 1960, pp. 38-39.)

SECTION 31

SPEAKER

Viva Voce Decision by, Not in Error

31 (a). The point of order was raised that several members of the House called for a division of a yea and nay vote before the final decision of the Chair was made, but were not heard by the Speaker, therefore, they are entitled to the privilege of a roll call on the question. The Speaker ruled the original question has been determined and the only question is the point of order on the decision of the Chair as to the yeas and nays on a viva voce vote. (Legislative Journal, April 5, 1921, pp. 1308-1310.) (The House sustained the decision of the Speaker on viva voce vote and over-ruled the point of order that the Speaker had erred.)

Interrogation of

31 (b). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked whether it would be in order to interrogate the Speaker of the House. The Speaker replied that if the interrogation was a proper one, it would be in order. (Legislative Journal, February 9, 1956, p. 5927.)

SECTION 32

VETO MESSAGE

Motion to Postpone Consideration of, for the Present, in Order

32 (a). A motion having been made to postpone consideration of the veto message for the present, the point of order was raised "that under the provisions of the Constitution the House could not postpone the consideration of the communication." The Speaker pro tempore decided the point of order not well taken. (Journal H. R., 1893, p. 530.) (See also similar decision, same Journal, p. 532.)

Reconsideration of Governor's Veto Message

32 (b). On a Point of Order raised regarding whether a Veto Message by the Governor can be reconsidered, the Speaker ruled that, by virtue of House Rule 26, just as a bill or resolution or other substantive matter may be reconsidered, a Governor's veto can, likewise, be reconsidered. Section 458 of Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure is also supportive of this decision. (Legislative Journal, June 27, 1978, p. 2516).

Constitutionality of Bill Vetoed by the Governor

32 (c). A member asked a parliamentary inquiry regarding whether it was in order to raise the question of constitutionality on a bill that had been vetoed by the Governor while the vetoed bill was being considered. The Speaker replied that the only thing before the House is the approval or disapproval of the Governor's veto, but the member could cite constitutional arguments in urging that the Governor's veto be sustained. (Legislative Journal, November 19, 1986, p. 2199.)

SECTION 33

VISITORS

Attention Not to be Directed to, During Debate

33 (a). A member was addressing the House, when he paused in his remarks to ask a visiting constituent, whom he had invited to the Hall of the House, to rise and face the members to emphasize a point he was making in debate. The Speaker interrupted and advised the member that such procedure was out of order. (Legislative Journal, April 24, 1939, p. 1708.)

SECTION 34

VOTE

Challenge of Members, When Result is Affected Announcement of the Vote is Withheld

34 (a). A House bill was on final passage, the roll was taken and on verification of the roll, a member's vote was challenged which changed the result of the vote. The Speaker pro temp decided under Rule 65 of the House, the result of the vote will be withheld until the challenge is investigated. (Legislative Journal, May 7, 1913, pp. 2763-4, also Journal H. R., p. 3344.)

After investigation by the Speaker the challenge was not sustained as the gentleman was present and voted. (Legislative Journal, 1913, p. 2764.)

Challenge of Vote Must be Made before Vote is Announced

34 (b). Under parliamentary inquiry the question was asked whether the challenge of a member's vote must be made in writing before the vote is announced? The Speaker stated that under House Rule 80, the challenge must be submitted before the result of vote is announced. (Legislative Journal, April 14, 1953, p. 1285.)

Challenge of Member's Vote Must Be in Writing

34 (c). A member stated that another member who was recorded as voting was not present. When the point of order was made, that under the rules of the House the challenge of a member's vote must be in writing, the Speaker sustained the point of order. (Legislative Journal, July 19, 1932, p. 507.) (House Journal, 1935, p. 2699.)

Member Cannot be Recorded after Result of, is Announced

34 (d). On a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill was defeated on final passage, a roll was taken, verified and the result announced, and when a member asked to be recorded, the point of order was raised that the roll had been called, the verification made, and vote announced. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken, and the member's vote was not recorded. (Legislative Journal, May 5, 1913, p. 2618; (Journal H. R., p. 3238.)

Member's Right to, Defined

34 (e). Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was asked as to the interpretation of the rules governing a member's right to vote? The Speaker replied that a member was entitled to vote if he was in the Hall of the House during the first call of the roll and had asked to be recorded prior to the affirmative or negative roll being verified under the provisions of House Rule 80. (Legislative Journal, July 21, 1953, p. 4009.)

Absentee Voting

34 (f). Under a parliamentary inquiry, the question was asked whether or not under the Constitution the House can permit absentee voting.

The Speaker replied either by unanimous consent or the suspension of the Rules requiring members to be present to vote would permit an absentee vote. (Legislative Journal, January 26, 1961, pp. 190-191.)

Member Entitled to, If Within the Hall of the House When Roll is Called

34 (g). On the final passage of a House bill, the point of order was raised that when an objection is raised to a member voting, after his name has been passed on the roll, under the rules of the House, he shall then not be permitted to vote, whether he is in the House or not. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, stating that if the gentleman desiring to be recorded, is within the Hall of the House when the roll is called, he is entitled to vote. (Legislative Journal, March 31, 1913, p. 1291; Journal H. R., 2004.)

Member Entitled to Vote if Within the Hall of the House

34 (h). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, whether members who have not answered to their names will be recorded on the roll. The Speaker stated that every member who is within the Hall of the House has the constitutional right to vote. He may rise and state to the Chair that he did not hear his name called or that he voted under a misapprehension whatever statement or reason the gentleman sees fit to give, the Chair must accept that statement. (Legislative Journal, December 6, 1933, p. 465.)

Member Entitled to, If Present in the House

34 (i). The speaker was asked whether a member who had been granted leave of absence after a stated hour was officially present and entitled to vote on questions before the House after that hour. The Speaker stated that the member's presence in the House determines that he is officially present and entitled to vote. (Legislative Journal, April 11, 1945, p. 2336.)

Member Required to, Unless Excused by the House

34 (j). A member asked to be excused from voting, which was objected to.

Under a question of parliamentary inquiry as to what is the parliamentary procedure requiring a member to vote, the Speaker read Rule 71 of the House as follows:

> "Every member shall be present within the Hall of the House during its sittings, unless excused by the House or necessarily prevented, and shall vote for or against each question, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the determination of such question or unless he be excused by the House."

The Speaker also read to the House the following precedents in which the House had acted when members declined to vote:

> "House Competent to Excuse a Member from Voting. The Speaker decided that it was at all times competent for the House to excuse a Member from voting." Journal of the House of Representatives 1858, p. 813.

The Chair also read Article 2, Section 11, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

> "Powers of Each House-Expulsion. Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its Members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence, to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitations.
> The Speaker stated that if every Member of this House should decide to refuse to vote it would stop the legislative process of this House."

A point of order was then raised that there being no rule prescribing penalties to be imposed and no process established under the rules by which a member can be disciplined for not voting, it is without the province of the House under the rules to require the gentleman to vote.

The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken. Under a question of parliamentary inquiry as to what the course of procedure would be and under what rule would a penalty be imposed upon a member refusing to vote.

The Speaker replied that House Rule 71 and Article 2, Section 11, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania established the procedure and that it would be for the House to decide the penalty to be imposed. (Legislative Journal, March 27, 1945, p. 1702.)

Member Required to Under Provisions of the Constitution and House Rules

34 (k). In reply to a parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker recited the following provisions of the Constitution and House Rules requiring Members to vote on questions before the House.

With the help of the Parliamentarian we have assembled the following information which the Chair thinks will be of interest to all the members, and in the opinion of the Chair this information should be made a part of the record of the House.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania prescribes the method of voting on the passage of bills in Article 3, Section 4, which reads:

(a) "...the vote be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the journal..."

This is a Constitutional provision.

Article 2, Section 12, provides that:

"...the yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two of them be entered on the journal."

Article 2, Section 11, of the Constitution confers upon the House the power to determine the Rules of its proceedings and punish members for contempt.

Rule 71 provides, "Every Member shall vote for or against each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the determination of such question, or unless he be excused by the House."

Rule 78 provides, "The Legislative Journal shall show the result of each roll call by Yeas and Nays and not voting."

Rule 10 provides, "When less than a quorum vote on any subject under the consideration of the House, it shall be the duty of the Speaker forthwith to order the doors of the House to be closed, and that the roll of Members be called by the Clerk, and if it is ascertained that a quorum is present, either by answering to their names or by their presence in the House the Yeas and Nays shall again be ordered by the Speaker, and if any Member present refuses to vote, such refusal shall be deemed a contempt, and unless purged, the Speaker shall order the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove said Member or Members without the bar of the House, and all privileges of membership shall be refused the person so offending until the contempt be duly purged."

Rule 10 in its present form was first adopted, so the Parliamentarian tells me, by the House April 2, 1858, over a hundred years ago, to prevent the stoppage of legislative processes by Members refusing to vote. It has continued all through the years without any change to be a Rule of the House. It is interesting to note that at the time of the adoption of this Rule, an amendment to it was rejected by the House, and the proposed amendment reads, "Such Member shall be noted on the Journal as present; and not voting, and be considered a portion of a quorum." (The House Journal, April 2, 1858.)

In the Legislative Journal of the House of Representatives of June 7, 1935, in response to a question of parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker replied that a Member could not be recorded as voting "present" on a bill, for the reason that the Constitution requires the vote be taken and recorded by yeas and nays.

Incidentally, Jefferson's Manual, one of the parliamentary authorities, states. "Every member must give his vote one way or the other."

If a Member is not prepared to vote, the correct parliamentary recourse to him, under the rule, is to request the House to excuse him. He should not willfully and deliberately violate the Rule, by keeping silent or to refuse to vote and subject himself to possible contempt.

It should be also noted when a fixed number of votes is required to take action, such as is the case under our Constitution, a failure to vote reduces by one the vote available to take action as in the case of private institution bills where a two thirds majority of the House in order to approve the appropriation and, therefore, the vote "present" would have the effect of being a vote "no."

It is true the members of the House are bound by their oath which they take initially to obey the constitutional mode of proceedings, which, under the Rules adopted by the House, do not permit a member to be recorded as voting "present" where the Yeas and Nays are required or where the Yeas and Nays are demanded.

The Speaker There is another aspect of the general problem which perhaps deserves some consideration. That is, a member strictly speaking is not voting as an individual, he is not primarily an individual he is a voice; a voice which presumably expresses the wishes of the constituency which he represents. So if one voted "present," the particular constituency which he represented would have no voice in the proceedings of this body. (Legislative Journal, August 2, 1955, pp. 3204-5.)

Member Cannot Be Recorded as Voting Present on a Bill

34 (l). Under a question of parliamentary inquiry, the Speaker stated a member cannot be recorded as voting present on a bill for the reason that the Constitution. Article III, Section 4, requires that the votes be taken by yeas and nays. (Legislative Journal, June 17, 1935, p. 5750.)

Call for a Division of, Must be Made Before Speaker Renders Decision

34 (m). An amendment to a House bill was declared not agreed to by the Speaker, and when a division was called for, the point of order was raised that the call came too late as the Chair had already rendered its decision. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Journal, March 22, 1911, p. 947.)

Tie Vote, Defeats Bill

34 (n). A roll call was taken on agreeing to a bill on second reading which resulted in a tie vote. A point of order was raised, that since the bill did not receive a majority of all the votes cast, it was lost. The Speaker decided the point of order well taken. (Legislative Record, March 12, 1907.) (Also Dec. 1951.)

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

POWERS AND DUTIES

The Legislative Reference Bureau was created by the Act of April 27, 1909, P. L. 208. It was reorganized as a legislative agency by the Act of May 7, 1923, P. L. 158. The bureau was created for the use of the members of the General Assembly, the Governor, the heads of agencies of the state government, and in certain cases, such citizens of the Commonwealth as desire to consult it.

The primary purpose was to provide an agency, with trained personnel, to draft and pass upon the legislative bills and resolutions for introduction in the General Assembly; to advise members of the Legislature and legislative committees; from time to time to prepare for adoption or rejection by the General Assembly, codes, by topics, of the existing general statutes; and to engage in research work on legislative questions and the history of legislation. The bureau does not give legal advice to private citizens, but upon request furnishes copies of statutory laws on particular subjects where available.

Under the Commonwealth Documents Law, all documents as defined therein shall not be valid unless filed with the bureau. The bureau edits, compiles and supplements these in the Pennsylvania Code and the Pennsylvania Bulletin, both of which are administered by the bureau.

Since the legislative session of 1969, the bureau has had the responsibility of editing and overseeing the publication of the slip laws and Pamphlet Laws. In 1974, the bureau was also given statutory authority to edit and issue an official publication of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes.

The bureau is headed by the director who is elected by the Senate and House of Representatives in joint session. The director must be qualified by experience, knowledge and ability to conduct the work of the bureau. He appoints the assistant director and all other legal assistants and employes of the bureau and fixes their salaries.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATIVE CORRESPONDENTS' ASSOCIATION

The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association is the oldest legislative correspondents' association in the nation. It was organized by 25 reporters at the Capitol in January 1895.

The late Colonel Henry Hall, of the old Pittsburgh Times, was the first presiding officer of the association.

Official recognition is given to the association in the Rules of the Senate and House of Representatives. Press galleries in the House and Senate Chambers are restricted to accredited correspondents and photographers of daily newspapers and radio and TV stations.

The Capitol Newsroom is maintained by the Commonwealth for the use and convenience of the reporters who represent Pennsylvania's daily newspapers and press associations in the state's Capitol. It is located at the rear of E floor in the central wing of the Capitol and is room number 524.

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

The Executive branch of state government is responsible for administering the laws of the Commonwealth. Along with the Judiciary and the Legislature, it is one of the three branches of state government as defined in the Constitution.

Organization:

Article IV of the Constitution establishes the "Executive Department" and its composition, and grants power to the Legislature to approve "such other officers as the General Assembly may from time to time prescribe." Other laws and statutes — particularly the Administrative Code of 1929 — more specifically delineate the organization and responsibilities of the Executive branch.

The Executive branch consists of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Auditor General, Treasurer, and numerous departments, agencies, boards and commissions. As head of the Executive branch, the Governor is the chief executive officer of the Commonwealth. All executive or administrative agencies are under his jurisdiction, except for such elected officers as the Attorney General, Auditor General and Treasurer.

There are several executive departments, each headed by an official — usually called a Secretary — who is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, and who sits as a member of the Cabinet. Some agencies have advisory boards or commissions, many of whose members are also appointed by the Governor. Other executive boards and commissions are independent agencies. Although their members may also be appointed by the Governor, with or without Senate confirmation, the Governor has only limited responsibility over them.

In addition, there are several other agencies which do not fall within the Governor's jurisdiction. These include several public corporations, such as the General State Authority and the State Highway and Bridge Authority, on whose boards the Governor sits by law.

Administrative Code of 1929:

The Administrative Code of 1929 — which has been frequently updated — defines the organization, powers and duties of the Executive branch, including the creation and organization of divisions and bureaus within individual agencies; the appointment, employment and compensation of the Commonwealth's officers and employees; the issuance of rules and regulations; and the financial, budgetary and purchasing responsibilities of various agencies.

The Code is supplemented by laws passed by the General Assembly. Such state agencies as the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Milk Marketing Board and the Liquor Control Board were established by statutes not included in the Administrative Code.

Executive Board:

The Executive Board is established by Section 204 of the Administrative Code of 1929 and is empowered to establish uniform standards and regulations within the Executive branch. It sets standard qualifications for employment, job classification and compensation; approves the establishment of divisions and bureaus within administrative departments; authorizes bonding of state officials; and sets other personnel regulations such as the hours and days for official business.

The Governor is chairman of the Executive Board and he appoints the heads of six administrative departments to fill the other positions.

Salaries:

The salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Auditor General, State Treasurer, heads of departments and members of some commissions and boards are set by law. Legislation effective July 3, 1987, set new salaries for persons assuming certain offices after that date. Where applicable, the salary for the incumbent's successor is indicated in parentheses.

Offices are listed in order of their creation.

For members of boards and commissions who do not receive reimbursement by law, the Executive Board establishes compensation.

ROBERT P. CASEY — GOVERNOR

Robert P. Casey was elected governor of Pennsylvania on November 3, 1986 and took office on January 20, 1987. Since that time, the Casey Administration has taken unprecedented action on many of the most difficult challenges confronting the Commonwealth, focusing special attention on four areas: creating jobs and economic opportunity, cleaning up the environment, fighting drug abuse and improving our schools.

In 1987, the Governor established the Pennsylvania Economic Development Partnership — composed of business executives, college presidents, labor leaders and local officials — to help create new jobs and new investment in the state.

The core of the Partnership is the "Governor's Response Team," which coordinates state aid to businesses and helps distressed communities maximize their economic potential. The New York Times called it "Pennsylvania's Economic SWAT Team," and credited Gov. Casey's direct involvement with making it distinctive among the nation's state economic development programs. The Response Team's success in creating and saving jobs can be seen in numerous projects, including Ford Electronics in Montgomery County, Prudential Asset Management in Lackawanna County and PPG Industries in Allegheny County.

The Partnership also supports nine new Industrial Resource Centers throughout the state to help small and medium-sized Pennsylvania businesses put new manufacturing technologies into practice, thereby enhancing productivity and creating new jobs.

In addition to strengthening Pennsylvania's economic base, Gov. Casey secured enactment of PENNVEST, a 25-year, $2.5 billion program to rebuild Pennsylvania's local water and sewer systems. This innovative plan helps communities replace water and sewer treatment facilities that are too rundown to meet health and safety standards, or too small to support new economic growth.

PENNVEST is just one part of a comprehensive environmental plan which includes an aggressive statewide recycling program; a new state toxic waste cleanup program; and some of the toughest environmental enforcement actions in the nation — including what is believed to be the largest environmental fine against a polluter in U.S. history.

In recognition of his leadership in the area of environmental protection, Gov. Casey has been honored by such organizations as the Pennsylvania Resources Council, the Pennsylvania Environmental Council, the Audubon Council of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania National Recreation and Parks Association.

To combat the crisis of drugs in Pennsylvania, Gov. Casey created a comprehensive program known as PENNFREE. Funding for the plan includes 90 million new state dollars, and represents a doubling of the state's anti-drug efforts. Highlights of the plan include: massive new support for Pennsylvania's state and local law enforcement, expanding school and community-based drug education and prevention programs; and directing greater resources, not only to treatment, but to the other problems created by drug abuse such as homelessness, child abuse, domestic violence and AIDS.

Gov. Casey's program to improve Pennsylvania's schools increased basic education funding by three-quarters-of-a-billion dollars, while raising teacher salaries and professional status, rewarding schools which improve student performance, and encouraging teachers to teach in underserved urban and rural areas by paying part of their college loan indebtedness.

Other innovative programs initiated by Gov. Casey to improve the quality of life in Pennsylvania include:

- "Healthy Beginnings," a program to provide expanded prenatal and neonatal care, and increased funding for child nutrition, special education and child protection programs.
- The first commitment of state dollars to the Women, Infants and Children nutrition program.
- Appointment of the state's first advisor to the governor on child care policy and the creation of model child care centers in state facilities.
- The state's first programs to provide home health care for the elderly and aid to those who care for elderly relatives in their home.

Gov. Casey has the most diverse cabinet in state history, with twice as many women and blacks than any previous Pennsylvania administration. He appointed the first black state police chief in the nation and the first black woman in American history to sit on a supreme court.

Robert P. Casey was born on January 9, 1932 in Jackson Heights, N.Y., the son of Alphonsus L. and Marie Casey. He grew up in Scranton, where he was senior class president and valedictorian, class of 1949, at the Scranton Preparatory School.

An accomplished athlete, Casey was named to the Scranton Times' 1949 All-Regional Basketball Team. He attended Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts on an athletic scholarship.

After earning his bachelor of arts degree in English, cum laude, in 1953, Casey attended the George Washington University Law School on a scholarship awarded by the university's trustees.

A member of the Order of the Coif and research editor of the law review, he received his J.D. in 1956.

After several years of law practice in Washington, D.C. and then in Scranton, Casey won election to represent Lackawanna County in the Pennsylvania State Senate in 1962.

Casey was also elected to serve as a delegate to the 1967 Pennsylvania State Constitutional Convention. He was chosen by his fellow delegates to be First Vice President of the convention and played a leading role in the writing and ratification of the Commonwealth's current constitution.

A year later, Casey won election to the first of two consecutive terms as Pennsylvania's Auditor General. From 1969 until 1977 he revolutionized the office of the Auditor General, turning it into a model of professionalism and corruption-fighting efficiency. According to one commentator, he took an agency long known as a "backwater haven for patronage" and turned it into "a rushing current of reform."

Casey returned to private law practice in 1977. For ten years leading up to his election as Governor, he remained active in Scranton civic affairs, as well as national politics.

He holds honorary doctorate degrees from Holy Cross College, Catholic University of America, St. Joseph's University, University of Scranton, LaSalle University, Lincoln University, St. Francis College, Drexel University and College Misericordia.

In 1953, Casey was married to Ellen Theresa Harding, a Scranton native and graduate of Marywood College. The Caseys have eight children: Margi Casey McGrath, Mary Ellen Casey Philbin, Kate Casey Brier, Robert Jr., Christopher, Erin Casey Walsh, Patrick, and Matthew; and nine grandchildren.

THE GOVERNOR

The Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides that "the supreme executive power shall be vested in the Governor, who shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed." In addition to serving as chief officer of the executive branch of state government, the Governor is Commander-in-Chief of the Military Forces of the Commonwealth, except when they are called into the actual service of the United States.

To be eligible for election as Governor, a person must be at least 30 years old, a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the Commonwealth for a minimum of seven years before the election, unless he or she has been absent on the public business of the state or the nation.

The Governor holds office for a four-year term beginning on the third Tuesday of January following the gubernatorial election and is eligible to serve one additional four-year term.

Among the Governor's numerous duties are the following:

Appointments. With the consent of a two-thirds majority of the Pennsylvania Senate, the Governor appoints the secretaries of departments and heads of other cabinet-level agencies. The Governor also appoints members of state boards, commissions, and councils. Under the Administrative Code, some of these appointments are subject to Senate approval, mostly by a simple majority. The Governor also appoints justices of the peace, which a majority of the Senate must confirm, and he appoints other judicial officers, which two-thirds of the Senate must confirm.

The Senate has 25 legislative days to act upon nominations. Should the Senate fail to act upon a nomination within the required time, the nominee takes office as if the appointment has gained the Senate's consent.

In a similar manner, the Governor fills vacancies in the offices of the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, the Attorney General, justices of the peace and other offices. In the case of a vacancy in an elective office, a special election is held the next appropriate election day, unless the first day of the vacancy is within two calendar months before election day. In this case, the election is held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to the office.

Budget. The Governor must annually present to the General Assembly a balanced operating budget and a capital budget for the ensuing fiscal year, as well as a financial plan for not less than the next five succeeding fiscal years.

The General Assembly must initiate and pass a budget bill. If the estimated revenues and available surplus are less than the proposed expenditures, the Governor can disapprove of any individual item in the budget bill or recommend additional revenue sources. The General Assembly may override a Governor's veto and repass the vetoed items by a two-thirds vote. The Legislature also must initiate any measure to provide additional revenue.

Executive Department Management. The Governor approves the appointment and compensation of all deputies and employees in administrative departments and boards and commissions, as well as his own staff. Through his chairmanship of the Executive Board, as well as administrative and policy statements contained in Executive Orders or by Management and other Directives, the Governor establishes policies and practices for all employees and agencies under his jurisdiction. The Governor also issues emergency and other proclamations.

He may require information in writing from Executive Department officers, as well as request the head of any department, board or commission to submit for his approval estimates of the amount of money required for each activity or function to be carried on during any period of time. If the Governor does not approve the estimate, it must be revised in accordance with his wishes and resubmitted for approval. Should any agency not submit an estimate after it was requested, the Governor may notify the Treasurer not to draw any warrant in favor of the department until the Govenor has received and approved the estimate.

The Governor approves or disapproves of all investments by departments, boards or commissions. In addition, he appoints and determines the compensation for a comptroller and the comptroller's staff in each administrative department and independent board and commission.

With the consultation of the Auditor General, the Governor can require the installation of a uniform system or systems of bookkeeping, accounting and financial reports for administrative agencies.

Legislation. The Governor delivers messages to the General Assembly and suggests measures that the legislature may want to introduce in bill form.

On extraordinary occasions, the Governor may convene the General Assembly when it is not in session. In the case of disagreement between the Senate and the House with respect to adjournment, he can adjourn them at any time not exceeding four months. He may convene the Senate, as well, in extraordinary session by proclamation for the transaction of executive business.

Any bills and concurrent resolutions passed by the General Assembly except for adjournment must be submitted to the Governor for approval. If any bill is not returned by the Governor within 10 days after it has been submitted, it becomes law. If the General Assembly prevents the bill's return due to its adjournment, the bill becomes law, unless the Governor files it with his objections in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and gives public notice of his actions within 30 days after the adjournment. If the Governor returns the bill, vetoing the measure, the General Assembly needs a two-thirds majority to override the veto.

Military. The Governor is the Commander-in-Chief of the Commonwealth's military forces, except when they are called into the service of the United States. He may order for service as many of the Militia as are needed in the case of war or invasion, or to prevent invasion, suppress riots, or aid civil officials in the execution of the laws of the Commonwealth.

Other Powers and Duties. The Governor can remit fines and forfeitures and grant reprieves. If the Board of Pardons has first held a public hearing and made a recommendation, the Governor can also commute sentences and pardon persons, except in cases of impeachment. He may demand fugitives from states or territories, as well as issue warrants for the arrest of persons in Pennsylvania upon the request of other Governors.

The Governor serves as an ex officio member of many state boards and commissions, several state colleges and universities and other state-related institutions, as well as a number of private institutions. He can appoint accountants to audit the Auditor General and his office, he approves applications for letters patent of corporations for profit, and he can grant commissions to pilots for aeronautical work.

The Governor certifies elections for Presidential Electors in the Electoral College and provides Congressional election returns to U.S. officials. He also issues commissions to persons for Judge of the Supreme Court or Superior Court and for every court of record.

Joseph L. Zazyczny was born July 17, 1935, in Phila., the son of John D. and Mary Olszewski Zazyczny; grad., Northeast Catholic H.S., Phila., 1953; Temple Univ. (B.S., Bus. Admin.) 1967; U.S. Army, 1954-57; Phila. City Councilman 1968-79; Corporate Secretary, Philadelphia Port Corporation, 1979-87; pres., Polish-American Citizens League of Pa., 1969-76; pres., Polish Heritage Society, 1965-70, 1980-84; pres., American Council on Polish Cultural Clubs, 1986-pres.; Deputy Secretary for Administration, Pa. Dept. of Health, 1987; appointed Secretary of Administration, Dec. 22, 1987; married to Martha I. Stronski; children: Jacqueline, Joel, Jocelyn, Jayda Lynn, Jason and Justin; resides in Philadelphia.

The Office of Administration was established within the Governor's Office in 1955. Its purpose is to serve as staff support to the Governor in providing policy direction and administrative support to all agencies under the Governor's jurisdiction. In January of 1979, it was combined with the Office of Budget. Effective January 18, 1983, the Office of Budget and Administration was again divided into separate offices. The Office of Administration is managed by the Secretary of Administration. There are three basic operational areas — computer operations, employee relations, and management consulting services — which are divided into the following management subunits:

Bureau of Affirmative Action encourages and promotes Commonwealth-wide programs directed at ending discrimination against protected groups in all state agencies under the Governor's jurisdiction. This bureau develops programs to involve these individuals at all levels of employment.

Division of State Employment is responsible for establishing policies and procedures for the selection and appointment of candidates to Non-Civil Service positions. The division receives and evaluates applications and refers qualified applicants to agencies for consideration for vacant positions in accordance with established procedures and EEOC guidelines.

Bureau of Labor Relations plans and directs all labor relations activities for the Commonwealth as employer under the Public Employe Relations Act of 1970 and the Policemen's and Firemen's Collective Bargaining Act of 1968. The bureau negotiates collective bargaining agreements with state employe unions and provides direction and assistance to state agencies in the administration and interpretation of such agreements.

Bureau of Personnel has responsibility for all of the personnel policy and programs that are designed to support the Governor's management objectives. The bureau reviews personnel policy and recommends necessary legislative or executive action to improve the personnel operation. It gives direction to the agencies in the application of human, management and employe relations. It provides development programs for top executives, managers and supervisors. The bureau administers the job system, which includes the development of job classification standards and recommends statewide pay policies. In addition, the bureau is responsible for the administration of the Commonwealth's management benefits program.

Central Management Information Center provides systems analysis, computer programming and the computer operational support for Commonwealth-wide computer-based information, processing and reporting systems, including Payroll, Personnel, Central Accounting, and the new Integrated Central Systems Program. The center is also the Commonwealth's Computer Services center and provides Data Processing Resources to other agencies which either lack EDP capabilities within their own organization or require specialized services.

Bureau of EDP Policy and Planning provides for the development and implementation of a Commonwealth Master Plan for electronic data processing (EDP). The bureau develops, promulgates and evaluates statewide policies, procedures and standards for data processing. It provides technical assistance on EDP planning to the agencies. In addition, the bureau is responsible for the development of the Integrated Commonwealth Data Communications Network.

Integrated Central Systems (ICS) Project is responsible for the design, development, and implementation of the Commonwealth's on-line integrated administrative management system. This system will promote decentralization of operations and improved central controls, by making available to Commonwealth managers timely, accurate, compatible administrative information across functional lines.

Bureau of Management Services provides internal consulting services for the Secretary of Administration on management and administrative policy issues. The bureau conducts management improvement and organization studies designed to help solve single agency and inter-agency problems. It also manages the Executive Board and the Directives Management System.

The Office of the Budget is authorized by the Administrative Code of 1929. It is under the direct supervision of the Secretary of the Budget, who reports to the Governor. The Budget Secretary has overall responsibility for preparation of the Governor's budget and its implementation after legislative enactment and also for maintenance of the Commonwealth's uniform accounting, payroll, and financial reporting systems. The Budget Secretary is responsible for evaluating special policy issues and providing other senior officials with information to change existing policy or formulate new policy.

The Office of the Budget is divided into two operational areas managed by the Deputy Secretary for Budget and by the Deputy Secretary for Comptroller Operations.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR BUDGET

The Deputy Secretary for Budget oversees the preparation and implementation of the Governor's budget each year, coordinates the capital budget, and maintains liaison between the Governor's Office and the several state authorities. The Budget Office maintains a continuing evaluation of the progress and effectiveness of state programs in meeting program objectives.

Each year, it is the duty of the Budget Secretary to obtain and prepare information necessary for the preparation of a state budget. The Budget Office oversees this preparation of budget estimates for all institutions and agencies seeking state appropriations. These budget estimates are returned to the Budget Secretary who, at the direction of the Governor, may make further inquiries regarding the financial needs of any department, board, commission, institution or other agency. After each group is given an opportunity to be heard, the Governor may approve, disapprove or alter the budget estimates.

On or before January 1 of each year, the Budget Secretary is required to submit to the Governor in writing the information which will serve as the basis for the Governor's budget. Not later than the first full week in February of each year, except the year when a Governor has been elected to his first term of office, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly the state budget, which includes the recommended amounts for all public purposes together with the established revenues or receipts from all sources and an estimated amount to be raised by taxation or otherwise. The Governor also must transmit with the state budget the various estimates of receipts with expenditures received by the Budget Secretary from officers in the executive, legislative and judicial branches.

The Deputy Secretary for Budget meets these responsibilities by directing an organization comprised of a Bureau of Administrative Services, Bureau of Budget Analysis, Bureau of Fiscal Policy Analysis, Bureau of Program Planning and Evaluation, Bureau of Legislative and Regulatory Analysis and Bureau of Revenue, Cash Flow and Debt.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR COMPTROLLER OPERATIONS

Comptroller Operations, headed by the Deputy Secretary for Comptroller Operations, provides assistance to the Secretary of the Budget in the development, implementation, maintenance, review, monitoring and control of uniform accounting, payroll, auditing, operating and financial reporting policies, procedures and systems to ensure accountability of funds and the efficiency, effectiveness and economy of financial operations throughout Commonwealth agencies under the Governor's jurisdiction.

The Deputy meets this responsibility by directing an organization comprised of a Bureau of Financial Management, Bureau of Audits, Bureau of Operations Review and seven Comptroller Offices. The bureaus provide central support and technical services to Comptrollers and, on occasion, to Commonwealth agencies. Comptrollers serve as chief financial accounting officers for the agencies to which they are assigned and are authorized to approve or disapprove agency financial transactions, contracts and payment requisitions on behalf of the Governor.

In 1978, Pennsylvania voters approved a constitutional amendment that made the office of Attorney General an elected position, independent of the chief executive. In 1980, the General Assembly passed and the Governor signed into law the Commonwealth Attorneys Act. This Act set forth the duties of the elected Attorney General and created a new office of General Counsel, to be appointed by the Governor.

The Act seeks to distribute properly four important legal functions. The first is the interest in insuring that the Commonwealth has an independent and vigorous law enforcement effort. The second is the need of the Governor and other executive branch officials to be assured of ready access to legal counsel in the daily performance of their duties. The third is the interest in having an attorney with an independent perspective reviewing the numerous civil cases in which the Commonwealth is involved. The fourth is the right of the Governor and executive agency heads to obtain legal counsel when necessary to represent their interests, present their points of view and defend their programs in certain civil cases.

Under the Act, which took effect on January 21, 1981, the Attorney General has responsibility for enforcing the state's criminal laws and has primary responsibility for representing the state in civil court cases. The General Counsel serves as the legal advisor to the Governor and directs the legal activities of the executive branch. The act permits the General Counsel to intervene in civil litigation on behalf of the Governor and executive branch.

The Office of General Counsel is headed by the General Counsel who is appointed by the Governor and who serves as the chief legal advisor to the Governor. Additionally, the General Counsel is empowered to:

- Appoint deputy general counsel, as well as chief counsel and assistant counsel for the operation of each executive agency, and to supervise, coordinate and administer the legal services provided by the deputy general counsel and the chief counsel and assistant counsel for each executive agency.
- Render legal advice and representation prior to initiation of any action, as are required concerning every matter and issue arising in connection with the exercise and performance of the official powers and duties in the operation of executive agencies and, upon request, independent agencies.
- Upon request, assist and cooperate fully with the Attorney General and the counsel of each independent agency in the futherance of the performance of their duties.
- Initiate appropriate proceedings or defend the Commonwealth or any executive agency when an action or matter has been referred to the Attorney General and the Attorney General refuses or fails to initiate appropriate proceeding or defend the Commonwealth or executive agency.
- Represent the Governor or an executive agency if the Attorney General has initiated litigation against him or it.
- Upon the request of the Governor, appeal certain decisions adverse to an executive agency rendered by the Attorney General concerning deeds, leases, contracts and fidelity bonds.
- Issue rules, guidelines, standards and regulations as are necessary to carry out the duties of the General Counsel provided for in the Commonwealth Attorneys Act.
- Review and approve for form and legality all proposed rules and regulations of executive agencies before they are deposited with the Legislative Reference Bureau as required by the "Commonwealth Documents Law."
- Review for form and legality all Commonwealth deeds, leases and contracts to be executed by executive agencies, and may prepare uniform instrument forms and preapprove all such documents which are prepared in accordance with such forms and applicable instructions.
- Provide, through the Office of Legislative Counsel within the Office of General Counsel, advice and recommendations to the Governor concerning the constitutionality and legal effects of bills enacted by the Legislature and presented to him for his signature, as well as to provide legal counsel to the executive departments and agencies on pending legislation.

Whenever any action is brought by or against any executive branch agency, the Governor or other executive branch official, the Governor may request in writing, setting forth his reasons, the Attorney General to authorize the General Counsel to supersede the Attorney General and represent the agency, the Governor or other executive branch official.

If the Attorney General does not grant the request, the Governor may authorize the General Counsel to intervene in the litigation. Such intervention shall be a matter of right and, when exercised, confers upon the General Counsel the obligation to represent the Governor and his interests as Chief Executive Officer of the Commonwealth and its Executive Department. The Attorney General shall at all times continue to represent the Commonwealth.

BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS. The General Counsel serves as chief administrative officer of the following administrative agencies of the Office of General Counsel: Juvenile Court Judges' Commission, Administrator for Arbitration Panels for Health Care, Crime Victim's Compensation Board, Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, and State Health Facility Hearing Board.

EX-OFFICIO DUTIES. The General Counsel serves as a member of the Board of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency, the Joint Committee on Documents, the Board of Property, the Commission on Charitable Organizations, the Local Government Records Committee, the Medical Advisory Board, the Board of Finance and Revenue and the Civil Disorder Commission.

Harrisburg, PA 17120

MARK S. SINGEL — LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Mark Stephen Singel, son of Stephen and Jean Mertle Singel, was born on September 12, 1953, in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. At the age of 33, he was sworn in as Pennsylvania's 27th Lieutenant Governor on January 20, 1987.

In addition to his Constitutionally-assigned duties of presiding over the Senate and chairing the state Board of Pardons, Singel serves — by appointment of the Governor — as Chairman of the Pennsylvania Energy Office, the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Council, the State Emergency Response Commission, the Pennsylvania Heritage Affairs Commission, and the Recyclable Materials Market Development Task Force.

Singel is a member of the Pennsylvania Economic Development Partnership Board, the Governor's Task Force on Coal, and represents Governor Casey on The Pennsylvania State University Board of Trustees and the National Governors' Association Task Force on Hazardous Materials.

Singel is active in the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors, serving as Chairman of the Energy and Environment Committee and as Eastern Region Executive Board Member for the Democratic Lieutenant Governors.

He brings to these positions a wealth of experience in state and federal government gained at a relatively young age. The lieutenant governor is a native of Johnstown and a 1974 graduate of The Pennsylvania State University, graduating magna cum laude with a B.A. degree in English literature and a minor in political science. He also holds an Honorary Doctorate of Civil Law from St. Joseph's University, Philadelphia; an Honorary Doctorate of Law from the Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science; and is an honorary member of the Penn State Chapter of the Golden Key National Honor Society.

During college, Singel spent his summers in Harrisburg as an intern in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives working for then Majority Leader K. Leroy Irvis and for the Law and Justice Committee of the Pennsylvania House. After graduation, he accepted an assistantship with the doctoral program of higher education at the Penn State Capitol Campus in Harrisburg and served as a research consultant to the National Advisory Commission on Education Professions Development.

In August of 1975, Singel joined the staff of the U.S. Representative Helen S. Meyner as a legislative assistant and became her chief of staff in November 1976. Later he served as the chief of staff for U.S. Representative Peter A. Peyser (D-NY), where he assisted in coordinating all legislative and casework functions and in administering an 18-member Congressional staff.

Singel left Washington and returned home in 1980 to seek the Democratic nomination to the Pennsylvania State Senate from the 35th District, which includes all of Cambria County, most of Clearfield County, and the Borough of Windber in Somerset County. In November of 1980, he became one of the youngest members ever elected to that chamber and was reelected in 1984 with over 75 percent of the vote.

As a state senator, he distinguished himself in a number of areas including economic development, education and human services.

Singel served for six years as the Minority Chairman of the Senate Committee on Community and Economic Development and is the founder and former cochairman of the Commonwealth Coal Caucus. He established a 98 percent vote attendance record in the legislature and sponsored or cosponsored over 50 pieces of legislation which were signed into law, including the nation's first Emergency Mortgage Foreclosure Assistance program, a pharmaceutical assistance program for the elderly, and a nine-point program for economic development.

Singel is the recipient of the 1982 Man of the Year Award from the Archdiocese of Pittsburgh, Byzantine Rite; the 1984 Outstanding Citizen Award from the Greater Johnstown Chapter of Morality in Media; the 1985 Labor Award from the Sixth Annual Labor Celebration in Johnstown; the 1986 Special Award from the Archdiocese of Pittsburgh, Byzantine Rite; the 1986 Community Achievement Award from the Johnstown Lodge #214, Order Italian Sons and Daughters of America; the 1986 PA Economic Development Association Award; the 1986 Public Service Award from the Greater Johnstown Regional Central Labor Council AFL-CIO; the Distinguished Public Service Award of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, 1988; Greater Johnstown Jaycees 1988 Person of the Year Award; the 1988 Distinguished Service Award from the Pennsylvania Industries for the Blind and Handicapped; and the 1988 Chairman's Award for Outstanding Service to the Democratic Party from the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee.

Lt. Gov. Singel and his wife, the former Jacqueline Lynn (Schonek) of Johnstown, have three children: Allyson Jean (born October 17, 1982), Jonathan Albert (born July 25, 1984), and Christopher Mark (born January 23, 1986).

Basically, the duties of the Auditor General are designed to ensure that all money to which the Commonwealth is entitled is deposited in the State Treasury and to ensure that public money is disbursed legally and properly. This is the basis for the Auditor General's designation as the "Watchdog of the State Treasury."

As the chief auditing officer of the Commonwealth, the Auditor General reviews virtually every financial transaction of the state, except those of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, State Public School Building Authority, State Highway and Bridge Authority, the General Assembly and the Judicial Departments.

The Act of 1811, The Administrative Code, and The Fiscal Code of 1929 empower the Auditor General to institute investigations, hold hearings, subpoena documents, books and papers, and subpoena witnesses.

Each year the department performs thousands of audits. Among them are audits of all state departments; state-owned hospitals, state universities, penal, correctional and other institutions; welfare recipients; state-aided hospitals, homes, universities, colleges and other educational institutions and training schools; municipal employee and police pension funds; firemen's relief and pension funds; district justices of the peace; certain county officials; and the many local public and private agencies and authorities receiving state aid.

Special audits may be made at any time when, in the Auditor General's judgment, they appear to be necessary. Special examinations must also be made when the Governor calls upon the Auditor General to do so. Copies of all audit reports prepared by the department are transmitted promptly to the Governor.

Another duty of the Commonwealth's chief auditor is to make all audits which may be necessary in connection with the financial affairs of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and the more than 700 stores operated by the Board.

The department is also responsible for auditing an estimated 501 local public school districts, 66 area vocational schools and 29 intermediate units each year.

Under law, the Auditor General authorizes and distributes to firemen's relief and pension funds the entire net amount received by the Commonwealth from the two percent tax paid upon premiums collected in Pennsylvania by out-of-state fire insurance companies. Approximately 2,500 municipalities receive over $23 million annually from this tax.

Another statute authorizes the Auditor General to distribute for police and municipal pension funds purposes the entire amount realized from the two percent tax upon premiums by out-of-state casualty insurance companies. Approximately 1,000 police pension funds receive a total of over $70 million annually.

An important responsibility of the department, and one which carries great power of discretion, is the audit and approval of all corporation tax settlements and resettlements made by the Department of Revenue.

If any settlement is disapproved by the Department of the Auditor General, specific reasons for such action must be stated. It is then the duty of the Department of Revenue to reconsider it, to confer with the Department of the Auditor General and to attempt to agree with the Auditor General upon the settlement to be made.

In cases where the two departments fail to agree on a settlement, the question is submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue for decision. The Auditor General is one of the five members constituting the board.

In addition to the Auditor General's fiscal duties, there are other responsibilities imposed by law.

The Auditor General is also a member of the State Highway and Bridge Authority, State Public School Building Authority, Delaware River Port Authority, Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, Board of Trustees to Invest Funds of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, the Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority, Local Government Records Committee, Pennsylvania Transportation Assistance Authority, Joint Inter-State Bridge Commission — Pennsylvania and New York, Resettlement Board, Board of Trustees to the Conrad Weiser Memorial, State Council of Civil Defense, and Bushy Run Battlefield Commission.

By statute, the administrative services for the Board of Claims is provided by the department. (See Board of Claims.)

Taxpayer Information Program (TIP). TIP is a toll-free hotline instituted in 1977 to augment the Auditor General's constitutional role of "fiscal watchdog." The program is intended as a public service to all Pennsylvanians who wish to report specific instances of fraud, waste or mismanagement of state funds. Interested citizens may call toll-free 1-800-922-8477 or write: TIP, Department of the Auditor General, 319 Finance Building, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17120.

The Department of Community Affairs (DCA) was created by the General Assembly in 1966 to be the principal advocate within Pennsylvania state government for the more than 2,600 municipalities throughout the Commonwealth. DCA was the first state agency of its kind in the nation.

The department provides a broad range of financial and technical assistance and comprehensive training to local governments and community-based organizations. These funds and programs are designed to help local governments and nonprofit agencies operate more effectively on behalf of all Pennsylvanians, urban and rural, and to encourage the use of local resources and expertise toward that goal.

As the leading advocate for local government and community agencies, the department maintains communications with members of the General Assembly, local government and related associations, and the municipalities on relevant issues and legislation. The department also plays a key role in the development and implementation of policies and programs within state government to promote and strengthen the development of all areas of the state. In support of these objectives, the department staffs five regional offices in Pittsburgh, Erie, Harrisburg, Scranton and Philadelphia, providing more direct service to the municipalities.

EXECUTIVE

The Secretary, appointed by the Governor, by and with the consent of the State Senate, administers and maintains executive authority over all phases of departmental activities. The Secretary is also chairman of the Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency; secretary of the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority and member of board of directors of the Pennsylvania Infrastructure Investment Authority (PENNVEST). In addition, the Secretary of Community Affairs is a member of numerous other state boards and commissions.

The executive office includes the Press Office, Office of Legal Services, Office of Policy Development and the Office of Legislative Relations.

Press Office oversees statewide media relations for the department. Its staff coordinates public information activities concerning the department's objectives, programs and services. The office also supervises departmental communications; designs, writes and edits publications; and develops multi-media materials for dissemination to the department's diverse publics.

Office of Legal Services acts as chief counsel for the Secretary and supervises the department's legal activities. It reviews and monitors contracts and provides advice on legal issues, especially those affecting local government.

Office of Policy Development conducts research for the department, undertakes special projects, and evaluates departmental policies and programs. It also provides analysis of federal programs and policies which affect the department.

Office of Legislative Relations develops departmental legislation, monitors and analyzes legislation that will affect local government and the department. It acts as a department liaison with the members and staff of the General Assembly.

DEPUTY SECRETARIES

The Department of Community Affairs is responsible for a diversity of programs and services that are administered through six bureaus and five regional offices. The department's two deputy secretaries, administration and programs, oversee these bureaus and regional offices.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR ADMINISTRATION

Bureau of Management Services provides central management services, including financial management, audit services, contract administration and other office services.

Governor's Heritage Affairs Commission promotes greater awareness, understanding and appreciation of Pennsylvania's ethnic traditions and cultures.

Governor's Advisory Commission on Latino Affairs acts as a liaison between Pennsylvania state government and the Latino community statewide.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR PROGRAMS

Bureau of Local Government Services — This bureau provides a direct, comprehensive consulting, information, and training services program to all local governments, covering virtually every phase of municipal operation. Consultants in each of the department's regional offices are primary contacts for local officials and provide assistance in areas of general, financial and public works management, and policy and personnel administration. The bureau maintains annual municipal statistics and financial, budgetary, and tax records. The bureau also administers the state's Councils of Governments (COGs) grants program and the Financially Distressed Municipalities Program (Act 47).

Bureau of Housing and Development — One of the highest priorities for the department is decent and affordable housing for all Pennsylvanians. The bureau provides professional expertise and funding to Pennsylvania communities for various housing and community revitalization and economic development activities.

Additionally, the bureau is responsible for the administration of building standards for factory produced industrial housing and inspection and building standards conformance for factory-produced manufactured housing units. The bureau works with municipalities in disaster recovery projects and has been involved in the Centralia Mine Fire relocation project. The bureau administers the department's Main Street program, as well as the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program.

Bureau of Recreation and Conservation — The bureau administers programs of grant funding to help local governments acquire, develop, and rehabilitate public park, recreation, and community center facilities and areas. Technical assistance is also available to help local governments with the operation, maintenance, and management of areas and facilities and the provision of recreation programs and services to residents of neighborhoods and communities. The bureau is an active participant in the statewide recreation planning process and a co-sponsor of the Pennsylvania Heritage Parks Program.

Bureau of Community Planning — Local planning activities are encouraged and supported by this bureau, which offers planning expertise and financial assistance to municipalities, regional agencies and counties in the preparation and updating of community development plans. Funding is provided through several state-sponsored planning grants programs.

The bureau's technical assistance expertise is provided in various ways, including planning training, publications and professional advice to local government officials and planning commissions.

Also of importance are efforts by this bureau to provide technical assistance to nearly 2,400 flood-prone municipalities in Pennsylvania to help them meet eligibility requirements for the National Flood Insurance Program.

This bureau also administers the Enterprise Zone Program and the Municipal Tax Exemption Reimbursement Program.

Bureau of Human Resources — This bureau is the conduit through which the department serves Pennsylvania's low-income population. The bureau coordinates state and federal resources to 44 community action and limited purpose agencies, 48 weatherization agencies and more than 200 other local non-profit agencies that work toward alleviating the causes and effects of poverty in their communities. The types of services provided to urban and rural residents include weatherization, community action, employment training, community conservation and urban assistance activities.

The bureau administers five grant programs: the federal Community Services Block Grant (CSBG), Low Income Home Energy Assistance, Pennsylvania Weatherization Assistance Program, Community Conservation and Development and the state-funded Employment and Community Conservation (ECC) programs. In addition, the bureau administers the Neighborhood Assistance Program and the Neighborhood Assistance Enterprise Zone Tax Credit Program which provide corporate contributors with credit against the state corporate tax. Technical assistance is provided to non-profit agencies throughout the state. The bureau also oversees the Weatherization Training Center which is designed to improve the technical skills of weatherization personnel throughout Pennsylvania.

Regional Offices — The department has regional offices in Philadelphia, Scranton, Erie, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg. Each office is headed by a regional director, with at least one specialist in each of the department's program bureaus at every office. These offices offer assistance with the development of applications for funding and project proposals and provide close personal contact with local government officials and community organizations.

Created by Act 245 of 1984, the Department of Corrections is responsible for the management and supervision of the Commonwealth's adult correctional system. Included are all state correctional institutions and regional facilities, as well as community-oriented pre-release facilities, known as community service centers.

Pennsylvania's correctional system played a major role in the development of corrections throughout the world. Solitary confinement and religious penitence were primary components of the early "Pennsylvania System." The "penitentiary" was the embodiment of this philosophy. It was born in 1790 when reformers experimented with a limited penitentiary program at the Walnut Street Jail in Philadelphia. In 1829, the first true penitentiary in the world — Eastern State Penitentiary — was opened near what is now Fairmount Park in northwestern Philadelphia. Until the latter part of the 19th century, the Pennsylvania System was the model for corrections throughout the nation and widely copied by countries overseas. "Old Eastern," also known as Cherry Hill, was ultimately closed by the Commonwealth in 1970.

In the 1920's, Pennsylvania's major prison facilities were placed under the jurisdiction of the old Department of Welfare, along with mental health facilities and juvenile institutions. A legislative investigation into major prison riots at Pittsburgh and Rockview in 1952 led to legislation which established a separate Bureau of Correction within the state Department of Justice to oversee reforms and operate the system. Governor John S. Fine signed the bill on August 31, 1953.

In 1980, the state attorney general became an elected, rather than appointed, position, and the bureau was transferred from the Justice Department to the newly created Office of General Counsel within the Governor's Office. Four years later, on December 30, 1984, corrections was elevated to departmental status through legislation proposed and signed by Gov. Dick Thornburgh.

ADMINISTRATION

The department is headed by a commissioner and three deputy commissioners. There are nine bureaus within the agency supervised by bureau directors who serve as resource staff to the commissioner and to the various administrators in the field.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER

The Commissioner of Corrections is responsible for the supervision and management of the entire adult correctional system, including 14 institutions and 15 community service centers. This office is responsible for coordination of inmate transfer vans, the Interstate Corrections Compact and Consolidated Inmate Grievance System.

Chief Counsel provides legal representation and advice to the department.

Press Office coordinates dissemination of information on the department to the news media and general public. The department's Legislative Liaison is also based here.

Human Resources Bureau reports directly to the Commissioner and is responsible for activities relating to payroll, benefits, recruitment, position classification and labor relations as well as the department's employe training programs. Training is provided at the department's Training Academy and onsite at each facility.

Special Services Bureau also reports to the Commissioner and has two primary functions: inspection and evaluation of all state and county correctional facilities, and the investigation of alleged crimes or misconduct within the department. This bureau must approve new construction or major renovation plans for county jails and prisons, as well as requests for temporary transfer of prisoners from county facilities to department-operated institutions.

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER FOR PROGRAMS

This Deputy Commissioner is legally responsible for approval of all inmate transfers within the state correctional system and supervises the following four bureaus:

Classification Services Bureau supervises the three diagnostic and classification centers, inmate records and the hearing examiners who deal with inmate disciplinary hearings.

Community Services Bureau supervises the residential treatment services provided to offenders housed in the department's 15 community service centers. Community services represents a part of the correctional system's efforts to provide effective supervision of the process of reintegrating the offender with society. It is one aspect of the "pre-release program" mandated under Act 173 of 1968.

Correctional Industries Bureau operates without support of the state General Fund. It is self-sustaining through the sale of inmate-made goods and services. Its production centers manufacture or process literally hundreds of items, ranging from clothing to furniture, from printing to dental products.

Treatment Services Bureau serves a wide range of areas grouped under the term "treatment." Included are health care, psychological and counseling services, recreation and leisure-time activities, religious programs and academic and vocational education. The latter category involves coordination with the state Department of Education's Division of Correction Education, which operates education programs in the state correction system.

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER FOR ADMINISTRATION

This Deputy Commissioner oversees planning, research and statistical reporting and supervises two bureaus:

Data Processing Bureau provides computer support to the department through a central mainframe computer. The agency's use of personal computers is also coordinated by this bureau.

The state Constitution declares "The General Assembly shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools wherein all the children of the Commonwealth above the age of six years may be educated."

To carry out this mandate the General Assembly has established a public school system and authorized the Department of Education to administer school laws and assist school districts in conducting their educational programs. The present organization and status of the Pennsylvania Department of Education are the result of many years of evolution.

Following passage and signing of the Free School Law on April 1, 1834, the Secretary of the Commonwealth acted as head of the Common School System until 1837. In that year a separate department of schools was created with a Superintendent of Common Schools as its chief officer. In 1873, the title was changed to Superintendent of Public Instruction, and greater responsibilities were assigned to that official and to the department. In 1969, the name of the Department of Public Instruction was changed to the Department of Education, with the Superintendent of Public Instruction changed to the Secretary of Education. The department's broad responsibilities in the field of education are to:

- Administer the school laws of Pennsylvania.
- Administer rules and regulations of the State Board of Education.
- Assist local school districts in their educational programs.
- Evaluate programs of instruction and prescribe minimum courses of study.
- Apportion state appropriations for education to local school districts.
- Contract with and distribute funds to nonpublic schools for the purchase of secular educational services.
- Promote and assist in the establishment of community colleges and provide services to other institutions of higher education.
- Conduct educational research projects.
- License and regulate private schools.
- Approve programs of proprietary post-secondary institutions.
- Administer and supervise cooperative programs with private and other state and federal agencies.
- Collect and publish information about education in the Commonwealth.
- Administer the state program for public libraries.

The department also cooperates with independent groups concerned with public education: State Tax Equalization Board, State Public School Building Authority, Pa. Higher Education Assistance Agency, Pa. Public School Employes Retirement Board and the Pennsylvania Public Television Network.

They serve as long as they hold majority and minority chairs of the House and Senate Education Committees. The Adjutant General's Office, established by the Act of April 11, 1793, is the headquarters of the Department of Military Affairs. It is the office of permanent record for all personnel papers and documents of the Pa. National Guard since the post World War II era. The Adjutant General, as head of this department, is chairman of the State Armory Board.

Pennsylvania National Guard. Of the various duties and responsibilities of the Adjutant General the most important is the administration of the Pa. National Guard.

Authorized by federal and state laws, the Pa. National Guard is organized into Army and Air units and consists of members voluntarily enlisted therein, and of commissioned officers and warrant officers, armed, equipped, and federally recognized by the departments of the Army and Air Force, respectively. The Adjutant General administers the National Guard through two deputies, one for Air, one for Army.

When not in the service of the United States, the National Guard is a state force, the command of which is vested in the Governor as Commander-in-Chief.

In time of national emergency or at other periods when authorized by law, the President of the United States orders units of the Pa. Army and Air National Guard into the active military service of the United States; the Governor releases these units from the Pa. National Guard for such service.

Administration of the Pa. National Guard includes management, supervision and logistical and facility support of all units. The U.S. Department of Defense, through the Chief, National Guard Bureau, and the Commanding General, First U.S. Army, and the commanders of the major Air Force commands furnish advisors and members of the active military forces to assist and advise in accomplishment of the required training.

The Adjutant General designates the commanders and the regional and/or sector responsibility in the event the Pa. National Guard, Army and/or Air, is ordered to State Active Duty by the Governor for employment in emergency situations within the Commonwealth. During such periods the command and deployment of National Guard forces is exercised through the Adjutant General.

In accordance with their federal mission, the units of the Pa. National Guard, Army and Air, are required to participate in field training, or active duty for training in lieu thereof, and armory drill assemblies.

The troops list of the Pa. Army National Guard includes all types of units; infantry, armor, cavalry, field artillery, engineer, military police maintenance, ordnance, transportation, aviation, public affairs, and medical. The units authorized to the Pa. Air National Guard include missions assigned to the Strategic Air Command, Military Airlift Command, Tactical Air Command, and Air Force Communications Command. Moreover, equipment issued to the various Army and Air units enables them to render many types of service to local communities; emergency equipment, strategically stored throughout the state, could be issued in a very short period of time and transported to any section of the state in a matter of hours.

State Maintenance Facilities for the Pa. Army National Guard come under the direct control and supervision of the Adjutant General and include the State Surface Maintenance Office, Combined Support Maintenance Shop, Unit Training Equipment Site and the Organizational Maintenance Shops (OMS). These facilities insure proper utilization, maintenance and repair of all federal equipment assigned to the Pa. Army National Guard. The State Surface Maintenance Office (SSMO) is responsible for the maintenance and operational readiness of federal military equipment assigned to the Pa. Army National Guard.

The SSMO provides the Adjutant General with technical staff assistance on matters pertaining to maintenance inspection of equipment, performs liaison activities with other agencies and is responsible for the establishment and operation of an efficient statewide maintenance program.

The 30 Organizational Maintenance Shops are located at armories throughout the Commonwealth to maintain unit equipment. Repair of equipment beyond the capability of these shops is performed by the Combined Support Maintenance Shop.

The Combined Support Maintenance Shop (CSMS) located at Fort Indiantown Gap, provides support maintenance for all Army National Guard equipment except aircraft. Command Maintenance Evaluation Teams (COMET) are sent out from the CSMS to evaluate each unit in the Pa. Army National Guard on an 18 month cycle. Three full-time Missile Repair Teams with the responsibility of repairing TOW/Dragon anti-tank missiles are located at OMS #10 in Philadelphia, OMS #17 in Lock Haven and OMS #22 in Pittsburgh. These teams come under the control of Electronics Foreman of the CSMS. Calibration of Test Measurement and Diagnostic Equipment (TMDE) to include nuclear instruments also performed at the CSMS. A second CSMS is being established in the Pittsburgh area, with existing resources, to provide support level maintenance to units in the western portion of the state.

The Unit Training Equipment Site, also located at Fort Indiantown Gap, is responsible for receiving, maintaining and storing heavy items of equipment that are used in training exercises, and for which storage facilities at home station are inadequate.

Bureau for Veterans Affairs is responsible for the administration and management of all veterans' programs within the Department of Military Affairs. The Bureau for Veterans Affairs by legislative mandate is the official liaison between federal, state and local government agencies on all matters concerning veterans' benefits.

Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, located in Erie, was established by authority of the State Legislature P.L. 62 on June 3, 1885. The Home's bed capacity is 75 nursing, 52 personal care and 48 domiciliary beds. Its purpose is to provide multi-levels of care for indigent, invalid and disabled Pennsylvania veterans. The Adjutant General through his Bureau for Veterans Affairs, is responsible for management of the Home. An eleven member Advisory Council advises the Adjutant General as to the management, operation and the adequacy of facilities and services at the Home.

Hollidaysburg Veterans Home, located in Hollidaysburg, was established by authority of the State Legislature P.L. 211 on September 28, 1976. The Home's bed capacity is 200 nursing, 64 personal care and 115 domiciliary beds. Its purpose is identical to the Soldiers' & Sailors' Home (described above).

Southeastern Pennsylvania Veterans Center, located in Spring City, was established by authority of the State Legislature Act 1986-7 on February 14, 1986. The Home's bed capacity is currently 70 domiciliary beds; however, eventually the facility will be authorized 140 domiciliary and 450 nursing care beds. Its purpose is identical to the Soldiers' & Sailors' Home (described above).

State Veterans' Commission shall have the power, and its duties shall be:

a. to advise the Adjutant General upon such matters as the Adjutant General may bring before it.
b. to investigate the work of the department and make recommendations to it regarding administration of the laws providing for the payment of pensions and relief, for the marking of graves of veterans, and for selection, acquisition and maintenance of a state military cemetery.
c. to investigate and compile data concerning veterans of the United States, and all state and municipal activities relating thereto, and to recommend to the Governor legislation for submission to the General Assembly concerning veterans and their activities.
d. to expend funds, appropriations to or for it, for the purpose of providing the necessities of life, and to otherwise assist such Pennsylvania veterans of any war or armed conflict, or the widows and infant children or dependents of such veterans who are sick, disabled or indigent, and who are without means for planning and providing for the rehabilitation and care of veterans.
e. to certify for payments of gratuities for the children of certain disabled veterans and veterans who die or have died of service-connected disabilities, to attend any state or state-aided education or training institution of secondary or college grade or other institution of higher learning.

There are 17 members: the Adjutant General, Ex-Officio or his designee, and the State Commander, Commandant or head, or his designee of the following veterans' organizations: the American Legion; AMVETS; Blinded Veterans Association; Catholic War Veterans; Disabled American Veterans; Jewish War Veterans of the United States; Marine Corps League; Military Order of the Purple Heart; State Association of County Directors of Veterans Affairs; Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; Veterans of World War I of the USA, Inc.; Italian-American War Veterans of the U.S., Inc.; and four members-at-large appointed by the Governor each of whom shall be a veteran and a member in good and regular standing of a Pennsylvania branch, post, lodge or club of a recognized national veterans' organization active in the Commonwealth and at least one shall be a female veteran and at least one shall be a veteran of the Vietnam Era. The Director of the Bureau of Veterans Affairs serves as the Executive Secretary to the Commission.

Army Guard Aviation. The Aviation Program in the Pennsylvania Army National Guard is funded 100 percent by the federal government. All aircraft, support equipment, building maintenance and construction funds, repair parts and civil service military technician payrolls are provided to Pennsylvania through the National Guard Bureau. Three Army Aviation Support Facilities (AASF) support one of the largest aviation programs in the Army National Guard. The AASF at Muir Army Airfield, Fort Indiantown Gap, is the largest of its kind in the country. Ninety aircraft, 138 aviators and 113 crewmembers and noncrewmembers are assigned to this facility. Another AASF is located at Washington County Airport, Washington, PA. This facility supports 32 aircraft, 71 aviators and 39 crewmembers and noncrewmembers. The newest AASF, organized in November 1985, is temporarily located at the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton International Airport. This facility maintains 12 aircraft and has 40 aviators and 28 crewmembers and noncrewmembers. Overall, these facilities provide training to personnel of 7 aviation units, and maintenance support of aircraft and ground equipment.

The Eastern Army National Guard Aviation Training Site (EAATS) is also located at Fort Indiantown Gap. The mission of the EAATS is to provide aviation training to soldiers from ARNG units throughout the United States. This training is no longer available to the National Guard from the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command. The objective of the centralized approach for individual training is to provide an alternative resource, thereby allowing more time for unit level training. Through the effective use of the EAATS, aviation unit commanders can concentrate all efforts toward attaining the principal goal of unit level combat readiness.

A Synthetic Flight Training Facility (SFTF) and an AH-1 Flight and Weapons Simulator (AH-1FWS) are under control of the EAATS. The SFTF is a highly sophisticated, 2.8 million dollar computerized flight simulator, which provides initial and advanced instrument training at a substantial cost savings per hour, versus using aircraft for this purpose. The AH-1FWS is now fully operational and is used to train approximately 530 aviators annually, in the skills and techniques necessary to operate an attack helicopter in a combat environment during both day and night. The AH-1FWS will have a cost avoidance of $3,387,000 yearly, which does not include ammunition costs.

The Governor's Veterans Outreach and Assistance Centers (GVOAC) were placed under the aegis of the Department of Military Affairs effective July 1, 1982, in order that the services rendered the Commonwealth's 1.5 million veterans may be better coordinated with other veterans' programs. The GVOAC program is intended to serve as a bridge or link between the individual veteran requiring information or assistance and the public or private agency which can best meet the veterans' needs. The procedure of the centers is designed to provide advice and counseling in a one-stop mode using a one-on-one peer-oriented approach. The program functions at the grass-roots level, a feature that is not found in any other veterans' service organizations.

The Pennsylvania Air National Guard is made up of 47 units which are subordinated to the Adjutant General and come under the managerial and operational control of the State Headquarters which is located at Fort Indiantown Gap. The force structure includes four major flying units: the 171st Air Refueling Wing, 112th Tactical Fighter Group, 111th Tactical Air Support Group and 193rd Special Operations Group. Each of these units includes a mission squadron, aircraft maintenance, resource management, medical, security, communications, engineering and mission support elements. In addition, three communications-electronics squadrons, one radar flight, an air traffic control flight, a heavy engineering flight and three weather flights operate as separate units and are based at five locations throughout Pennsylvania.

PaANG units are located at Ft. Indiantown Gap, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh International Airports, Willow Grove Naval Air Station and State College, Pennsylvania. These units are gained in wartime by US Air Force Major Commands, namely Strategic Air Command (SAC), Military Airlift Command (MAC), Tactical Air Command (TAC), Air Force Communications Command (AFCC) and the Air Weather Service (AWS). Day-to-day involvement in Air Force missions and in readiness training requires that all PaANG units work closely with both their Air Force parent commands and the State Headquarters on a continual basis. To be immediately responsible to its two-fold mission to the state and federal governments, the Pennsylvania Air National Guard must maintain its forces and equipment in a constant state of readiness to provide the capability and professionalism necessary to fulfill all assigned tasks, while at the same time continuing its training of personnel to maintain the peak of proficiency which is vital to its operation.

Support Personnel Management. Full-time Manning — The federal government, through the National Guard Bureau, provides full-time manning for day-to-day support and operating continuity in the administration, training and equipment maintenance requirement of National Guard units.

At the state level these federally funded full-time resources are managed by the Support Personnel Management Office of the Department of Military Affairs.

The full-time manning program consists of a mixed force of Excepted Federal Civil Service Military Technicians and National Guard members on full-time military duty tours.

All the full-time military personnel and the majority of the Excepted Federal Civil Service Military Technicians are required to be members of the Guard. As such they must maintain compatible military skill qualifications and meet all other standards for military membership.

State Armory Board consists of the Adjutant General, who acts as chairman, and five members appointed by him. Three of the appointed members shall also be members of the Pa. National Guard. The Director of Facilities serves as the Secretary of the State Armory Board in an ex-officio capacity. Four voting members of the board constitute a quorum.

Originally constituted in 1905, the board provides, equips, maintains, manages and regulates armories for the use of Pa. National Guard units and the Pa. Guard when organized.

The board may, with the approval of the Governor, accept gifts of land, with or without buildings thereon, to be used for National Guard purposes. Title to such land and facilities shall be taken in the name of the Commonwealth. The board may expend funds appropriated to it to purchase suitable buildings or sites. The board may, in accordance with the law, sell any buildings, armory sites, or other real estate owned by the Commonwealth when no longer needed for military services due to changes in population or to the needs of the military service. Money derived from such sales shall be paid into the State Treasury Armory Fund. These funds shall be expended solely for the purchase of equipment, furniture and fixtures, and for the construction of new armories in the Commonwealth.

Facilities Directorate is responsible for providing all needed architectural and engineering services for the department. Its prime function is to assist the State Armory Board in the preparation of plans and specifications, receiving bids, issuing contracts, and inspecting construction, maintenance and repair work.

Similar services are rendered to the Bureau of Veterans Affairs for Veterans Homes projects and to the United States Property and Fiscal Officer for projects paid with federal funds.

Office of the United States Property and Fiscal Officer for PA. The organization and administration of this office is the responsibility of the U.S. Property and Fiscal Officer under the general direction of the Adjutant General. Support of the Army National Guard program is handled directly from this office. There are nine designated assistants to handle the administration of the Air National Guard program on decentralized basis. An Assistant USPFO for Air (Fiscal), Assistant USPFO for Air (Property), and Assistant USPFO for Air (Real Property), each maintains offices at Willow Grove Naval Air Station, Harrisburg International Airport and Greater Pittsburgh International Airport, respectively.

The responsibilities of the United States Property and Fiscal Officer are contained in Section 708 of Title 32, United States Code.

The USPFO is detailed for duty with the National Guard Bureau for administrative purposes. He is responsible for complying with laws; implementing regulations and instructions issued by the National Guard Bureau and applicable regulations of the departments of the Army and the Air Force; receipting and accounting for all federal funds and property, including real property, of the United States in the possession of the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard; and making returns and reports concerning those funds and that property, as required by the Secretary concerned.

The State Department of Public Welfare administers a vast array of human services programs; promotes local social services and planning activities; distributes federal and state funds to local agencies and develops programs to respond to the human services needs of the Commonwealth's residents.

Annually, the budget for department programs totals more than $6 billion — the largest among state agencies in Pennsylvania and one of the largest in the nation. Programs provide basic needs including cash, food, shelter, health care, heat, and job funding assistance for individuals and families. The department also provides treatment, care and support services in state-operated facilities and in the community for the mentally ill and retarded, and children and families.

What was then called the Department of Welfare was first established by the Act of May 25, 1921 (P.L. 1144). This legislation drew together in one agency activities previously performed by the Board of Public Charities, the Commission of Lunacy, the Prison Labor Commission and others. The Administrative Code of 1929 further defined the powers of the new department.

Acts of June 24, 1937 (P.L. 2003 and P.L. 2015) established a Department of Public Assistance and centralized relief and money distribution elements of state government. These acts also established the 67 county boards of assistance.

The Act of July 29, 1953, (P.L. 1428) transferred supervision of penal and correction institutions from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice.

The former Departments of Welfare and Public Assistance became the Department of Public Welfare on June 1, 1958, as authorized by the Act of July 13, 1957, (P.L. 852).

Specialized institutions for juvenile offenders were established by the Act of November 21, 1959, (P.L. 1579); also restoration centers for older people were authorized by the Acts of June 19, 1964 (Special Session, P.L. 75 and 77). The legislative base for the department's programs for the mentally impaired was greatly expanded and codified by the Act of October 20, 1966, (Third Special Session, P.L. 96).

All existing public welfare laws were consolidated and codified in the Public Welfare Code, and Act of June 13, 1967 (P.L. 31), which has largely become the legal base of the department's operation.

Mission of the Department. The Department of Public Welfare's mission is to promote, improve and sustain the quality of family life; break the cycle of dependency; promote respect for employees; protect and serve Pennsylvania's most vulnerable citizens; and manage our resources effectively.

The overall policy direction of the department is toward financial independence for those who are able and community living in the least restrictive settings for those in need of assistance in daily living. When institutional care and treatment are necessary, the goal is to deliver high quality services in settings which are safe and responsive to human needs.

Federal funds are employed to the greatest possible extent. Local private and public funds expand the impact of state-appropriated dollars.

Citizen participation is an essential ingredient in helping the Department of Public Welfare to define service needs and develop programs to address these needs.

EXECUTIVE

The chief executive of the department is the Secretary of Public Welfare, who is responsible for overall policy and operation of programs and services.

Deputy secretaries who have operational, program development or management support functions provide direction to the major activities of the department. The areas of responsibility of the deputy secretaries include administration; income maintenance; medical assistance; mental health; mental retardation; children, youth and families; fraud and abuse investigation and recovery; and social programs.

Program offices are responsible for statewide planning for their respective programs, policy and program development, implementation, monitoring, supervision, program evaluation, and the securing of resources through the state budget process and federal grants.

Office of Communication provides information about the department to news media outlets statewide, coordinates publication and distribution of pamphlets and brochures about the department's services and coordinates the dissemination of information and other promotional activities. It also advises the Secretary and deputy secretaries on media relations, speeches, public appearances and the effect of policy decisions.

Office of State and Federal Relations provides the Secretary with information on actions under consideration by the Pennsylvania General Assembly and provides members of the Legislature with information about the department's programs, policies and regulations. The office assists in coordinating and directing the department's initiatives with the legislative and executive branches, answers legislative inquiries, and monitors legislative bills and the General Assembly's reaction to department regulations.

Office of Legal Counsel provides legal advice to the senior staff of the department, participates in and reviews regulations and contracts, represents the interests of the department in administrative hearings, where appropriate — including the department's Office of Hearings and Appeals, Civil Service Commission, Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission and related offices. Represents the department in state and federal courts where responsibility is delegated by the state Attorney General, and provides liaison between the department and the Office of General Counsel.

Office of Client Rights assists the Secretary of Public Welfare in assuring that the department's mental health and mental retardation programs operate in a manner which protects the rights of the clients they serve.

Office of Hearings and Appeals has responsibility for conducting administrative appeal hearings for clients and injured employes of the department who dispute actions taken by DPW program offices.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR ADMINISTRATION

The deputy secretary for administration reports to the Secretary of Public Welfare and is the chief administrative officer of the department. Staffing, budget, personnel and other internal administration and management actions are among those reviewed, initiated or authorized through the office. Other bureaus reporting to this office include state general hospitals, personnel, financial operations, civil rights compliance and information systems.

Bureau of Financial Operations provides technical support for the fiscal administration of the department. These activities are frequently coordinated with the federal government, county government, General Assembly and private providers. This bureau is also responsible for reviewing operations and conducting internal audits, including follow-up for all outside audit resolution requirements.

Bureau of Personnel is responsible for personnel transactions and complement control; classification and position management; staffing and organizational studies and employee benefits and labor relations.

Bureau of Information Systems provides electronic data processing support including maintenance of system, equipment procurement, word processing and implementation of new systems. Client benefits are processed for 1.1 million public assistance clients each month.

Bureau of Civil Rights Compliance is responsible for implementing and monitoring the hiring practices of minorities including recruitment efforts, contracting practices and investigating complaints of discrimination in employment.

Bureau of State General Hospitals administers five state general hospitals. Each hospital has an administrator who is directly responsible for the daily activities of the facility.

DEPUTY SECRETARY OF FRAUD AND ABUSE INVESTIGATION AND RECOVERY

The Office of Fraud and Abuse Investigation and Recovery investigates internal and external fraud arising from the department's benefit programs in cooperation with the Deputy Inspector General. This office also manages the statewide Title IV-D Child Support Enforcement Program and serves as the department's collection arms for excess benefits to citizens.

The mission is to deter fraud and recover benefits. To facilitate these operations, a fraud and abuse tip line, 1-800-932-0582, is available for public comment or information.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR INCOME MAINTENANCE

Eligibility for and the administration of the income maintenance, medical assistance, and food stamp programs is regulated by the Office of Income Maintenance.

Income maintenance programs provide cash and other assistance to eligible individuals and families at county assistance offices across the Commonwealth. Office personnel also provide job training, education and support services to public assistance clients under the New Directions for Employment program. Clients receive the skills they need in order to obtain employment.

The Commonwealth totally funds the State Blind Pension and General Assistance programs. State Blind Pension provides cash assistance for legally blind persons whose income level excludes them from participation in the federal Supplemental Security Income program. General Assistance provides cash assistance for persons who do not meet eligibility requirements for federally-funded programs for the disabled or families with dependent children.

The state and federal governments share the costs for Aid to Families with Dependent Children, a cash assistance program for families with children who are deprived of the support of a parent for reasons of incapacity, desertion or unemployment.

The federally-funded Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) is administered through the office. LIHEAP provides assistance for thousands of Pennsylvania families to help pay for winter heating bills each year.

The Supplemental Security Income program is a cash assistance program, administered by the federal government through the Social Security Administration, for elderly, blind and disabled persons. Pennsylvania supplements the basic SSI grant.

The Food Stamp program provides coupons to purchase food to individuals and families who are eligible for income maintenance programs or who have limited incomes. The program is financed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and is administered by the Department of Public Welfare.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR MEDICAL ASSISTANCE

The Office of Medical Assistance administers the joint state/federal Medicaid program, under which more than a million Pennsylvania residents can receive health care. Services include inpatient hospital care, prescription drugs, home health care, nursing home care, outpatient psychiatric care, drug and alcohol clinic visits, physician, dental, and other medical services.

Eligibility for the program is determined by the county assistance offices. Persons who are eligible for cash assistance also qualify for the medical assistance program, as do other low income families and individuals if they meet certain income and resource standards.

The office is responsible for enrolling providers for participation in the program, establishing rates or fees, and reviewing and approving invoices submitted by providers. Reimbursement for services is made directly to providers.

The office is responsible for taking administrative actions, including suspending from the program or seeking restitution against providers who abuse or overutilize Medicaid.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES

The department works through county children and youth agencies and the juvenile courts to provide an array of services to troubled children and their families. The major emphasis is to assure that all children have an opportunity for healthy development, preferably in their own homes. If this is not possible, the aim is to provide a permanent alternative home as quickly as possible. To accomplish this, county children and youth agencies make available services designed to assist parents in caring for their children. These include counseling, homemaker services, life skills education and day treatment services. If a child must be removed from his or her home, efforts are made to provide temporary residential care such as a foster family or small group home in a family and community setting similar to the child's own. Other placement options include institutional care for children in need of a more structured setting, and adoption for those children for whom a new family is to be legally obtained.

In all but the most serious criminal cases, the major thrust is to divert juvenile offenders away from institutionalization and imprisonment close to adult criminals. The department directly operates residential programs in Youth Development Centers across the state, and Youth Forestry Camps. In addition, it provides funding to county and private agencies for the operation of neighborhood group homes, day treatment centers and other community-based treatment programs.

Under the state Child Protective Services Act of 1975, the department launched a major initiative aimed at fighting the problem of child abuse. The act requires physicians, teachers, social service professionals and others to report instances of suspected child abuse to the department for investigation. Also, a toll-free hotline (800-932-0313) has been established which receives reports of child abuse on a 24-hour-a-day basis and refers them for investigation by the county children and youth agencies.

This office also is responsible for the licensing and registration of child day care facilities. Through Federal Title XX program, augmented by State funds, this office manages a network of child day care contracts to provide subsidized child day care to parents who meet the income eligibility requirements.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR MENTAL HEALTH

Mental health services range from community to hospital programs, with the emphasis on helping people to remain in their communities. Community residential services for former hospital patients are emphasized, with the aim to develop more services to help persons who are seriously mentally ill to break the cycle of repeated hospital admissions.

The state's 15 hospitals for mentally ill persons provide special intensive services for patients needing psychiatric rehabilitation. Long-term care for older persons who no longer require intensive psychiatric services but who need nursing care is also provided.

A wide range of community-based services is provided including short-term inpatient, outpatient and partial hospital care, emergency "crisis intervention" services, counseling, information, referral and case management.

A restoration center provides care for geriatric patients, all of whom are former residents of state hospitals. The goal of the centers is to move residents into appropriate community programs whenever possible and to provide long-term care for the others.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR MENTAL RETARDATION

Pennsylvania operates thirteen (13) facilities for persons with mental retardation including nine (9) state centers and four (4) units on the grounds of state mental hospitals. The objectives of the institutional program are to prepare residents for placement in community programs and to provide care for those who, because of multiple handicaps or severity of retardation, are unlikely to move into community programs.

There are a variety of community mental retardation services available to persons with mental retardation and to their families, including early intervention, residential and vocational programs which focus on work opportunities. These programs are designed to enable individuals with mental retardation to live in their home communities, develop to their fullest potential and become contributing members of their community. Individual and family support services are also available. They include: respite care, in-home therapy, transportation, homemaker services and recreation.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR SOCIAL PROGRAMS

A wide range of social service programs are provided under this office including services to the blind and visually impaired; the attendant care program, for mentally alert, physically disabled adults; rape crisis and domestic violence.

Other programs under this office include homeless assistance, the human services development fund, medical assistance transportation and refugee assistance.

Guardian of the estate and other financial services are also provided to residents of the state's mental hospitals and mental retardation centers.

Extraditions. Warrants for the extradition and return of fugitives are issued upon requisitions from governors of other states when approved by the Attorney General, and upon written order by the Governor. Requisitions issued on governors of other states for the return of fugitives are based on applications when made by a district attorney, and approved by the Governor and Attorney General.

Those businesses registering with the department include: for profit business corporations, professional corporations, not-for-profit corporations, municipal authorities, limited partnerships, foreign corporations qualifying to do business in Pennsylvania and individuals and corporations conducting business under an assumed or fictitious name.

Trade marks or service marks may be registered in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. The department is in the central filing agency for secured transactions under the Uniform Commercial Code. Financing statements and subsequent ancillary transactions are recorded in the department.

Bureau on Charitable Organizations. The bureau is charged with the registration and regulation of more than 7,000 charities in the Commonwealth through enforcement of the Charitable Organization Reform Act. The Act requires organizations soliciting for charitable purposes to register with the Commonwealth and file financial disclosure reports, providing documentation that the money donated is used for the purpose for which it was intended. The bureau works with the Attorney General's Office, Bureau of Consumer Protection, on enforcement procedures which are followed when charitable organizations break the law.

Under the law a Charities Advisory Board was established with representatives of charitable organizations as well as the general public.

The State Athletic Commission. This is a departmental commission in the Department of State which consists of three members appointed for terms of two years, and the Secretary of the Commonwealth, ex-officio. Dept. of Transp., 1968; dep. sec. for admin., 1983-86; chmn., Pa. Transp. Comm.; chmn., Gov. Traffic Safety Council; chmn., Pa. Turnpike Comm.; mem., Am. Society of Highway Engineers; mem., Am. Act 120 of 1970 created the Department of Transportation, effective July 1, 1970.

The department was given the responsibility to develop programs to assure adequate, safe and efficient transportation facilities and services at the lowest reasonable cost to the citizenry. Coordination of transportation services by local government and private enterprise is encouraged as is cooperation of federal, state and local government bodies in the achievement of transportation goals. These goals include providing needed facilities for the movement of people and goods, stimulating technological advancement in transportation facilities, providing leadership to identify and solve transportation problems, and developing and applying inter and multi-modal approaches to transportation policy and programs.

The department assumed all of the powers and duties formerly performed by the Department of Highways, the Bureaus of Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety in the Department of Revenue, the Mass Transit Division in the Department of Community Affairs and the Aeronautics Commission in the Department of Military Affairs. Of special importance among these responsibilities are those relating to certificates of title, licensing of operators, registration and licensing of motor vehicles, administrative enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Code including the Point System, and administration of aviation and airport development programs within the Commonwealth.

ADMINISTRATION

The Secretary. The Secretary of Transportation is the chief executive officer of the department. His responsibilities include: the development, maintenance and operation of a balanced transportation system that includes highways, mass transit, rail service, aviation and various forms of assistance to municipalities.

The Secretary is assisted by a work force of 12,600 men and women in the department's central office and 11 engineering districts.

As representatives of the Secretary, they are custodians of 42,000 miles of highways (the fourth largest state maintained network in the nation), 25,000 bridges, three state-owned airports, 450 buildings, including the state's Welcome Centers, and 25,000 pieces of equipment.

They are responsible for administering 7.9 million motor vehicle registrations and 7.7 million operator licenses.

They play a direct role in the administration of financial and management assistance to 17 major transit authorities, 50 private transit companies, 2,572 local municipalities and 67 county governments.

All of these activities are financed from a budget which derives its principal sources of revenue from liquid fuel taxes, motor license fees and federal aid with additional financing for non-highway programs from the General Fund and the Lottery Fund.

Organizationally, the department is composed of six major offices headed by six deputy secretaries. These offices, in turn, include 19 bureaus and approximately 58 divisions, the 11 engineering districts, and the 53 county maintenance offices.

Reporting directly to the Secretary are: Office of Research and Special Studies, Press Office, Office of Legislative Affairs, and Office of Customer Service.

Deputy Secretary for Administration is directly responsible for the bureaus of Fiscal Management, Informations Systems, Equal Opportunity, Office Services, Personnel, and Operations Review Group.

Deputy Secretary for Planning is directly responsible for the Center for Program Development and Management, and the Bureau of Transportation Systems Performance.

Deputy Secretary for Local and Area Transportation is directly responsible for the bureaus of Public Transportation and Municipal Services.

Deputy Secretary for Safety Administration is directly responsible for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Bureau of Driver Licensing, and the Center for Highway Safety.

Deputy Secretary for Highway Administration is directly responsible for the bureaus of Design, Construction and Materials, Maintenance and Operations, and Bridge and Roadway Technology; the 11 engineering districts; and county maintenance offices.

Deputy Secretary for Aviation, established by Act 1982-66, is directly responsible for the Bureau of Aviation and the Bureau of Rail Freight, Ports and Waterways.

POWERS

Powers and Duties of the Department:

- To develop and maintain a continuing comprehensive and coordinated transportation planning process.
- To foster efficient and economical public transportation services.
- To prepare plans for preservation and improvement of commuter railroad systems.
- To develop more efficient bus transportation services.
- To develop plans and programs for all modes of urban transportation, including (in addition to commuter rail and motor bus) rapid rail, trolly coach, surface rail, corridor rail, and other innovative modes of urban transportation.
- To coordinate the activities of the department with those of other public agencies.
- To plan, build, and maintain state-designated highways, bridges and other transportation facilities.
- To enter into contracts for designing, constructing, repairing, or maintaining state-designated highways, bridges and other transportation facilities.
- To prepare and submit every even-numbered year to the State Transportation Commission a recommended program for the next 12 fiscal years. Each two years thereafter, the department reviews and adjusts its construction program.
- To appear or intervene as a party before the Public Utility Commission when transportation problems are being considered by the commission.
- To consult with appropriate officials regarding the environmental hazards and the construction, sanitary, recreation and social considerations that may arise in the location, design or reconstruction of any transportation facility.
- To represent the transportation interests of the Commonwealth before any federal agency or commission which determines national or regional transportation rates, routes or policies.

Upon the submission of the preliminary plan or design to the department for any transportation route or program requiring the acquisition of right-of-way, the department follows hearing procedures required by the federal government for federal-aid transportation programs. At these hearings the department considers the following effects of the transportation route or program: residential and neighborhood character and location; conservation, noise, air and water pollution; multiple use of space; replacement housing; displacement of families and businesses; recreation and parks esthetics; public health and safety; fast, safe and efficient transportation; civil defense; economic activities; employment; fire protection; public utilities; religious institutions; and the conduct and financing of government. Additional considerations include natural and historic landmarks; property values; education; engineering right-of-way and construction costs; maintenance and operating costs; and operation and use of existing transportation routes and programs during construction and after completion.

State Transportation Advisory Committee consults with and advises the State Transportation Commission and the Secretary of Transportation in planning, development and maintenance programs and technologies for transportation systems. It includes 30 members; eight ex officio members, Secretary of Transportation, Director of the Governor's Office of Policy Development, Chairman of Public Utility Commission, Secretary of Commerce, Secretary of Education, Secretary of Environmental Resources, Secretary of Agriculture and Secretary of Community Affairs; two members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker and two members of the Senate appointed by the President Prc Tempore; 18 additional public members, six appointed by the Governor, six by the Speaker, and six by the President Pro Tempore.

State Transportation Commission holds regular meetings throughout the state and holds public hearings to set transportation program priorities.

The commission gathers and studies information relating to the needs of highway construction or reconstruction, rapid transit, railroad, omnibus and other mass transportation facilities and services, and aviation and airport facilities and services, to determine the need and the recommended order of priority for their construction or reconstruction.

To accommodate local mass transportation needs, the commission coordinates its mass transit recommendations with the plans of local instrumentalities such as regional and county planning commissions.

Each two years, the commission recommends a 12-year transportation program to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the Secretary of Transportation for their consideration.

It includes 15 members: Secretary of Transportation (ex officio and chairman); four other ex officio members, the chairmen and minority chairmen of both the Senate Transportation Committee and the House Transportation Committee; and the remaining 10 public members appointed by the Governor. They receive per diem compensation and reimbursement for expenses.

Hazardous Materials Transportation Advisory Committee recommends regulations for the highway transportation of hazardous substances. Created by Act 99 of 1984, the committee is composed of representatives of the Department of Transportation, Office of Attorney General, the Department of Health, the Department of Environmental Resources, the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and nine representatives of the hazardous materials industry and the public.

STATE HIGHWAY AND BRIDGE AUTHORITY

Originally created by the Act of April 18, 1949, P.L. 604, the State Highway and Bridge Authority was authorized to sell bonds to provide funds for the acquisition or construction of highways, bridges and related facilities.

After the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was amended in 1968 to provide for an itemized capital budget and to allow the Commonwealth to incur debt, Pennsylvania General Obligation Highway Bonds have been issued with the proceeds appropriated to the authority.

Act 1982-91 transferred all the functions, powers and duties of the State Highway and Bridge Authority to the department and further provided for the continued existence of the authority "until all State Highway and Bridge Authority bonds, together with the interest thereon, are fully met and discharged . . . ." Members are the Governor, the State Treasurer, Auditor General, Secretary of Transportation, Secretary of Community Affairs, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the minority leader of the Senate, the minority leader of the House of Representatives, and three appointed members, one each by the Governor, the Speaker, and the President Pro Tempore. Once the authority's financial obligations are met, which will be in the 1991-92 fiscal year, the act abolishes the authority.

Council on the Arts, on January 1, 1989; married Frances Morris Carnahan; 2 children: Brian M. and Edmund M.; home address: 1524 Greening Lane, Harrisburg.

Chairman: Carol Brown; Vice Chairman: Dr. Bernard Watson; Members: Joan Apt, Flora L. Becker, Esq., Marjorie Broderick, Louise Curl-Adams, Barbara De Frees, Peter Flaherty, Frank H. Goodyear, Jr., Lois Grass, Kay Harte, David Heckler, Gerald R. Hildebrandt, Robert C. Jubelirer, Robert N. Lettieri, Nancy S. Price, Jeanette F. Reibman, David P. Richardson, Lyn M. Ross, Joseph Stevens.

On January 26, 1966, Governor William D. Scranton signed enabling legislation for the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Under the provisions of the act (No. 538), the council is charged with "the encouragement and development of the various arts" in the Commonwealth. The council is directly responsible to the Governor.

The council responds to requests for support of projects initiated by non-profit art groups, institutions, and, in some cases, artists. This work is carried on through the council's grants program. Where special needs exist, the council has taken direct action and originated projects such as the Artists-in-Schools and Communities Program, Minority Arts Program, and sponsored workshops and seminars on specific topics such as arts management, small press publishing, and community arts planning.

All meetings of the council are open to the public. The council is specifically directed to avoid actions which would interfere with the freedom of artistic expression, or with established or contemplated cultural programs in any local community.

The council consists of 19 members — 15 private citizens and four members of the General Assembly. The citizen members are appointed to three-year terms by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and serve without compensation. From these members, the Governor also appoints the chairman and vice chairman of the council, who serve at his pleasure.

Citizen members hold office until their successors have been appointed and confirmed. No member is eligible for re-appointment during a one-year period following the expiration of his/her second successive term.

Two of the legislative members are appointed from the House of Representatives by the Speaker, and two from the Senate by the President Pro Tempore. Legislative members are selected equally from the major political parties. For the purposes of Act 538, such members of the legislature constitute a joint interim legislative committee on the arts, the council, and its appropriation.

In order to receive the best and most complete information in making decisions on the awarding of grants, the council appoints expert advisory panels whose members include professional artists, administrators and others with specialized knowledge. Each grant program is served by such a panel.

More than 100 private citizens serve on these panels which evaluate approximately 2,800 applications yearly. These advisory panels are responsible for reviewing grant applications and making recommendations for action and funding. The panels may also advise the council on policy matters.

Panel members serve without compensation. A portion of each panel's membership rotates each year. The chairman of each panel is a member of the council; co-chairmen may be selected from among the panel membership.

A professional staff, headed by an executive director, administers the council's decisions. The staff advises applicants on the council's grant programs, provides technical assistance to individuals and arts organizations, and serves as a resource for arts-related information. Program directors are specialists in various art disciplines or art fields.

The council has adopted the following objectives:

1. To make arts programs of the highest quality available throughout Pennsylvania.
2. To encourage and enable individual creative artists to do their work and bring their work to public attention.
3. To assist organizations which produce or sponsor quality arts programs.
4. To preserve the rich cultural heritage of the Commonwealth and to stimulate greater public awareness of the unique and varied contributions made to our society by Pennsylvania arts and artists.
5. To encourage community involvement and participation in the arts at every level.

In pursuing these objectives, the council sees its role as one of partnership with local arts activities, locally initiated and locally supported.

The State Civil Service Commission, a three-member, bipartisan, independent administrative commission, was created by the Act of June 6, 1939, P.L. 250, as amended; by the Acts of August 5, 1941, P.L. 781; May 21, 1943, P.L. 600; March 20, 1945, P.L. 44; and June 25, 1947, P.L. 930. The Act of August 5, 1941, P.L. 752, known as the Civil Service Act, created the State Civil Service Commission to administer the merit system in the Commonwealth.

Purpose. The purpose of the Civil Service Act of August 5, 1941, P.L. 752, as amended, is to provide greater efficiency and economy in the government of the Commonwealth by (1) establishing conditions of employment which will attract to the service of the Commonwealth qualified persons of character and ability, and (2) appointing and promoting said persons on the basis of merit and fitness.

Administration. The commission is the administrative agency for the Pennsylvania Merit System. It is a bipartisan three-member body appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for six-year terms or until a successor is appointed and confirmed. Not more than two members are of the same political affiliation. The Governor designates one of the members as chairperson.

The Act provides that the executive director direct and supervise all administrative work and exercise certain powers and duties under the direction of the commission. As the administrative head of the agency, he reports to the commission and supervises the office of the Deputy Director.

Powers and Duties. The commission is required to establish and adopt rules for making the provisions of the Civil Service Act effective; to require observance of the provisions of the Act and of the rules and regulations thereunder; and to make investigations requested by the Governor, the Legislature, or on matters relating to the enforcement and effect of provisions of the Act. It has the authority to conduct investigations, hold public hearings, render decisions on appeals and record findings and conclusions, upon request or on its own motion, in cases of demotion, furlough, suspension, or removal.

Bureau of Employment Services plans and implements a recruitment program to attract an adequate supply of qualified personnel from which Merit System agencies can select employes. It also coordinates agency activities to include recruitment assistance and provides comprehensive employment services for positions in the classified service.

Bureau of Personnel Assessment develops and administers the merit system examination program, supervises statewide, local, and special test administration; and conducts basic and applied research in personnel selection.

Bureau of Document Control provides computer input and output pertaining to examination scheduling and scoring, lists of eligibles, certifications, and veterans' preference claims; creates, maintains, and retrieves data from computer files; develops or modifies requirements for central computer support and monitors quantity and quality of output.

Bureau of Audit and Technical Services administers and interprets the Civil Service Act and Commission Rules and investigates alleged violations; trains agency personnel staff in proper personnel practices; provides examination, employe, and certification information; verifies personnel documents and maintains a manual of certification policies and procedures.

Bureau of Management Services administers programs for fiscal control, program planning and evaluation, personnel and training, management improvement services, publications control, distribution and dissemination of examination-related materials; monitors the directives management system and coordinates labor relations activities as they pertain to the merit system.

Agencies and Offices Served. Initially, civil service procedures were applied only to personnel in the Department of Public Assistance, Bureau of Employment Security, Liquor Control Board and the State Civil Service Commission. This application was mandatory in the Act. On September 10, 1956, the Executive Board of the Commonwealth, by resolution and amendments thereto during the next six years, added approximately 13,000 professional and technical positions to the civil service program. On August 26, 1963, the Civil Service Act was amended, increasing coverage to approximately 45,000 employes and providing a single, uniform, modern legislative system for all civil service employes. As of February 6, 1989, there were approximately 66,849 civil service employes. The following state agencies now participate in the commission's program of personnel services: departments of Aging, Agriculture, Banking, Commerce, Community Affairs, Corrections, Education, Environmental Resources, General Services, Governor's Office, Health, Insurance, Labor and Industry, Military Affairs, Public Welfare, Revenue, State, State Police and Transportation; Liquor Control Board, Milk Marketing Board, Board of Probation and Parole, State Tax Equalization Board; Civil Service Commission, Crime Commission, Fish Commission, Game Commission, Historical and Museum Commission, Public Utility Commission, Securities Commission; Emergency Management Agency, State Employes' Retirement System, Municipal Employes' Retirement System, Public School Employes' Retirement System.

Local offices receiving contractual personnel services from the commission include: Emergency Management Agencies, Housing Authorities, Mental Health/Mental Retardation County Agencies, Children and Youth County Agencies, Drug and Alcohol County Units, and Area Agencies on the Aging.

Executive Director, Pennsylvania Crime Commission, March 1, 1987; 3 children: Jeff, Scott, Heather.

Chairman: Michael J. Reilly; Members: Arthur L. Coccodrilli, Trevor Edwards, James Manning, Charles H. Rogovin.

The Pennsylvania Crime Commission is mandated to investigate organized criminal activity and public corruption within the Commonwealth and to report the results of its investigations to the General Assembly, along with recommendations for legislative or administrative action to remedy problems uncovered.

The commission produces public reports for consumption by other branches of government, the business sector, and the Commonwealth's citizenry. It collects, analyzes and disseminates intelligence information relating to organized crime activity to other law enforcement agencies, as well as refers numerous cases for prosecution.

The commission was restructured by the General Assembly in 1978 as an independent agency of the Legislature with law enforcement powers. There are five commissioners, one appointed by the Governor and the other four by the majority and minority leaders of the House and Senate. Not more than three commissioners can be members of the same political party. They serve three-year terms.

The commission is headquartered in Conshohocken, also the site of one of four regional offices. The others are located in Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Scranton.

The commission is unique in that often its investigations are proactive, rather than reactive in nature, concentrating on complex, unexplored patterns of organized criminal activity, including white collar, financial crime.

One of the commission's major programs is the collection and analysis of criminal intelligence information. Not only is this program vital to the commission in carrying out its own investigative work, but over the years the commission has proved to be an important repository for data useful to other agencies in the criminal justice system.

In addition to the dissemination of such information, the commission is mandated to disclose its findings to the Legislature and the public via public hearings and public reports. The purpose of this program is to increase awareness of organized crime and public corruption and to deter such activity through its exposure.

The commission refers to other law enforcement agencies numerous cases for prosecution, both civil and criminal, tracking them as they move through the criminal justice system.

The Crime Commission is a member of the Leviticus Project Association, a multi-state network of law enforcement and regulatory agencies formed in 1978 in response to a dramatic rise in crime associated with the Appalachian coal industry.

Upon completion of investigations, the Crime Commission formulates recommendations for remedial legislation or administrative action to deal with the abuses it uncovers. Crime Commission personnel testify frequently at legislative and congressional hearings about their findings and about ways to strengthen the criminal justice system. They also present evidence at trials, hearings and other judicial proceedings and conduct seminars for representatives from regulatory and other law enforcement agencies on such subjects as white collar crime.

The Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency is an emergency preparedness and response agency under the direction of the Governor and is responsible for the judicious planning, assignment and coordination of all available Commonwealth resources in an integrated program of prevention, mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery from emergencies of any kind, whether from attack, man-made or natural sources. The agency was first established by the Act of March 19, 1951, P.L. 28, and was known as the State Council of Civil Defense. The present agency was established by the Act of November 26, 1978, P.L. 1332, and was reestablished by the Act of July 13, 1988 (P.L. 501, No. 87).

Organization. The agency receives guidance from a council whose primary responsibility is for overall policy and direction of a statewide emergency management and disaster program and its response capability. Since reauthorization, the council consists of up to 28 members: Governor, Lt. Governor, Adjutant General, Secretary of Health, Attorney General, General Counsel, Secretary of Community Affairs, Secretary of Environmental Resources, Secretary of Transportation, Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Public Welfare, Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police, and Chairman of the Public Utility Commission. The Speaker of the House of Representatives, President Pro Tempore of the Senate, Minority Leader of the Senate and Minority Leader of the House of Representatives may authorize a member of their respective Houses of the General Assembly to serve in their stead. The foregoing are voting members. The Governor may also appoint up to two representatives each from business, industry and labor and one representative from each of the five county and municipal associations as non-voting members. In addition, he may nominate two non-voting members from the public at large. Historically, the Governor has designated the Lt. Governor to serve as chairman of the council.

Administration. To provide for the effective discharge of its legally assigned powers and duties and to coordinate emergency preparedness and response activities within the various political subdivisions of the Commonwealth, the program is implemented by the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency, administered by the director. The staff of approximately 125 technical, clerical and administrative personnel is organized into five sections, at the state headquarters, and three area offices. The five sections are: Administration, Plans and Preparedness, Response and Recovery, Training and Education and the Fire Commissioner's Office.

The State Fire Commissioner coordinates fire prevention and control activities, the State Fire Academy in Lewistown, and the Volunteer Loan Assistance Program.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission is one of the oldest governmental conservation agencies in the nation, dating back to 1866. Today, ten members make up the commission and they serve eight-year terms. Eight members represent specific geographic locations, while the ninth and tenth are members-at-large and must be experienced boaters.

The commission sets rules and regulations governing fishing and boating in and on all inland and boundary waters of the Commonwealth. In addition to managing and protecting the state's aquatic resources, the commission also is mandated with the responsibility for all of the state's reptiles, amphibians and salamanders.

As an independent state agency, the commission is supported by anglers' and boaters' dollars generated through the sale of fishing licenses and boat registrations.

ADMINISTRATION

Executive Director is appointed by the ten-member commission. The executive director is the commission's chief administrative officer as well as chief waterways conservation officer. The director is a member of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council, Pennsylvania Environmental Quality Board, Water Resources Council, Wild Resources Conservation Board, and an ex-officio member of the Boating Advisory Board.

The bureau is also responsible for the issuance of fishing licenses (over 1 million) and special permits required by the fish law and regulations.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission, an independent administrative agency created by legislative action June 25, 1895, is responsible for the scientific management of all wildlife in the Commonwealth. As an independent agency, its authority stems from the Game and Wildlife Code.

ADMINISTRATION

The commission is composed of eight members, each of whom serves an eight-year term without compensation, following appointment by the Governor and confirmation by the Senate. Each member is appointed from one of eight geographical districts in the Commonwealth. The terms of two commissioners expire every two years.

The Game Commission is not supported by tax money. The primary source of income is the sale of hunting licenses. Annually, more than one million sportsmen purchase licenses to hunt in Pennsylvania.

The commission maintains a central office in Harrisburg and six regional offices throughout the state.

The Harrisburg office contains an executive office and six administrative bureaus, plus the Ross Leffler School of Conservation which is the Game Commission's training school.

Executive Office consists of the Executive Director and one Deputy Executive Director, who are the chief administrators of the commission.

Bureau of Administrative Services is responsible for the commission's training programs, personnel, the procurement of all materials and supplies, the sale of hunting licenses, labor relations, automotive, and library.

Bureau of Wildlife Management employs trained wildlife biologists holding advanced degrees in wildlife management. They study the state's wildlife species to develop the most effective management practices, and prepare guidelines that are reviewed by the executive office and presented to the commission for adoption. This division also is responsible for propagating game birds.

Bureau of Law Enforcement is responsible for enforcing The Game and Wildlife Code.

Wildlife conservation officers carry out the respective programs on a local basis. Most districts have approximately 300 square miles. One wildlife conservation officer, assigned to each district, is responsible for enforcing the game laws and public relations activities.

The deputy wildlife conservation officers assist wildlife conservation officers in executing their duties. They are volunteers and very few receive compensation for their work.

Bureau of Land Management manages State Game Lands to provide the highest possible sustained yield of wildlife and timber and to furnish outdoor recreation in the form of sport hunting and compatible outdoor recreational activities for the enjoyment of all segments of the population.

The land manager, responsible for an area of two or more counties, supervises habitat management programs for development of commission lands and privately owned land under lease by the commission and provides training, guidance and supervision of the commission's Food and Cover Corps.

The Game Commission has several programs to provide lands for public hunting. Foremost is the acquisition of State Game Lands. This program began in 1920 and more than 1.3 million acres had been purchased by 1988.

This division also coordinates leasing and management of mineral, oil and gas resources under State Game Lands.

Bureau of Information and Education provides information for sportsmen and the general public on Game Commission programs and wildlife management practices. This is accomplished through the publication of the Game News magazine, news releases, television public service spot announcements, educational television programs, displays and exhibits, and personal presentations. The Hunter Education Training Program is coordinated by the Information & Education Division.

Bureau of Management Information Systems provides data processing and office automation support for all operating bureaus and regional offices. The bureau is an electronic storehouse of information for the agency.

Field Administration. The state is divided into six regions for the administration of field duties. The Northwest region office is located in Franklin, the Southwest Office in Ligonier, the Northcentral Office in Jersey Shore, the Southcentral Office in Huntingdon, the Northeast Office in Dallas and the Southeast Office in Reading.

The Pennsylvania Heritage Affairs Commission was created by Executive Order in January 1980, renewed in 1983 and 1986, and restructured in 1988. The commission addresses cultural heritage issues in Pennsylvania's diverse ethnic communities, working with state government, professional organizations and the public-at-large to identify, conserve, and promote the varied cultural traditions that characterize the Commonwealth. The commission focuses on the values, beliefs and community structures that underlie expressions of cultural heritage, and the ways those values and beliefs shape public and private life. The commission advocates awareness of cultural heritage as a key element in the policy planning and program development of all state agencies in order to foster a greater understanding of cultural pluralism in Pennsylvania's communities.

The commission is composed of fifty-one members appointed by the Governor: thirty-seven "ethnic" commissioners each representing a specific ethnic community, nine "at-large" commissioners, and four members of the legislature. An Executive Committee is composed of the commission's at-large and legislative members. Lieutenant Governor Mark S. Singel serves as the commission's chairman. Commissioners serve for a two-year term in a non-salaried capacity. Advising the commission's Folklife Program is the 17 member Cultural Heritage Advisory Council, composed of professionals appointed by the Governor.

The commission has identified four key policy areas: Multi-Cultural Education, Conservation of Cultural Heritage Resources, Inter-Ethnic Relations, and Ethnicity and the Delivery of Human Services. The commission is currently developing initiatives in these areas.

The executive director of the commission, appointed by the Governor, develops and implements the commission's policies and programs and maintains liaison activities with federal, state and local agencies on matters of cultural concern.

The commission develops public programs which document, present, and perpetuate ethnic and folk cultural traditions. Staff provides technical assistance to individuals, organizations and communities which seek to preserve their cultural traditions, and in cooperation with other state agencies, seeks to provide grant funds to support these projects. Among the commission's ongoing programs are: "Craft and Community: Traditional Arts in Contemporary Society" travelling exhibition, Apprenticeships in Traditional Arts, Candid Culture photography exhibitions, Ethnic Arts Touring Program, and a Folklife Resources Survey in conjunction with America's Industrial Heritage Project (National Park Service). The commission maintains a computerized Directory of Ethnic Resources in Pennsylvania.

The State System of Higher Education, created by Act 188 of 1982, is comprised of 14 publicly-owned universities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Established on July 1, 1983, the State System is guided by a twenty-member Board of Governors, most of whom are appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania and confirmed by the Senate.

The Chancellor is the chief executive officer of the State System of Higher Education. The Chancellor, appointed by the Board of Governors, is responsible to the board for the overall administration of all facets of the system. Under the Chancellor's direction, the university presidents, line officers, and support staff provide system-wide management in such areas as academic policy and planning, business affairs, faculty and staff affairs, legislative policy, institutional research, legal affairs, capital planning, and equal educational opportunities.

As established by the founding legislation, the primary mission of the State System of Higher Education "... is the provision of instruction for undergraduate and graduate students to and beyond the master's degree in the liberal arts and sciences, and in the applied fields, including the teaching profession."

The state universities spent the first 100 years of existence training teachers for Pennsylvania's schools. The Normal School Act of 1857 established regional teacher training institutions throughout the Commonwealth. The School Code of 1911 called for the state purchase of all normal schools, and by 1921 the present configuration of 14 publicly-owned universities was established. The 14 normal schools evolved from state normal schools, to state teachers colleges, to state colleges. On November 12, 1982, Act 188 was signed into law creating on July 1, 1983 the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education. Thus, the 13 former state colleges joined Indiana University of Pennsylvania to achieve university status.

The 14 universities and 3 branch campuses (and the McKeever Environmental Learning Center and the University Center at Harrisburg) are located throughout the Commonwealth. The system has a combined university campus of 4,000 acres. The physical plant is comprised of 690 buildings for classroom, residential and administrative purposes.

The 92,375 students who attend the State System of Higher Education universities study in associate, baccalaureate, masters, and doctoral programs. The universities are fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. Academic programs are also individually accredited by appropriate national professional organizations.

The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency is a government instrumentality established for the purpose of improving higher education opportunities for residents of the Commonwealth by guaranteeing private loans, issuing State Higher Education Grants, making alternative loans and administering work-study programs and a program of institutional assistance grant aid. In 1974, the agency was given legislative authority to market its loan servicing system to other states and lenders, enabling the agency to earn income with which to fund additional student aid programs and fund its costs to administer the Commonwealth's programs of student aid. The Information Technology Education Act was assigned to PHEAA in 1984 and the agency developed fourteen Regional Computer Resource Centers throughout Pennsylvania in 1984 to expand the use of computers in the elementary and secondary school classrooms.

Administration. The agency is governed and all its corporate powers exercised by a board of directors. It is administered by a staff headed by an executive director who is appointed by the Board of Directors. The board consists of 20 members: Secretary of Education, three appointed by the Governor, eight by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and eight by the Speaker of the House; members serve without pay but are reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses.

Students are able to obtain low-interest educational loans from private lenders under the State Student Guaranty Loan program; repayment of these loans is guaranteed by the agency. In 1981 the agency was given legislative authority to administer PLUS loans, an auxiliary program of loans to parents and students. Legislation enacted in 1982 allowed the agency to sell tax-exempt bonds to provide additional programs of direct loans to students and parents who were ineligible for federally subsidized loans or needed relief of interest charges. These programs, which are alternatives to the guaranty programs, include: Family Partnership Loans, PHEAA Supplemental Loans, and Health Education Assistance Loans.

Using funds appropriated by the General Assembly, the agency determines grant awards to students based on the students' demonstrated financial need. By authority of the Veterans Education Act of 1971, the agency was given the responsibility of administering a program of educational benefits for veterans of the Vietnam Conflict. Authority was given in 1972 for a program to provide scholarship aid to dependents of service people who were or are missing in action or were prisoners of war.

In cooperation with educational institutions and the federal government, work-study programs enable students who require further assistance to earn money to help with their educational costs.

The passage of the Institutional Assistance Grants Act in 1974 allowed eligible private institutions of higher education to receive state funds for the payment of educational costs based on the number of state grant students in attendance at the institution.

Revenue generated through the servicing of student loans throughout the country funds a major portion of the agency's administrative costs and the Scholars in Education Award Program, the Loan Forgiveness Program and the Science Teacher Education Program. These programs were developed to help meet Pennsylvania's need for highly proficient science and math teachers.

The agency, using funds appropriated by the General Assembly, sponsors teacher training programs, grants to school districts and loans equipment to non-public schools to purchase or access computer equipment and software through the fourteen Regional Computer Resource Centers established in 1984 or the Commonwealth's Intermediate Units.

President: Gov. Robert P. Casey; Members: Barbara Hafer, David L. Jannetta, Robert C. Jubelirer, Catherine Baker Knoll, James J. Manderino, Robert J. Mellow, Matthew J. Ryan.

The Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority (PHEFA) was created by the Act of December 6, 1967 (P.L. 678), for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, improving, maintaining and operating educational facilities for any nonprofit college or university within the Commonwealth. The Act excludes facilities to be used for sectarian study or religious activity, and further excludes use of PHEFA by colleges or universities which have admission restrictions based on race, creed or national origin.

Administration. PHEFA is a separate body corporate and politic constituting a public corporation and governmental instrumentality. By specific provision of the Act, PHEFA is administered by an executive director and a staff. Accounting records of PHEFA are audited by a certified public accounting firm.

Financing. PHEFA is authorized to sell issues for the purpose of undertaking college/university projects. The college/university decides the type of debt instrument and the structure of financing that suits its individual needs. The issue will be paid for by the college/university by payments made under terms of loan agreements, tax exempt leases, notes and other debt instruments entered into between PHEFA and the college/university. Issuing costs can be included in the financing. Administrative costs are funded partly from administrative fees.

Projects. College/university projects financed by PHEFA are designed by architects or engineers selected by the college/university. The college/university enters into the construction contracts or purchase agreements and maintains and operates the facility upon completion.

The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission was created by Act No. 446, approved June 6, 1945, amending the Administrative Code to consolidate the functions of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, the State Museum and the State Archives. The commission is an independent administrative board, consisting of nine citizens of the Commonwealth appointed by the Governor, the Secretary of Education ex officio, two members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tempore and minority leader, and two members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker and minority leader. The Chairman, who is designated by the Governor, is an ex officio member of the Washington Crossing Park Commission and the Brandywine Battlefield Park Commission. The Executive Director, appointed by the commission to serve at its pleasure, is an ex officio member of the Environmental Quality Board, County Records Committee and the Local Government Records Committee.

As "the official agency of the Commonwealth for the conservation of Pennsylvania's historic heritage," the powers and duties of the commission fall into these principal fields: care of historical manuscripts, public records, and objects of historic interest; museums; archaeology; publications; historic sites and properties; historic preservation; geographic names and the promotion of public interest in Pennsylvania history.

ADMINISTRATION

Powers and duties are executed through the Executive Office and through five bureaus: the Bureau of Archives and History; the Bureau of Historic Sites and Museums; the Bureau for Historic Preservation; the Bureau of Historical and Museum Services and the Bureau of Management Services.

Executive Office consists of the Executive Director, Assistant Executive Director, Press Secretary and Legislative Liaison who are responsible for the policy implementation of the agency as directed by commission actions.

Bureau of Management Services is responsible for a wide range of administrative functions in support of the programs of the commission. The bureau is composed of four divisions: Personnel Services, Information Systems, Placed Properties Management and Fiscal Services.

Bureau of Archives and History is responsible for the collection, care, preservation, interpretation, promotion and publication of the documentary history of Pennsylvania. It provides services and publications for the general public, for the scholarly community, and in support of other commission activities as well as in support of regional, county and local historical organizations. The director of the bureau serves as the Pennsylvania State Archivist.

Activities of the bureau are carried-out by three operating divisions: Division of History; Division of Archives and Manuscripts; Division of Archival and Records Management Services. Cooperation activities are maintained with the County Records Committee, the Local Government Records Committee, the Bureau of Publications and Paperwork Management of the Department of General Services, the U.S. Geographic Board, and historical societies throughout the Commonwealth.

Division of History researches and writes for publications popular and scholarly works pertaining to the history of Pennsylvania. It also reviews manuscripts for publication by the commission in cooperation with other academic or scholarly organizations or institutions. The division promotes and assists historical interests and conducts conferences and seminars at various locations throughout the state to stimulate research in Pennsylvania history. The Division of History provides technical assistance for local and statewide historical organizations, interest groups and individuals. Administrative support is provided by the division to the Pennsylvania Federation of Museums and Historical Organizations; the Pennsylvania Junior Historians; and to historical organizations in general.

Division of Archives and Manuscripts maintains the State Archives and acquires, maintains and describes public records and private papers relating to the history of the Commonwealth. It provides reference services to the public, scholars and students including the preparation and publication of manuscript collection and record group guides. The division microfilms records and historical papers originating at state, county and municipal levels of government as well as records of private and individuals in order to preserve historical data and provide greater access for research. It includes the Land Records Section, the Commonwealth's Land Office, tracing its functional origins to the days of William Penn. The major functions of the section are to preserve documents relating to early history of the Commonwealth, and to preserve land titles and boundary documents to protect the legal claims of land owners. The section also maintains real estate titles and other records on all state-owned land to establish the legal rights of the Commonwealth.

Division of Archival and Records Management Services provides records management expertise to county and municipal governments and to historical societies and contributes to the development of records disposal schedules on behalf of the County Records Committee and the Local Government Records Committee. This division plans, directs, coordinates and evaluates a record management system for county and municipal offices and examines and evaluates all public records to determine their historical value and rules upon the retention of such records.

County Records Committee consists of the Chief Justice of Pennsylvania or his judicial representative, the executive director of the commission, a prothonotary, a clerk of courts, a county commissioner, a county controller or auditor, a district attorney, a county treasurer, a sheriff, a register of wills, a recorder of deeds, an attorney, a jury commissioner, a coroner and a member for the general public, who are appointed by the Governor. It prepares and adopts schedules for the retention and disposition of records in county offices in counties from the second to the eighth class. The Chief Justice or his representative serves as chairman of the committee, and the commission's executive director as secretary.

Local Government Records Committee consists of the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, the Attorney General, the Secretary of Community Affairs, the executive director of the commission and five other members appointed by the Governor to represent the various municipal associations. The ex officio members may designate representatives to act in their place. The Secretary of Community Affairs is chairman, and the executive director of the commission is secretary. The commission has studies made of municipal public records in order to prepare proposed retention and disposition schedules for the Local Government Records Committee. Such schedules do not become operative until they are approved by the committee, nor are they effective in any municipality until accepted by ordinance or resolution of its governing body.

Public Records. Section 524 of the Administrative Code provides that departments, boards and commissions may dispose of records not needed for current or anticipated future operations only with the approval of both the Executive Board and the Historical and Museum Commission; the Executive Board may then direct that any records of permanent value of historical interest be turned over to the commission for preservation in the Archives in cooperation with the Bureau of Publications and Paperwork Management in the Department of General Services. Schedules for the retention and disposition of records have been developed and approved to systematize this process.

Geographic Names. In cooperation with the U.S. Geographic Board, the commission determines all unsettled questions concerning geographic names which arise in the administrative departments of state government; and to determine, charge and fix the names of mountains, rivers, creeks and other topographic features within the Commonwealth.

Historical Societies. Act No. 394 of 1961 authorized the commission to cooperate with any qualified historical society in historical or archaeological investigations relating to Pennsylvania, in the care of historical papers and museum pieces, and otherwise in encouraging their activities whenever the commission feels that such cooperation will serve the historic interests of the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Historic Sites and Museums is responsible for the operation, management and interpretation of The State Museum, a Mobile Museum, eight topical museums, and 18 historic sites located throughout the Commonwealth. The bureau, through the State Museum, its field museums, and historic sites acquires, maintains, conserves and catalogues artifact objects for the state collections illustrating Pennsylvania history, culture, art, flora and fauna, prehistory and archaeology. The commission makes and enforces regulations for the visitation of the sites; it may also charge admission fees, which are paid into the Historical Preservation Fund of the State Treasury.

State Museum, housed within the William Penn Memorial Building, is the main repository for the state collection of museum artifacts. Its major curatorial sections include: Archaeology, Decorative Arts, Fine Arts, Military History, Technology, Natural History, and Earth Science. Collections are acquired and preserved for both exhibition and study purposes. The museum presents long-term and changing exhibitions, all relating to the history of Pennsylvania. The works of past and contemporary Pennsylvania artists are exhibited and special programs, lectures, festivals and performances are provided on its own initiative and in cooperation with other organizations and institutions.

Visitor and interpretation services are provided through the Education Section. The museum operates a planetarium as well as a mobile museum which takes museum exhibits to communities throughout the state.

Division of Museum Planning and Development has responsibility statewide for development, administration and coordination of special programs, major initiatives and ongoing program planning.

Historic Sites Division includes Hope Lodge, Graeme Park, Pennsbury Manor, Conrad Weiser Homestead, Daniel Boone Homestead, Governor Printz Park, Priestley House, Landis Valley Museum, Ephrata Cloister, Morton Homestead, Old Chester Courthouse, and Old Economy Village.

Division of Industrial and Military Sites includes the Drake Well Museum, Flagship Niagara, the Pennsylvania Lumber Museum, Pennsylvania Military Museum, the Fort Pitt Museum, Bushy Run Battlefield, Brandywine Battlefield, Washington Crossing Historical Park, Cornwall Iron Furnace, Eckley Miner's Village, Museum of Anthracite Mining, Pennsylvania Anthracite Heritage Museum, Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania, Somerset Historical Center and Scranton Iron Furnaces.

Bureau of Historical and Museum Services provides a variety of technical services to the Bureau of Historic Sites and Museums particularly, as well as to the other operational bureaus. These services are provided through four divisions.

Collections Services Division is responsible for the registration of artifacts and museum collections for all museums as well as historic sites owned by the commission. Moreover, this division operates the Commonwealth Conservation Center in cooperation with the Capitol Conservation Committee of the General Assembly. The Commonwealth Conservation Center provides the necessary technical expertise to preserve Pennsylvania's material culture for the enjoyment of future generations.

Architectural Services Division provides the commission's construction planning and project supervision.

Marketing Sales and Publications Division publishes the commission's quarterly magazine Pennsylvania Heritage. In addition, this division provides marketing and promotional expertise for commission programs including its publication sales efforts.

Exhibits Management Division designs and fabricates exhibits for both the State Museum and historic sites and museums in the field.

Bureau for Historic Preservation develops, coordinates and administers the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission's comprehensive program to identify, protect and enhance buildings, structures, districts and neighborhoods of historic and architectural significance in public and private ownership throughout the Commonwealth. The bureau provides federally-mandated professional staff to support the activities of the State Historic Preservation Officer designated by the Governor to receive federal historic preservation funds and implement the National Historic Preservation Program throughout the Commonwealth. The bureau also administers commission grants for museums and local history projects.

Division for Preservation Services provides for the enhancement of significant historic properties through the administration of a variety of state and federal preservation programs. Program responsibilities include: administration of National Register of Historic Places Program; administration of other federally-mandated preservation programs such as certifications of eligible properties under the Tax Reform Act of 1976 and Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 and certification of local governments; provides advice and technical assistance to local governments and the public on preservation and restoration techniques; maintenance of the Pennsylvania Inventory which involves a comprehensive survey to record historic buildings and sites in each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties.

Division of Archaeology and Protection is responsible for consideration and protection of historic and archaeological resources in the development of state and federal projects and has responsibility for the archaeological program and policy of the commission.

Division of Grant Programs and Planning is responsible for the federal historic preservation grant and associated subgrants for state funded grants programs and the commission, including Museum Assistance and Local History programs. The planning responsibilities of the division includes coordination of federally required historic preservation planning and the mandates of the History Code.

Historic Preservation Board: Created by the historic Preservation Act of 1978, this body of nine citizens is designated by the commission on the basis of individual competency in the fields of architecture, archaeology, architectural history, history, or historic preservation. The board advises the commission on the criteria of significance for inclusion of historic resources in the Pennsylvania Register of Historic Places; reviews and recommends nomination to the National Register of Historic Places; and comments upon the commission's comprehensive preservation plan for historic resources within the Commonwealth.

Brandywine Battlefield Park Commission. Ten members appointed by Governor and Chairman of Historical and Museum Commission ex officio.

Washington Crossing Park Commission. Ten members appointed by Governor and Chairman of Historical and Museum Commission ex officio.

PENNSYLVANIA HOUSING FINANCE AGENCY

2101 North Front Street
P.O. Box 8029
Harrisburg, PA 17105-8029

KARL SMITH

Executive Director,
Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency

Karl Smith was born on December 10, 1933, in Omaha, Nebraska; Univ. of Wisconsin (B.A., M.A.); U.S. Air Force 1952-56; Acting Secretary of Community Affairs, 1979, 1987; Mortgage Bankers Assn.; Natl. Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment Officials; Council of State Housing Agencies; Pa. Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment Authorities Distinguished Service Award, 1971; Pa. Homebuilders Assn. Service Award, 1984; home address; Camp Hill.

Chairman: Karen A. Miller, Members: Catherine Baker Knoll, Raymond Christman, J. Roger Glunt, Sarah W. Hargrove, Hillard Madway, Ronald S. Mintz, Esq., Kenny Ross, Herman Silverman.

The Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency (PHFA) is a public corporation and governmental instrumentality created in 1972 to finance the development of multi-family rental housing for elderly citizens, families of low and moderate income and handicapped persons. In 1981, the agency's enabling legislation was amended to include a single-family home mortgage loan program. In 1983, Act 91 established the Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program, administered by PHFA. This initiative provides loans to homeowners who, through no fault of their own, are threatened with the loss of their homes to foreclosure.

Administration. The agency is governed by a board of directors. The members of the board are the secretaries of Community Affairs, Commerce and Banking, and the State Treasurer, as well as six additional members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of a majority of the Senate. Each appointed member serves for a term of six years or until a successor is appointed and qualified.

The agency staff includes an executive director, deputy director, and specialists in the fields of finance, market analysis, architecture, engineering, housing management, loan underwriting, construction and law.

Programs. The agency operates three major programs: the Single-Family Home Ownership Program, the HOMES Program and the Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program.

The Single-Family Home Ownership Program provides mortgage loans at interest rates substantially lower than conventional rates to qualified home buyers throughout the Commonwealth. Both new and existing homes may be purchased using this program.

The HOMES Program provides qualified project sponsors with mortgage loans for the interim and permanent financing of new construction or substantial rehabilitation or rental housing developments.

The Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program provides loans to families who are unable to make mortgage payments and are in danger of losing their homes to foreclosure. Loans are used to cure mortgage delinquencies and make payments for up to 36 months.

Both the Single-Family Home Ownership and the HOMES Programs are financed with the proceeds of bond issues. No tax dollars are used for their operation. An appropriation from the Commonwealth finances the Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program.

Total agency financings amount to approximately $2.5 billion.

Liquor Control Board, Dec. 15, 1987; married Joann O. Magerl; home address: 127 Marie Drive, Ross Township.

The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board was created and organized by various acts of Assembly upon the repeal of National Prohibition in 1933. The board was officially organized on December 1, 1933, four days before the sale of liquor became legal in Pennsylvania. The numerous laws related to alcoholic beverage control were later consolidated to form the present Pa. Liquor Code (Act 21 of April 12, 1951, P.L. 90, as amended). The Liquor Code serves as the basis for all operations of the Pa. Liquor Control Board under essentially the same basic tenets originally established by the Legislature in 1933.

The board operates a system of almost 700 State Liquor Stores and employs 3,400 salaried personnel in its administrative, compliance and merchandising activities, as well as a fluctuating complement of part-time employes within the store system as required by cyclical sales demands. Virtually all Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board employes have Civil Service status. Pennsylvania is the largest of the 18 control or monopoly states in the nation and as such, is the largest single purchaser of liquors and wines in the entire world.

The Pa. Liquor Code governs the two main functions of the board: the issuing of licenses and permits, and the buying and selling of distilled spirits and wines. The code is an exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth designed to protect the public welfare, health, peace and morals of the people. As of 1987, the enforcement of the Liquor Code was transferred to the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Subject to the specific provisions of the Act, and in accordance with all other laws of the Commonwealth, the Liquor Code invests the Pa. Liquor Control Board with the duty and power to:

- Buy, import or have in its possession for sale, and sell distilled spirits and wines with all purchases subject to the approval of the State Treasurer.
- Control the manufacture, possession, sale, consumption, importation, use, storage, transportation and delivery of alcohol and malt and brewed beverages, and fix the retail and wholesale prices at which liquors and alcohol are sold in State Liquor Stores.
- Determine the municipalities and the locations within these municipalities where Pennsylvania Liquor Stores shall be established subject to local option decisions by citizens regarding whether their community will be "wet" or "dry."
- Grant and issue licenses.
- Lease, furnish and equip accommodations required for the operation of the Pa. Liquor Control Board through the agency of the Department of General Services.
- Appoint, fix the compensation and define the powers and duties of employes as required in the operation of the Pa. Liquor Control Board subject to the requirements of the Civil Service Act and the Administrative Code of 1929.
- Determine the nature, form and capacity of all packages and original containers for liquor, alcohol and malt or brewed beverages in the Commonwealth.
- Make regulations not inconsistent with the Liquor Code necessary for the efficient administration of the code. Such regulations have the force of law.
- Do all other things and perform all acts as are deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of the Liquor Code and the regulations made thereunder.

Regulation of the milk industry in Pennsylvania was originally organized on a temporary basis by Act No. 37 of 1934, and Act No. 43 of 1935. This regulation was made permanent under Act No. 105, P.L. 417, April 28, 1937, as amended. In 1968, the Milk Control Commission became the Milk Marketing Board.

On July 10, 1980, the board's scope was broadened by addition of Act 104 of 1980 (Milk Producers' Security Fund Act).

The board was created to supervise and regulate the entire milk industry of the Commonwealth, including production, manufacture, processing, storage, transportation, disposal, distribution and sale of milk and milk products for the protection of the health and welfare of the inhabitants.

Administration. Milk Marketing Board consists of three members, one of whom is designated as chairman by the Governor. The members are appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate.

The board is charged with all aspects of marketing milk from cow to consumer. Thus, it licenses milk haulers and handlers, certifies milk weighers and samplers, verifies laboratory procedures as well as establishing prices. With the advent of the Commonwealth Attorney's Act (Act No. 164 of 1980), the board has exercised its option and retained a chief counsel. Producer security is now provided under Act 104.

Three bureaus are maintained to properly supervise these varied functions; they are as follows:

Enforcement Bureau receives and investigates complaints of violation of the law and orders of the board. A staff of auditors and examiners, located in each of the three districts in the state, inspects and audits records of milk dealers to insure timely and proper payments to milk producers; investigates and prosecutes violation of the law in connection with Milk Marketing Board orders and regulations; tests milk samples to insure proper payment to producers; and issues licenses and requires bonds of milk dealers.

Bureau of Accounts and Statistics requires monthly reports and annual financial statements from dealers to be used in the administration of the law; compiles statistical data on the movement of milk within the Commonwealth and in interstate commerce; examines data representing the operation of dealers in all milk marketing areas of the Commonwealth and presents this information to the board through public hearings in order that all interested parties may have information concerning dealers' profits.

Bureau of Consumer Affairs consults with representatives of consumer groups, disseminates information on board and related activities to news media and other interested parties; makes recommendations arising from consultations with consumer groups.

The Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole, an independent state correctional agency was established by the Act of August 6, 1941, P.L. 861, amended by the Act of May 27, 1943, P.L. 767, Act 501, December 27, 1965, P.L. 1230 and Act 134, October 9, 1986, P.L. 1424. This legislation established a uniform parole system and provided for assistance in the improvement of adult probation services in the Commonwealth.

Administration. The board consists of five full-time members, appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the majority of the Senate members, to serve staggered, renewable, six-year terms. Board members are prohibited from engaging in any other employment or political activities.

Power. The board is authorized to grant parole and supervise all offenders sentenced by the courts to a maximum sentence of two years or more; revoke parole of technical parole violators and those convicted of new crimes; and release from parole, persons under supervision who have fulfilled their sentences in compliance with the conditions governing their parole.

Guidelines have been established to structure the board's discretion in making parole decisions, and consideration is given to the extent of risk to the community, the nature of the offense, prior criminal history, employment potential, emotional stability, history of family violence, adjustment to prison, and input from victims.

The board's power to revoke parole and return an individual to prison is taken very seriously, and extensive hearing procedures have been established to ensure that the parolee is afforded adequate due process rights consistent with U.S. Supreme Court and Pennsylvania Supreme Court decisions.

EXECUTIVE

The chief executive of the board is the chairman who is responsible for the overall administration of program operations and services. The Office of Chief Counsel serves as the legal advisor to the board. The Affirmative Action Officer advises the board on compliance with Equal Opportunities Laws. The Office of the Executive Assistant to the Chairman is responsible for the board's public information function, day-to-day oversight of the Division of Staff Development, agency accreditation and special projects.

Bureau of Pre-Parole Services is responsible for the scheduling and preparation of material for the board's parole release interviews, conducting due process hearings; responding to inquiries relative to decisions and policies of the board; reviewing sentence structures for accuracy and compliance with current laws; recording official case decisions of the board; and reviewing parole violation actions to insure compliance with board policy. To fulfill its function, hearing examiners are located throughout the state and an institutional parole staff is maintained at most state correctional institutions.

Bureau of Supervision is responsible for the supervision of the persons paroled by the board, parolees from other states residing in the Commonwealth, and at the request of the court, persons placed on probation. The parole supervision staff, located in ten district offices and twelve sub-offices also makes investigations for, and recommendations to, the Board of Pardons.

Bureau of Probation Services is responsible for the board's mandate to give assistance in the improvement of adult probation services in the Commonwealth. This is accomplished by providing funds to county probation departments through a grant-in-aid program, establishment of standards for the departments, and the provision of technical assistance and in-service training to county probation staff members. A nine-member Advisory Committee on Probation provides guidance to the board in its work of improving adult probation services.

Bureau of Administrative Services provides administrative support to the board and its staff. The bureau's principal functions relate to budget and fiscal control, office services and purchasing, personnel, and the board's management information system.

The State Public School Building Authority (SPSBA) is a public corporation and governmental instrumentality of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, created by the Act of July 5, 1947 (P.L. 1217) for the purpose of constructing, improving, furnishing, equipping, maintaining and operating buildings and other facilities and equipment for public schools, vocational/technical schools, community colleges, and educational broadcasting facilities.

Administration. SPSBA is a separate body corporate and politic constituting a public corporation and governmental instrumentality. It is administered by an executive director and a staff of experienced professionals. All books of account are audited by a certified public accounting firm.

Financing. SPSBA is authorized to issue bonds for the purpose of financing capital projects for public schools, vocational/technical schools and community colleges. Issuing costs can be included in the financing. SPSBA is considered the issuer of the bonds, with the school as the underlying credit. When a school finances through SPSBA, it has the flexibility to structure an issue to suit its individual needs while taking advantage of SPSBA's reputation, expert staff and services. The school maintains control of its building program. SPSBA also has the ability to refinance prior issues of its own or others.

Bonds may be sold by competitive bids after public advertisement, or by private negotiated sale, if the board so directs. Bonds issued by SPSBA are repaid under terms of loan agreements, agreements and leases or other debt instruments which are entered into between the school and SPSBA. Administrative costs are funded partly from investment earnings.

Projects. School projects financed by SPSBA are designed by architects or engineers selected by the school. The school maintains and operates the facility upon completion. Under the provisions of the SPSBA Act and the Public School Code, all new school projects must be approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE). PDE establishes certain criteria that must be met, and approves the financial ability of the local school to make the payments which will be due to SPSBA. In the event of default of payments by the local school, PDE must by law withhold any subsidy due the school in an amount equal to the unpaid payment, and must then pay such amount to SPSBA. Projects financed for longer than five years and more than $50,000 must also be approved under the Local Government Unit Debt Act of the Department of Community Affairs.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission is an independent, quasi-judicial agency created by the legislature in 1937 to establish and maintain reasonable rates and safe, adequate service in the regulation of the state's public utilities.

The commission, one of the nation's largest, is comprised of five full-time members appointed by the Governor for staggered five-year terms, and subject to confirmation by a majority vote of the Senate.

The Public Utility Commission's predecessor was the Public Service Commission (PSC). The PSC was created in 1913, and started to operate in 1914, after the Legislature found it could no longer administer or control rapidly increasing public utility services.

Two major structural and procedural changes have occurred since 1937. The first changes were made under Acts 215 and 216 of 1976. The second, following an extensive legislative review of the Commission's functions pursuant to the "Pennsylvania Sunset Act," culminated in Act 114 of 1986.

The PUC has an authorized complement of 604 employees, including attorneys, rate and service analysts, auditors, economists, engineers, motor transit and railroad specialists, safety inspectors and enforcement investigators. They work, together with administrative, fiscal, computer, stenographic and clerical personnel in thirteen offices and bureaus: Director of Operations; Trial Staff; Special Assistants; Intergovernmental Affairs; Public Information; Safety and Compliance; Audits; Law; Transportation; Secretary; Administrative Law Judge; Consumer Services; and Conservation, Economics and Energy Planning (CEEP).

The latter three bureaus were created under the 1976 reorganization legislation, which also made attorneys appointees of the commission rather than the Attorney General. Act 114-1986 established the Office of Trial Staff, effective September 8, 1986.

In order to further increase its responsiveness to the public, the commission formed motor carrier, consumer, and utility technical advisory councils and also established an office of Intergovernmental Affairs.

The PUC has its headquarters and a regional office in Harrisburg; and other regional offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Altoona where written and telephone inquiries are acted on or sent to the Harrisburg offices for processing and action.

In maintaining close scrutiny over utility service and facilities, the PUC is especially concerned with safety and reliability of natural gas pipelines, water and telephone lines, and railroad grade crossings. Utilities must report accidents to the commission, which regularly inspects facilities to determine whether they are safe and adequate. Gas explosions and railroad grade crossing accidents are promptly and thoroughly investigated in an effort to prevent recurrences.

The PUC, in a joint Federal-State effort and with federal funding places priority on the elimination of hazardous rail-highway grade crossings. In the further interest of rail safety, the commission also examines the structural strength of railroad bridges and underpasses.

In addition to its railroad safety inspectors, the PUC has a force of motor transportation investigators who check on safety, cargo, and certificated routes of truck, taxi, and bus operators.

The commission annually processes thousands of applications and other documents, including numerous consumer complaints and questions about such things as size of bills, fuel surcharges, billing procedures, late payments, penalties, meter readings and general service problems. A meter testing laboratory is maintained in Harrisburg to help settle disputes over gas, electric, and water meter readings and tamperings.

The Consumer Services Bureau was established in an effort to make consumers aware of their rights and responsibilities, provide timely procedural information, and speed efforts to settle customer-utility controversies informally to avoid the cost and delay of formal litigation.

The commission, through its Bureau of Conservation, Economics and Energy Planning has a legislative mandate to research and study all utility matters within PUC jurisdiction; including long range forecasting of energy needs and conservation. Electric and gas companies are required to file annual reports on energy conservation measures.

With the enactment of Act No. 33 (P.L. 90) House Bill No. 1180 on March 3, 1972, the commission became fully funded by assessment of the regulated public utilities. Subject to budgetary approval, the PUC may assess utilities up to three-tenths of one percent of gross intra-state revenue to cover the cost of regulation. Each utility is billed in advance by the commission for its share of an approved estimate of expenditures for the following fiscal year. All assessments and fees received, collected or recovered under Act No. 33 are paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue for use solely by the commission.

The commission's budget for the fiscal year 1988-89 is $28,506,000. It is a substantially lower budget than permissible through the assessment process; and an austere approach to control expenses and to direct spending wisely in consonance with the achievement of commission responsibilities and operational objectives.

As a member of the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC), the PUC cooperates with other State and Federal regulatory agencies in fulfilling its regulatory role. Since its reorganizations in 1976 and 1986, the commission has pursued the legislative intent that it become an effective force in serving the public interest.

The Pennsylvania Securities Commission is an administrative board, having obtained independent status by virtue of Acts Nos. 171 and 172 enacted on February 17, 1976.

Administration. The commission consists of three commissioners appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate who hold office at the pleasure of the Governor and until their successors are duly appointed and qualified.

The commission is responsible for administering the Pa. Securities Act of 1972 (up P.S. §§1-101, et seq.; Act No. 284, adopted December 5, 1972). The Act of May 15, 1933, (Act No. 113, P.L. 788; P.S. §§6051, et seq.) and the Takeover Disclosure Law of Pennsylvania (70 P.S. §§71-85; Act No. 19 of March 3, 1976).

The primary purpose of the regulatory responsibilities and objectives described below is to protect the public from fraudulent practices in connection with the offer, sale and purchase of securities in Pennsylvania while, at the same time, to encourage the financing of legitimate business and industry in the Commonwealth.

Office of the Secretary The secretary provides support services to the commissioners; is responsible for the maintenance, official documentation, and custody of records; provides legislative liaison, liaison with other state and federal agencies, press and public relations, as well as policy, planning, affirmative action, and contract compliance.

Division of Management Services provides support services to the commission. Principal functions include: personnel management, computer services, budget, financial management, revenue management, purchasing, affirmative action, contract compliance and general administrative services.

Chief Accountant is responsible for the accounting review and financial analysis of all records and documents associated with the commission programs as well as the development of accounting policy and professional accounting advice to the commission.

Chief Counsel is responsible for all legal matters involving the commission and the statutes which it administers.

Division of Corporation Finance is reponsible for the review and analysis of all securities offerings filed with the commission under the Pennsylvania Securities Act of 1972. The division also reviews registration statements filed under the Takeover Disclosure Law of 1976 for takeover offers made for Pennsylvania corporations.

Division of Licensing and Compliance

Licensing Section is responsible for the review and analysis of all applications for registration submitted by persons seeking to engage in business in Pennsylvania as broker-dealers, agents (salesmen) or investment advisers.

The Pennsylvania Securities Act of 1972 requires that all such persons must be registered by the commission prior to engaging in such activities. The Act gives the commission the authority to deny, suspend or revoke any registration where the commission deems it not to be in the public interest to permit such person to conduct business in Pennsylvania.

The division is responsible for conducting background research on all applicants to determine the business conduct of such persons prior to seeking registration in Pennsylvania.

Compliance Section was initially established within the commission during FY 84-85 and is responsible for the field examinations of broker-dealer and investment adviser offices located in Pennsylvania in order to determine whether a registrant is in compliance with the requirements of the Pennsylvania Securities Act of 1972. Major emphasis in the examination is to ascertain whether Pennsylvania investors have been subject to abusive sales practices.

The division's primary activity is directed to examinations of offices in this state which are not examined by any other federal or self-regulatory agency. The division also participates in joint-cooperative examinations conducted by other state and federal regulatory agencies.

In cases of non-compliance, the commission may consider taking administrative action against a registrant which includes a censure, suspension, or revocation of registration.

Division of Enforcement and Litigation institutes public and private investigations to determine whether any person has violated or is about to violate the Act or any rule or order thereunder. Administrative actions taken in the public interest and to protect investors include the issuance of orders to show cause, orders to cease and desist, and orders to cease and desist false advertising. Judicial actions include the institution (with the approval of the Attorney General) of civil suits to enjoin violators of the Act or to enforce compliance. In certain instances recommendations are made that cases be referred to other agencies for criminal investigation and prosecution. This division also advises and represents the commission in all matters involving litigation.

Leviticus. In 1982 the commission became the second Pennsylvania state agency to be voted membership in the Leviticus Project Association, a multi-state federally funded law enforcement network created to combat crimes related to the coal industry. Cases investigated and prosecuted range from fraudulent tax shelters and "boiler room" sales deferred delivery contracts to fraud on financial institutions and theft of heavy equipment.

(By the Act of April 13, 1927, The Securities Bureau was abolished and the Pennsylvania Securities Commission was created. The commission was a departmental board in the Banking Department until it was designated an independent board by Acts 171 and 172 of 1976.)

The State Tax Equalization Board (STEB) is an independent administrative board created by Act 447 of 1947, P.L. 1046, as amended. The board consists of three members appointed by the Governor for terms of four years. The chairman is designated by the Governor. The board performs several functions:

Market Value: The primary function of the board is to determine annually the aggregate market value of taxable real property in each political subdivision and school district throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Legislative restrictions as stipulated in Section 7 (3) and Section 14 of Act 447, determine the computation procedure to be used in an odd or even year.

The market values are certified annually to the Department of Education and the respective school districts on or before July 1 of each year. These market values are used by the Department of Education as one factor in a legislative formula for the distribution of state subsidies to each school district.

School districts aggrieved by any findings or conclusions of the board may appeal said findings through appropriate board hearings as set forth in Section 13 of Act 447, as amended. Objections are to be filed on or before October 1 in the year certified according to Regulation No. 1 of the State Tax Equalization Board. The board conducts informal and formal hearings.

Common Level Ratio: This function of the board is to establish a common level ratio of assessed value to selling price for each county for the prior calendar year.

Act 267 of 1982, requires the State Tax Equalization Board to use statistically acceptable techniques, to make the methodology for computing ratios public and to certify the ratio to the chief assessor of each county each year.

Common Level Ratios appeals may be filed with the STEB. Fixed Asset Accounting and Reporting Management Directive 310.4 designates STEB personnel as the appraisal staff for administering and maintaining, on an as needed basis, a continuing program of valuation services for Commonwealth General Fixed Asset Real Property.

Certification of Assessors: Act 192 of 1986 mandates the certification and recertification by STEB of Pennsylvania Assessors of Real Property for ad valorem taxation purposes.

Since the inception of the State Tax Equalization Board of 1947, the General Assembly from time to time has broadened the use of the board's findings.

The Turnpike opened to traffic October 1, 1940, with a total distance of 160 miles. Today, the Turnpike stretches 470 miles from the Gateway Interchange at the Ohio Line to the Delaware River Bridge at the New Jersey Line; the Northeast Extension from a junction at Norristown to the Scranton Terminus. Act 61 of 1985 authorized the commission to construct and prioritize twenty (20) additions and improvements to the existing system. The widening of the six lanes between the Northeast Extension and Delaware River Bridge Interchange was completed in 1987. Currently, the Greensburg Expressway, Beaver Valley Expressway, Mon Valley/Fayette Expressway, Mid-County Interchange and second Lehigh Tunnel are in various stages of design or construction.

Administration. The commission consists of five members, four of whom are appointed by the Governor for terms of four (4) years each, while the fifth is the Secretary of Transportation, a member ex officio.

Powers. Regional offices in eastern and western Pennsylvania are under the supervision of an assistant executive director.

Police functions on the Turnpike are managed by Troop "T" of the Pennsylvania State Police which enforces the laws of Pennsylvania and regulations of the Turnpike; all police services are reimbursed to the state by non-tax funds collected from Turnpike tolls.

An Operations Review staff, is comprised of auditors and accountants and reports directly to the executive director.

Its chief winter function is the swift removal of snow and ice from the roadway and such activity begins immediately upon the onset of a storm. Maintenance operations are localized in nineteen sheds across the Turnpike.

Fare Collection, a deputy executive director supervises thirty-eight toll plazas operating through superintendents in eastern, central and western divisions.

COURTS OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Brief History
Composition
Powers and Duties

The history of Pennsylvania courts is one of long evolution and has its roots in England's judicial system.

Prior to the State Constitution of 1776, there existed in Pennsylvania a collection of courts, some inherited from the rule of the Duke of York (1664-1673), some established by William Penn, and some — such as the Pennsylvania Supreme Court — created by Pennsylvania's Provincial Assembly. Although attempts were made from time to time to create a unified system which would define and organize the powers and jurisdictions of the several courts, these attempts were often nullified in England. It was not until the Constitution of 1776, which established in each county courts of sessions, common pleas and orphans' courts, that Pennsylvania saw the beginning of a statewide framework for the development of its judicial system.

The Constitution of 1790 furthered this development, grouping the counties into judicial districts and providing president judges for the common pleas courts in those districts to ease the burden of the Supreme Court. In addition to the common pleas courts, the Constitution also vested the judicial powers of the Commonwealth in the Supreme Court, Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Orphans' Courts, Courts of the Quarter Sessions of the peace, and in justices of the peace. This Constitution also made the judiciary appointive in nature.

The Constitutions of 1838 and 1874 effected changes in the jurisdiction, tenure and election or appointment of members of the judiciary, but the basic structure created by the Constitution of 1790 remained essentially unchanged.

The Constitution of 1968 initiated many judicial reforms and reorganized the judiciary under a Unified Judicial System consisting of the Supreme, Superior and Commonwealth Courts, Courts of Common Pleas, Community Courts, Philadelphia Municipal Court, Pittsburgh Magistrates Court, Traffic Court of Philadelphia, Justices of the Peace (now called "District Justices") and "such other courts as may be provided by law." Thus the stage was set for coordinated management, by the Supreme Court, of all courts as a part of a single, integrated system.

The 1968 Constitution also established, for the first time in the state's history, a constitutional right of appeal in all cases, whether they involve courts of record, the minor judiciary or administrative agencies.

The new Constitution also provided for the composition of each court and for the qualifications, election, tenure and compensation of justices, judges and district justices.

Judges: Qualifications, Election, Tenure, Vacancies

In addition to certain basic requirements such as citizenship and residency, judges are subject to strict standards of conduct and may be removed, suspended or otherwise disciplined for misconduct in office. All major court judges within the system are elected to ten-year terms. Lower court judges, including Philadelphia's Municipal and Traffic Courts and district justices, are elected to terms of six years, and judges of Pittsburgh Magistrates Court, are appointed to four-year terms by the mayor. Vacancies are filled by gubernatorial appointment, subject to Senate confirmation; appointees are required to run for election in the first municipal election more than ten months after their appointment.

The "merit retention" provision allows judges to run for reelection on a "yes - no" vote, without ballot reference to political affiliation. This provision was designed to remove them from pressures of the political arena once they serve their first term of office.

Mandatory retirement age for judges is 70, although retired judges may continue to serve in a "retired active" status in order to ease court backlogs.

Chief Justice and President Judges

The Chief Justice of Pennsylvania and the president judges of all other courts of seven or fewer judges shall be those judges in longest continuous service on those courts. The one exception to this is the president judge of the Philadelphia Traffic Court, who is appointed to this position by the Governor. In courts of eight or more judges, the judges select from their ranks a president judge, who serves in that capacity for five years.

Jurisdiction

A court's jurisdiction refers to those cases falling within the court's right to hear. Original jurisdiction refers to those cases heard in the first instance; appellate jurisdiction, to those cases heard on appeal from a lower court.

The new Judicial Code (42 Pa. C.S.) provides for the organization and jurisdiction of all courts within the system.

Additionally, under the Constitution of 1968, the Supreme Court is empowered to assign and reassign classes of actions or appeals among the several courts "as the needs of justice shall require."

SUPREME COURT

History

Established by the Provincial Assembly's Judiciary Act of May 22, 1722, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is the oldest appellate court in the nation, predating the United States Supreme Court by 67 years.

It is the highest court of the Commonwealth and the repository of the supreme judicial power of the state.

Since its creation, the Court has experienced changes in the number of justices, their qualifications and tenure. The 1722 Act established a court composed of one chief justice and two associate justices who would hold two sessions a year in Philadelphia and go on circuit to try cases throughout the state. In 1767, the number of justices was increased to a total of four; in 1809, the number was reduced from four to three; in 1826, the Court was increased to five justices, and in 1874 to seven, the present number.

The Supreme Court was given constitutional status under the Constitution of 1776, which also provided for appointment of justices by the president of the Provincial Council to seven-year terms, removable for "misbehavior." The Constitution of 1790 provided for life tenure based on "good behavior." The Constitution of 1838 fixed tenure at 15 years. An 1850 Constitutional amendment made the entire judiciary elective, a standard which prevails today. The Constitution of 1874 assured minority party representation on the Court by designating the method of electing justices, increased their tenure to 21 years, and established a limited original jurisdiction for the Court.

The Constitution of 1968, in establishing the Unified Judicial System, gave the Supreme Court broad supervisory and administrative powers over that system. (See Court Administration.) Additionally, it fixed the tenure of justices at ten-year terms.

Composition

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is composed of seven justices, elected to terms of ten years; the justice with the longest continuous service presides as Chief Justice. Vacancies on the Court are filled by gubernatorial appointment, subject to Senate confirmation.

Jurisdiction

The Judicial Code establishes the original and appellate jurisdictions of the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court holds original (but not exclusive) jurisdiction in cases of habeas corpus, mandamus or prohibition to courts of inferior jurisdiction, and cases of quo warranto (questions of authority) as to any officer of statewide jurisdiction.

The Supreme Court's appellate jurisdiction includes those cases it hears as a matter of right and those it hears upon its own discretion. Cases which may be appealed to the Court as a matter of right are those from Commonwealth Court originating in that court; appeals from final orders of common pleas courts in certain classes of cases (listed below); and appeals from final orders of certain constitutional and judicial agencies (listed below).

Appeals heard from final orders of Common Pleas Court include cases involving: (1) matters prescribed by general rule; (2) the right to public office; (3) matters where the qualifications, tenure or right to serve or the manner of service of any member of the judiciary is in question; (4) review of death sentences; (5) supersession of a district attorney by the attorney general or by a court; (6) matters where the right or power of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision to create or issue indebtedness is in question; (7) statutes and rules held unconstitutional by the courts of common pleas; and (8) matters where the right to practice law is involved.

The Supreme Court has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals from final orders of the following agencies: (1) Legislative Reapportionment Commission; (2) Judicial Inquiry and Review Board; (3) the agency empowered to certify members of the Minor Judiciary; (4) the agency empowered to admit or recommend the admission of persons to the bar and the practice of law (Pennsylvania Board of Law Examiners); and (5) the agency vested with the power to discipline or recommend discipline of attorneys-at-law (Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania); also within its appellate jurisdiction, in the Court's discretion, there may be allowances of appeal to review certain determinations by the Superior and Commonwealth Courts.

Under its power of extraordinary jurisdiction, the Court may, on its own motion or upon petition of any party, assume jurisdiction of a case pending before any court or district justice involving an issue of immediate public importance.

SUPERIOR COURT

History and Composition

Pennsylvania's Superior Court was created by the General Assembly in 1895 in order to ease the burden of the Supreme Court, thus giving Pennsylvania two appellate courts with separate jurisdictions. In 1980 an amendment was passed which increased the number of judges sitting on this Court from seven to fifteen. The judges are elected to ten-year terms. In January 1986, Judge Vincent A. Cirillo was elected President Judge, by vote of the Court, for a five-year term.

Jurisdiction

The Superior Court has limited original jurisdiction. Its appellate jurisdiction extends to appeals from final orders of Common Pleas Courts in those matters not within the jurisdiction of either the Supreme or Commonwealth Courts.

COMMONWEALTH COURT

History

The Commonwealth Court, which came into existence on January 1, 1970, was created by the Constitution of 1968. The Constitutional Convention intended to create a court which would not only serve as a third appellate court, reducing the workload of the Supreme and Superior Courts, but also a court which would hear and try initial jurisdiction cases involving actions by or against the Commonwealth.

Since 1870, such cases had been heard by the Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas, sitting in Harrisburg. Over the years, however, the growth of state agencies and the corresponding rise in litigation involving the Commonwealth created an increasingly heavy caseload for the Commonwealth docket of Dauphin County Court. The need for a new and separate court to handle such matters, as well as provide an appellate court for government-related appeals, became apparent, and so the Constitutional Convention provided for the creation of a Commonwealth Court, leaving its structure and jurisdiction to the General Assembly.

Composition

The Constitution of 1968 provided that Commonwealth Court "shall consist of the number of judges . . . as provided by law," thus allowing for addition of judges, as needed, by the Legislature.

The Commonwealth Court Act of 1970 (P.L. 1969) originally provided for a court of seven judges, elected to ten-year terms. The Judicial Code now provides for a court of nine judges.

Jurisdiction

Commonwealth Court is possessed of both original and appellate jurisdiction. The Court has exclusive original jurisdiction of Election Code matters as well as matters arising in the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth relating to statewide office except nomination and election contests which are within the jurisdiction of another tribunal. Original jurisdiction includes civil actions against the Commonwealth, with the exception of writs of habeas corpus; eminent domain proceedings and actions in which sovereign immunity has been waived; and civil actions by the Commonwealth (concurrent with Common Pleas Courts), except eminent domain proceedings.

The Court's appellate jurisdiction encompasses primarily direct appeals from final decisions of state administrative agencies (unless the Courts of Common Pleas have jurisdiction), and also appeals from Courts of Common Pleas (unless the Supreme Court has jurisdiction) in cases involving: 1) civil actions to which the Commonwealth is a party with certain exceptions; 2) criminal actions arising from violations of regulations of state administrative agencies, or from violations of regulatory statutes administered by a state agency subject to the Administrative Agency Law; 3) secondary review (after a Court of Common Pleas) of certain appeals from Commonwealth agencies; 4) interpretation of home rule charters, local ordinances and legislative acts governing local political subdivisions, and appeals from local administrative agencies; 5) certain nonprofit corporation matters; and 6) eminent domain proceedings.

Also within the Court's appellate jurisdiction is review of arbitrators' awards in disputes between the Commonwealth and its employees.

COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS

History

Courts of Common Pleas have existed in Pennsylvania at least since the Constitution of 1776, under which they were given constitutional status.

Prior to the Constitution of 1968, there existed in addition to Courts of Common Pleas — Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Quarter Sessions of the Peace and Orphans' Courts. The new Constitution abolished these latter separate courts and incorporated them into existing Common Pleas Courts.

Composition

Pennsylvania's 67 counties are divided into 60 judicial districts. Each district has a Court of Common Pleas consisting of a number of judges and divisions as determined by the Legislature. The Legislature, with the advice and consent of the Supreme Court, also has the latitude to change the number or boundaries of the judicial districts. Judges are elected to terms of ten years.

Jurisdiction

Under the Constitution of 1776, the Courts of Common Pleas were given the powers "usually exercised by such courts," a recognition that such a jurisdiction existed and was commonly accepted at that time.

Under the 1968 Constitution, the Courts of Common Pleas have "unlimited original jurisdiction in all cases except as may otherwise be provided by law." The exceptions are the limited original jurisdictions of Supreme and Commonwealth Courts described above.

Appellate jurisdiction of the Common Pleas Courts extends to appeals from final orders of the minor judiciary and appeals from certain state and most local governmental agencies.

SPECIAL COURTS

Special Courts

At the first level in the court system are the special courts. In counties other than Philadelphia, these courts are presided over by district justices, formerly known as justices of the peace. District justices have jurisdiction over summary offenses except those within the jurisdiction of an established and open traffic court, landlord-tenant matters and other civil actions where the amount claimed does not exceed $4,000. They may also accept guilty pleas of misdemeanors of the third degree under certain circumstances. District justices also have jurisdiction to preside at arraignments, fix and accept bail, except for offenses under the statutes relating to murder and voluntary manslaughter, and to issue warrants and perform duties of a similar nature.

Although district justices do not have to be lawyers, those who are not members of the bar of Pennsylvania must take a course and pass a qualifying examination before taking office. All district justices must take 32 hours of continuing education each year while they remain in office.

As of 1989, there were 529 (complement — 539) district justices on the payroll.

In Philadelphia, the special courts are the Municipal Court and the Traffic Court. The Municipal Court is the only special court of Pennsylvania which is a court of record. It has 22 judges, all of whom must be lawyers. The Municipal Court has jurisdiction over all criminal offenses (other than summary traffic offenses) which are punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding five years. Otherwise, the Municipal Court has jurisdiction similar to that of district justices, except that civil actions in that court are limited to those cases where the amount claimed does not exceed $5,000.

The Philadelphia Traffic Court is composed of six judges who need not be lawyers. It has jurisdiction over all summary offenses under the Motor Vehicle Code (Title 75 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes) and offenses under city ordinances enacted pursuant to the Vehicle Code.

The City of Pittsburgh has five magistrates in addition to the county district justices. These magistrates are appointed by the Pittsburgh Mayor. They are the only non-elective judiciary in Pennsylvania. These magistrates have jurisdiction to issue arrest warrants and hold arraignments and preliminary hearings for all criminal offenses occurring within the city. They also have jurisdiction over criminal cases brought by the city police for the violations of city ordinances and other specified offenses, including claims for fines and penalties imposed by any city ordinance or by any ordinance or regulation relating to health and housing and enforced by a county health department where a violation takes place in the city of Pittsburgh. In addition, they may hear summary cases arising under any such ordinances or regulations. The magistrates also sit on the Pittsburgh Housing Court and on the Pittsburgh Traffic Court which has jurisdiction similar to that of the Philadelphia Traffic Court.

There are no jury trials in the special courts. However, appeals from special court judgments may be taken to the county Common Pleas Court where the case is heard de novo.

District Justices

The office of justice of the peace existed as early as 1776, when the State Constitution of that year first provided for their election.

The Constitution of 1968 effected a major reorganization of the minor judiciary, especially with respect to justices of the peace.

The reorganization called for establishment of the number and classes of magisterial districts, replacement of the fee system with salaried positions, compulsory education and training for prospective district justices (see Minor Judiciary Education Board, below), a reduction in the number of district justices and their supervision by the Supreme Court.

The 1968 Constitution mandated the classification of magisterial districts solely on the basis of population and population density; the numbers and boundaries of magisterial districts may be changed as needed for the efficient administration of justice. There are no district justices in the City and County of Philadelphia, their jurisdiction being exercised by Philadelphia's Municipal and Traffic Courts. Each magisterial district contains one district justice who is elected to a six-year term, and whose salary is determined by law. Vacancies are filled by gubernatorial appointment, subject to Senate confirmation.

Minor Judiciary Education Board

Article V of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Judicial Code require individuals seeking to take office as District Justices to be certified as qualified to perform the duties of the office.

The Minor Judiciary Education Board is responsible for prescribing and approving the subject matter and the examination for the courses of instruction which prospective district justices must successfully complete. The Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts serves as the staff of the Board and, as such, administers the courses of instruction and conducts the certifying examination as directed by the Board.

The basic District Justice course of instruction is four weeks in duration. General subject areas covered are: criminal law, civil law, evidence, judicial procedure and administration, motor vehicle law, the Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act and ethics. The basic Philadelphia Traffic Court Judge course of instruction is 20 hours in length. General subject areas covered are: evidence, judicial procedure and administration, motor vehicle law, and ethics. In addition, the Board revises yearly the curriculum for the mandated continuing education program for all district justices.

The Board is composed of seven members appointed by the Governor with the consent of two-thirds of the Senate.

COURT ADMINISTRATION

Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts

Under Article V of the Constitution of 1968, the Supreme Court was given powers of general supervision and administrative authority over all courts and district justices, including the power to temporarily assign judges and district justices from one court or district to another; to assign or reassign classes of actions or appeals among the several courts; to prescribe the practice, procedures and conduct of all courts and officers thereof; and to appoint a court administrator.

As supervisor of the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania is responsible for the prompt and proper disposition of the business of all courts, including district justices. Among the functions of the Administrative Office are: review of the operations of the entire court system for efficiency, and formulation of recommendations for its improvement; review of the administrative and business methods employed by all courts; collection of financial and statistical data on the courts; examination of court dockets with recommendations for expedition of litigation; budget preparation and authorization of expenditures; purchasing; central record-keeping; preparation of educational and training materials for the system's personnel; and receipt of comments and complaints from the public relating to the system and offices relating and serving the system.

Related Court Agencies

Also within the aegis of the Supreme Court are the court committees and related court agencies, which help establish judicial policy, formulate rules of court procedure, investigate charges of misconduct and establish standards for the practice of law in Pennsylvania. These committees and agencies are: the Judicial Council; Civil, Criminal and Minor Court Civil Procedural Rules Committees; Pennsylvania Board of Law Examiners; the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court; Judicial Inquiry and Review Board (a constitutional agency); Supreme Court Committee for Proposed Standard Jury Instruction; Supreme Court Orphans' Court Rules Committee; Domestic Relations Committee; and the Advisory Committee on Appellate Court Rules. In addition, the Supreme Court created the Pennsylvania Client Security Fund Board which aids in ameliorating losses caused to individuals by defalcating attorneys.

Independent of the Supreme Court is the Judicial Auditing Agency which periodically audits the financial affairs of the unified judicial system.

SENIOR JUDGES

Senior judges are defined by the Judicial Code, Act of July 9, 1976, P.L. 586, as amended by the Act of April 28, 1978, P.L. 202, 42 Pa. C.S.A. §101 et seq., as both retired and former judges who, with their consent, are assigned to temporary judicial service by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, pursuant to Section 4121(b) of the Code. That Section is marked reserved and reference must be made to the Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration No. 701, which prescribes the procedures for the assignment of such judges. Such assignment is authorized by Section 16(c) of Article V of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

All judges seeking assignment must have served at least ten years and not have been defeated for reelection or, in the case of judges who retired mandatorily at age seventy, must have served at least six years.

Therefore, the term "senior judge" is reserved for those judges who make themselves available for assignment as opposed to other retired judges of any age who are not available for such service.

SPECIAL COURTS

(By County)

DISTRICT JUSTICES, PITTSBURGH MAGISTRATES,

AND

PHILADELPHIA TRAFFIC COURT JUDGES

The first two numbers following the district justice's name refer to the judicial district. The second number, which is either a one, two, three, or four, refers to the legislative classification of the magisterial district (See Magisterial Districts Act, Act of December 2, 1968, P.L. No. 352, and Magisterial Districts Act for Counties of the Second Class, Act of December 2, 1968, P.L. No. 359.) The third set of numbers represents the magisterial district number within the particular classification. For instance, Magisterial District 51-3-01 identifies the office of District Justice Thomas R. Carr, which is located in the 51st Judicial District (Adams County). It is a 3rd Class District, and it is number one of the 3rd Class Districts. In those cases where the last two numbers appear to be missing in a county's numerical order of districts, this is an indication that a previously existing district has been eliminated.

PENNSYLVANIA LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Local government in Pennsylvania is a mosaic of 5,768 individual units. All were established by the State or provincial government and operate under laws of the Commonwealth. Each unit is distinct and independent of other local units, although they may overlap geographically and may act together to serve the public.

As of 1989, there were 67 counties, 55 cities, 966 boroughs, 1 incorporated town, 1,550 townships (91 first class, 1,459 second class), 501 school districts and 2,628 authorities (active and inactive). The number of local units remained fairly stable for the past few decades with two major exceptions. After passage of school district legislation in 1963 and 1965, the number of school districts diminished radically. Authorities, born as local units during the depression years of the 1930's, have proliferated at a phenomenal pace since then.

STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Constitutional Provisions

The Constitution authorizes the state to enact laws regulating local units of government. It outlines basic requirements and rights. The Constitution requires periodic legislative apportionment, guarantees the right to select a home rule charter or an optional plan of government, and mandates uniform legislation establishing the procedure for consolidation, merger or change of municipal boundaries. The Constitution also prohibits special or local legislation by the General Assembly, sets up county government with elected row officers, permits classification of local governments according to population, and requires taxation to be uniform upon the same classes of subjects. The General Assembly is allowed to enact certain tax exemptions and special tax provisions because of age, disability, infirmity or poverty.

Classifications

Municipalities and school districts may be classified according to population, and the General Assembly can legislate separately for each class. There are four general types of municipalities in Pennsylvania: counties, cities, boroughs and townships. At the present time there are nine classes of counties, four classes of cities, two classes of townships and five classes of school districts. Boroughs are not classified. Legislation may be enacted for each class even though there is only one unit in a particular class, as is the case of Philadelphia as a city of the first class and Allegheny as the only county of the second class.

Each class of municipality operates under its own code of laws which sets forth the governmental structure as well as the general and specific powers of local government. Except for home rule municipalities, the codes are the most important source of legislative powers granted to a municipal governing body by the General Assembly. They are the County Code, Third Class City Code, Borough Code, First Class Township Code, Second Class Township Code and Public School Code.

Legislation

There is also extensive general legislation applying to local governments. Some examples of legislative provisions outside the local government codes are real property assessment, local non-property taxation, municipal borrowing, real estate tax collection, intergovernmental cooperation, municipal employes retirement, solid waste management, sewage facilities, and planning and zoning.

Significant general laws affecting local governments both grant powers and impose restrictions. The Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code empowers municipalities to plan their development and adopt zoning, subdivision and land development ordinances. The Pennsylvania Sewage Facilities Act regulates community and individual sewage disposal systems. The Solid Waste Management Act provides for solid waste collection and disposal.

The Local Government Unit Debt Act establishes debt limits for local government units based on municipal revenues. The Municipal Police Education and Training Act mandates training of all municipal police officers. The Intergovernmental Cooperation Act permits two or more municipalities to cooperate jointly in the exercise of any governmental functions and allows municipalities to delegate powers to other local units. The Sunshine Law requires public agencies to discuss and act upon agency business only at meetings open to the public. There are numerous other general laws affecting local government powers and procedures.

Taxes

The state gives local governments authority to levy taxes on inhabitants and property within their jurisdiction and provides for tax exemptions. Taxes are levied and collected under general laws. The two primary sources of tax revenue at the local level are the real estate tax, authorized under the respective municipal codes, and the earned income tax, authorized by the Local Tax Enabling Act. The Local Tax Enabling Act authorizes numerous other types of taxes.

Home Rule

The Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans Law grants Pennsylvania municipalities the power to determine for themselves what structure their government will take and what services it will perform. A home rule municipality no longer has its powers and organization determined by the state legislature. A home rule municipality drafts and amends its own charter and can exercise any power or perform any function not denied by the state Constitution, the General Assembly or its home rule charter. As of January 1989, 60 municipalities have adopted home rule charters, including 5 counties, 14 cities, 16 boroughs and 25 townships.

Between 1957 and 1972, third class cities could choose the mayor-council or council-manager form of government. The Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans Law extended to all municipalities the right to adopt optional plans of government. Adoption of an optional plan of government alters a municipality's structural form and administrative organization. The municipality continues to be subject to its particular municipal code regarding municipal powers.

Six optional plans are provided for under the law: (1) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan A (department of administration optional); (2) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan B (department of administration mandated); (3) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan C (provides for the office of managing director); (4) Council-Manager Plan; (5) Small Municipality Plan (limited to any municipality having a population of less than 7,500 residents; and (6) Optional County Plan (limited to counties). As of January 1989, three cities, two boroughs and six townships have adopted optional plans of government. Fifteen cities continue to operate under the Optional Third Class City Charter Law.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND LOCAL UNITS

Local government is one of the powers reserved to the states in Article X of the United States Constitution. However, since the 1930's when the big cities of the nation looked to the federal government for financial assistance to combat the problems brought on by the economic depression, the national government has taken an increasingly active role in local government, especially in the urban areas. Recent developments have also evidenced concern for rural areas. Through financial subsidies, grants and technical assistance, federal agencies have stimulated development of low-cost housing, urban renewal, improved educational facilities, modern highways, health and welfare services, and personal security. Federal programs, such as housing and community development, have strengthened direct links between federal and local government. There is a trend toward more local decision making in federal programs.

COUNTIES

There are 67 counties in Pennsylvania including the consolidated city-county of Philadelphia, and each inhabitant of the state lives in and comes under the jurisdiction of one of them. The largest in population is Philadelphia with over one and a half million people; the smallest is Forest with approximately five thousand. The Constitution establishes a basic organization, but counties can adopt their own form of government. Five counties have adopted home rule charters: Delaware, Erie, Lackawanna, Lehigh and Northampton.

County Functions

Counties continue to serve in their traditional role as agents of the state for law enforcement, judicial administration and the conduct of elections. The county is also responsible for the property assessment function. Counties become involved in regional planning, solid waste disposal and public health. They perform welfare functions, including mental health. Counties also can establish housing and redevelopment authorities and conduct community development programs. Counties maintain hospitals and homes for the aged. Counties may support local libraries and community colleges.

Legislation enacted in recent years has strengthened the policymaking role of boards of county commissioners, granting them greater control of and responsibility for county government. The geographic size of counties enables them to cope with functions that can be better performed on an area-wide basis, i.e., mass transportation and environmental protection.

County Government

County government, as provided for in the county codes, may be described as a "no-executive" type. The chief governing body is the three-member board of county commissioners. But there are also numerous other elected officials to a large extent independent of the county commissioners. These include the sheriff, district attorney, prothonotary, clerk of courts, register of wills, recorder of deeds and two jury commissioners whose duties are mostly concerned with the work of the county court. Additionally, there are the elective offices of the controller or three auditors and the treasurer who are county finance officers. A public defender is appointed as provided by law. The county commissioners, the elected officers and the county court individually or jointly appoint a number of other county officials and employes needed to carry out county functions by law.

Whereas the 11 elective county officers are enumerated in the Pennsylvania Constitution, their powers and duties are prescribed by statutes which are scattered throughout the county codes and general state laws. Consolidation of certain elective offices is provided by state law in the smaller class counties involving the offices of prothonotary, clerk of courts, register of wills and recorder of deeds.

MUNICIPALITIES

Municipal Powers

In addition to living under a county government, every Pennsylvanian also lives in a municipality. Municipal governing bodies make policy decisions, levy taxes, borrow money, authorize expenditures and direct administration of their governments by their appointees. The scope of their functions and responsibilities is broad

Many powers given to local governments are not exercised, while others are shared with the state and even the national government. All of the various municipal units of Pennsylvania share the same basic responsibilities with respect to the provision of public services at the local level and have similar statutory powers for the most part. Although cities have more specifically enumerated powers than boroughs or townships, many of those powers may also be exercised by boroughs and townships under general grants of power. Home rule provides equal opportunity for all classes of municipalities to exercise new powers.

Municipal Functions

The main areas of local services include police and fire protection, maintenance of local roads and streets, water supply, sewage collection and treatment, parking and traffic control, local planning and zoning, parks and recreation, garbage collection, health services, libraries, licensing of businesses and code enforcement.

CITIES

First and Second Class Cities

The oldest and largest Pennsylvania city, Philadelphia, has had a strong-mayor home rule charter since 1952. There is a council of 17 members, one elected from each of the ten councilmanic districts of the city and seven elected at large. Each political party may nominate one candidate for each of the ten districts but only five for the seven at large places. This allows the minority party to elect at least two members. The mayor, also elected, has control over the administration of the city. He is assisted by a managing director who supervises ten major departments, a director of finance, a city representative and a city solicitor.

Pittsburgh and Scranton, second class and second class A cities respectively, also have strong mayors. These mayors, like the chief executive of Philadelphia, have broad appointive and removal powers, are responsible for the preparation of the annual budget, recommend measures for the consideration of council and may veto legislation which may be overridden by a two-thirds majority of the council. Home rule charters were adopted by Scranton and Pittsburgh in 1974. In all three cities, the mayor is the dominant force in city government.

Third Class Cities

The code establishes a commission form of government. Under this form, the mayor and four other members constitute the commission which is the governing body of the city. The mayor is one of the members of council and acts as president. Each councilman is in charge of one of the five major departments. These officials and the controller and treasurer are elected at large by the voters for a four-year term. Councilmanic terms overlap. Appointment of all other officers and employes is made by council. Twenty-two of the 51 third class cities operate under the commission form: Aliquippa, Arnold, Beaver Falls, Bradford, Butler, Connellsville, Corry, Duquesne, Jeannette, Lebanon, Lower Burrell, Monessen, Monongahela, Nanticoke, New Kensington, Pittston, Pottsville, Reading, Shamokin, Sunbury, Uniontown and Washington.

From 1957 to 1972, cities could adopt two other forms of government by referendum under the Optional Third Class City Charter Law. The mayor-council form has a five, seven or nine member council, elected at large for overlapping four-year terms. A mayor, treasurer and a controller also are elected for a four-year period. The mayor is the chief executive of the city and enforces the ordinances of council. The mayor may veto ordinances which can be overridden by a two-thirds majority of council. The mayor supervises the work of all city departments and submits the annual city budget to council. Cities operating under this plan include Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, New Castle, Sharon, Williamsport and York.

In the council-manager form, all authority is lodged with council which is composed of five, seven or nine members elected at large for a four-year term. A city treasurer and controller also are elected. A city manager is appointed by council. The manager is the chief administrative officer of the city and is responsible for executing the ordinances of council. The manager appoints and may remove department heads and subordinates. Cities operating under this plan include Lock Haven, Meadville, Oil City and Titusville.

Since 1972, eleven cities have adopted home rule charters including Carbondale, Chester, Clairton, Coatesville, Farrell, Franklin, Greensburg, Hermitage, McKeesport, Warren and Wilkes-Barre. Also, DuBois and Altoona have adopted the council-manager optional plan and Hazleton, the mayor-council optional plan, under the Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans Law.

BOROUGHS

The present type of borough government is the weak mayor form which governed all incorporated municipalities during the 19th century. Most of the present cities were boroughs first and became cities as their population increased. Boroughs have a strong and dominant council, a weak executive and other elected officers with powers independent of the council. The governing body of the borough is an elected council. The tax collector, tax assessor and the auditors also are elected. Many other officials are appointed by borough council.

The mayor is elected for a four-year term; councilmen are elected for four-year overlapping terms. A borough not divided into wards has seven councilmen; in boroughs divided into wards, at least one and not more than two are elected from each ward. The powers of council are broad and extensive, covering virtually the whole range of urban municipal functions.

In more than two hundred boroughs, the chief administrative officer is a manager appointed by council. The manager is responsible for carrying out the policies and enforcing the ordinances of council, relieving council from routine day-to-day administration.

Since 1972, sixteen boroughs have adopted home rule charters: Bellevue, Bethel Park, Bradford Woods, Green Tree, Monroeville, Whitehall, Tyrone, Chalfont, State College, Cambridge Springs, Edinboro, Kingston, Bryn Athyn, Norristown, Youngsville and Murrysville. The boroughs of Weatherly and Quakertown have adopted optional plans, selecting council-manager plans.

TOWNSHIPS

Pennsylvania has two classes of townships. The first numbers 91 and includes the more urban townships located in the state's metropolitan areas; the second class, numbering 1,459, is generally rural.

In townships of the first class, the governing body is made up of elected commissioners. There are either five commissioners elected at large or up to 15 elected by wards. The commissioners have four-year overlapping terms.

The governing body of second class townships is composed of three supervisors who are elected at large. Two additional supervisors may be elected if approved by referendum. All are elected at large for six-year terms.

Other elected township officials include the tax assessor, tax collector (second class), three auditors or controller, and a treasurer (first class). Appointive officers include the secretary, township manager if desired, chief of police, fire chief, engineer, solicitor and others.

To become a township of the first class, a second class township must have a population density of 300 persons per square mile, and voters must approve change of classification in a referendum. Many townships meeting the density requirement have remained second class.

Since 1972, twelve townships of the first class adopted home rule charters: McCandless, Mt. Lebanon, O'Hara, Penn Hills, Upper St. Clair, Haverford, Upper Darby, Whitehall, Wilkes-Barre, Cheltenham, Plymouth and Radnor. Thirteen townships of the second class have also adopted home rule charters: Richland, Hampton, Whitemarsh, West Deer, Ferguson, Elk, Tredyffrin, Middletown, Upper Providence, Hanover, Kingston, Horsham and Peters. Five townships of the second class adopted optional plans of government. Indiana, College, Washington and Lower Saucon townships adopted the council-manager form. Bensalem Township as well as Bristol Township, a first class township, have adopted the executive-council optional plan.

AUTHORITIES

The authority is a special kind of local unit. They are not general government entities as are cities, boroughs and townships. They are set up to perform a special service. An authority is a body corporate and politic authorized to acquire, construct, improve, maintain and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds to finance them. Projects include public facilities such as buildings, including school buildings, transportation facilities. marketing and shopping facilities, highways, parkways, airports, parking places, waterworks, sewage treatment plants, playgrounds, hospitals and industrial development projects.

An authority can be organized by any county, city, town, borough, township or school district of the Commonwealth, acting singly or jointly with another municipality. An authority is established by ordinance by one or more municipalities. The governing bodies of the parent local unit or units appoint the members of the authority's board. If incorporated by one unit, the board consists of five members; if comprised of two or more local units, there is at least one member from each unit but no less than five. The board carries on the work of the authority, acquires property, appoints officers and employes, undertakes projects, makes regulations and charges, and collects revenue from services of the facilities or projects.

The original reason for the establishment of authorities was the restrictive provisions for incurring debt imposed by the Commonwealth prior to the 1968 constitutional amendments, but they have proven useful mechanisms particularly for joint municipal projects. As of January 1987, there were 2,628 authorities in Pennsylvania. They have continued to grow at a substantial rate from the 1962 figure of 1,398.

MUNICIPALITIES WHICH HAVE ADOPTED HOME RULE CHARTERS, OPTIONAL PLANS AND OPTIONAL CHARTERS AS OF JANUARY 1, 1989

A total of sixty communities have adopted home rule charters, including five counties: fourteen cities, twenty-five townships and sixteen boroughs. Eleven have adopted optional plans; six townships, three boroughs and two cities. Fifteen cities continue to operate under optional charters.

THE ACT PROVIDING FOR THE CLASSIFICATION OF COUNTIES

Section 210. Counties Divided into Nine Classes.

Section 1. Section 210, act of August 9, 1955 (P.L. 323), known as "The County Code," amended Feb. 5, 1982, is amended to read:

Section 210. Counties Divided Into Nine Classes. — For the purposes of legislation and the regulation of their affairs, counties of this Commonwealth, now in existence and those hereafter created, shall be divided into nine classes as follows:

(1) First Class Counties, those having a population of 1,500,000 inhabitants and over.

(2) Second Class Counties, those having a population of 800,000 and more but less than 1,500,000 inhabitants.

(2.1) Second Class A Counties, those having a population of 500,000 and more but less than 800,000 inhabitants.

(3) Third Class Counties, those having a population of 225,000 and more but less than 500,000 inhabitants.

(4) Fourth Class Counties, those having a population of 150,000 and more but less than 225,000 inhabitants.

(5) Fifth Class Counties, those having a population of 95,000 and more but less than 150,000 inhabitants.

(6) Sixth Class Counties, those having a population of 45,000 and more but less than 95,000 inhabitants and those having a population of 35,000 and more but less than 45,000 inhabitants which by ordinance or resolution of the Board of County Commissioners elect to be a county of the sixth class.

(7) Seventh Class Counties, those having a population of 20,000 or more but less than 45,000 inhabitants and those having a population of 35,000 and more but less than 45,000 inhabitants which have not elected to be a county of the sixth class.

(8) Eighth Class Counties, those having a population of less than 20,000 inhabitants.

Section 2. Whenever a county advances in class under this act, the provisions of The County Code or any other law relating to the qualifications of district attorneys for the higher class county shall not be applicable to any district attorney of such county elected prior to January 1, 1972.

Section 211. Ascertainment, Certification and Effect of Change of Class.

(a) The classification of counties shall be ascertained and fixed according to their population by reference from time to time to the decennial United States census as hereinafter provided, deducting therefrom the number of persons residing on any lands that have been ceded to the United States.

(b) Whenever it shall appear by any such census that any county has attained a population entitling it to an advance in classification, or whenever it shall appear by the last two preceding censuses that a county has heretofore or hereafter decreased in population so as to recede in classification, as herein prescribed, it shall be in the duty of the Governor, under the great seal of this Commonwealth, to certify that fact accordingly, to the board of county commissioners on or before the first day of October of the year succeeding that in which the census was taken or as soon thereafter as may be, which certificate shall be forwarded by the commissioners to the recorder of deeds and be recorded in his office.

It is the intent of this section that the classification of any county shall not be changed because its population has decreased at the time of one United States decennial census, because it is recognized that a change in the form of local government is attended by certain expense and hardship, and such change should not be occasioned by a temporary fluctuation in population, but rather only after it is demonstrated by two censuses that the population of a county has remained below the minimum figure of its class for at least a decade.

(c) Changes of class ascertained and certified as aforesaid shall become effective on the first day of January next following the year in which the change was so certified by the Governor to the county commissioners but the salaries of county officers shall not thereby be increased or decreased during the term for which they shall have been elected. In the municipal election following such certification of change of class and preceding the effective date of such change, the proper number of persons shall be elected to fill any elective office which will exist in the county by the change in classification certified. No election shall be held for any office which will be abolished as a result of such change of classification. The County Code, (P.L. 323), Aug. 9, 1955; as last amended Act No. 478, Aug. 22, 1961.

CLINTON COUNTY

(6th class, population 38,971) was created on June 21, 1839, from parts of Centre and Lycoming Counties and probably named for Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York, a promoter of the Erie Canal. Actually, the name seems to have been substituted, as a political maneuver, for the name "Eagle," first proposed, thus thwarting opponents of the new county. Lock Haven, the county seat, derived its name from its position on the West Branch Canal, which was completed to Lock Haven in 1834. It was incorporated as a borough on May 25, 1840, and as a city on March 28, 1870.

(6th class, population 61,967) was created on March 22, 1813, from part of Northumberland County. Its name comes from Bloom Township, which was named for Samuel Bloom, a commissioner of Northumberland County. Danville, the county seat from 1813 to 1846, is now the seat of Montour county.

THE ACT PROVIDING FOR THE CLASSIFICATION OF CITIES

Section 1. Purpose of classification; division into classes.

For the purpose of legislation regulating their municipal affairs, the exercise of certain corporate powers, and having respect to the number, character, powers, and duties of certain officers thereof, the cities now in existence and those hereafter created in this Commonwealth shall be divided into four classes:

Those containing a population of one million or over shall constitute the first class.

Those containing a population of five hundred thousand and under one million shall constitute the second class.

Those containing a population of one hundred thousand and under five hundred thousand and which by ordinance elect to be a city of the second class A shall constitute the second class A.

Those containing a population under five hundred thousand and which have not elected to become a city of the second class A constitute the third class.

Section 2. The classification of said cities respectively, shall be ascertained and fixed by reference to the last two preceding United States decennial censuses, and whenever it shall appear by both of such censuses, that any city of the first, second or second A class has decreased in population below the minimum population figures prescribed for its current classification, or that any city of the second, second A or third class has increased above the maximum population figure prescribed for its current classification, it shall be the duty of the Governor, under the great seal of the Commonwealth, to certify the fact accordingly, which certificate shall be entered at large upon the minutes of the councils of such city and recorded in the office for recording the deeds of the proper county. No change in classification or in the existing form of government shall become effective until ten years after the certification of the fact of decrease or increase of population by the Governor: Provided, That the court of common pleas of the county in which the city is located shall appoint a charter commission to study and make recommendations on the adoption of a form of city government under sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of this act, and a form of government is adopted within the above ten year period. If a form of government is not adopted within the ten year period, the city shall automatically become classified according to the provisions of section 1 of this act and be subject to the provisions therein.

It is the intent of the preceding paragraph that the classification of any city of the first, second, second class A and third class shall not be changed because its population has changed at the time of one United States decennial census, because it is recognized that a change in the form of municipal government is attended by certain expense and hardship and such change should not be occasioned by a temporary fluctuation in population but rather only after it is demonstrated by two censuses that the population of a city has remained below the minimum figure or above the maximum figure of its class for at least a decade.

At the municipal election occurring not less than one month after the date of such certificate the proper officers shall be elected to which the said city will become entitled under the change in classification, and upon the first Monday of April next ensuing the terms of all officers of said city when in office whose offices are superseded by reason thereof shall cease and determine, and the city government shall be duly organized and shall thereafter be controlled and regulated by the laws of this Commonwealth applicable to the same under the classification hereby fixed and appointed.

Until otherwise provided by law, cities of the second class A shall continue to be governed, and shall have all the powers, privileges and prerogatives now provided by the laws of the Commonwealth relating to the cities of the second class. (1895 P.L. 275, Sections 1 and 2, as amended.)

ELECTION GUIDE
GENERAL INFORMATION

The Secretary of State, or as he or she has been called in Pennsylvania, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, is the chief election officer of the Commonwealth.

The Bureau of Elections, supervised by the Commissioner of Elections, performs the administrative election functions for the Secretary of the Commonwealth. These functions include duties related to campaign expense reporting, voter registration, absentee balloting, candidate requirements and election legislation. The Bureau of Elections has available an election guide which briefly describes the electoral process, a voter registration brochure which highlights important procedures as well as election calendars which list important dates.

Both the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania contain provisions concerning the voter and elections. Article XV of the United States Constitution declares: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude." Congress is given the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

In the bill of rights, the Constitution of Pennsylvania states that elections are to be free and equal, and that no power, civil or military, shall interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage. The Constitution also enumerates the qualifications for voting. Every citizen eighteen years of age is eligible to vote if he or she has been a citizen of the United States at least one month, has resided in the state thirty days immediately preceding the election and has resided in the appropriate election district thirty days preceding the election. In a 1971 opinion handed down by the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, college students are permitted under state law to vote in the locality at which they are attending a college or university.

Other constitutional provisions relate to election days, offices to be filled by election, rights of electors, bribery of electors, election and registration laws, voting machines, violation of election laws, election districts, election officers, contested elections, and absentee voting.

Outside of constitutional provisions, the General Assembly has the power to enact legislation on voting and elections. The substantial bulk of such legislation is contained in the Registration and Election Codes of the Commonwealth. A further amplification of election law is made by the courts in their interpretations of constitutional and statutory provisions in the light of actual cases of violation which comes before them.

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

GEORGE HERBERT WALKER BUSH was born on June 12, 1924, in Milton, Massachusetts, to Dorothy Walker Bush and the late Senator Prescott Bush (R-CT, 1952-62).

Mr. Bush graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts, in June 1942, and enlisted in the United States Navy as a Seaman 2nd Class. Receiving his wings and commission while still 18 years old, he then became the youngest pilot in the Navy.

On active duty from August 1942 to September 1945 during World War II, Mr. Bush flew torpedo bombers off the USS San Jacinto. On September 2, 1944, Mr. Bush's plane was hit by anti-aircraft fire while making a bombing run over the Bonin Island of Chichi Jima, 600 miles south of Japan. Although the plane was afire and severely damaged, he completed his strafing run on the targeted Japanese installation before flying towards sea to bail out. Mr. Bush was able to bail out successfully and was rescued by a Navy submarine, the USS Finback. Tragically, his two crew members were killed. For his courageous service in the Pacific Theater, Mr. Bush was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and three Air Medals.

On January 6, 1945, George married Barbara Pierce of Rye, New York. Today they are the parents of five children: George, John (Jeb), Neil, Marvin, and Dorothy Bush LeBlond. Their second child, Robin, died of leukemia in 1953. The Bushes have 11 grandchildren.

Following World War II, Mr. Bush entered Yale University, where he pursued a degree in economics and served as captain of the varsity baseball team. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1948.

After his graduation from Yale, George and Barbara Bush moved to Texas, where he worked as a supply salesman for Dresser Industries. In 1951, he co-founded a small royalty firm, the Bush-Overby Oil Development Company. Two years later he co-founded the Zapata Petroleum Corporation. In 1954 at the age of 30, he became co-founder and president of a third firm, Zapata Off-shore. Zapata pioneered in experimental off-shore drilling equipment.

Following an unsuccessful bid for a Senate seat in 1964, Mr. Bush was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1966 from Texas' 7th District. One of the few freshman members of Congress ever elected to serve on the Ways and Means Committee, he was reelected to the House two years later without opposition. Mr. Bush lost a second campaign for the Senate in 1970.

During the 1970's, Mr. Bush held a number of important leadership positions. In 1971, he was named U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations. He served there until 1973, when he became Chairman of the Republican National Committee. In October 1974, Mr. Bush traveled to Peking, where he served as Chief of the U.S. Liaison Office during the critical period when the United States was renewing ties with the People's Republic of China. In 1976, Mr. Bush was appointed Director of Central Intelligence. He is given credit for strengthening the intelligence community and helping to restore morale at the CIA while Director of the agency.

In July 1980, Ronald Reagan selected George Bush to be his Vice Presidential running mate. Four months later, Mr. Bush was elected Vice President. He was sworn into office on January 20, 1981. In the 1984 Presidential election, the Reagan-Bush ticket won a second term in an electoral landslide.

Beginning in June 1985, Mr. Bush coordinated the Administration's activities to combat international terrorism. Earlier, he had led the efforts of the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief and the National Narcotics Border Interdiction System (NNBIS).

After eight years as Vice President in one of the most successful Administrations in the nation's history, George Bush was nominated for the Presidency at the 1988 Republican National Convention. Mr. Bush selected Indiana Senator J. Danforth (Dan) Quayle as his running mate. During the November 8th election, the Bush-Quayle ticket won 40 states and a landslide Electoral College victory of 426-112. On January 20, 1989, George Bush was sworn in as the 41st President of the United States.

The President and Mrs. Bush are residents of Houston, Texas, and are members of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, where he is a former vestryman. When in Washington, the President and First Lady attend services at St. John's Episcopal Church. President Bush is on the board of the Episcopal Church Foundation. He has also served on the vestry of St. Ann's Episcopal Church Foundation, Kennebunkport, Maine.

ELLEN HARDING CASEY

Ellen Harding Casey was born February 11, 1932, in Scranton. Married to Gov. Robert P. Casey, June 27, 1953, the Caseys are the parents of eight children, and grandparents of nine.

While Ellen Casey considers her career as wife and mother to be her most important role, since her husband's election in 1986 she has taken an active interest in the problem of adult illiteracy. She views this problem as a crucial concern for Pennsylvania and the nation as we enter the final decade of the 20th century.

As an advocate of literacy programs she has hosted numerous meetings about adult literacy at the Governor's Residence ranging from a local Project Literacy U.S. (PLUS) taskforce to statewide PLUS meetings to a special interagency committee advising Gov. Casey on a literacy agenda. Their Harrisburg home has become a place for meetings as well as for social gatherings related to leadership in adult literacy — in 1988 and 1989 the Caseys hosted major cultural events benefiting literacy.

Ellen Casey also has supported the cause of adult literacy in travels around the Commonwealth. She regularly visits literacy programs and libraries across the state and speaks at conferences and workshops to encourage both public and private sector organizations to work together to help raise the literacy skills of adults in Pennsylvania.

In the past two years some of Ellen Casey's adult literacy activities have included:

- the creation of "adult literacy internships" in her Harrisburg office for college seniors and graduate students -- since the summer of 1987 ten students have served as literacy interns for periods of up to a full semester;
- the publication and distribution of two statewide literacy service directories containing over 500 listings;
- the production of five video public service announcements promoting adult literacy and reading;
- the recognition of adult students and volunteers involved in literacy programs throughout the state through dozens of speeches and special programs.

The recipient of an honorary degree from the University of Scranton (1988), Ellen Casey received the President's Award from Marywood College (1987) — the highest honor bestowed by that school. In March of 1988 Mrs. Casey accepted the position as a board member of the Marywood College Board of Trustees.

In 1989 Ellen Casey received a national award from the American Library Trustee Association. She also has received other awards for leadership in the area of adult literacy from groups such as Executive Women International, the Philadelphia Community Occupational Readiness and Placement Program, the Center for Literacy in Philadelphia, literacy councils and other related groups throughout Pennsylvania.

A graduate of Scranton's Marywood College with a degree in the fine arts, Ellen Casey maintains the first floor of the Governor's Residence as art exhibition space, and opens the residence to the public for regularly-scheduled and special tours.

JACQUELINE LYNN SINGEL

Jacqueline Lynn Singel, the wife of Lieutenant Governor Mark S. Singel, was born in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, on June 1, 1953. She is the daughter of Wilbur and Alice (Griffith) Schonek.

She graduated from Westmont Hilltop High School, Johnstown, in 1971 and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Albright College, Reading, in 1975, where she majored in home economics education. Upon graduation, she worked in retail sales management before accepting a teaching position in home economics at Westmont Hilltop High School.

The busy mother of three children — Allyson Jean, Jonathan Albert, and Christopher Mark, Jackie has combined homemaking with an active schedule of supporting her husband's political career as well as pursuing her own public service agenda.

With her husband's inauguration as Pennsylvania's 27th Lieutenant Governor in January of 1987, she became the Second Lady of the Commonwealth and the official hostess at the State House, Fort Indiantown Gap — the official residence of the Lieutenant Governor and family.

Today, Jackie Singel is a member of the board of directors of the United Way of Pennsylvania and serves as Chairperson for the United Way of the Capital Region's Second Century Initiative. She is active in a range of volunteer human care services. She also serves as a member of the Albright College Advisory Council and the Albright College Annual Fund Executive Committee, as well as the Harrisburg Area Community College Advisory Committee on Early Childhood Education. She is a member of the Federal Women's Program, the American Home Economics Association and the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association.

DISTINGUISHED DAUGHTERS OF PENNSYLVANIA AWARDS

In 1948 a group of influential women suggested to Governor James H. Duff that outstanding women of Pennsylvania be recognized for their leadership and contributions to the state. The plans to honor these women developed into the Distinguished Daughters of Pennsylvania Awards, and the first awards were given in 1949.

Each year, state organizations nominate women in recognition of outstanding accomplishments of statewide or national importance. Quality of achievement of the individual comes first. The Daughters select the names to be given to the governor for approval.

RECREATION

Pennsylvania offers unparalleled opportunities for enjoyment and appreciation of its natural beauty. Careful planning and construction of a system of state parks, preservation of waterways and virgin land within state forests utilize this natural beauty by providing citizens free or relatively inexpensive access to Pennsylvania's scenic, recreational and historic resources.

Beyond the simple enjoyment of nature, recreational activities include picnicking, boating, swimming, camping, fishing, hiking, hunting and winter sports. Continuing acquisition, development and maintenance of our State Parks and State Forest systems ensures increased availability and enjoyment of these facilities for tourists and all Pennsylvanians.
